VARSITY WORK VERY ENCOURAGING

FIRST GAME A WALK-OVER.

With a Husky Squad of Good Material, the Prospects are Very Bright for Victories.

Bucknell has launched out upon its football season again with the brightest prospects in several years, and although the satisfying victory of last Saturday against Susquehanna University can hardly be taken as a criterion, there are other indications that lead to a strong belief among alumni and students that the wearers of the orange and the blue are to give a good account of themselves on the gridiron this fall.

The most encouraging feature of Saturday's game was not the victory—everybody had expected the home team to win—but it was the spirit manifested by the players. Every man on the team played football as though his life depended on it. The six touch downs were mere incidents in the game—twice as many points might have been scored if the halves had only been longer. What counted was the life and ginger which the men put into their plays. Even after they were assured of a victory by a very substantial score there was no letting up and as a consequence Susuehanna did not once make a first down but was continually kept on the defensive.

Bucknell plays the University of Pennsylvania this week and will have an entirely different proposition from its easy victory over Susquehanna, but if the team can play with such a spirit when it is losing as it did when it was winning last Saturday, the Quakers will know that Bucknell has been in the game when the whistle blows for the last half. It might be expecting too much to hope for a victory, but Bucknell has won from Penn before. It will not do any harm to talk victory, not only this week, but all through the season, whether the team wins or not. There is a big difference between boastful bragging and dogged determination and it's going to make the biggest kind of a difference which of these fellows on the hill are going to talk this fall. The first class of enthusiasm melts away before the first reverse, while the latter is the kind that sticks, that makes loyal supporters yell for the team until they cannot even whisper, that makes an eleven fight for inches even though it is smothered under defeat and has not the slightest hope of winning. Such spirit as the last is not new to Bucknell. It showed itself last spring when an apparently hopeless nine defeated State in baseball; and it is going to manifest itself when we meet State again this year in foot-ball.

The opportunity to exhibit some of this latent college loyalty has presented itself. A call has been issued for candidates to play on the scrub team and there should be enough men out on the field every afternoon during the rest of the season to give the varsity all the practice necessary. An odd dozen or so of varsity men cannot be expected to buck the atmosphere in practice and then go up against a solid wall of bone and muscle in a real game and win. There are big possibilities for players on the scrub team this year outside of the healthy exercise, and every fellow who knows anything at all about the game should turn out and make a try for the tam.

Another thing is the cheering. Everybody can give a Bucknell-el-el, and it is surprising what a thrill it will send through tired and discouraged players and spur them on to fresh efforts. There are numerous instances where the cheering has turned defeat into victory and Bucknell can trace the results of the cheers of its supporters in nearly all of its most cherished conquests. A good chance to loosen up on the lungs comes this week. The team will leave for Philadelphia at 1.15 p. m. on Friday and every true Bucknell man should be at the Pennsylvania station at that hour to give the squad a rousing send-off which is certain to give the players more spirit for the game at Franklin Field on the following day. Captain O'Brien was rather reticent today about making any forecast as to the game with Penn, but seemed rather pleased at the prospect, especially after the team's splendid showing of Saturday. He reiterated his statements made at the mass meeting last week when he made a strong plea for more candidates for the scrub team, and said: "If the fellows play the game they played Saturday and none of them is injured, we will give Penn a hard rub at Franklin Field this week."

Seven of last year's varsity men are back this season and will make the trip to Philadelphia. They are: Winegardner, left end; O'Brien, (Capt.) left tackle; Groff, left guard; Snyder, center; Edmunds, right guard; Coulson, right half back; McAllister, full back, and Clausen, quarter back. There will also be several new men in the squad, the most promising of whom are: Shupe, formerly of the Steelton High School left half back; Kurtz, of the Millersville Normal, right end and half; McNinch, a former Bucknell man returned to college half; Munk, of Connellsville High School, and Beemer, captain of last year's Sophomore eleven, quarter-backs; Tyson, of Conway Hall, tackle; Young, of Whittenberg High School, end; Frampton, of the Bordentown, N. J., Military Institute, center; McCombs, of last year's Academy team, and Schmidt, of the Northeast Manuel Training School, tackles.

Clark, whose splendid punting and clever end running were the strong points of Bucknell's playing last year, will be sadly missed in the line-up this fall. "Jimmy" fractured one of the small bones in his ankle while playing baseball this summer and probably will not be able to return to college before the winter term opens.

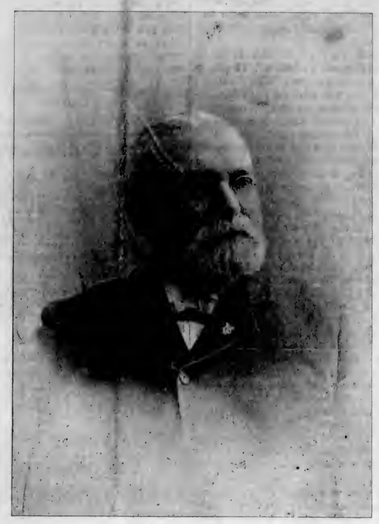

Saturday's Game.

Bucknell signalized the opening of the foot-ball season on Saturday by winning from the Susquehanna eleven by a score of 33-0. For the first game of the year the playing was surprisingly snappy, especially on the part of the wearers of the orange and the blue, and despite the one-sided score, the contest throughout was marked with much enthusiasm. The side of the hill was banked with students from the college and seminary, while many alumni and town people fringed the sidelines and joined in helping cheer the team to victory.

An oppressive heat which hung over the athletic field, made the temperature a bit unpleasant, even for the spectators, while the players positively suffered from the fatiguing warmth and choking dust, great clouds of which were stirred up by nearly every scrimmage. The game started at 2.35 o'clock. Captain O'Brien won the toss and chose to defend the west goal. Susquehanna took the kick-off and McCracken booted the sphere to the fifteen-yard line, Bucknell running the ball back twenty yards. McAllister punted thirty yards for Bucknell on the first down and Susquehanna secured the ball on their own forty-yard line. A series of scrimmages and exchange of punts, in which McAllister decidedly had the advantage, followed and Munk finally got the ball on a fumbled kick on Susquehanna's 35-yard line. Couson made a dash around the left end and ran almost to the goal line, but the ball was brought back and Bucknell penalized 15 yards for holding in the interference. McAllister, Coulson and McNinch hit the line in turn for big gains, and six minutes after play had started McAllister went over the Susquehanna line for the first touch down and kicked the goal. Bucknell 6, Susquehanna 0.

Professor G. C. L. Riemer Speaks Upon the Life and Influence of the Deceased Faculty Member.

The memorial services of the late Dr. Jean Francois Joseph Elysee Aviragnet former head of the department of Music at Bucknell, were held in Bucknell Hall, on Wednesday, Sept. 18, at eleven o'clock. The devotional exercises were led by Professor Phillips, and after a soprano solo by Miss Alice Lutz, President Harris called upon Professor Riemer for the memorial address.

He spoke, in part, as follows:

"I intend to pronounce no eulogy upon the life of our departed friend. His life among us speaks for itself. Allow me to give to you, as I have gleaned from his letters and personal accounts of himself, certain data from his history which will prove interesting.

"Jean Francois Joseph Elysee Aviragnet was born on July 30th, 1828, not in France but at Port Louis in Mauritius, an island in the Indian Ocean, east of Madagascar. His family must have possessed some means for at the age of ten, he was sent to the Royal College of Bordeaux, and continued his studies at the University of France, receiving the diploma of Bachelor of Letters on Feb. 2nd, 1847. After receiving this degree he taught Greek, Latin, and French or Sanskrit in Paris, while his leisure moments were spent in the study of music.

"In 1854 or 1855 he became Professor of the Classic and Romance Languages at Bourbon College in Mauritius, serving at hte same time as musical critic for several French papers.

"When the Franco-Prussion war broke out in 1870, Dr. Aviragnet volunteered in the French cavalry, first as private, then as second lieutenant. Documents among his papers state that he was the recipient of more than one military honor. After the war, he went to Port Louis where he rendered services of a municipal character to the town. At the age of fifty he left his native place and returned to Paris, evidently without any prospects. The latter part of his life on the continent was spent in sorrow, as is revealed by himself in a letter to a friend. He had been repulsed by the degradation of the stage, he was separated from his beloved daughters, his wife had lost her mind, and he was but able to make both ends meet.

"To get away from his misfortunes, he visited South America and until the summer of 1884 remained there as an educator. Then he left the South American waters to try his fortune in the United States of America. He became located in New York City, living with his adopted daughter and son-in-law, and teaching music. While there he saw an advertisement by Mr. S. W. Murray, of Milton, for a teacher of French and music. In consequence of this lucky find he became established in Milton, Pa., before the end of 1885, giving lessons in music and the Romance languages to Mr. Murray's daughter and to the children of other prominent Milton families.

"At Milton he remained for two years and at one time thought seriously of returning to the Spanish countries of South America, especially when requested so to do by a former pupil. But fortunate for Bucknell and for Professor Aviragnet, the young man's advice was not followed. It was largely through Dr. J. B. Grier, the pastor of the Presbyterian church of Lewisburg, that Dr. D. J. Hill, President of B. U., and Mrs. Larison, then Principal of the Institute, became interested in Prof. Aviragnet. Having heard of the existence of a Frenchman in the vicinity, and induced him to make trips to Lewisburg for the purpose of teaching French and music. Prof. Aviragnet did so and as a result he was called by the Institute to teach Music and the Romance Languages.

"Among us, he began a period of twenty-one years of unbroken service, longer than he had spent without interruptions at any one place before. In addition to his regular work, he gave public lectures in French in Bucknell Hall. In 1890, he was appointed Director of the School of Music, and B. U. honored him in 1893 with the degree of Doctor of Music. He was named instructor of the Romance Languages in the college in 1895 and Professor of the same in 1905. On September 8th, 1897, he expressed his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States, and receivde his papers of naturalization October 23rd, 1899. In the summer of 1900, he enjoyed his last trip to Paris, where he was exceedingly well received by all his friends and former comrades. He died an easy death on the seventh of August, 1908, at the age of eighty years and eight days."

BUCKNELL BEGINS PROMISING YEAR

CAPACITY GREATLY INCREASED.

With Additions to Faculty and A Full Attendance, Work Commences.

For the sixty-second time Bucknell inaugurated a new school year when class work was resumed on Thursday, the 17th. As usual, many of the students hustled in several days and even a week early, in order that they might be settled and ready for business when school opened.

The attendance this year is about the same as last year's, and this is exceedingly gratifying when one considers that times have been so unfavorable for almost a year. The college men's buildings are filled. Twenty-eight new rooms were opened this fall in East College, so that there is an increase in the number of men enrolled. The Academy is filled to overflowing, and some Academy students had to accommodted on the hill. The classes, especially the upper classes, have held their own very well in numbers.

Sevreal additions have been made to the faculty. Prof. B. W. Griffiths, A. M., has been appointed instructor in Modern Language. Besides extended experience elsewhere in the teaching of French, Mr. Griffiths has spent two seasons in Paris studying the language at first hand. Prof. Leo. L. Rockwell has returned from Harvard with an A. M. degree to teach several classes in Freshman and Sophomoe German. Prof. Clyde Hostetter, who has taken post-graduate work in Chemistry at the University of Chicago, is an Instructor in that science here. Mr. Walter B. Brinker, after considerable experience in Montana in Engineering, returns as an assistant in the Engineering department.

Additions to the School of Music faculty are: Miss Charlitte Armstrong, of the New England Conservatory of Music; Miss Alice Lutz, of the New York School of Music, and Mr. Paul Stolz, as an assistant in that department.

Miss Margaret Kalp, '08, has been added to the Institute faculty.

Y. W. C. A. Receives.

On Saturday evening, Sept. 19th, the Y. W. C. A. held its annual reception in the Seminary parlors. It was the aim of the Association to give each new girl a hearty welcome to Bucknell. The early part of the evening was spent in getting acquainted. At intervals, Miss Heerman, a graduate of the Boston Conservatory, dleighted the audience with her skill at the piano. Later, refreshments were served in the schoolroom, which had been made bright with golden rod for the occasion. Mildred Cathers, '10, played a violin solo, and Mabel Slout, '09, recited. The Association wishes to extend thanks to all who by their hearty co-operation made the evening a success.

"Freshmen Out—Procs Up."

The usual autumnal cry of Freshmen out" disturbed the slumbers of the upperclassmen on Thursday morning. About five-thirty, it was noised abroad that the promised "proc" had been published, posted, and pasted, and soon the Freshmen were seen hurrying to tear them down. During the proceedure, the two underclassmen met in the main hall and were soon at variance with one another. No serious result from the melee occurred. Most of the "procs" were down before sun-rise.

Oratory Notices.

The oldest member of the faculty, Dr. Elysee Avragnet, passed away this summer. To say that his presence is missed would be but little. His friends among the student-body were numerous, and for many of them he performed more than one act of kindness. It will be remembered that he not only organized the Bucknell band, but also presented it with several instruments. What he did for one musical organization he did for all. The students always received a word of encouragement from his lips and nothing pleased him more than the successful performance of one of his scholars of music. The memorial exercises held in Bucknell Hall in his honor were very fitting and expressed the love and gratitude that Bucknell had and still has for the one who gave his life up entirely to his work in the University.

Annual Class Scrap.

One of the most hotly contested of the annual Bucknell class scraps was fought on the athletic field at the usual time—the first Saturday morning of the College year. As soon as the 8.15 periods were dismissed, both classes gathered on their respective sides of the field and showed their determination to win by their yells, their spirit and their enthusiasm. Seniors and Juniors proved their loyalty to the odd and even classes by the manner in which they urged them to victory. The object of the scrap was similar to that of last year. At the crack of the pistol both classes, who were lined up twenty yards apart, rushed toward each other endeavoring to carry their opponents over the opposite goal line.

The scrap was especially interesting because the two classes were so nearly equal in strength. While the Freshmen outnumbered the Sophs by ten or welve men, the Sophomores had the advantage of organization and a year's experience together. As soon as the dust had been cleared away after the thud of the'r coming together, it was impossible to te'l which class had the advantage. About half of each side lay thrown toward their opposite goals. For the full twenty minutes until the sound of the referee's pistol the classes continued struggling. The few extra men of the Freshmen, however, proved of great advantage, for after the first ten minutes of fighting these reserves carried the exhausted but still struggling Sophs back over their goal line. The final count showed that the Freshmen had won, the Sophombores having only five of the Freshmen over their line, while the remaining were on the side of the Freshmen.

Charles Baldwin, '08, has accepted a position as teacher in the High School of Goshen, Indian. He holds the chair of Biology.

W. C. Purdy, '99, of Beaver Falls, who has been the instructor in Science in Slippery Rock Normal, has recently been appointed Professor of Biology at Geneva College.

the ball and immediately punted. Munk securing the pig skin for Bucknell in mid-field. An exchange of punts again gave Bucknell the advantage and was followed up by a forward pass which went a trifle awry and netted the home team a bare eight yards. Bucknell then resorted to line plunges and worked the ball up to the five-yard line. Coulson went over for a touch down and McAllister kicked the goal. Bucknell 12, Susquehanna 0.

Munk ran the ball back 25 yards on Susquehanna's kick-off. The Bucknell eleven was now fairly into the game and was working smoothly. Repeated attacks on the Susquehanna line and around the ends showed up the weak points and the backs hurled into these gaps for continuous gains. McAllister's punting was also beginning to tell. Two of his kicks were for a clean forty yards each and on the last, Harris fumbled and Kurtz gathered in the ball. Again Bucknell rushed their opponents back to the goal line and McNinch was sent across for the third touch down. No goal. McAllister carried the ball to his own thirty-yard line in returning the kick-off and followed it up with a punt for 35 yards. The half ended with the ball in mid-field. Score for first half, Bucknell 17, Susquehanna 0.

In the second half McAllister kicked to Susquehanna's 10-yard line. McCracken returning the ball to the 25-yard line before he was downed. The visitors lost ground in the first scrimmage and attempted a forward pass, which also failed, and they were penalized 15 yards. McCracken punted out of danger. Bucknell secured the ball on Susquehanna's 40-yard line and McNinch and Kurtz followed excellent interference for long runs around the ends. Captain O'Brien broke through the line for a gain of eight yards and a touch down. Bucknell 22, Susquehanna 0.

One of the most spectacular plays of the game came near the close of the second half. The Bucknell back field had quickly carried the ball into their opponents' territory after the kick-off by clever end running and with the ball on Susquehanna's 30-yard line Munk circled the left end on a quarter back run, and dodging a half dozen tacklers who were between him and the goal posts, carried the ball across the line for a touch down. Peemer then took Munk's place at quarter but missed the kick-out and there was no goal. O'Brien was dragged over for the last touch down four minutes after Munk had scored and McAllister kicked a pretty goal. Bucknell had again worked the ball close to Susquehanna worked the ball close to Susquehanna's goal when time was called and the game ended with the final score, 33-0.

SPIRITED MASS MEETING

ADDRESSES MADE BY ALUMNI STARS AND PRESENT PLAYERS ROUSES STUDENT-BODY.

The usual fall mass meeting was held on Friday evening at 9.30 o'clock. A half hour before "Dunc" Eakley and his celebrated band were parading the halls of all the dormitories, filling the air with Bucknellian music, spreading enthusiasm among the Freshmen and renewing it among the old men. The hall was well filled and when the cheer-leaders lead in the college yells, the noise was a reminder of the cheering at the State-Bucknell baseball game last spring.

Several of the alumni, who gained honors for Bucknell on the gridiron, were called upon to address the enthusiastic crowd. They reminded the men of the times when Bucknell trimmed State College and the Indians, and said that if the Varsity was supported as it should be by both a large number of scrubs and rooters, there was no reason at all why the team this year should not repeat its former victories. Among the alumni speakers were Professors Thomas and Griffiths, and Coach Smith. Captain O'Brien, Edmonds, Sweet and Baldwin made rousing speeches, especially in their plea for a larger number of scrubs. Manager Van Why concluded the flow of oratory by presenting a petition for financial backing, both by the purchasing of a season ticket by every man in the college and by the subscribing for the salary of the coach. With several hearty songs and lusty yells the meeting was adjourned. There will be a second one held on Thursday evening at 9.15.

ACADEMY.

Bucknell Academy opened the year of 1908-09 with a larger attendance than of former years.

The Y. M. C. A. held its first meeting the evening of Sept. 22, with a good attendance. Election of officers followed the usual meeting.

The Literary Society held its first meeting on Friday, and elected the following officers: Pres., Brunner; Sec., Pennington; Treas., Shaffer; Sergt-at-Arms, Maher; Chaplain, J. McCullough.

The Academy A. A., which is separate from the College A. A., has put out a season ticket for one dollar. Considering the large number of games that are being scheduled to be played here, this is a very small price. Everyone interested in athletics should help them by getting a season ticket.

The foot-ball team played the opening game of the season with the Lewisburg team. Although thescore was 12-0, in favor of Lewisburg, a winning team is expected under the coaching of Prof. Thomas. The practice thus far has been light and many of the men are new at the game.

Y. M. C. A. Receives Freshmen.

The annual reception of the Y. M. C. A., in honor of the Freshmen, was held on the first Saturday night of the college year. At about eight o'clock the men began to assemble in the Y. M. C. A. hall, where they were handed slips upon which to write their names and classes. The first part of the evening was spent in getting acquainted, and in singing college songs. About nine o'clock President Mathias, '09, requested the gathering to be seated. He then outlined the work of the Y. M. C. A. and pointed out the need for the hearty co-operation of every man in the college with the work.

After Gibson, '09, and Hart, '12, rendered a selection on the guitar and banjo, which was heartily encored, Manager Van Why, of the football team, was called upon. In a few words he urged the men to take an active part in both religious work and athletics. "Murf" Reiter concluded the program with several selections on the piano.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the committee. With the singing of the Alma Mater and a Bucknell-el-el, the reception was brought to a close.

BUCKNELL PLAYS PENNSYLVANIA

WAS A HARD FOUGHT GAME.

Varsity Weak in First Half, When Penn Did All Her Scoring.—Score 16-0.

Bucknell fighting spirit was demonstrated in such a way on Franklin Field last Saturday, that xthe manl Field last Saturday, that the ten thousand rooters that lined both sides of the field were speculating to the very last moment of the game as to the final outcome. And, had our generous-hearted warriors not made the two donations in the first half, the score 16 to 0 would not be so misleading as to the real nature of the game. Never did fortune smile more favorably upon a Pennsylvania football team than it did on Saturday, because their play could not begin to merit sixteen points over our boys.

A little ill fortune at the start threw Bucknell on the defensive and kept her there throughout the entire game, but at the department of the game the team showed remarkable strength. Time and again Bucknell got the ball on downs. Three times in the second half Penn had the ball inside the five yard line but could not get it over for a touchdown. It seemed that the closer to the goal line the ball came, the more impregnable was our line.

The game abounded in fierce tackling. Shupe undoubtedly carried off the honors in this line. Big "Bill" Hollenbach, Penn's star fullback and captain, testified very definitely to the effects of Bucknell's halfback's sudden jolts, when in the second half he so willingly consented to leave the game. Several times Shupe brought the spectators to their feet by making a vicious flying tackle. Kurtz and Groff also did some clever work along this line as did Winegardner.

Bucknell used up all the quarterback material she had. Munk was hurt, running back a punt, in the first half, and Clausen went to quarter, Kurtz to end, and McNinch to Kurtz's half. Later in the half Clausen was hurt making a tackle and Beemer took his place. Beemer showed up strong, receiving Hollenbach's punts and also taking Penn's onside kicks. McAllister and Shupe did the punting for Bucknell and as a rule placed them well.

Penn's most consistent ground-gainer was a formation play through the line outside of tackle. She also had a variety of "holding" stunts which were successfully used all through the game without official detection. Bucknell was not so successful, having two men disqualified for "unnecessary roughness," McNinch was only in for one scrimmage which showed the refere anything but lenient with Bucknell.

All in all we have great reason to feel encouraged. In the second half the team showed a snap and vim sadly lacking for the past few years. Captain O'Brien deserves credit for the way in which he handled the team. His "pat" on the back and "Gent together Bucknell," braced the team for a stronghold several times, showing the boys are working together under his leadership.

The line-up:

O'Brien	left tackle	Gaston
Snyder	center	Cozzens
Frampell.		Marks.
McCoombs	right guard	Irvin Pike.
Edmunds	right tackle	Ferrier Hofacker
Clausen	right end	Miller
Kurtz, Schmid.
Munk	quarter back	Towne
Clausen, Beemer.		Kelnath
Kurtz	right half-back	McIntyre Manier.
McNinch, Coulson.
McAllister	full back	Hollenback Philler.

Bucknell Foot-ball Squad.

Scrubs Defeated.

The Scrubs met the Millersville Normal football team on the college gridiron on Saturday and were defeated by the close score of 6-0. The playing of neither team was exceptional. Fumbles were frequent and the ball was recovered only after several attempts had been made. Millersville made her score on a costly fumble by the Scrubs when the ball was carried for thirty yards for a touchdown. In the second half the ball moved slowly up and down the field but did not find its way back of the goal posts. For the Scrubs, Owens and Fetter, '10, as ends played a fast game as did Sweet at quarter, and Baskins at half.

Scrub's Schedule.

Oct. 10, Millersville Normal at Millersville.

Oct. 17, Lock Haven at Lock Haven.

Oct. 31, Sunbury A. A. at Sunbury.

Nov. 14, Mt. Carmel A. A. at Mt. Carmel.

Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course.

The Star course lecture committee, with A. B. Claypoole, '09, as chairman, has prepared a series of lectures and entertainments for the winter that include performances of excellent talent. Among the number are lecturers, musicians, elocutionists and artists.

The Methodist church, in which the entertainments were held last year, has again been secured.

Tickets for the full course can be had from any member of the committee for the usual price $1.50. Literature describing the performers and their specialties, will be distributed during this week.

Elma B. Smith Co., Oct 24, 1908.

Gov. John A. Johnson, Lecture, Nov. 30, 1908.

Frank Dickson, Lecture, Mar. 19, 1909.

1910 Loses Class-mate.

Daniel Harvey Zartman, '11, one of the most respected men in college, succumbed to his complicated illness during the summer. His presence in the college and his influence among his associates will be keenly missed. He was an excellent student especially in mathematics and won for himself the high esteem of his professors. He did more for his class than is generally known. The college in general and 1910 in particular lose by his death.

MUSICAL CLUBS WILL ORGANIZE

HOLD PRACTICE EVERY WEEK.

Officers of Mandolin and Glee Clubs Have Been Elected and First Meeting Set.

The long talked of Mandolin and Glee Clubs, which have been in training for the past few years, will begin regular practice this week Friz, '09, has been elected manager of both clubs, Gibson '09, leads the Mandolin Club and Prof. Stoltz '08, trainer of the Glee Club. The manager expects to arrange some trips which he says "will be well worth trying for."

The call for new men has been issued and will be again from the bulletin boards. The plan adopted for the selection of men as in the constitution is as follows:

"In the case of concert tours, there shall be carried those men who have shown themselves to be the most proficient and regular in attendance at the practice of the Clubs, the men and the number to be chosen by the leaders and manager. The following letter was received from the manager. Practice will be announced by the Calendar and bulletin boards.

Last Spring there was an effort made to revive what was at one time at Bucknell a very important college activity, i. e, a musical organization. Many years ago, very good glee and mandolin clubs under the direction of the late Dr. Aviragnet, were in existence here, and of which the college was proud, but recently, solely on account of a lack of interest, we have had nothing of which we can boast. It is not because we lack the numbers and the material, or are incapable of producing a first-class glee and mandolin club. Many Pennsylvania colleges, such as Lafayette, Dickinson and Gettysburg, with conditions no more favorable than ours, score signal success with their concerts, which result in enhancing the reputation of the respective colleges. Cannot Bucknell, whose opportunities are as favorable as any of the aforementioned colleges, share in the reputation gained in this manner? Shall we continue in the passive and disinterested state that has been prevalent for so long a time, or shall we grasp our opportunities and enter into another phase of college activity that will be a factor in increasing the number of students as well as a personal benefit and pleasure to all who take an active interest therein? The student body ought to answer in the affirmative by coming out to the meetings of the club and each one trying for a place or lending aid in getting the men out. Unless the fellows in general are in sympathy with the organization, it cannt be successful. Come out to the college sings and learn the new Alma Mater songs. Let this college year mark a new era in this phase of college life, than wh'ch nothing brings the men so close together and, more than anyother influence, instills into them a feeling of love and reverence for their Alma Mater.

It is the intention of those in charge of the clubs to have several practices weekly, beginning very soon, and to arrange for concerts to be given in Lewisburg and other places.

Let this appeal to the college men for a renewed spirit in the musical line be not in vain. Attend the meetings and show your interest.

MANAGER.

Death of Rutherford G. Stanton.

Rutherford G. Stanton died at his home in Chinchilla, Saturday morning, Sept. 19, at the age of thirty-two.

Mr. Stanton was well known in Lewisburg. He was a student in the college for one year and during his stay here won many friends.

Mr. Stanton is survived by his mother, Mrs. Giles Stanton of Chinchilla, two sisters, Mrs. Chas. Gumundy of Lewisburg, Miss Mary Stanton, of Chinchilla, and three brothers, Dr. Herbert C. Stanton of Philadelphia, Mr. Frank Stanton of Cleveland, O., and Mr. Harold Stanton of Chinchilla.

His funeral took place on Tuesday Sept. 22, at 2.00 o'clock. Interment was made in the Lewisburg cemetery.

Memorial for Dr. Aviragnet

Arrangements are being made to erect a suitable memorial to the late Dr. Aviragnet, over his grave in the Lewisburg cemetery. For twenty-one years he gave himself to his work, as Director of Music at Bucknell, with unselfish devotion. Much of his income was spent upon his pupils. Subscriptions of any amount will be accepted, and may be sent to President Harris. Every student and friend of Dr. Aviragnet should have a share in the effort to mark the last resting place of one, who during his connection with the University, held "duty" to be his watchword.

LIBRARY INCREASED DURING SUMMER

MANY BOOKS ARE DONATED.

Over Five Hundred Valuable Volumes Have Been Added to the Shelves.

The Bucknell Library, with Dr. William E. Martin as Librarian, has been keeping apace with the other departments of the University in its growth by adding to its shelves during the summer 521 volumes. A great many of the number were gifts and represent books of much value. Among the donors were Mr. Frank Allaben, of New York; Mr. Charles Bradley, of Newark, N. J.; Mrs. Katherine P. Larison, of Lewisburg; Mr. Frank Preston Straus, of Tafts College, Mass.; Professor Geo. L. Raymond, of Princeton University; the Du Pont de Memors Company, of Wilmington, Del.; Professors Groff, Heim, Ferrine, Rockwood, Rhodes, Weihaase, Registrar Gretzinger and the librarian.

A number of valuable books belonging to the late Professor Aviragnet were purchased by friends and given to the library. Gifts were also received from the Library of Congress, the Superintendent of Public Documents, various National Departments at Washington, the State Libraries of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Recent purchases have also been made on account of honors in Chemistry, Economics, Literature, and Organic Science. The librarian and assistants have been busy during the past week in placing the new books in their proper places and in indexing them.

Groude, '11, succeeds Manchester, '08, as assistant. Miss Kathalyn Voorhis still retains her position.

It is the earnest request of the librarian that, to avoid loss of time and money, the students return or give an account of all books and periodicals which are over due.

COLLEGE ACTIVITIES.

There are three things outside of the general college curriculum that deserve the sober attention of all the undergraduates of Bucknell, and of the Freshmen in particular. No one will deny that the primary purpose of the student is to aim for scholarship. But there are other activities in college that prepare a man for the life of the world outside of the class-room and with as many of these activities as his time and ability allow, we would urge each man to connect himself.

The Y. M. C. A. should present itself favorably to every honest-thinking man. It is, strictly speaking, the only activity peculiar to the college student, and only in its meetings, can he hear the religious side of life presented from the student's standpoint. It gives the opportunity of spending an hour a week in a wholesome atmosphere, in which the machine-like movements of the day's routine do not creep.

The Literary Societies will soon be in action for the year. "Speaking maketh a ready man." The world needs men who are ready. No college man can afford to leave his Alma Mater without the power to make at least an ordinary address, which power the Literary Societies alone can give. Along with them are the musical organizations. The Glee and Mandolin Clubs are looking for men who can sing and play. If there is any talent yet undiscovered, bring it along at the practice, and make Bucknell's music a success.

Don't forget the plea of Coach Smith and Captain O'Brien. The possibilities for a winning team are bright. Every man who is at all athletically inclined owes it to his college to don the togs, join the scrubs, and perhaps the Varsity. If he can't make the team, he can help make it. Lafayette has fifty men out every night, Lehigh forty. Why shouldn't we?

SUPPORT THE TEAM.

For a number of years the Bucknell foot-ball team has been somewhat of a disappointment to its admirers. Last year a coach was hired in order to improve its record, but because most of the teams which Bucknell met were out of her class, we lost the majority of the games. The Varsity showed its strength when it played aggregations of its own class and defeated such teams as Gettysburg, Dickinson and Washington and Lee. This year's schedule has colleges of its own calibre, and on it are the representative teams of Pennsylvania, besides two from out of the state. The foot-ball material looks better now than it has looked for years. The coach is one of Bucknell's leading athletes and has the respect and confidence of every man. Every true Bucknellian wants to see a victorious team, and manager, players, coach and alumni have done and are going to everything within their power to produce a winning team. The rest lies with the student body. No squad can be victorious unless it has a loyal student body back of it, nor unless it has money to pay its coach, and to buy foot-ball equipments. Every man with true Bucknell spirit will support the games cheer lustily and subscribe to the coach fund.

College Bible Class.

In the college Bible class Dr. Harris has given three lectures in his course on the Mosaic Legislation as found in Exodus and Deuteronomy. He first showed that the legislation attributed to Moses was a growth a living out of the experience of the children of Israel just as the American Constitution was a growth each article of which arose from the experience of the early colonists. Moses, however, gave definitions to these laws in two ways, 1st, by the ten commandments; 2nd, by his decisions as a court of last resort. Besides these laws are called the Mosaic Legislation because the name "Moses" continued after the time of the man himself and as the Romans said that Caesar enacted such laws even though the direct line of the Caesars was not in power, so it was said that the Moses enacted such laws even after his time.

In Hebrew the Mosaic spirit never dies and although there is great development in morality in time, still there is not development in moral principles, the axioms of morality.

There are three classes of laws—the moral, civil and ceremonial, but they are not clearly distinguished in early civilization, because there is not then a gap between church and state. This legislation has no binding authority except as it is re-enacted in the New Testament. The civil law was enacted taking into account the condition of the times and is therefore not suitable for us today who have made such advances. But the moral law is of universal application for the affections, passions, or nature is the same in general principle everywhere. The ten commandments are negative rules because they were for the children of the race but the principles underlying them are applicable to us. In this respect, as the moral and religious teachers of the race were the Jews the chosen people of God.

In his third talk Dr. Harris discussed the preamble of the Mosaic Legislation, found in the twenty-th chapter of Exodus, in comparison with the preamble of the United States. "In the preamble of the United States we find no mention of God or religion while under the Hebrew constitution, church and state were not yet differentiated. The preamble adopted without any reference to religion marks a great advance in civilization. You cannot have freedom in a country unless you have a differentiation of functions. The legislature, the priesthood, the judiciary should not be controlled by the same party. The fundamental concept of the state is justice. In order to carry out this concept the state must have force sufficient to compel obedience to its laws. In early days since religion was a part of the state, religious observances were compelled by the state. This practice is not in accordance with the principles of Christian religion which are based on persuasion rather than force.

Bucknellians Organized.

During Commencement week last June an organization of the alumni known as the "Bucknellians" was formed. Several things served to arouse the old men to a renewed interest in Bucknell's affairs and perhaps no one factor was more potent than the renewal of athletics with State College after ten years on the "outs." That the sole purpose of this organization of alumni, however, is merely to assist athletics to a higher standard is not quite correct. Its purpose might best be stated in an extract from the constitution, "to promote athletics and give material aid to the university."

The following officers were elected: President, W. S. Wilcox, Lewisburg; Vice President, Attorney W. M. Bunnell, Scranton; Secretary, F. B. Jaekel, Philadelphia; Treasurer, Attorney A. A. Leiser, Jr, Lewisburg. The financial committee appointed was as follows: Dr. H. F. Smith, H. B. Wassell, Dr. A. R. Garner, Attorney W. M. Bunnell, R. H. Kress and R. W. Thompson.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. held its regular meeting on Thursday night. The subject discussed was "Football and Religion" McAllister '10, conducted the meeting and his talk was followed by many others. Several names were proposed for membership.

On Thursday next, Dr. G. G. Groff will address the students on Morality.

Bucknell Hand-book.

The Bucknell Hand-book, published yearly by the Y. M. C. A., was distributed among the college men at the beginning of the term. The book, edited by Charles C. Fries, '09, is perhaps the neatest hand-book that this Y. M. C. A. has yet presented. It is of the usual size, bound in black imitation morocco. "Bucknell" in old English type is stamped upon the back in gilt and the pages have the gold finish. It is a comprehensive compendium of the facts and customs concerning Bucknell, containing everything from college songs and yells to an extract on "Life" by Edwin Henry Sibley. There are sufficient blank pages in the book to allow the possessor room to keep straight his social engagements and dates.

Ministerial Association Reorganizes.

The Ministerial Association met on Friday, Sept. 25, for the purpose of reorganization and for the election of officers for the ensuring year. The purpose of the association is clearly understood from the report of the meeting. The body unanimously voted to meet on the second and fourth Thursday of each month at four o'clock, the sessions to last not longer than one hour. The program will vary from time to time. When advisable the members of the faculty will deliver addresses.

The next meeting will be given over to several men who spent the summer in supply or missionary work, or both. All ministerials or those interested in the work are invited to attend the meetings.

Edwards, '09, was elected president of the association, and Crossman, '11, secretary. Announcement of the meetings will be made on the weekly calendar.

C. E. Reception.

The Christian Endeavor Society, made up very largely of college students, gave a reception to the new students on Friday night. An hour was spent in carrying out the motto of the evening "Get acquainted." A short program was rendered by Miss Bottorf, pianist, Miss Armstrong violinist, and Miss Hare, reciter. Refreshments were served.

BUCKNELL LOSES TO GETTYSBURG

OPPONENTS ON THE DEFENSIVE

Varsity Scores First Touchdown But is Robbed of Victory by Blocked Kick. Score 6-5.

Circumstances which were tinged with the wrong shading of luck, combined to defeat Bucknell in the game with Gettysburg on the University Field Saturday afternoon, when a blocked kick near the end of the second half gave the visitors an opportunity for a touchdown and snatched an almost certain victory from the Orange and Blue eleven. Bucknell had scored earlier in the last half but McAllister, missed a difficult goal. The collegians were more fortunate and the game went to them by a score of 6-5.

Although defeated, the home eleven played a splendid game and well deserved to win. Outweighed in every part of the line and in the back field several pounds to the man, the team held remarkably well against the fierce plunges of Gettysburg which seemed capable of crumbling any ordinary line. Time and again the visitors were hurled back when they attempted to buck the line and what few gains they made were with one or two exceptions for short distances. Bucknell made up for the difference in weight by its fast, swift playing and had far the advantage of Gettysburg in the open playing. McAllister repeatedly out-punted Weimer, the big Gettysburg full-back and aided by the fast ends, Weingardner and Owens, was able to keep the ball in the opponents' territory during the greater part of the game.

Shupe, the speedy left half back was the star for Bucknell, and although frequently injured shone brilliantly especially during the second half. Several times he circled the Gettysburg ends for big gains, or dodged the opposing tacklers in running back punts. In the last half he broke through the entire Gettysburg team on a play through right tackle and carried the ball almost to the Gettysburg goal line and made it possible for Kurtz to plunge through for a touchdown a moment later.

Captain O'Brien did clever work in stopping the ground gaining of the visitors. He repeatedly beat the ends down the field on punts and pulled off several brilliant tackles. Munk played his position well at quarter and handled Weimer's punts without a fumble. Two new men in the line-up were Anderson, who went in at right guard and Owens, right end. Both played a consistent game and give promise of developing into excellent material for the line. Edmunds was shifted over from guar to right tackle and although working under the handicap of the new position, did some telling work on the defensive and proved an added strength to that part of the line.

Neither side scored in the first half but during almost the entire twenty minutes of play Bucknell kept the ball in the Gettysburg territory. Frequent exchange of punts during the early part of the half showed the advantage slightly in favor of McAllister. There was some little surprise that the forward pass was not tried oftener and although both teams used this style of play on one or two occasions, it did not figure very heavily in the ground gaining. After falling on the forward pass, both sides seemed to be content with straight football and directed their attention to line work or end runs.

In the second half McAllister kicked off for Bucknell and Weimer ran the ball back 15 yards to Gettysburg's 30 yard line. Line bucking gained a few yards but the Orange and Blue line took a brace and Weimer was compelled to kick. Shupe received the ball on his own 45 yard line and ran back 25 yards through a field of Gettysburg tacklers before he was brought to earth.

Schiller's Der Neffe als Onkel, vom Deutchen Verein.

Coulson went through tackle for 8 yards. Shupe failed to gain around left end and McAllister punted to Phillipy who was dropped in his tracks by Winegardner on Gettysburg's 20 yard line. Weimer punted to Shupe who was downed in midfield with no gain.

Kurtz now took Coulson's place at half and gained 8 yards through tackle. Shupe got away with his sensational run of 35 yards on the next play and carried the ball within striking distance of the Gettysburg goal. He was given the ball again on the try for a touchdown but failed and Kurtz was called upon to carry the pigskin over the line. McAllister tried for a goal at a difficult angle and missed. Bucknell 5, Gettysburg, 0.

Weimer kicked off to Shupe who ran the ball back 20 yards. McAllister immediately punted for 40 yards. Weimer returned the kick a moment later for 35 yards, Munk getting the ball. McAllister again tried to punt but a Gettysburg man broke through and blocked the kick. Winegardner recovered the ball for Bucknell near his own goal line. McAllister's kick went short and Gettysburg got the ball on Bucknell's 30 yard line. Weimer broke through for a gain of 15 yards and had a clear field between him and the goal when brought to ground by a pretty tackle by Munk. Smith circled out to right end and was downed on the 10 yard line by Shupe. A plunge through the line netted a few more yards and first down and a moment later Weimer was pushed over for a touchdown. Weimer punted out and Smith caught the ball in front of the goal posts and the big Gettysburg full-back lifted the pigskin over the bar on a well posed kick which won the game. Bucknell, 5, Gttteysburg 6.

McAllister kicked of to Gettysburg's 25 yard line and Hosack ran back 10 yards. Weimer gained 25 yards on a fake kick but Gettysburg was penalized 15 yards shortly afterwards for an offside play. An exchange of punts gave Bucknell the ball on their opponents' 40 yard line. Shupe and Kurtz carried the ball to the 25 yard line on alternate plunges and Munk tried a drop kick for a field goal but missed. The ball was brought back to the 25 yard line and Weimer punted to O'Brien who ran back 20 yards. Bucknell again worked the ball up close to the Gettysburg goal line and was within striking distance when Brumbaugh, the coach of the visiting eleven called for time. A dispute arose and by the time the argument was over Gettysburg had to leave the field to catch a train and Bucknell had lost a well deserved victory.

The line-up:

SPLEDID WORK OF DEUTCHER VEREIN

WAS ORGANIZED IN 1906

The Interest in German Language and Literature Has Been Much Increased the Past Year.

The German Verein, which has been in existence for nearly two years, will soon celebrate its second annual anniversary. Its organization was the result and expression of the enthusiasm that had grown up for the study of German, and of the interest and spirit aroused for the German language and literature.

Organized on the 14th day of November, 1906, the Verein was destined to have a sure and steady growth. On that date a meeting was held in class room No. V at about five o'clock P. M., and it was decided to form a society for the purpose of promoting the German language and literature at Bucknell University. The committee appointed by Prof. Riemer to draw up a constitution consisted of Leo L. Rockwell, '07, Ralph W. Haller, '08. and Chas. Eson, '09. The next meeting was held in the Seminary parlor, when the constitution, written in German, was read and accepted. As a suitable name for the society, 'Der deutsche literarische Verein" was unanimously agreed upon, and the meeting was closed with the decision to hold regular weekly meetings on every Thursday of the school year.

To the following persons falls the honor of organizing the Verein: Prof. Guido G. L. Riemer, Anna Galbraith, '07, Mary albraith, '07, Ralph W. Haller, '08, Beatrice R. Richards, '08, Olive C. Richards, '08, Violetta M. Wolfe, '08, Mary Burgess,ex-'09. Chas. Elson, '09. The membership was soon increased, and from that time on kept on an average in the neighborhood of twenty-five. It was considered a good policy to limit the number and to confine it only to the most advanced students in German. A good knowledge of the German language was to be required of every student admitted to the Verein, since all the literary programs as well as the business proceedings were to be conducted exclusively in German. In consequence of this plan, from the time the Verein was organized until now thorough and complete studies have been made of the most leading German authors such as Goethe, Schiller, Heine, Kleist and Grillparzer.

The work in the Verein, however, was not limited to these literary programs. A german play was thought of by Prof. Riemer, and on the 7th of March, 1907, the Verein presented the first German play in German at Bucknell University. Wilhelm's "Einer musz heiraten." Members of the Verein also composed the cast which a year later on the 13th of March presented the second German play: Schiller's, 'Der Neffe als Onkel." Both plays were a success, being illustrations of the ability of the Verein members and their fluency in the German language. It is the wish of the Verein that this event may be an annual occurence.

Although the Verein is primarily a literary organization, its history will not be complete without an account of its social events. It was soon realized that the promotion of a spirit and feeling of friendship among the members would make the work more interesting and enjoyable. It was for this purpose that a Verein party to Blue Hill was decided upon. This "Landpartie" held on May 20, 1907, was so successful and it fulfilled its purpose to such an extent that the society decided to make it an annual affair.

The work of the Verein was continued with renewed vigor and increased energy. The purpose for which the society was formed was being fulfilled in every respect, and the members were gradually realizing more and more what a blessing it was to have such an organization at Bucknell. The 14th of November, the date on which it was organized, became endeared to the Verein members, and on the 14th of November, 1907, a banquet was held at the Baker House to commemorate the founding of the society. Ralph W. Haller, then president of the Verein, acted as toastmaster, and the following speakers responded to his call: Prof. Riemer, Olive Richards, '08, Phares Hess, '05, Miss Emma Bush, Violetta Wolfe, '08, Chas. Elson, '09, Mabel Slout, '09, Edna Meachem, '09, Albert Poffenbreger, '09, and Lillian Turner, '09. The 32 persons, 30 actives and 2 honorary members, engaged in a lively German conversation, a delightful menu was served, splendid instrumental and vocal music was furnished by the musical talent of the Verein, and German songs were sung by the entire society. This banquet aroused great enthusiasm and inspired the members with renewed activity. It was, consequently, decided to observe founder's day every year.

At present the Verein has a membership of twenty-five. The work this term consists of an exhaustive study of Gottfried Keller, the great German short story writer of the 19th century. The programs, which have been worked out by the program committee for the next five weeks follow:

Oct. 15th—"Der Schmied seines Glueckes", Albert Poffenberger, '09.
"Spiegel, das Kaetzchen", Mabel Slout, '09.
Oct. 22nd—"Das verlorene Lachen", Frances Chaffee, '09.
"Frau Regel", Helen Cilber, '09.
Oct. 29th—"Die drei gerechten Kammacher", Leonora Shamp, '09.
"Pankraz der Schmoller", Homer Hedge, '10.
Nov. 5th—"Gedichte I", Lillian Turner, '09.
"Gedichte II", Bertha Geiss, '10.
Nov. 12th—"Romeo und Julia", Charlotte Hulley, '09.

College Bible Class.

In the College Bible Class Dr. Harris spoke of the relation of religion and morality as expressed in the Mosaic Legislation. The Hebrews thru Moses were the founders of the first ethical religion. They taught that one could serve God best by serving his fellow man. Ethical religion had a complete divorse between religion and morality. According to them a man might be extremely religious and at the same time extremely immoral, in the Mosaic Legislation morality was the core of religion.

This fact is shown by the position given to morality in the legislation. Immediately after the preamble and the duties to God come the duties to fellow men. The idea is that morality looking Godward is religion while religion looking manward is morality.

That morality is the core of Hebrew religion is seen also by a symbolizing of that fact in a kind of object lesson in the tabernacle. The holiest of holies contained the table of laws as the most sacred thing and this table of laws emphasized the duties toward our fellow men. It taught that the center of the national religious life was morality.

CUPID CLAIMS MANY ALUMNI VICTIMS

MARRIAGES DURING SUMMER

Several "Grads" of the Seminary and College are United in the Bonds of Matrimony.

During the summer and early fall several of the alumni took the marriage vow. Among the number were graduates of the College and Seminary. In one case the contracting parties were members of the class of 1900 and both are graduates of medical colleges.

Fisher-Gearhart.

On September 5th, Mr. Charles A. Fisher was united in marriage to Miss Emma G. Gearhart, of Danville. Miss Gearhart is a graduate of the School of Music, '07, and was elected to the corps of Institute instructors. For two years she was soprano soloist in the Baptist choir. She is a member of the Pi Phi Sorority.

Shorkley-White.

The Bradford Evening Star of Sept. 15th, contains the following:

"One of the most handsomely appointed weddings of the season was that which occurred at one o'clock this afternoon when Dr. Augusta Genevieve White, only daughter of Drs. B. F. and A. Grace White, was united in marriage to Dr. Thornton More Shorkley, of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of Lewisburg, Pa. The ceremony which was witnessed by one hundred guests, was performed by the Rev. J. W. Kreamer, pastor of the First Baptist church."

"After the marriage ties were said Dr. and Mrs. Shorkley received the congratulations of their friends and then the wedding collation was served. The bride and groom went to the Thousand Islands for their wedding trip after which they will reside in Rochester where Dr. Shorkely is a practicing physician.' Both Dr. Shorkley and his wife are graduates of Bucknell in the class of 1900. Dr. Shorkley took his M. D. at Hahnemann and Mrs. Shorkley took her M. D. at Michigan.

Fuller-Wood.

Parry-Logar.

The Sunbury Daily of Sept 6. has the following:

'A very pretty home wedding was solemnized Monday evening when Miss Fannie D. Logan, of this city, was married to Dr. Roger S. Parry, of Pittsburg.

"The wedding is the finale of a college romance began in their student days of the contracting parties when they were both students at Bucknell University.

"The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. E. Logan, and was performde by Rev. E. M. Gearhart, of Trinity Lutheran church at 7 o'clock. The beautiful and impressive Lutheran ring ceremony was used. Only the immediate family were present.

"The event had been expected for some time by the college friends of the young couple and they were anxiously waiting for its approach in order to help a good cause along. A march was stolen on them, however, and the newly wedded couple slipped out of town before anyone knew that the ceremony had been performed.

"Dr. Parry, the groom, is well and favorably known in college circles and has carved a name for himself in the athletic world as a college athlete of exceptional ability.

'The bride is one of Sunburry's popular young people whom her friends will be sorry to lose from their circle.

"After the ceremony the newly married couple left for Pittsburg,

A Matter of Courtesy.

It often happens that during the meetings of the Y. M. C. A. the services are annoyed and interrupted by men who while on their way to their rooms, thoughtlessly sing and talk in tones that can easily be heard in the Association hall. No objection is offered to the singing or talking but it would be simply a matter of courtesy on part of those who have occasion to pass near the hall to remember the Thursday night meeting, and to refrain from song or loud talk as long as it might prove offensive.

Fall Tennis Tournament.

Manager Nyberg, '09, has announced that there will be held during the remainder of the tennis season, a tournament open to all the students of the college and to the alumni. Any one desiring to enter the singles or any two desiring to enter the doubles can do so by handing their names to him.

1911 Elect Officers.

Politicians Busy.

The men of Bucknell who are eligible to vote have become interested in forming Republican and Democratic organizations. Jones, '09, is the leader of the Republican movement and Long, '09, of the Democratic. Anyone desiring to join one of these organizations may do so by interviewing the leader of the party to which he is connected or inclined.

Freshmen Retaliate.

The Freshmen, having only a week's more time, came back at the Sophomores by making a strenuous attempt to plaster the town with their "procs" upon which they denounced the Sophomore class in general and several individuals in particular in terms strong and effective. The Sophomore guards were on the alert and by seven o'clock the nineteenelevenites had torn down the posters.

As far as the "procs" are concerned, the under-classmen have divided honors this fall.

Alumnus Dies Suddenly.

William F. Schooley, '71, a well known resident and assistant postmaster of Montgomery, dropped dead last Wednesday afternoon while crossing the river at Montgomery in a ferry boat. Some time ago Mr. Schooley suffered a paralytic stroke and since that time has not been in the best of health, although able to be around. His physician had warned him against exerting himself. Over-exertion caused by helping his son to move brought on the fatal attack.

Mr. Schooley graduated in Bucknell in 1871. For some time after his graduation he engaged in agriculture near Allenwood. Lately he has been assistant postmaster at Montgomery.

Mass Meeting for Gettysburg.

A rousing mass meeting was held in Commencement Hall on Friday night, when cheering and singing was practiced. Despite the fact that only about half the men were on the hill there was no lack of enthusiasm on part of those who attended and the traditional Bucknell spirit was manifest. Spang, '10, Eakley, '10, and Hodge, '11, were elected cheer-leaders

After the meeting a parade was indulged in, the procession going down to the Baker House where they saluted the Gettysburg team.

Scrubs Lose to Millersville.

In a fast and exciting game the Scrubs lost their second game to Millersville, score 12-0. As happened a week ago, both touchdowns were made on trick plays and no. by straight football. In one instance the Millersville fullback was sent with the ball after a delayed pass which resulted in an 80 yard run for a touchdown. In the other case, a Millersville end had dropped on the side-line, apparently out of the game, when suddenly he was seen speeding down the field to catch a forward pass. That meant another six points. No ground was gained through the Schubs' line. Both scores were made in the second half.

Debating League Delegates Meet.

On Saturday morning at 9 o'clock the delegates of the three colleges, Lafayette, Gettysburg, and Bucknell, met in the Bucknell Library anteroom for the purpose of revising the constitution of the league and of laying plans for the debates of the year. Frank Snyder represented Gettysburg, Chas. B. Swartz, Lafayette, and T. S. Bracken, Bucknell. As soon as the constitution is ratified by the colleges it will be published in full.

Inasmuch as Bucknell and Lafayette have not met in debate, the first contest will be between those two colleges on Friday, January 15th, in Bucknell Hall. Bucknell is to submit the question and Lafayette to choose the side. Since no debate has been held at Gettysburg, she will have the second contest there.

He believes that his new quarters, separate as they are from the buildings yet in close proximity to them, will prove satisfactory both to himself and to his patrons.

ACADEMY NOTES.

Wm. F. Holliday, of Bellwood, was here to visit friends and see the Bucknell-Gettysburg game.

There will be a business meeting of the Literary Society next Friday night to elect a new president.

Sunbury Y. M. C. A. will meet the Academy team on the college campus next Saturday at 10.30 a. m.

The Elocution Class of the Third Form entertained the Literary Society on Friday night with a fine program. On account of the absence of Pres. Brunner, G. W. Potts presided.

The foot-ball team has been considerably weakened by the loss of Brunner, who has returned home for the rest of the year. Brunner was one of the best full-backs the Academy has ever had. He also will be missed when next season's baseball team organizes.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. was addressed last Thursday evening by Dr. G. G. Groff on the subject of "Morality."

This talk is given by Mr. Groff every year and its popularity was proved by the number of men in attendance, which was over the hundred mark. The aim of the address was to point out the responsibility each man owes to himself and to the world of leaving his Alma Mater with a strong and healthy body. "Our bodies are temples of the living God" said Dr. Groff, "and they should be treated as such."

At the next meeting, the music committee will have entire charge and a musical program will be rendered. The president extends a hearty invitation to everyone to be present.

Ministerial Association.

The regular meeting of the ministerial association which was to have been held on Thursday was postponed to Friday on account of an examination. As a result few members were present and the program scheduled was deferred until next Thursday.

The program committee desire a full attendance at that time as an interesting topic is under discussion. President Edwards, '09, gave the following report:

"As far as could be ascertained there are in attendance at Bucknell thirty-five ministerial students. Ten of these are in the Senior class, seven in the Junior class, six in the Sophomore class, five in the Freshman class, and seven in the Academy."

DELAWARE DOWNED BY BUCKNELL

A SLOW AND LISTLESS GAME.

Varsity Penalized Time and Again and Throws Away Chance to Run Up Big Score.

In what was expected to be an easy game for Bucknell, the Varsity defeated the Delaware College team by the small score of 13-0. It was the poorest exhibition of foot-ball seen here this season and the many spectators and rooters became tired of watching and cheering long before second half ended. Had the Varsity been in her usual form, the score would have been much larger.

Delaware, who had a light but plucky team, put up a strong fight and made Bucknell work to gain her goals. She played very low, both on the offense and on the defense, and made it very difficult for Bucknell to rush the ball in mass plays without fumbling. Her offensive work was much weaker. Not once did she make a first down and her trick forward passes, that looked more like basket-ball than foot-ball, were blocked by the opposing ends before any ground had been gained. Only once or twice did she succeed in making any holes in Bucknell's line and on those occasions the ball was advanced but a few yards. McAllister had the advantage as far as punting was concerned, and did not allow any of his kicks to be blocked.

Shupe was, as formerly, the star of the Varsity. He advanced the ball whenever it was given to him, and it took more than one Delaware man to bring him to the ground. He made successful use of the straight-arm on several occasions. Twice he broke through the entire opposing eleven and ran behind the goal posts with the ball, only to be called back because some of his colleagues had fouled. His tackling was very commendable.

Kurtz, who began the game at right half-back, showed himself to be equal to his position. His defensive work was hard on the visitors. Edmunds seemed to be at home in his own position at tackle, and he with Capt. O'Brien, who fills the same position on the other side of the line, allowed the visitors little opportunity to gain any ground. Milligan, the big fellow from Mercersburg, who was in the game for a few minutes, promises to be a strong man for the line.

The game began at two o'clock. For a while it seemed that Bucknell would walk away with the visitors, but nearly every time she gained ten or twenty yards she was penalized for holding or for illegal blocking. Toward the middle of the first half, when Delaware had the ball on her own 10-yard line McAllister blocked Haley's kick and a safety was the result. It took some time for Bucknell to take the pig-skin down the field after Delaware kicked out. Shupe at this time carried the ball directly through the line. Munk failed to kick the goal.

When the teams came out for the second half, it was supposed by the Varsity supporters that the story would be different, and that all fouling would cease. The second half was a mere repetition of the first. Time and again the official's whistle blew and Bucknell lost all she had gained. By refraining from displeasing the officials for a few downs, the Orange and Blue eleven took the ball close to Delaware's goal, when it was given to Coulson who put it over. Shupe kicked the goal.

No one was seriously crippled during the game, but several sustained bruises that will stiffen them up for a few days.

Credit must be given to the cheering section who sat in the bleechers in the hot sun and loyally supported the Varsity. The new yells which had been practiced for the first time at the Friday night mass meeting secured a hearty applause from the hill-sides.

Scrubs Lose Hard Game.

The Scrubs traveled to the Central State Normal School at Lock Haven on Saturday and lost a hard-fought game. The play was fast and snappy on both sides, but the Scrubs suffered as did the Varsity, by frequent penalizing. Lock Haven made both of her touchdowns in the first half when the wearers of the Orange and Blue seemed a little weak. In the second half the Normal School had the worst of the bargain and Bucknell scored when McDonough galloped in a fumble and ran 105 yards for a touchdown. Doggart kicked the goal. Final score 12-6.

Monthly Meeting of Aluminae Club.

The Bucknell Alumnae Club held its first meeting of the college year in the Institute parlors on Tuesday evening, Oct. 13th, at eight o'clock. On account of the resignation of Miss Reilly, as president, Miss Sara Judd was elected to fill the vacancy. Mrs. W. C. Gretzinger was elected vice president.

The Club received an invitation to send two delegates to the dedication of the New Women's Building at State College and was also asked to send a representation of two members to the meeting of the Federation of Pennsylvania Women at Pittsburg.

Two general invitations were also received, one from those who had charge of the dedication of the Maclay monument, and another from the Twentieth Century Club of Mifflinburg, who will entertain the alumnae.

The next regular meeting will be held on the second Tuesday of November. After the business meeting an excellent program was rendered.

PROGRAM.

Vocal solo, Mrs. H. Griffiths.
The Duties and Responsibilities of Club Membership, Mrs. J. W. Vanvalzah.
Vocal solo, Miss Lutz.
Current Events, prepared by Mrs. Anna Dreisbach, read by Mrs. Mary Gerhart.
The last mentioned number was a very clever account in verse of foreign happenings, for Mrs. Dreisbach is at present traveling in England.

Dr. Ed. T. Shields, '01, who has completed the medical course at Pennsylvania has been appointed by the Foreign Missionary Board to Yachou, West China.

COLLEGE GLEE CLUB PROMISES GREAT SUCCESS

FORTY-FIVE MEN SEEK FOSITIONS

Leaders Confident of Forming One of the Best Clubs in Bucknell's History.

Responding to the advertisement for one hundred men to try for positions on the Glee Club, twenty-one men reported on Tuesday night, and forty-five on Thursday. Rehearsals were held for an hour on both of these evenings, and from the interest shown by the men a successful season may be anticipated. The majority of singers are trying for the first and second bass positions. For the second tenor about ten men are out and for first tenor, six. Some excellent music has been purchased by the manager and will be rehearsed twice a week under the leadership of Prof. Paul G. Stolz.

While the managers and leader are confident that the development of one of the best musical clubs Bucknell ever had is under way, yet they are anxious that every man now out will continue in his place and that all men possessed of vocal musical ability, who have not yet appeared at the practices, will do so at once.

Fair play will be shown to everyone and on the trips away from home the men for such trips will be chosen irrespective of class. The manager is also desirous that every man attend every meeting. The music now being practiced will be sung at the concerts and it must all be memorized.

The alumni are looking forward to the successful organization of a Glee Club with more than ordinary interest. They are just as anxious that Bucknell should be as well represented on the musical platform as she is in her debating league or on the gridiron. It can be expected that, wherever the Club goes, it will be entertained by the alumni, as is done with other college musical clubs, and that their musical performance will be looked forward to with much pleasure.

The Mandolin Club, which is connected with the Glee Club, has played together several times this fall and promises to be a great help to the singers on their tours. Several Mandolin players are yet needed to fill last year's vacancies and to enlarge the club. Those desiring to try for places can apply to the leader, Gibson, '09.

The two clubs will furnish music at the annual minstrel show held during the winter term.

Africa, '09, has been appointed pianist of the Club.

F. R. Rawlinson, '99, has sailed for Shanghai, China, where he is to become a professor in the Baptist college there and also editor of the "Far East," a quarterly published by the Baptist missionaries of the Orient.

College Bible Class.

In the College Bible class Dr. Harris spoke on the 14th verse of the 34th chapter of Exodus—"For thou shalt worship no other god: for the Lord whose name is jealous, is a jealous God." There shall be no other gods before him because no one is entitled to be before him. As God is infinitely just, holy and righteous so the person who is just, holy and righteous in spirit will reverence God spontaneously. Just in proportion as we are developed morally and spiritually in that proportion will we have gratitude toward God.

The Heathen religions were based on the idea of fear. God was represented as powerful. Moreover their religious festivities were accompanied by evil and licentiousness. In this commandment the word Jehovah is used, which represents God as a God of love. Disloyalty to him is regarded as treason and is punishable by death. They were commanded to utterly destroy all insignia of heathen worship—things which we would now keep and regard as harmless. Moreover they were forbidden to have any marriage or political alliance with neighboring nations. All things that suggested evil were to be entirely destroyed. These laws were so strenuous that the Hebrews in their formative period might have a wholesome atmosphere. They were just coming to the idea of one God. They were to be prepared to perform their great mission in the world, namely, to educate the world in monotheism.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. held a very interesting meeting on Thursday night. The music committee which was to have had charge was given another week to prepare his program, and William, '10, took the meeting in his stead. An interesting subject was presented. The leader brought out the fact that men are prone to doubt God's goodness, that they sometimes feel that He does not mean what He says, and that often human beings are too proud to yield to His commandments. The discussion that followed brought out many doubts that had arisen and enumerated methods for overcoming all doubts that hindered Christian growth.

On Thursday next the music committees will conduct a musical service. The case of piano has been secured for the meeting.

Crawford-Masser Wedding.

On Wednesday, October 14, Miss Sara E. Masser, a former student of the Bucknell School of Music, and a member of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority, was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph W. Crawford, of Pittsburg. The ceremony was solemnized in St. Matthew's Episcopal church, of Sunbury, which city is the home of Miss Masser. While the guests were arriving, Miss Margaret Stolz, of Lewisburg, a sorority sister of the bride, sang several beautiful selections. At 6.30 P. M., Miss Stolz began to sing the wedding march, and immediately the bridal procession came forward. The bride was attended by eight bridesmaids and a maid of honor. Miss Harriet Burrows, School of Music, '08, acted as first bridesmaid, and Miss Geraldine H. Masser, also a student of the School of Music, and a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor.

After the wedding a reception at the house was held. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents. The couple will reside in Pittsburg after their wedding tour.

Among the guests present were several of Miss Masser's Lewisburg and Bucknell friends and associates.

Ministerial Association.

At a meeting of Ministerial Association on Thursday it was decided to change the time of meeting from Thursday afternoon to Wednesday at 9.00 P. M., the sessions to be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. On Wednesday night, the 21st, the bi-monthly meeting will be held at which time there will be a discussion of Summer work.

SORORITIES ENTERTAIN FRESHMEN GIRLS

NEW PAN-HELLENIC FEATURE.

Brilliant Reception in Institute Parlors Pronounced a Great Success by Everyone Present.

It has been heretofore the custom for each of the college girls' fraternities to entertain some or all the entering Freshman girls at separate times, shortly after the opening of the fall term. This year a new precedent was established. The Tri Delta and Pi Beta Phi girls united and issued invitations for a reception in the name of the "Pan Hellenic Association," thus doing away with all competition, however friendly.

The reception was held in the Institute parlors on Friday evening, October 17th. The rooms were decorated for the occasion with hot-house palms, and every nook and corner was a veritable bower of green.

By half-past eight, even those guests who were limited to come fashionably late, had arrived; and, it being an informal affair, everyone was trying to get acquainted. All the alumnae of both fraternities who live in Lewisburg, as well as the patronesses, were present. Some out-of-town people who attended were Florence Dyer, ex'11, of Harrisburg; Emily Ebling, '03, of Williamsport; Katherine Helsen, '09, and Hannah Mervine, '09, of Milton.

Since the main purpos of these receiving was to learn to know the new girls, no entertainment was provided, except the omnipresent one of conversation. This was varied at intervals by music and Gretchen Raeback, '11, rendered a very fine solo.

Refreshments were served in the schoolroom which was also beautifully decorated. The menu was as follows:

Fruit Salad
Chicken Salad and Rolls
Olives
Ice Cream Cake
Coffee

The girls were grouped together in fours, an alumna, a Pi Beta Phi, a Tri Delta and a new girl being placed together. This clever arrangement facilitated fun, and a gale of merriment swept over the room every now and then.

The guests began to disperse about half-past ten. It was unanimously agreed that all had enjoyed a very pleasant evening. The new girls were especially delighted over one of their first glimpses into the social side of college life.

Great credit is due to all the girls but the direct management of the affair was in the hands of the Pan Hellenic committee whose members were Mrs. Phillips, '01, Eunice Hall, '09, and Helen Cliber, '09.

Mathewson Gets Loving Cup.

A news dispatch from New York City says: "Christy Mathewson, the Giants' star pitcher received a loving cup Monday night at the Herald Square Theatre from Joseph M. Gaites and the members of "The Three Twins" company.

"Mathewson and the members of the New York club occupied seats in a box. At the end of the second act Clifton Crawford stepped up to the box, and addressing Mathewson, said he desired, on the part of the members of the company, to present to him a token of their esteem. The entire company then sang 'For He's a Jolly Good Fellow.'"

Only Grandfather on Faculty.

Prof. Thomas A. Edwards enjoys the distinction of being the only grandfather member of the faculty. To Mr. and Mrs. Merle M. Edwards there was born on Friday last, a son, Mr. M. M. Edwards was a member of the class of 1903.

The "Orange and Blue" desires to congratulate both parents and grandparents on the arrival of Master Edwards.

THE DEBATING LEAGUE.

Last year there was formed by Gettysburg, Lafayette and Bucknell a Debating League. While the interest in this league did not reach all Bucknell men, there was sufficient support given to make the first years work a success, especially for Bucknell, whose team was victorious.

This year, the league has drawn up a new constitution, which seems to meet the demands of such an organization better than the old document. Such a movement should mean renewed interest in the Debating League, especially on part of all men who have a kindly feeling toward literary work. In fact, there is no reason why college men should not be as enthusiastic over intercollegiate debating as they are over intercollegiate athletics. The leaders in this commendable and worthy organization are anxious to go ahead and get their plans into working order. This they cannot do unless the students back them up. We would urge that on Monday night the college men show their loyalty to their Alma Mater with respect to the Debating League, which in the end means more than all athletics combined, by turning out and by lending their assistance. Let Bucknell rank as high in her intellectual sphere as she does in her physical.

Republican Club Elects Officers.

At a meeting of the Republican club held on Monday night, Oct. 12, the following officers were elected: President, L. A. Jones, '05; Vice President, Harry Smith, '05; Secretary and Treasurer, Harold L. Hunter, '09. The following advisory board was chosen: Wm. Baldwin, '09, Alfred Carey, '09, and Thomas Fracken, '09. About two hundred men have joined the club. It is the intention of the leaders to hold a mass meeting at which several prominent politicians will speak.

Civic Club Plans Lecture Course.

The Civic Club of Lewisburg has requested the "Orange and Blue" to announce that it will hold during the winter at the County Court House a series of lectures. The first one will take place on November 9th, having been postponed from October 22. At that time J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association, will lecture on the subject, "Crusade Against Ugliness." A small admission will be charged.

University of Pittsburg Game.

The Varsity will leave Friday for Pittsburg, arriving there in the evening, when they will put up at the Seventh Avenue Hotel. Special tickets for Bucknell alumni and "undergrads" can be secured at that hotel from Manager Van Why for 50 cents. The game will be played on the Exposition grounds, Pittsburg, beginning at two o'clock. Ask for the "Bucknell Cheering Section".

—Glee Club practice Tuesday and Friday. 100 men wanted.

"Penn's Hospitality."

Many Bucknell men who arrived early for the Penn game had ample opportunity to see how thorough the Pennsylvanias could entertain visiting students. The fraternity houses were wide open to all Bucknell men and we were greeted with such a marked enthusiasm that we immediately felt that we were the honored guests. On Friday evening before the game the quadrangle was the scene of an extensive "hazing." It was a "side-splitting" affair from start to finish, but was not considered complete until Bucknell had been asked to put the Freshmen through some "up river" stunts, and all had joined in a yell for our Alma Mater. A delegation of Penn men escorted us through the dormitories and all the principal buildings, including their splendidly built training house and gymnasium. At the training house we met the Varsity who proved themselves a court one and gentlemanly lot of fellows.

A little incident happened in the training house which is certainly worthy of comment. On Saturday afternoon, immediately before the game and in our pres nce, the captain of the Penn team gave a chalk talk on the afternoon's game, drawing all the important plays, and upon our desiring to leave the room, the captain very earnestly requested us to stay.

The pageant parade, so full of spectacular incidents in Philadelphia, was rehearsed on Franklin Field Friday night behind closed gates, but through the kindness of a number of Varsity men who participaed in the event, we were permitted to see the show.

No boasting of prowess was ever heard and their intense loyalty to old Penn., not outdone by kindnesses in every particular, made us feel like taking off our hats to the Red and the Blue. It is always a fine contest when universities and colleges vie with each other in entertaining visitors.

A SENIOR.

Meeting of Debating League Postponed.

On account of the lack of a quorum at the meeting of the Debating advertised for Wednesday night, night, the president announced that the meeting would be held on Monday, October 19, at 9.00 P. M. in Room 1. At that time officers for the year will be elected. It is very necessary that all the members be present this time, for the preliminary debates are soon to be held. The membership at present about one hundred. According to the constitution one-fourth the membership comprise a quorum. The president is anxious therefore, that at least twenty-five men take sufficient interest in the league to maintain Bucknell's debating reputation.

Western Pennsylvania Club Organizes.

A meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Club was held on Tuesday the 6th. The following officers were elected: President, A. B. Claypoole, '09; Secretary, Miss Eva Weddle, '10; Treasurer, Miss Myrtle Walkinshaw, '09. The president-elect appointed a committee to arrange for some social functions which will be held during the term. Applicants for membership are requested to hand their names to the president.

UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURG DEFEATS BUCKNELL

GAME WAS PLAYED IN THE MUD

Pittsburg Makes Great Gains Around Ends, While Bucknell Lacks in Proper Team Work.

Wallowing in a sea of mud which was inches deep after a rain of Friday night, the Bucknell's Varsity football team played the University of Pittsburg at the Smoky City Saturday afternoon and lost in a miserable game by a score of 22-0.

The defeat, which put a kink in the soaring hopes of the Orange and Blue supporters, can only be excused by the fact that the western eleven simply outplayed the Bucknell team and scored the victory on straight football tactics. Newspaper accounts of the game declare that the Pittsburg men played their best game of the season while Bucknell somehow never seemed to be in the running. A partial excuse is found in the fact that the field was heavy with mud. All the season the Lewisburg squad has been practicing in dust and was unused to the slippery condition of the gridiron. The ooze was several inches deep and seriously impeded the running of both teams. The big men the half-backs found it a most impossible to hold themselves on the slippery field.

One fault conspicuous in the playing of the Bucknell eleven is decared to have been the lack of proper team work, and while some of the individual playing was brilliant, men at times failed to act in perfect harmony. Captain O'Brien played a hard consistent game while Edmunds made him a good mate at the other tackle. Winegardner bore the brunt of most of the end rushes at the left of the line, but either the mud or the heavy onslaughts of the Pittsburg interference kept him from playing in his old time form. Frampton, the plucky cade who drifted in from a New Jersey military academy this fall and showed very poor prospects of making the varsity, was substituted for Snyder at center in the second half. Despite his lack of weight, he held his position well and put more ginger into the game than some of the old veterans of the line. The youngster is a trifle light for the position, however, and it is intimated that he will be tried out at quarter-back this week and held in readiness in case anything should happen to Munk.

In the back-field the team felt the absence of McNinch and Coulson, who are still crippled from injuries sustained in practice last week. McNinch has a badly wrenched knee and Coulson is nursing a sore ankle in which he tore the ligaments while making an end run against the scrubs. Fred Shoop, the Steelton star, played well but his usual brilliancy and dash were lacking. Several substitutes were run in during the last half, but failed to stay the onrushes of the Pittsburg eleven.

Bucknell played its best in the first half when it held the Smoky City contingent down to one touchdown. In the last period, however, the Pittsburgers seemed to simply sweep their opponents off their feet and succeeded in crossing the Bucknell goal lines three times in twenty minutes of play. One of the touchdowns was made from the kick-off when Richards, the Pittsburg full-back, ran clear through the Bucknell team and shaking off half a dozen tacklers, carried the ball behind the goal posts.

Sayre and Goldsmith, former members of the Bucknell Varsity, were conspicuous in the line-up of the Pittsburg team.

Three thousand people witnessed the game. Bucknell rooters were out in force, several hundred graduates and supporters occupying the east stand. On the opposite side were grouped more than 700 Pitt students, who made the park ring with their cheers.

College Bible Class.

In the absence of Dr. Harris, Prof. Phillips had charge of the College Bible Class. He spoke on the writing, collecting and canonizing of the Old Testament Scriptures.

These books of the Old Testament are a growth, having their beginning in the laws of Moses, for the laws of Moses were historically the first part of the Old Testament.

In order to understand how the Old Testament or Old Covenant originated, a preliminary survey of the life of the Hebrews is necessary. Hebrew life is divided into the five periods; 1. Nomadic, from the time of Abraham to the time of dwelling in Canaan; 2. Settlement, period during archy, during the reign of these kings the time of Judges over Israel; 3. Monarchy, during the reign of these kings who ruled over the whole nation before the division; 4. Prophecy, when, after the kingdom was divided the people began to lose their ideals; 5. Literature, from the captivity in Babylon when the Hebrews never reached their former prestige and their efforts were devoted to production of books, some of which we find in the Bible.

The social forces in the history of the nation were important in their bearing on the production of the Old Testament Scripture. These social forces were: a, prophetic ;b, legal; c, philosophical. During the Nomadic, Monarchical and Prophetical periods of Jewish history the material of the Bible was in the form of oral tradition. This influence was important in that it left the tradition of language understood at the later times and made the traditions more acceptable for reading. The traditions were not transmitted by word of mouth because the art of writing was unknown, but from the fact that no nation produces much written literature before they leave nomadic life and settle in one place.

Y. M. C. A. Entertainment.

The first number of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course, the entertainment of the Elma B. Smith Co., was given in the M. E. church on Saturday evening. The whole program was exceedingly well rendered and all who were present speak in highest terms of the performers.

Mrs. Smith is master of her art. Her imitations of children and birds are perfect and her recitations brought down the house. Miss Rich appeared well in native costumes as she sang Irish and Indian songs.

It is perhaps not too much to say that there has not been a violinist in all the concerts held at Lewisburg that has surpassed Mr. Waldemar von Geltch. His playing was especially marked because of its expression. Mr. Rummel was a professional accompanist.

It is generally conceded that the entertainment was one of the best ever given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Varsity Gets Send-off.

On Friday morning the college men showed their spirit and their loyalty to the Varsity when they gave them a rousing send-off at the P. R. R. station. At 8.30 o'clock the men met in front of Main college and after parading around the building they marched down town singing and cheering for the team. The usual snake dance was given on Market street. At the station there were gathered several hundred students including the Academy and Seminary. Capt. O'Brien, Coach Smith and others made short speeches. As the train pulled out they were given a Bucknell-ei-el farewell.

Debating League Elects Officers.

At a meeting of the Debating League on Monday night, the following officers were elected for the year: President, Fritz, '09; Vice President, Velte, '10; Secretary, Benson, '10; Treasurer, Kresge, '10. A call will soon be issued for all those who desire to enter the preliminary contests. These contests are open to all undergraduates and will result in the choice of men who are to represent Bucknell on her debating team.

TENNIS TOURNEY BEING PLAYED

A LIVE INTEREST IS SHOWN.

Professors, Alumni and Undergraduates Have Entered Both Singles adn Doubles.

By the interest shown in the tennis tournament being held this fall it is evident that this sport is greatly gaining in popularity among the student body. A few years ago tennis suffered, but lately clubs have been organized, new courts have been made, both on the campus and in the near vicinity, and a number of students are becoming expert at the game.

During the last two years intercollegiate tennis has grown in favor and the Bucknell team has met Lafayette, Dickinson, State and Gettysburg, and has always more than held its own. These games have been well attended.

CHAS. A. NYEERG, '09,

To be well prepared for next spring's work, Manager Nyberg has arranged a tournament of singles and doubles which are now being played at the "Merry Widow" and Phi Kappa Psi courts. Sixteen men have entered the singles, and eight pairs have signed up for the doubles. Among the number are professors, alumni and undergraduates. Practice will continue as long as the weather permits.

Next spring a series of tournaments will be held and the team for the year will be chosen from the results. It is believed that more rivalry will be shown than ever before for there are more men trying out who are evenly matched. Special inter-fraternity games will be arranged.

The manager promises to secure an excellent schedule. He is endeavoring to have the Bucknell team meet Swarthmore, State, Lafayette, Dickinson and Gettysburg.

The college women have entered into this sport with as much enthusiasm as the men. Last year there were more than seventy members of the College Women's Tennis Association. A tournament took place in which a large number entered. The college girls have not yet gone as far as to form a team, but they have some players who could well represent them.

The winners of the past week's tournament will met in a final match in singles on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. An exciting game is in store, and the management invites the public to witness the contest.

Fette, '10, vs. Guyer, '09, 6-2, 6-2.

S. Harris, '07, vs. Prof. Ballentine, 6-1, 6-2.

James Harris, '12, vs. Smith, '10, 6-1, 6-4.

Abraham, '10, vs. Bartol, '05, 6-1, 6-3.

Gibson, '09, vs. Fetter, '09, 6-1, 0-6, 6-4.

Sprout, '10, vs. Steel, '11, 6-4, 5-7, 10-8.

Prof. Rockwell defaults to Prof. Castle.

In the second rounds the results were as follows:

J. Harris, '12, vs. Fetter, '10, 6-0, 6-2.

S. Harris, '07, vs. Abraham, 6-0, 6-3.

Nisbit-Hayes Nuptials.

The marriage on Thursday evening, Oct. 22, of Miss Emma Benhah, inst. '05, only daughter of Mr. and Alfred Hayes, to James Douglas Nisbit, M. D., of New York City, was the occasion of a brilliant social event in Lewisburg.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. E. Thomas, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in the presence of about forty relatives and friends, and was followed by a reception to about 150 guests.

To the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, rendered by an orchestra, the bridal party entered the front parlor and took their positions before a bank of palms, the minister leading, and the others following in order: Dr. A. E. Davis and Mr. M. C. Hayes, ushers; the bridegroom and his brother, Dr. Vernon Nisbit ,who acted as best man; the Misses Emily Blair, Frances Connor and Emma Nesbit, bridesmaids; Miss Edith Orlady, maid-of-honor; and then the bride accompanied by her father.

After a fine wedding supper the bride and groom departed amid a shower of confetti for William-port where they went to Washington and the South for their wedding journey.

Bucknell Alumni on the Ticket.

The names of two Bucknell alumni appear on the local ticket this fall. John V. Lesher, '97, of Sunbury, is the local option candidate for State Senate in the 27th district, consisting of Union, Northumberland and Snyder counties. Mr. Lesher is being backed by the Democratic and Prohibition parties and a large contingent of Republicans with independent tendencies. Although he is being opposed by millionaire McConnell, of Shamokin, his chances of winning are very favorable. Almost all the Bucknell alumni in this district will support "Jack," who has always been a loyal Bucknellian.

The name of John H. Wingert '72, also appears on the Democratic ticket for County Commissioner in Union county. Every voter in the county, either Republican or Democratic is supposed to vote for one Democratic or minority party candidate. There are two Republican and one Democratic Commissioners to be elected, Mr. Wingert having opposition for the place on the Democratic ticket. It is to be hoped that in voting for the minority candidate, the Bucknell voters will favor Mr. Wingert.

Death of R. A. Lawshe.

Mr. Robert A. Lawshe, the junior member of the firm of Russell & Lawshe, died at eight o'clock Tuesday evening, the 20th inst., in his sixty-first year, of apoplexy. He has been ill for some weeks, yet his death was unexpected. His widow, Mrs. Margaret, one son, Irland, two daughters, Josephine and Louise, and a sister, Miss N. Emma, survive him.

Mr. Lawshe was an Academy student in his boyhood and a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity, now discontinued. He was well known among the students, and especially among those with whom he came into contact as a deacon and trustee of the First Baptist church.

WEARERS OF THE GREEN DEFEATED

WAS AN EXCITING CONTEST.

Sophomores Outplayed the Freshmen in the First Half and Secured a Victory.—Score 6-0.

The Sophomore-Freshman foot-ball contest proved to be one of the most exciting and thrilling games that have been played between the under classes for some years. Both teams were confident of victory and neither side yielded until the second half was over. It was almost a repetition of the inter-class game of the fall of 1905 when the Sophomores defeated the present Senior class by the score of 5-0. The game was the cleanest seen this fall. Penalties were few and the antagonism was altogether a friendly rivalry.

The Sophomore team made a much better showing than it did last year. It was strengthened by some new material that entered this fall. The line was especially strong and the Freshmen could do little with it. On the offense the Sophomores played all around their opponents. Two back field seldom made less than five yards on a down. Forward passes worked in one or two cases, and on side kicks were resorted for exercise game. The punting was consistent and it was difficult for the ends to follow the ball.

The Freshman team while weaker than the nine-eleven men, made their rivals work for every yard gained. As usual, they had not the confidence of the second year men and were not so well organized among themselves. Dugan, on whom they were counting to pay quarter-back, was taken with the Varsity on Saturday, and Llewellyn was substituted. Their line was unable to hold at critical times, and the punts of the full-back were blocked in two instances.

The game was called at two-thirty o'clock. As the teams came upon the field the underclassmen greeted them with the yells they had prepared for the occasion.

The Freshmen kicked off to the Sophomores, who made directly for their opponent's goal. The ball changed hands but a few times. Sweet made a pretty end run and when the ball was placed on the 5-yard line, Green carried it over for the only touchdown of the day. Neff added one to the five points by sending the ball over the goal. The Freshman chose to kick to the Sophomores again. By an end run by Sweet, a recovered on-side kick by Tuman, a blocked kick, a forward pass, and the excellent tackling of Green, the Sophomores were again threatening the green goal when the first half ended.

In the second half the ball was not carried back of the goal. After the kick-off by the Sophomores, there was no let-up until the game ended. Once was the Freshman goal endangered. It was when "Bullets" Wolfe blocked a kick and caused the ball to be secured by a Sophomore. The game ended on 1912 territory.

Green was the star of the Sophomores. His defensive work was of Varsity style, and he seldom failed to gain when his team had the ball. Tuman and Hinman were also strong men and Sweet handled the team in good form. Frambes, the heavy Freshman center, filled his position well and Harrison and Llewellyn put up a strenuous fight.

During the second half the Freshmen flung their flag to the breeze on the top of a campus tree, and instantly there was a contest which outvied the foot-ball game. The Sophomores made several desperate attempts to get up the tree after the flag and did succeed in getting a few men on the branches when the upper-classmen, realizing the danger, called the scrap off. The foot-ball teams show less effects of their combat than do their brother classmen.

COLLEGE SPIRIT.

There is no one thing in college better able to unite the student body or to support the college teams than wholesome college spirit. A spirit such as this was manifested on Friday morning when several hundred students showed their faith in the Varsity by giving it a fitting "send-off". A team can put twice as much vigor and energy in a game when it knows that the studentbody is back of it.

There are some, however, who seem to think that enthusiasm, when aroused, should be given full play and that no "send-off" is complete without a demonstration on the hill.

The attitude that was demonstrated on Friday is to be emphatically condemned. There was no college spirit displayed, but rather that of men whose brains have not been developed to the point of self control. College spirit is a necessity, rowdyism has no place on the hill.

MAIN HALL.

At a college like Bucknell, it ought not be necessary for the faculty to draw up a code of laws and rules to be obeyed explicitly by the students. College men ought to know what to do and that not to do, especially concerning the little things that seem insignificant. The main hall of main college is a thoroughfare and not a smoking-room. At the close of every period a number of college women must pass through this hall and they are compelled to be annoyed by some few who think more of their pipes than they do of the comfort of others.

If this were not a co-educational institution, no objection would be raised, but under the circumstances, Main Hall should be used for what it was intended and for nothing more.

Ministerial Association.

At the regular meeting of the Association of Ministerial Students, held on Wednesday evening in Association Hall, the subject of "Summer Work" was discussed. Fetter, '09, and Mitch, '10, were the appointed speakers. They related the experiences of their summer work, and told of their methods of handling the different problems that arose in their respective fields. The remainder of the hour was occupied by those who had further ideas or experiences to relate and by those who had questions to ask.

The next regular meeting will be held at the usual place on Wednesday, November 4th.

A New Attraction.

The Sophomore Oratory Class have arranged to hold an independent Convention in Commencement Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at eight o'clock. The affair is to be in keeping with the times. Several parties will be present to nominate their candidates and speeches from members of the different parties will be heard. A small admission to the convention will be charged, the proceeds to go toward the decoration of the Oratory Hall. The mandolin and guitar club will furnish music.

All mandolin players out tonight.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. departed from its usual custom last Thursday night when it gave the music committee entire charge of the meeting. Gibson, '09, chairman of the committee, had charge of the service. Vocal solos were sung by Gibson, '09, and Fetter, '09, Mathias, '09, and Gibson rendered a duet, and Panks, '10, and Silvius, '11, favored the students with a violin and saxophone duet. The remainder of the evening was given to the singing of hymns which was materially aided by the musical instruments.

There is being held at Columbus, Ohio, an International Student Bible Conference. When General Secretary Clayton Cooper met the Y. M. C. A. cabinet on Monday night and acquainted them with the nature of the Conference, it was immediately decided to send delegates. Paxburn, '10, Chairman of the Bible Study Committee, and Tyson, '11, were chosen to represent Bucknell and left for Columbus on Wednesday. A report of the convention will be given soon after the return of the delegates.

BUCKNELL TIES WITH LAFAYETTE

VARSITY SPRINGS BIG SURPRISE.

After Two Weeks of Defeat, the Eleven Shows Up in Great Form in an Interesting Game.

Lafayette barely missed losing its scalp in its own camp on Saturday when the Bucknell eleven swooped down on the gridiron and played with such surprising snappiness that the team which a few weeks ago held the famous Princeton to 0-0, considered itself fortunate to escape with a tie score of 6-6.

The game was one of the big surprises of the season in foot-ball circles. Overwhelmed with defeat at Pittsburg a week ago and dragged down further by the discouragement which manifest itself among the players and students in general, the team which was underestimated and almost ridicled by outsiders, by its plucky stroke of Saturday has restored confidence among the players themselves and set the blood of all loyal Bucknell supporters a-tingling with enthusiam on the eve of the big game with State College. The victory has worked wonders in reviving the drooping spirits of the Bucknell followers. It has not only restored confidence among the supporters of the team but has given the outside world to understand that Bucknell is still to be taken into account on the college gridiron.

The defeat by the University of Pittsburg a week ago was not without its benefits. It showed up the flaws in some parts of the team and had the effect of bringing about a decided shake up, which may account in part for the excellent showing against Lafayette, Shoop was shifted to full-back in McAllister's place, Wickham and Henderson were given their first try-out as backs and Beemer ran the team at quarter, thus giving an entirely new formation in the back-field. All of the regular men were on the line with the exception of right-tackle, which was filled by Tyson, Edmunds being shifted back to his old position at guard.

Contrary to expectations, Lafayette placed their best men in the field against Bucknell, an incident which gives an added color to the victory as it had been rumored that the Orange and Blue eleven would line up against a team of substitutes. The Maroon and White players were taken off their feet by the unexpected attack of the Lewisburg gridiron warriors and did not recover from their daze until their goal line had been crossed for a touchdown with the first half scarcely started. Lafayette had kicked off and on the first down Shoop was given the ball and skirting out around left end making a sensational run of forty-yards before he was downed on the Maroon and White 20 yard line. Repeated attacks on the line advanced the ball rapidly and a few minutes later Shoop shot through a gap in the opponents line and carried the ball between the goal posts. He kicked a pretty goal. Score, Bucknell, 6, Lafayette, 0.

The Eastonians immediately took a brace and prevented further scoring by Bucknell but were themselves unable to tally during the remainder of the first half although two attempts at field goals from placement were made by Full-back McCaa. He also tried again in the second half but without success. Once the kick was blocked, once it went wide, and twice the ball just missed a foot or two of skimming over the bar for a goal.

Lafayette played desperately in the second half but could only get one touch-down early in the half when McCaa crossed the Bucknell line for a touchdown on straight foot ball. After that the battle waged back and

College Bible Class.

Dr. Harris spoke of the great contribution to the world by the Hebrews. It was the idea of one God who had created and now maintained the universe and the idea of that God as a moral God. The Hebrews hemmed in by the sea, the desert, and the mountains had the necessary seclusion for the pure development of this idea. After 1500 years of continual instruction in this one idea it had become part of themselves so that they were ready to give it to the world.

A reform to be lasting must not only penetrate the thinking and change the language but it must also change heart and determine the will. Knowledge is not sufficient, there must also be action, and for an idea, a reform to work such effectual ch a reform to work such effectual changes require time.

The captivity in Babylon tested the loyality of the Hebrews and only those most thoroughly loyal to their chief idea returned from that captivity. Never since that time have they turned away from the idea The Christian religion retained this monotheistic idea. Christianity is trinitarion not tritheistic, for it holds God to be three persons, using "persons" in its original meaning,— not three individualities. Mohammedanism also contains this monotheistic idea. Besides the direct teaching of the Hebrews the progress of science has been toward monotheism or monism. Since Pythagoras first presented the world as an order, science and religion have each strengthened and purified the other.

Band Practice Called.

An effort will be made by several of the students to reorganize the Bucknell Band. It will be remembered that for several years, the band of the University was quite famous, but during the past few years, little has been heard from it. The good showing made by the players on Wednesday night, last, has encouraged the leaders and, as a result, a call has been issued for players to meet next Wednesday, in the Oratory hall at four o'clock.

Candidates need not be professional musicians. Any one, making any pretense of playing a military band instrument, will be given a trial, and may hand his name to Banks, '10, or report Wednesday at practice.

Literary Societies Elect Officers.

The Theta Alpha literary society met in its halls on Friday evening for the purpose of electing officers and of giving an extemporaneous program. The election resulted as follows: President, Velte, '10; secretary, Pugh, '11; critic, Bower, '11.

In three minute talks, the program given below was rendered. The Outlook of the Republican Campaign, Pugh, '11, Bryan, the Man, Bower, '11, Should a Negro be allowed the privelege of the Ballot, Owens, '12. The Advantage of the Power of Oratory to an Engineer, Edwards, '12. An Outline of the Work of the Literary Society, Velte, '10.

The Eulepia literary society, elected officers the same evening. President, Smith, '10; vice president, Kresge, '10; secretary, Crossman, '11; Fitch, '12; sergeant at arms, Waltz, '12.

Bucknell Reserves at Wilkes-Barre.

The Bucknell Reserves will travel to Wilkes-Barre to celebrate election day, and will line up against the strong High School eleven of that city. The game will be played at the ball park and it is expected that it will be one of the hardest contests of the season.

A large number of alumni live in the vicinity of Wilkes-Barre and there is reason to believe that the Bucknell representation at the game will be strong.

Two other games have been scheduled for Reserves, one with Mt. Carmel at Mt. Carmel, and the other with Bloomsburg, at Bloomsburg.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO STATE COLLEGE

BIG GAME OF THE SEASON.

The "Orange and Blue" will meet Old Time Rivals on the State Gridiron on Saturday.

For the first time in 8 years Bucknell will meet the strong State eleven on the gridiron.

The students of the nineties were accustomed to look forward to the struggle between the "Orange and Blue" and the "Blue and White" with a great deal of pleasure, for the contest was one of the strongest of the season and their was little satisfaction in prophesying results of the battle, so evenly matched were the teams.

Last winter Bucknell met State in basketball on her own floor and in a game that abounded in fast play defeated her by a close margin. During the spring term of the same season the Blue and White baseball team she had met, came to Bucknell and in a contest that for seven innings was a no-score game, fell at last when the Varsity put three runs across the plate and shut out the visitors.

On Saturday the defenders of Bucknell's football reputation will journey to State College and will line up in the great American college game.

EUGENE VANWHY, '09,
Mgr. Football Team.

Neither coaches nor players are predicting the outcome. They all speak, however, with a spirit of determination and there is no doubt but that the Varsity will play the hardest game of the season and that every effort possible will be made to carry off the honors.

There are some pessimists who are not holding further any hope. They point to the defeats of the season as a criterion and say that nothing is possible but defeat. But most of Bucknell's supporters, including a very large part of the study body do not seem to look at the situation in that light. They recognize the fact that in all the defeats administered against the Varsity, she was playing against odds, "Her trips abroad have been failures" they say, "because she received little or no backing from the sided line."

It is true that at Pennsylvania and at the University of Pittsburg the alumni and the undergraduates, that attended, did what they could, but the cheering sections of these colleges completely drowned their efforts. Besides, the students feel that no team can play to the limit of its strength when it has traveled, the day previous, two or three hundred miles. In the game with Gettysburg, the Varsity was well supported by the cheering of the students, and had the ball in its opponent's territory practically all the time and while a loss was sustained, the men from Gettysburg were outplayed.

The students have decided to do all they can to make the game on Saturday as favorable for the Varsity as possible. From present indications it is expected that a great many will accompany the team to State and play the game from the side lines. To this end two mass meetings have been arranged, one for Tuesday night at nine o'clock and for Thursday night at 9.45, o'clock. At this time songs and cheers will be practiced, and an effort will be made to induce every man to follow the team to State.

Manager VanWhy has made arrangements with the P. R. R. to secure special rates and round trip tickets can be purchased from him at any time for $1.70.

The cheer leaders have requested the "Orange and Blue" to urge every student to attend the mass meetings and to get in line for State.

Capt. O'Brien when interviewed said "It is the game of the season for us, and if we are supported by the students, we will show State that we are stronger than we seem."

Blair-Stein Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Stein was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Thursday evening at half-past six o'clock, when their only daughter, Miss Margaret, was married to Mr. Walter Blair, of Wellsboro, Pa.

At the appointed hour, the beautiful wedding march was sung by Mrs. Harry Mumma, of Williamsport, accompanied by Miss Ruth Bottorf on the piano. The wedding party, consisting of two ribbon bearers, Miss Ruth Stein, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Elizabeth Blair, the young sister of the groom, first made their appearance ,followed by Rev. Dr. Thomas, who performed the ceremony. Then came the groom with his brother, Mr. James Blair, of Wellsboro, and last the bride with her brother, Mr. Paul Stein, of Lewisburg.

The bride looked charming in a beautiful white embroidered net robe, carrrying a big bouget of white roses. The little ribbon girls were dressed in white Paris muslin.

The house was handsomely decorated throughout, palms and chrysanthemums being used. After congratulations to the happy couple, the company sat down to supper, the bridal party and a few intimate friends being seated in the dining room.

The gifts to the bride and groom were numerous and handsome, comprising silver, and cut glass, fine linen, and china, pictures and furniture. The groom's gift to his bride was an enameled brooch with diamond center.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair left later in the evening amid a shower of confetti and other good luck tokens for New York, where later in the month they will leave by steamer for Havana, Cuba, where Mr. Blair will play ball for several weeks. Mr. Blair is well known in Lewisburg, and is a former student of the University, and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is a star ball player, and for several years played with the Williamsport Tri-State league. His ability attracted the attention of the major leagues and last year was drafted by the managers of the New York Americans, with whom he lately played.

His bride is well known and a most popular young lady of Lewisburg, and a young lady with a wide circle of friends. She was the principal contralto soloist of the Presbyterian church choir, from which she will be greatly missed.

Miss Stein graduated from the institute in the class of 1900 and is a member of the Beta Delta Pi Sorority.

CELEBRATION OF HALLOWE'EN

FRILL AND FROWN ENTERTAIN.

Seminary Gymnasium the Scene of Quaint Costumes, Wierd Witches, and Fortune Booths.

The Dramatic Club gave its annual Hallowe'en party on Saturday evening, October the thirty-first. All college and institute girls living in the building were invited to come and dress themselves in some fantastic garb, suited to the occasion.

The festivities began, when the the guests, arrayed in costumes, descended to the dining room, to find it beautiful decorated, thanks to the kindness of Miss Wrigley with shocks of corn, pumpkins, and other appropriate harvest products. Professor Edwards honored the Seniors table by his presence and inspired a Bucknell "sing" that warmed the hearts of all with enthusiasm for our Alma Mater. The girls of the Senior table left the room to the strains of "Where, oh, where are the Dear Old Seniors" and gave the signal for adjournment to the new gymnasium.

Miss Schillinger, attended by "Frill and Frown," welcomed the girls to an enchanted land. Witches, booths abounded. One could learn the future by means of melted lead, dominoes, needles, sticks, or precious stones, and then refresh the broken heart by eating apples and doughnuts, drinking cider, or dancing.

The portrait of one's future husband could be obtained and even his name, and the Witch of Endor was only too glad to tell about his disposition. The Post Office delivered love-letters impartially.

The evening closing with a grand march afforded a fine opportunity for displaying the various dresses. Morning,Noon, Evening, and Night were present. Dolls and gypsies mingled with colonial dames, pansies and chrysanthemums, corn and popcorn, red cross nurses and court jesters. Even a stray nun, and a bride in her bridal veil were seen.

After the girls had gathered in a circle, and sung, "Auld Lang Sayne," Miss Schillinger awarded prizes to Evelyn Hillier, Institute, for the prettiest dress, to Georgia Weddle, '10, for the most original costume, to Katherine Bronson, '11 for the peanut hunt, to Eunice Hall, '09, for the most artistic booth, and to Anna Steinfurst, '11 and Dora Hamler, institute, for causing the most shudders and shivers.

The last number on the program was "Go, and stand not upon the order of your going." So the girls went. Everyone enjoyed herself immensely and wishes to thanks Miss Schillinger, Helen Cilber, '08, Master of Ceremonies, and all the "Frill and Frown" girls.

Sophomores Make Hit at Stuntfest.

The Sophomore class of Oratory gave a mock political convention in Commencement hall on Wednesday night which proved to be a success. The purpose of the "stuntfest" was to raise money to decorate the oratory hall with appropriate mural hangings. A small admission was charged and sufficient was realized to purchase the needed improvements.

At 8.30 P. M. the members of the class paraded into Commencement hall to the music of the band which led them. They were clad in costumes representing their several parties and they seated themselves in front of the platform. After the chairman had called the meetings to order the different parties, as they were called upon, nominated their respective candidates, who responded in well prepared speeches. The costumes of the politicians was a feature of the evening. The convention closed with a parade around the college.

SENIOR COMMITTEE.

A notice, received by the "Orange and Blue" and printed in the columns of this issue, contains the information that there has been organized a "Senior Committee" by the 1909 men for the purpose of suppressing rowdyism, unnecessary hazing, and improper conduct." Who the members of this committee are or how they will act is not generally known, but it can be inferred from the nature of their notice, that they are a representative organization and that they mean business. An organization of this kind, run on the right principles, ought to be a power in the institution for the elimination of all misconduct which is bound to arise in any college, and it deserves the utmost respect of all undergraduates, and especially of the Sophomores and Freshmen.

There is no reason why the undergraduates should not have a representative body of their own who shall advise the classes when necessary and who shall have power to check any action on part of the students which would be detrimental to the welfare of the college.

A BUCKNELL NEED.

There is one thing lacking at Bucknell which, if present, would undoubtedly unite all the men or at least most of them into closer bonds of friendship and good-feeling and would promote true college spirit among the undergraduates and as a result, among the alumni. It seems strange but is it nevertheless true that it is only a very few times during the year that the whole student body or any large part of it gets together. The mass meetings that are held attract some, but at them there is no chance for conversation nor is there an opportunity to get acquainted. There is an axiom rife among college men that one-half the value of college life is the opportunity presented for meeting men coming from sections of the country foreign to there own and for exchanging ideas with them. To allow the axiom to have its full effect a hall is necessary where men, belonging to fraternities or not, can converse and chat together, where mass meetings can be held and where those so inclined, can gather around a piano and have a real college sing.

Perhaps such an idea would not seem practical to some minds, but it has been carried out with success at other colleges and if one or two instances would prove anything, it should meet with the same success here. Last year the Juniors tendered the Seniors a smoker. Many men who before had a speaking acquaintance only, engaged in a delightful chat. Mandolins and guitars furnished music and the Armory was filled more than once with the songs of the college. The affair united the classes closer. Everyone admitted it. Again, when the Y. M. C. A. gave its reception, there was the same spirit present, and the same result manifest.

If there could be had in a convenient place, a hall open to all students, where they could gather together irrespective of organizations, converse and sing, where mass meetings could be held, a hall of the students and for the students, would it not serve the double purpose of uniting the men more closely together and of fulfilling a necessary function of education?

Pan-Hellenic Spirit at the Sem.

For several days this week the Pennsylvania Beta Chapter of Phi Eta Phi entertained Mrs. Nickerson, the visiting delegate of the province. Mrs. Nickerson is a graduate of Boston University and the president of Alpha Province. The active chapter gave a very pleasant "At Home" in her honor on Tuesday afternoon from four till five-thirty. They received the active chapter of Delta Delta Delta as well as the "sorores in urbe" of both fraternities. The refreshments, consisting of ice-cream, fancy cakes and cakes, and nuts, were served. The Greek letter girls filled the institute parlors, and a delightful time was the universal report.

On Wednesday evening, the Fraternity girls again assembled in the parlors, this time to listen to an informal address by Mrs. Nickerson on "Pan-Hellenic Spirit.' She gave them as a watchword "Alma Mater first, Fraternity, second," and also introduced them to the work done in some colleges by the "Woman's League." The girls were much pleased with Mrs. Nickerson, both socially, and as a Pan-Hellenic leader, and will remember kindly her inspiring talk which "struck home" in a good many points.

Bucknell's Pan-Hellenic Committee consists of Mrs. Llewellyn Phillips, '01, Ruth Shorkley, '05, Eunice Hall '09, and Helen Cliber '09.

forth on the field, with the advantage slightly in favor of the Easton eleven, Bucknell held firm, however, whenever its goal was threatene and twice hurled back its opponents on the five yard line.

Shoop was decidely the star for the Bucknell team, and showed up well in his new position. He was assisted in the back-field by Wickham and Henderson. Both backs did creditable playing for their first varsity game, especially Wickham who did most of the punting for Bucknell. He was a trifle slow in getting his kicks off but got his distances well. Lafayette utilized two of their best men, Edwards, quarterback, and Conover, righthalf back, who it has been reported would be out of the game on account of injuries.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. held its regular meeting in Association hall on Thursday night at nine o'clock. The students were addressed by Professor Rockwell on the subject of "The Broader Vision." He showed how the cultivation of the mind tended to give the student the right vision of life. "The more a man is acquainted with the philosophy of life, the more he can formulate his own opinions and the more will he respect the opinions of others."

The talk was followed by an interesting discussion on part of the students.

President Mathias had the pleasure of announcing that Secretary Weatherford, of the South, will come to Bucknell on the 9th and 10th of November to meet the students and address them. Mr. Weatherford is one of the strongest secretaries of the American colleges and his addresses will prove interesting.

On Monday evening, the 9th, he will address the entire student body in Bucknell Hall. President Mathias issues an invitation to all the students to be present and he gives assurance that the address will be one of the most practical talks of the year.

Musical Clubs Working.

The Glee Club put in two hard practices during the past week. New music was received and tried. About the same number of candidates were present. A few second tenors are needed. Practices during the week will be held on Monday and Wednesday nights of this week instead of the usual nights on account of the mass meetings. Some heavier music will be taken up.

The Mandolin Club, under the leadership of Gibson, '09, has received some new music and held a good practice on Monday night. Guitar and mandolin players are still needed for the leader wishes to increase the size of the club.

BUCKNELL BOWS BEFORE STATE

FIERCE CONTEST FIRST HALF.

Blue and White by Magnificent Interference and Open Work, Outclass the Orange and Blue.

State got back at Bucknell for the basket-ball and baseball defeats, administered last college year by the Orange and Blue teams, when she took the laurels on her own gridiron on Saturday by a score of 33-6. A hard contest was expected and for the first half neither team had the right to call the victory theirs. But in the second half the defenders of the Blue and White proved that they had their opponents outclassed and continued to worry Bucknell by their forward passes and open work until they had run up a final score of 33 points.

Perhaps the most notable part of State's work was her strong interference which the Bucknell ends were unable to penetrate. The swift halfbacks carried the ball for yards at a time before they were touched, and it was with difficulty that they were felled after being tackled. Their forward passes were great ground gainers, and proved to be Bucknell's hardest puzzle to solve.

Bucknell seemed to be lost for the first few minutes of play, but after the first touchdown she wakened up and by swift and consistent playing landed her only touchdown. She showed the effects of having too little hard scrimmage practice, due to the fact that few scrubs have been reporting during the past two weeks. Her tackling was weak and in most instances it required the attempts of three or four men to down a State runner. The Orange and Blue line worked hard and often held like a wall, but at several important crises they gave way and, as a result, a touchdown was scored.

The game was not lost, however, because Bucknell's team lacked in spirit or pluckiness. They fought to the last and the only reason that the score was so much against them was that they were not playing in their own class.

At 2.30 P. M. the students and sympathizers of the two colleges began to assemble on Beaver Field. A half hour later the State band, leading about one thousand students, marched on the field, and the men took their places in the cheering section. The Bucknell men stood opposite on the upper side of the bleachres.

It was but a few minutes after this that Captain O'Brien and his men ran out on the efield and went through a number of signals. They were soon followed by the State team. State won the toss and had the advantage of the wind. When the whistle blew Bucknell kicked off and State swept her opponents off of their feet by scoring a touchdown in the first three minutes of play. State then kicked to Wickham who advanced the ball twelve yards. An onside kick by Bucknell was recovered on State's ten-yard line and by two five-yard gains by Henderson and Shoop, it was taken over the line. Shoop kicked the goal.

For a time it looked as though the score for the first half would be 6-6, but a costly fumble by Bucknell on her own 25-yard line gave State the ball and in line plunges and end runs the second and last score of the first half was made. During the half Capt. McCleary was injured and had to leav ethe game. Cheers for him were heard from both sections.

During the halves, the State men indulged in a snake dance on the gridiron, and by a skillful manipulation spelled out the score of the first half.

Throughout the entire second half Bucknell was on the defensive and although she did not yield the laurels till the whistle blew, yet at no time did she seriously threaten State's goal. It was during this half that the Blue and White worked her very effective open plays and forward passes, at one time gaining twenty yards on a single pass.

The first score was made when Vorhis kicked a beautiful field goal from the 40-yard line. After that three more touchdowns were made by the skillful running of Ballou and Vorhis, who deftly eluded the Bucknell tacklers.

While the game grew rather tiresome toward the last, it was extremely interesting for the most part, and the air was rent time and again by the deafening noise of the hundreds of rooters.

Shoop and Henderson were Bucknell's greatest ground gainers and the former gave some fine exhibition of tackling. Wickham was strong with his punting and allowed but one kick to be blocked. Captain O'Brien and Edmunds put all their energy into the game, but were unable to stop to fierce onslaughts of State.

State's whole team was in the game with all its energy, but special mention is due to Captain McCleary, Vorhis and Ballou for the excellent way in which they advanced the ball.

Y. M. C. A.

At the Thursday night meeting of the Y. M. C. A. the report of Pangburn '10, and Tyson '11, the delegates to the first International Bible Conference, was heard. They both regretted that lack of time prohibited them from setting forth, as they desired, all they had heard and seen at the convention and they limited their addresses to a mere outline of the main facts brought out by the speakers.

Among the noted men that they heard wer John R. Mott, President Faulkner, of Toronto University, Robert E. Speer, Bishop McDonnell, J. A. McDonald, Editor of the Toronto Globe, President King and Dean Bosworth of Oberlin College, Booker T. Washington and the Hon. H. T. McFarland.

The delegates laid stress on the methods presented at the conference for arousing interest in Bible study and for the manner of instruction.

Some interesting statistic were given concerning college Bible work. In Mr. Pangburn's address he said, "At present there are enrolled in Bible classes, about twenty-four per cent. of the whole number of American college students and it is expected that during the coming year the complete roll of students studying the Bible will reach 50,000. Yale has now 1000 men enrolled, Cornell, 748, and West Point 250, or over half of her attendance. Of the whole number of Bible students of last year 6000 were prominent in college activities, as class president and varsity captains, 4022 are fraternity men, 2892, non-Christians, and 1250 were led to Christianity through the movement.

Bucknell, while she is aiming at an enrollment of 250 men, has at present 125 men in fourteen weekly classes."

Gettysburg has had four teams out during the last week, which speaks well for a college of that size.

BUCKNELL HONORED BY BIBLE SECRETARY

A SYMPATHETIC COLLEGE MAN.

W. D. Weatherford, the noted Y. M. C. A. Man Gives Bucknell two Days of His Week in State.

It would be a serious insult to a Bucknell student body to say that a speaker of national importance had come to address them and they for some reason or other had failed to appreciate the honor conferred upon them. Still, such a thing would be possible because a number of the students have failed to come into contact with the leaders of this world-wide Y. M. C. A. movement, and the announcement that W. D. Weatherford will speak to them in Bucknell Hall will mean little or nothing to them.

But, if every man will only take time to consider that the Pennsylvania State committee are receiving high compliments for securing Mr. Weatherford for just one week, then the fact that Bucknell is to get two days of that week is good grounds for every Bucknell man shaking hand with himself.

Mr. Weatherford is International Secretary for the South, a graduate of Vanderbilt University, holding the degrees, A. B. and Ph. D. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and as a student was actively interested in athletics. For eight years he has been working almost exclusively in the South and today commands the respect of every student in a Southern University. As a speaker he is enthusiastic and exceedingly sympathetic, so that wherever he goes he is greeted by audiences consisting of ninety-five per cent. of the entire student body.

Surely a man of such a stripe has something of importance for every man at Bucknell. It is hardly possible that there are many men here, who have not enough seriousness in them to rightly estimate the value of such an opportunity, and who would not avail themselves of this splendid privilege.

Let no less than four hundred men greet Mr. Weatherford tonight in Bucknell Hall and show him that we merit our claim to the hospitality for which we are noted.

Special music, both vocal and instrumental will be a part of the meeting.

Week of Prayer.

Announcement was made at the Thursday night meeting of the Y. M. C. A. that the week of prayer beginning with November 8th, would be regularly observed this year.

Prayer groups will be formed on each hall and the meetings will be held from 7:00 to 7.15 a. m. in the leader's room. All men are invited to attend.

College Bible Class.

The tendency of mankind in ancient times was for each tribe to have its own god. The Hebrews generally held that Jehovah was the God of Isreal alone. The great teaching of the book of Jonah is that God cares for the heathen as well as for the Jews. The Hebrews never got beyond the idea that Jerusalem was be the capital of an Imperial State over which a descendant of David was to rule. They believed that money and wealth would flow into the treasury, and that all nations would be tributary to them. With the introduction of Christianity and with the advance in science we have come to believe that there is one God and only one, who rules Jew and Gentile alike.

The second commmandment, "Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image," was given to the Hebrews as a warning against worshipping the idols of the surrounding nations. Primitive man was in great danger of being led away by his senses. He desires some idol or symbol as representative of God. A feather moving through the air, a meteor-stone, or some form of nature was often worshipped by ancient peoples as representing their gods. Again there is a danger of a people in their early stage of development conceiving God through the imagination. A child usually considers God as a very large and powerful man. This same idea we find in the Old Testament. Jesus would raise us above the level of the perceptional and imaginative.

Offices for Bucknell Men.

Several Bucknell men will fill prominent positions as the result of Tuesday's election.

Hon. R. B. Little, matriculate '89, was elected to the bench of the courts of Susquehanna county, to which position he has recently been appointed by the Governor.

J. H. Wingert, '72, running on the Democratic ticket, was elected Commissioner of Union county by a majority of 424.

J. Gundy Wolfe, matriculate '83, will go to Harrisburg as the representative of the Union county district.

The Williamsport Sun contains the following: "H. C. Fithian, Esq., has been notified of his appointment as law clerk in the general land office at Washington, D. C., and has left for the national capital to enter upon the duties of the position, which he secured under a civil service examination. Mr. Fithian is a member of select council from the Third ward. He will not present his resignation at once, but will do so if he decides to make his permanent residence in Washington." Mr. Fithian is a member of the class of '98, and a leading lawyer of Williamsport.

The Bucknell Band.

The Bucknell Band, which organized last week, has been working steadily until it now give promise of being a permanent affair. While the candidates are few, as yet, they are all experienced musicians and already are able to produce music that would do credit to any college.

At the last meet, regular officers were elected, Leader, Long, '11, Assistant, Hauten, Secretary, Loveland, '11, Treasurer and Business manager, Banks, '10.

Long is a man well chosen for the leadership, as he is the leader of the Sunbury orchestra, which p'ays at many of the Lewisburg dances.

Prof. Smith has taken an interest in the movement and has offered his room as a place to practice. He was been present at several of the meetings and has assisted in leading the music.

More men are needed and may report at any time to Leader Long or Mangager Banks.

Among the various athletes composing the team which represented the United States at the Olympic games in London this past summer were forty-three college men. Of these Cornell contributed the largest number, having seven, while Yale was second with six.

MASS MEETING STIRS STUDENTS

NEW BAND AN ATTRACTION.

Varsity Shows Sportsmanlike Spirit in Speeches Delivered Before Big Crowd on Friday Night.

Rollicking songs and rippling cheers which rang true with college spirit, re-echoed through Commencement Hall last Friday night and revived memories of the days when rivalry was so intense and enthusiasm so high over the annual battles on the gridiron and diamond between the teams of Bucknell and State College. The occasion was that of the last big mass meeting of the week to work up the spirit and practice songs and yells for Saturday's game. Nearly all the students were out and the mass meeting was the best attended and most spirited of the year.

Since Saturday the spirit which was at such high heat, has suffered a sudden chill, but the defeat administered by State has not drowned Bucknell's enthusiasm. Great hopes for victory which ran rampant before the game were given expression in the mass meeting on Friday night. Bucknell had won from State before under less favorable circumstances, so everyone proceeded to think and talk victory. This spirit was best manifested by Captain O'Brien and other members of the foot-ball squad who were on the platform Friday night, and responded to calls for speeches from the students. Captain O'Brien praised the students for their cheering which he declared was just what was needed to buoy up the eleven on the eve of a big game. The events of Saturday proved the truth of O'Brien's statement, for although far outclassed, the team played with a wonderful spirit during the early part of the game and pluckily stuck it out in the face of the overwhelming odds.

A spirited speech which received much applause was that by Professor Johnson, who made a strong appeal for clean foot-ball. Another popular speaker was Rev. Seelach, pastor of the Lutheran Church. Spang, '10, was cheer leader, and Deitz, '09, led the singing. An important feature was the band which mustered twelve pieces and livened up the intervals between cheers and speeches with a variety of popular airs. The sum of ten dollars was contributed by the students for the purchase of new band music. The band is now well organized and ill probably play at all future contests held on the home grounds.

Some of the new songs are quite catchy, and will be used at other games during the season. The new ones are:

Air:—"Ing'eland."

Ray, for Old Bucknell,
For her we cheer, for her we yell,
We are out for blood and gore,
As we're rolling up the score.
Shout the battle cry.
"We will fight until we die."
Hurrah! Yell! We yell for Old Bucknell,
While we win the victory.

Air:—"School-days."

Bucknell, Bucknell, dear old Alma Mater,
True to her colors we'll ever stand,
Rooting and cheering to beat the band.
And when our team goes out to win
We'll all be there through thick and thin,
To the Orange and Blue will e're be true,
To our dear Alma Mater, Bucknell.

Air:—"Amherst."

Ray for Old Bucknell,
Bucknell must win,
Fight to the finish, never give in,
You do your best, boys,
We'll do the rest, boys,
Fight for the victory,
Rah! Rah! Rah!

COLLEGE BIBLE STUDY.

Not long ago, there assembled at Columbus, Ohio, the first International Bible Conference of the Colleges. It was a meeting, originated by the leading Bible students of America and addressed by some of the most able and popular speakers of the day. The main purpose of the Conference was to further the cause of Bible study among college students. Bucknell was represented by two delegates who have returned, and have given their report. They are anxious, as are the other leaders of the Bible Study work, to enlist as many men in Bible Classes as possible and are aiming at 250 members.

No college man, whether a member of the Y. M. C. A. or not, can afford to spend less than a half an hour a week in Bible study and if he is concerned about the economy of time he cand find no proposition more favorable than the one presented by the Bible Committee and he can well afford to unite with one of the classes.

BUCKNELL HONORED.

Bucknell University in general and the Y. M. C. A. of the college in particular, are to be honored next week when W. D. Weatherford, International Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of the South, will spend two days among the students. Tonight, in Bucknell Hall, he will address the college men on a practical subject. Wherever he has been, he has been given a royal reception and it is up to the Bucknellmen to show their hospitality, their appreciation of a good speaker and their loyalty to anything that is for the welfare of their Alma Mater, by turning out in full force this evening.

THE STATE GAME.

Eight years ago Bucknell and State met in Williamsport on the gridiron and, when the game was ended, the men of the two colleges parted as bitter enemies. On Saturday, Bucknell met State for the first time since that incident on Beaver Field, and the three hundred Bucknell men that were the guests of the State collegians, left the scene of conflict with the kindliest feeling toward their hosts.

The result of the game was disappointing to Bucknell. A closer contest was anticipated, but it was soon realized that the Orange and Blue were no match for the eleven that represents eleven hundred students, and that have every opportunity for development.

True college spirit was manifest throughout the entire game. State's thousand voices cheered for Bucknell and three hundred Bucknell rooters returned the compliment, and backed their own team with song and yell until the second half was finished. The entire struggle, whether on the gridiron or on the sidelines, was not that of foe against foe, but of friend against friend.

While State rubbed it in hard as far as the teams were concerned, the students were the kindest of hosts. The doors of the fraternity houses were open to all their friends and the men spared no pains in entertaining. They were as anxious to make Bucknell feel at home as they were to win the game.

A spirit of this kind between rival colleges marks a vast improvement over former years and gives true evidence that college men are looking at college sports from the right point of view, namely, that the colleges do not exist for the sake of intercollegiate athletics exist for the welfare of the college, and for the sake of uniting in closer friendship the college students of America.

We can do no more than express our appreciation for the generous hospitality rrereived at the hands of the State men and congratulate them on the superiority of their football team.

Important Games Pending.

Two important games await the Varsity within the next two weeks, one to be played at Carlisle, with Dickinson, and the other to be played on Saturday, November 21, with the strong Ursinus eleven. The latter game will prove exceedingly interesting as the Collegeville team has been doing great work lately.

Dickinson will be faced on her own gridiron on Saturday, and as far as Bucknell is concerned, Mount Pleasant will be in the game. No protest will be made. The following is Dickinson's record:

Dickinson 5, West. Maryland 0.
Dickinson 16, F. and M. 0.
Dickinson 0, Navy 0.
Dickinson 8, Ursinus 4.
Dickinson 5, Gettysburg 23.
Dickinson 0, W. and J. 16.
Total: Dickinson 34, opponents 65.

Ursinus has done better, as her scores will show:

Ursinus 5, Williamson 0.
Ursinus 0, U. of P. 36.
Ursinus 29, Jeff. Med. 0.
Ursinus 4, Dickinson 8.
Ursinus 47, Muhlenburg 0.
Ursinus 23, Stevens 0.
Ursinus 53, Medico-Chi. 0.
Total: Ursinus 161, opponents 38.

Scrubs Tie With Wilkes-Barre.

The Scrubs spent election day in Wilkes-Barre and in a foot-ball game that was close and exciting, tied with the strong High School team of that place. It was the best game that the Scrubs have put up this season, their defensive work being particularly strong. They would have brought home a victory had they not fumbled at a costly time.

To McDonough belonged the honor of scoring the touchdown, which he did within five minutes of play. Wilkes-Barre made their only score when they took the ball on a fumble and rushed it through for a touchdown.

Chemical Society.

The subject discussed at the Chemical Society, Nov. 5, was Caoutchouc.

Mr. R. F. Hain spoke about the gathering of it. "It is obtained from trees. These trees are found from 20 degrees north latitude to 25 degrees south latitude. The thick sap gathers in notches cut in the trees. The natives who gither the rubber climb the trees to cut them. They gather the sap in vessels; or if they have no vessels, they put it in holes in the ground. The best rubber comes from the Amazon valley."

Miss Meecham told about the discovery of the process for vulcanizing rubber. "Charles Goodyear spent much time in trying to find a method to harden it. Accidently some fell on a hot stone and he found that this made it hard."

Prof. Owens described the manufacture of rubber shoes and boots. He mentioned in addition the method used by the King of Belgium to obtain rubber from the natives of Central Africa. "They are forced to go into the forests and get a certain amount of it. If they refuse they are cruelly tortured."

"The ways in which rubber is used are increasing while the supply is diminishing on account of the killing of the trees by cutting them improperly. For this reason the price has gone up rapidly. It is now worth more than a dollar a pound."

DEFEAT AT HANDS OF DICKINSON

GAME PLAYED IN A SNOWSTORM

By Hard Coaching and Consistent Playing Carlisle Collegians Spoil Bucknell's Chances of Victory.

Aided by the clever work of the veteran Indian foot-ball player, Mount Pleasant, and helped by a slippery field which made the plunges of the Bucknell backs ineffective, Dickinson surprised the Orange and Blue eleven at Carlisle, on Saturday, and pulled off a victory by a score of 6-0. The game was won on a trick forward pass which was tried successfully after attempts at field goals by Mount Pleasant had twice been blocked by the Bucknell players.

The team which Bucknell overwhelmed in the game here last season by a score of 48-0 was strengthened this year by such players as Mount Pleasant, the old Indian quarter-back, O'Brien, and a few other new men which the collegians have on their squad. A pronounced improvement in the working of the Red and White eleven was also shown as the result of hard practice through which the men had been put in preparation for the game by Coaches Davis and Pauxtis. The latter was one of the stars on the victorious University of Pennsylvania team earlier in the season but was dismissed under the professional ruling of the university which made him ineligible to play. He recently went to Carlisle and has since been coaching the Dickinson squad. Bucknell was again noticeably weak in its tackling and to this fault, which has figured in other more important contests which the team has played this year, may be attributed its defeat. The team was also at a disadvantage in the kicking which on account of the slippery condition of the field, developed into one of the principal features of groundgaining. Wickham punted well for Bucknell but was hardly an equal to the experienced Mt. Pleasant, whose past achievements in booting the pigskin have figured in many a victory for the Indian gridiron warriors. The veteran quarter-back not only made long distances on his punts but also gained much ground for Dickinson in running back Wickham's kicks. Twice the wily Redskin was foiled, however, when he attempted his favorite trick of booting the ball across the bars for a field goal. Each time a Bucknell man got in front of the pigskin and spoiled the kick. A third time, however, the Indian tricked Bucknell and instead of kicking the ball, he shot a clean forward pass to Strafford, the Dickinson left end, who was playing unnoticed far out towards the goal line. Strafford caught the sphere on the five yard line and went overfor a touchdown. Mount Pleasant kicked the goal.

The game consisted of 25 and 20 minute halves and was played in a snowstorm. Captain O'Brien won the toss and chose to take the advantage of the wind in the second half. Dickinson kicked off with the wind and during a greater part of the game Mount Pleasant's kicks kept the ball in Bucknell territory. Winegardner was hurt early in the game and Schmidt was substituted at left end. The Freshman prodigy played with surprising skill and figured in several brilliant plays. Captain O'Brien also did effective work for Bucknell on the defensive.

The line up:

Dickinson	Positions	Bucknell
Stafford ..	left end	Winegardner
Gordon		Schmidt
Felton ..	left guard	Groff
Bailey ..	center	Snyder

Winners of the Blue.

Miss Clade McClary, Directress of one of the finest amateur musical companies ever produced reached Lewisburg last Friday, and began the work of directing and staging her play to be given in the Opera house for the benefit of the Ev. Lutheran church.

During the second act of the play there will be a valuable collection of dogs on exhibition. These dogs are all Blue Ribbon Winners, hence the Name of the play. The scene portrays a regular bench show, which can only be seen in the larger cities.

This play is presented by a local cast for the benefit of the Lewisburg Ev. Lutheran church, under the management of the Southern Entertainment Bureau. The prize Dogs are the property of Deer Park Kennels, Philadelphia, Pa.

Admission 25, 35, and 50 c.

A number of Bucknell students will participate in the play.

Exhibit at Harrisburg.

The authorities of Bucknell have placed an appropriate exhibit in the State Department of Education, located in the State Museum at Harrisburg. A portion of the exhibit was placed in the Museum last spring, but owing to unavoidable circumstances, the larger portion was not put up until recently. The exhibit comprises of the large pictures of the University buildings, a mass of literature, some drawings from the engineering department, and a large number of pictures of buildings, teams and students' societies. These pictures are mounted on cards and arranged in one of the cabinets. The Curator of the Department of Education is a Bucknell graduate, Miss Alicia Zierden, of the 1900 class. Miss Zierden has seen to it that Bucknell has a prominent position in the cabinets.

College Minstrels.

The College Minstrels will soon hold their first musical practice. As the same men will sing in the circle as do in the Glee Club, the music will be practiced along with the regular Glee Club work. It is intended by the manager of the minstrels and the leader and manager of the Glee Club to depart from the usual custom and employ about thirty men in the chorus singing instead of sixteen. Professor Stolz will harmonize the music that is to be sung, and will weave it into a medley. The practices held during the week have been very encouraging and manager Fritz is working on a good schedule. It is not too late for candidates to apply for positions. Practices for next week are scheduled for Tuesday and Friday nights, at 9 P. M. in Bucknell Hall.

Ursinus on Saturday.

Bucknell meets Ursinus on Saturday on the Campus at 2.30 P. M. Ursinus has made a fine record this year which in fact proves that the contest will be close and exciting.

The cheer leaders have arranged with the band to form a procession starting at West College. They desire that all men get into line and accompany the band as they march on the field.

Mass meetings will be held during the week, announcement of time and place being made frrom the bulletin boards.

Western Pennsylvania Club.

The Western Pennsylvania-Bucknell Club met in Room I on Thursday afternoon and made final arrangements for a social to be held at the Cameron House on Friday evening, November, 20th. The affair will be the social event for the club this term and it is expected that a large number of Western Pennsylvanians will be in attendance. President Claypoole has called a special meeting for Wednesday afternoon of the eighteenth Room I for the transaction of business relative to the Friday night social. All members are urged to be present.

DEUTSCHER VEREIN HOLDS BANQUET

CELEBRATES 2ND ANNIVERSARY

German Blood Aroused on Thursday Night by Feast and Song, Speeches and Cheers.

The splendid work done by the German Verein and the remarkable success attained by the society during the short time of its existence were excellently displayed last Thursday night, Nov. 12th, when the members gathered in the Cameron House and celebrated the second birthday of their beloved organization. It was a glorious event, since it told in a most excellent manner the story of the rise, development and progress of the Verein and gave a genuine expression to the high spirit, deep enthusiasm and modest pride of the Verein members.

The menu, served in several courses and including every possible variety from "Deutscher Verein cocktail" to the "breast of young turkey," was highly delicious and left nothing to be desired. The crowning feature of the occasion, however, was the programme, which was rendered in a typical German spirit. Charles Elson, '09, president of the Verein, acted as toastmaster, and the following speakers responded to calls:

CHARLES ELSON, '09.
President of Deutscher Verein.

Das Jahresfest, A. T. Poffenberger, '09

Die Alten Mitglieder, L. L. Rockwell, '07.

Gottfried Keller, Bertha L. Geis, '10.

Die Zukunft des Vereins, Amelia M. Wensel, '09.

Two excellent vocal solos and a first-class violin solo were most satisfactorily given respectively by Prof. B. W. Griffith, Paul G. Stolz, '08, and Mildred B. Cathers, '10, while some of the intervals were filled by hearty outbursts of enthusiasm consisting of favorite German songs and yells. The climax was reached when Prof. C. G. L. Riemer arose at the toastmaster's call and said in part as follows: "I never saw such spirit and enthusiasm displayed for the German as I see tonight. Several years ago the students did not know enough to speak about a German author, and a German speech by a student was not even thought of. Tonight, however, I hear German toasts and German songs; and so I am very thankful and feel myself highly rewarded for my work. This year the Verein shows a decided advance over last year and I, in my earnest belief that the year 1909 will show a still greater advance over 1908, than is shown tonight, especially, by 1908 over 1907. It is my firm conviction that we will strive eagerly and unceasingly because heaven itself is the aim of our aspiration."

The Verein then joined in an enthusiastic "Deutschland uber euber." Finally the Verein yell was given, and the members left the hotel with a deep satisfaction of having enjoyed a genuinely happy and pleasant evening, with the firm conviction that a glorious event had occurred in the history of the society, and with the strong determination to continue with greater interest and zeal the great work for the purpose of attaining the highest possible results.

College Bible Class.

The tendency of ancient peoples was not only to make an image which could represent their god to their senses, but also to make certain places sacred—places in which their god was present in a peculiar way. The Jews' reverence for Jerusalem and the Mohammedans' reverence for Mecca illustrated this tendency. Besides, the Jews limited God's presence not only to a certain city but also to a certain building—the temple. They believed that God would hear them better in that temple than anywhere else. Jesus came to abolish that idea with the teaching that God hears wherever one lifts up his heart to Him in true prayer. The reason for the Hebrew commandent given in the Old Testament is that "the Lord thy God is a jealous God." This explanation is given to the childhood of the race when the ideas of God were more or less anthropomorphic and to make those people understand that writers attributed to God the feelings common to man. But in all these teachings there is a universal element, a truth which endures for all time.

Wedding of Dr. Lee Russell Ranck.

On Wednesday evening, November 11th occurred the marriage of Miss Carrie Dunkle, of Biehl, to Dr. Lee Russell Ranck, of Milton. Both are well known in and about Lewisburg and throughout Union county. Miss Dunkle is a graduate nurse of a branch of the Phila. Presbyterian Hospital at Devon, Pa. Dr. Ranck is a graduate of Bucknell University '05, and of the University of Penna. Medical College, Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Ranck will reside at No 19 Mahoning street, Milton, where the Dr. has recently opened an office for the practice of medicine.

Band's First Appearance.

The first public appearance of the Bucknell Band will take place next Saturday, when they will play, if the weather permits, at the Dickinson game. Forty dollars worth of music has been secured and rehearsals are being held twice a week.

Several new candidates have made their appearance and have been admitted. Three musicians from Sunbury will assist the band in their Saturday's appearance.

Principal Hulley's New School.

The corner stone of the new building for Broaddus Institute, of which the Rev. Elkhanah Hulley, '92, is principal, was recently laid at Philippi, W. Va. This building when completed will be the finest school building in the State of West Virginia. It is three stories in height and slightly longer than the main building at Bucknell. The building will be made of gray brick with red tile roof and white columns in front. It will be finished throughout in hard wood.

The new building is the result of a three years effort on the part of Prof. Hulley to move Broaddus from Clarksburg, W. Va., to Philippi. Other buildings will be erected in the near future.

Hubbard to Lecture.

Elbert Hubbard, editor of the Philistine and Little Journeys, will give a Heart to Heart talk at the Lewisburg Opera house, Friday evening, November 20th. Mr. Hubbard is probably most widely known as the author of the "Message of Garcia," which has been translated into eleven different languages and has been printed over twenty-four million times.

W. D. WEATHERFORD ADDRESSES STUDENTS

GIVES TWO PRACTICAL TALKS.

Speaks on Monday Upon "Sacrifice" And on Tuesday Upon the "Power of a Clean Record."

The announcement made last Monday that Dr. W. D. Weatherford, International Secretary of the College Young Men's Christian Associations of the South, would speak to the students in Bucknell Hall, gained the attention of a large number of men, and on Monday night, an appreciative audience listened to Mr. Weatherford as he spoke on "Selfishness", or of the greatest of college sins. So forcibly did he speak and in a manner that caught the attention of college men, that on Tuesday night, when he spoke again the attendance was more than doubled, and the greatest of attendation and interest was shown. Mr. Weatherford is a college man himself, a member of a fraternity, and an athletic enthusiast, and was well able to meet the students of their own grounds, to sympathize with them, and to draw illustrations from real college life.

On Monday night, he spoke as follows, "The message that I bring you this evening, fellow-students, comes from the heart and from eight years of experience in work among colleges. In my experience, I have found existing among college men, a great many sins, some of which the faculties are fighting against, by setting forth rules and standards with which the students must comply, while other sins are being fought by the students, themselves, who make their own standards.

"But sins is so subtle and so hard to conceal with, that, despite the efforts to overcome it, it lurks about in every place and creeps out when it is least expected. Among those sins is one that is very effective on life and yet is little noticed until it has done its deadly work. That sin is selfishness.

"No man can get out of life all that it has in store for him, nor can he be respected by his fellow men, who does not take his neighbor into account, and that to a large degree. We must pay the price of character and that price is sacrifice.

"This truth is exemplified in the world of nature. The flower must yield its perfume and beauty and become a seed. The mother lion must protect her cubs with her life. So must man, and particularly the college man, who is or ought to be the choicest of all, sacrifice himself for the good of mankind.

"Selfishness, on the other hand, robs a man of his beauty and courage. How despicable is the would-be athlete who hands in his suit and and quits simply because he is not given a place on the varsity. How foolish the man who gives up his glee club work because he is not given a chance to star!

"There can be no successful athlete team without a true spirit of sacrifice, there can be no glee club without sacrifice, neither can there be true manhood when the individual continually caters to his own needs and his own desires, irrespective of the needs and desires of others.

"There cannot be true courage where there is selfishness. A man, who is looking for the applause of the crowd is often coward enough to cast aside his own views and his own convictions.

"College is not merely a place to prepare to live but it is a place to live and to be active. No better opportunities are ever presented for service. The name Robert Galley, is dear to the Princeton students, because, while in college, he served as best he could. It is the man who loses his life in service for his fellow students and for his Alma Mater that is truly successful and it is the man who goes through college without the spirit of service that is an absolute failure."

SATURDAY'S GAME.

The game on Saturday will no doubt prove to be one of the best of the season. Ursinus has sprung into prominence this fall because of her strong team which has lately been rolling up one victory after another. In a game with Rutgers, played last week, they completely outclassed their opponents when they ran up a score of 35-0. The scene of the struggle will be on the campus and it will give the collegemen one more chance this fall, and the Seniors one last chance, to show their fidelity to the varsity.

There is being started something that has not been heard of around Bucknell for some time, and that is a parade from West College out to the gridiron, the procession to be headed by the new band.

The project will be a failure unless all the men participate. However, if it is successful, everyone, who saw the State parade, will admit that nothing else can do more to inspire the men with confidence than this manifestation of college spirit.

Let every man be on hand at West College at 2.20 P. M. The young ladies in attendance will be only too glad to excuse for a few minutes, those who are acting in the capacity of a gallant, in order that the student body may do all in their power to bring victory to their Alma Mater.

DR. WEATHEHFORD'S ADDRESSES.

On last Monday and Tuesday nights, Dr. W. D. Weatherford delivered before the college men, two practical and timely addresses. He struck a true note when he said that a great deal of the failures among college men is due to their spirit of selfishness. While in a great many instances, the men of Bucknell show a willingness to sacrifice, yet their is often a tendency to put the cause of self before that of the college. Had all the men that are able and that have time sufficient, been put on the gridiron during the past weeks, affording practice for the varsity, there is every reason to believe that the team would have made a far better showing in the games already played. No football team can be made by eleven men. Neither can a glee club be formed when some of the candidates appear at practice only half of the time. It is true that some are able to learn selections in much less time than others, but for the sake of the club and for the encouragement of the manager, who is endeavoring to schedule some inviting trips, it is no more than just to expect every man in his place at every practice.

It is true, as Mr. Weatherford said, that college life presents numerous opportunities for sacrifice, and no one can expect to see himself succeed or his college, who does not bear his share of the burden.

Mr. Weatherford's talk on Tuesday night was heard by more than two-thirds of the college men. His subject was "The Power of an Unbroken Record" "I will give you" said Mr. Weatherford, three reasons why an unbroken record is a great power. In the first place, it enables a man to believe in himself. No team can play its best game that goes out upon the field knowing that its record, as far as pure athletes is concerned, is unclean. No man can go into any good work with all his heart when he is not backed by a clear record.

"In the second place, a clean record enables the other man to believe in you. It is impossible to win confidence unless there is some good behind it but the man with the pure character, whether a fraternity man or no, whether an athlete or no, will be looked up to and respected by his fellow students.

"In the third place a clean record gives power because of the psychology of habit. The oftener a thing is done, the easier is it done and if a man for eighteen or twenty years maintains an irreproachable character, it will be but second nature to him to do the right thing every time.

"To have had one chance in eternity, for white name and to have lost that, is a terrible thing, but to have behind one the dynamic force of a clean record is the greatest power for good, and will inevitably bring man to victory."

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Euepia.

At the Friday night meeting of Euepia a short program was presented. The question, Resolved, "That immigration should be further restricted by an illiteracy test," was defended by Barnes, '11, and Kinnaman, '12, and opposed by Smith, '10, and McNeal, '12.. The judges rendered a decision in favor, of the negative.

After a parliamentary drill by President Fries and the report of the critic, the meeting adjourned.

Theta Alpha.

The Theta Alpha literary society held its regular meeting on Friday evening, when the following program was rendered.

Dr. Moore Receives a Call.

Dr. A. Lincoln Moore, '91, received a call last Sunday to serve as pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Franklin, and will probably accept. Dr. Moore has been supplying the Franklin Baptist Church for the past month, and was secured by the Franklin Baptists on the recommendation of the father of Governor Hughes, of New York State.

Since his graduation at Bucknell, Dr. Moore has had a very successful career as a minister. For some years he served as a pastor of the Old Spruce Baptist Church, in Philadelphia, and during the past few years he has been pastor of the Riverside Baptist Church, in New York City, where he gained prominence through his pulpit oratory and his writings.

May Be Secretary of State.

From Washington comes the rumor that Dr. David J. Hill, '74, who is now Ambassador to Germany, may be selected by President-elect Taft, as Secretary of State. As additional evidence of the truth of the report it is pointed out that Dr. Hill has never gone to the trouble of securing a house in Berlin, but, pending the election of Taft, he has been content to pass the fall and the coming winter in a hotel. It is generally admitted in diplomatic circles that Dr. Hill is the best trained diplomat in the service of this government, and he would make an excellent Secretary of State. It is to be hoped that the Dr. will be promoted to this position.

Philadelphia-Bucknell Club.

The Philadelphia-Bucknell Club held its first social meeting on Friday evening, Nov. 13th, at the home of Charlotte Hulley, '09. The rooms were tastefully decorated with blue and gold, Philadelphia city colors, and pennants, one noticeable effect being the four class banners, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, arranged peacefully one under the other. The evening was passed pleasantly by means of games, charades, and the omnipresent conversation, with the usual intermission for refreshments, and ended with a "Bucknell sing."

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS OF THE WEEK

PRESIDENT HARRIS ENTERTAINS.

Western Pennsylvania-Bucknell Club Holds its Fall Banquet at the Cameron House.

President John H. Harris and his wife formally received this week at their home on University Avenue. On account of the large number of guests who were invited, the reception was given on two nights, Tuesday and Thursday. About one hundren invitations were sent for each evening.

Among those present were the members of the faculty, a large number of Lewisburg residents, and many out-of-town guests.

The reception rooms were tastefully decorated and arranged for the occasion and the guests were entertained on Tuesday night with violin solos by Miss Armstrong, instructor on the violin, and with vocal solos by Miss Lutz of the School of Music. On Thursday night Miss Isaacs, teacher of music, sang, and Banks, '10, and Hanks, '12, rendered several violin and piano duets during the serving of refreshments.

The reception was the chief college social event of the year, and was given on a more extensive plan than ever before.

One of the most successful social functions of Bucknell's organizations was held Friday evening at the Cameron House.

About seven o'clock thirteen young ladies, including the chaperon from the Institute and college, and thirteen men from the "Hill," gathered together at the Cameron House to spend an evening in feasting and play. To the tune, known as the "Freshman March," the new and old members met each other and immediately formalities were dispensed with for all were from Western Pennsylvania. The President, Mr. Claypoole, '09, started the pan a-spinning and it continued until each person had paid some forfeit.

In the meantime Miss Radack, '11, sang and played both Bucknell and popular airs while the others joined in song. It was not long before the forfeits were sold and paid and the dining room doors thrown open.

Six courses were served, turkey being the principal thing on the menu. Between each course Bucknell songs and yells added to the pleasure of the occasion. When the last bite was taken and the last song sung, each one expressed himself as being perfectly satisfied with the evening's pleasure.

Scrubs Down Bloomsburg.

The Scrubs added to the Varsity's triumph by beating the strong Bloomsburg Normal team in a fast played game by the score of 6-0.

Bloomsburg had a heavier team but the fast work of the Scrubs outmatched them. Nearly all the punts were recovered. Eight placement kicks were tried but they were either blocked or misdirected.

The touchdown was made in the second half when Sweet secured the ball on an onside kick and took it over. McDonough landed a goal.

Bucknell had the ball in Bloomsburg's territory most of the time.

At Home.

The first "At Home" of the season was held in the Institute parlors on Monday, November 16th, from four to six o'clock. The rooms were tastefully decorated for the occasion. In the absence of Miss Bush, Miss Slifer did the honors. Refreshments were served by the Sophomores while all the young ladies entertained. The lack of formality added pleasure to the affair and a great many indulged in the "College Sing." A sufficient number of guests were present to fill comfortably the rooms.

'Varsity at Washington, Nov. 26th.

College Bible Class.

Dr. Harris spoke especially of the words "For, I the Lord thy God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generations of them that hate me, and showing mercy unto thousands (of generations) of them that love me and keep my commandments."

This law is not only in the commandment but is also in the nature of man and in the constitution of human society. No man lives or dies to himself. There is the chain of descent, the influence from age to age. In the physical it is the conservative of energy, but in the spiritual it is the multiplication of energy. But there is a difference in durability of the good and the evil. The good is the more persistent, for each evil trait tends to be overcome. There is the same effort in society and the individual to eliminate iniquity as there is in the body to eliminate disease. Then on the other hand righteousness strengthens itself and persists. If however the evil traits are not overcome then the race, the line deteriorates and finally after three or four generations ceases to be. This law comes as a token of God's mercy in that it is the good that endures and grows, while the evil is short-lived.

Y. M. C. A.

At the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A., the topic "Religion in Every-Day Life" was taken up. E. Paul Smith, '10, led the discussion and brought out the facts that it is necessary for a professing Christian to put into every-day practice his religious principles. "Our conduct, no matter where we are, should measure up to the Christian standards. Our conversation should be pure, our close actions above reproach." At the close of his talk he mentioned that it would be possible for those men who claim to be honest and who believe in honesty, to put their religion into practice in the coming examinations, and to do the square thing. The last remark was the nucleus for expressions from several men, who concluded that if every man in college should act as he honestly believed, there would be little or no cheating or cribbing in the examinations.

Matriculation.

Matriculation took place this afternoon at three o'clock in Bucknell Hall. One hundred and forty-one students qualified for matriculation.

At Bucknell, matriculation gives membership in the College and is a condition precedent to all degrees and honors as well as to honorable dismission. No student is admitted to matriculation until it has been shown by class work during the last ten weeks and by deportment, that the student is worthy of membership in the college.

The matriculates subscribed to the usual pledge to "obey the laws and regulations of Bucknell University" so long as they remain students here.

BUCKNELL BREAKS URSINUS RECORD

Orange and Blue Strong in Line Plunges While the Collegeville Men Gain With Forward Pass.

Straight football tactics as played by Bucknell triumphed over the more modern open formation style of play as presented in its latest role by the speedy Ursinus eleven here Saturday when Bucknell won by a score of 17-11.

Forward passes and open plays figured in almost every gain of the Collegeville eleven. The visitors repeatedly worked off their passes for long distances but were unable to follow up their gains with effective attacks upon the Bucknell line. Three times they were hurled back and lost the ball on downs after carrying the pigskin within a few feet of the Orange and Blue goal. Bucknell, on the other hand, confined itself almost entirely to line plunges and end runs, and at times fairly swept its opponents from their feet.

It was the first big victory of the season for the Orange and Blue, and students celebrated with a snake dance between the halves, and after the game was over carried the players off the field on their shoulders. In the evening there was a big bonfire on the athletic field. Freshmen gathered a huge pile of wood and other combustibles and the student body held a war dance around the flames shortly before the mid-night hour. A few of the members of the team were on hand and topped off the celebration with short speeches.

Charles O'Brien, '09
Captain of the Foot-ball Team.

The game was the last here of the season and the next to last of the team's schedule. The weather was favorable for spectators and players alike and the large crowd that was out witnessed one of the most exciting and spectacular contests that has taken place on the local gridiron for some time. The forward pass, as stated, was a strong feature in the play of the visitors and only the fact that the Bucknell players were finally able to break it up, prevented the other side from carrying off a victory.

Individual plays were conspicuous on the part of Bucknell but most of them were worked off so well as not to be detrimental to the team work. One of the prettiest plays of the game was made by Munk in the second half. K. Thompson had punted for Ursinus and the ball struck in front of the Bucknell quarter back and bounded up over his head. A speedy Ursinus end was under the ball almost as soon as it struck ground and it seemed to the anxious spectators that he would surely recover the pigskin and score an easy touchdown through an open field. Just as the ball went over his head, however, Munk was seen to leave the ground for a mighty leap. He reached high into the air and his fingers just touched the soaring oval. It was enough to tip the ball over and it fell into the outstretched arms of the little quarter back, who clutched it tightly under his arm and dodged tacklers for a run of fifteen yards.

Shoop, McAllister and Henderson were the ground gainers for Bucknell. Three minutes after the game had started, McAllister broke through the Ursinus line on a trick play and ran thirty yards for a touch-down. Munk kicked the goal. Bucknell 6, Ursinus 0.

Aroused by the unexpected aggressiveness of the formally easy team, Ursinus began a fierce onslaught and after the kick-off and an exchange of punts, carried the ball into Bucknell territory on a series of forward passes and end runs by Gay, West, and the ends Miller, and Captain Abel. Bucknell fought fiercely on its own thirty yard line and plunges of the Ursinus backs found the defense impregnable. With Ursinus two feet from the goal line, Bucknell secured the ball on downs. McAllister punted for thirty-five yards and Isenberg, securing the ball for Ursinus, dodged Bucknell tacklers and crossed the goal line for a touch-down. Capt. Abel kicked out but the ball touched the ground before it was caught, and there was no goal. Bucknell 6, Ursinus 5. One more tally was made by Bucknell in the first period. Soon after the kick-off Bucknell secured the ball near the mid-field. Plunges through the line netted a first down. McAllister was again given the ball on a delayed pass and, breaking through the line netted a first down. McAllister was again given the ball on a delayed pass and, breaking through the line netted a first down. A gap in the Ursinus line ran for thirty yards to the opponents' 15 yard line before he was finally downed. Henderson and McAllister hit the line for gains of a few yards each and Shoop was pushed over for a touch down. Munk kicked the goal and the half ended soon afterwards with the score Bucknell 12, Ursinus 5.

K. Thompson kicked off for Ursinus in the second half and Shoop ran the ball back 20 yards for Bucknell. Henderson and McAllister made a first down and Bucknell fumbled but Frampton recovered the ball, McAllister punted and upon securing the ball Ursinus again brought their forward pass into play. The ball was carried to Bucknell's five yard line but Ursinus lost the ball on downs.

McAllister punted for 49 yards and again the Collegeville players worked the ball up the field and, on the Orange and Blue's 20 yard line, Gay skirted the right end for a touch-down. Gay kicked the goal. Bucknell 12, Ursinus 11.

During the remainder of the half, the contest waged back and forth near midfield, with Bucknell slightly in the advantage as the clever work of Henderson and Owens had by this time done much in breaking up the forward passes of the visitors. Just before time was called Shoop made a sensational run of 10 yards, but the whistle blew before Bucknell could take advantage of the gain and carry the ball over for another touchdown.

WHEREABOUTS OF BUCKNELL "GRADS."

VARIOUS PURSUITS FOLLOWED.

Alumni Become Successful in Their Several Callings and Secure Prominence in Their Communities.

Mr. Lewis E. Theiss, '02, a son-in-law of Dr. Bartol, is rapidly coming to the front as a journalist and magazine writer of the first water. For some years Mr. Theiss has been a member of the New York Sun staff, and in this position has gathered much valuable material that he has turned into the form of magazine articles. The past few years his stories have appeared in the best magazines published.

In the November issue of the "New Idea," he has a leading article on "The Secret of the Face," in which he points out the signs whereby the face reveals the innermost secrets of the character and feelings. By the way of illustration, he points out the secrets revealed by the faces of many celebrities. The story is very interesting.

Under the caption, "The Man Who Goes Wrong," he presents another article in the October number of "The Circle," in which he shows the methods by which the modern law is seeking to lift up the man who is down. He discusses probation, reform schools, juvenile courts, etc. Mr. Theiss's friends are pleased that he is meeting with such success in his ventures in the magazine field.

Engagement Announced.

From Brookville Republican.

On Thursday evening of last week the teachers of the public schools, of Brookville, were invited to "crack a nut" at the home of Prof. and Mrs. S. E. Downs. A big English walnut was presented to each guest and at a given signal each one proceeded to investigate the contents. Great was the surprise and delight of all when out of the walnuts dropped two tiny hearts, entwined together, bearing the names of Prof. Downs' brother, Mr. J. C. Downs, of Pittsburg, and Miss Gertrude Stephens, the popular teacher of music and drawing in the Brookville schools, this method being taken to announce the engagement of the couple. Miss Stephens was immediately overwhelmed with the good wishes of her fellow teachers, and a social evening of rare delight was entered into. The hostess had provided a dainty luncheon for the occasion, the decorations and refreshments all being of a character appropriate to the nature of the gathering. The resignation of Miss Stephens, to take effect at December holidays, has been placed in the hands of the local school board. The date of the wedding is not announced.

(Miss Stephens is a daughter of Dr. LeRoy Stephens, of Lewisburg. Mrs S. E. Downs, in whose home the announcement was made, was formerly Miss Ruth Sprague, of Lewisburg.—ED.)

Miss Stephens is a member of the class of 1899, and Mrs. Downs is an alumna of 1898.

The Altoona Gazette says: "The Rev. R. F. Stolz, who recently resigned the pastorate of the Calvary Baptist church, departed Tuesday the 17th for Newport, N. J., to assume the pastorate of the Baptist church at that place. Special farewell services were conducted at the church Sunday evening last. Mr. Stolz came to the calvary church several years ago and was very active in building up the church and congregation." Rev. Stolz was a member of the 1907 class at Bucknell.

George T. Ritter, M. D., '98, who graduated from the Jefferson Medical College, last spring, is practicing medicine at 319 West Fourth St., Williamsport, Lynn S. Goodman, B. U. '05, Mass. Tech. '08, is filling a responsible position as electrical engineer for the engineering firm of D. C. and W. B. Jackson, of Boston.

MATRICULATION.

Today members of the Freshman class assembled in Bucknell Hall for the purpose of matriculation. It may seem that this process, by which one becomes a regularly enrolled member of a college, means little or nothing, that it is merely a form, and that it is to be looked upon as such. But, it must be admitted, that to become a member of a college is no trifling matter. To be called a Bucknellian signifies that the one bearing that name is attending that institution not only for what he can get out of it, but for what he can put into it. Whether we consider a college an educational organization or a social one, we must recognize the fact that as the students are, intellectually, socially, and morally, so will the college be, and that each student has it in his power and does either raise or lower the standard and the influence of the college he is attending. When we realize what a potent factor the college is in revolutionizing the world along all lines, theoretical and practical, alike, and what an inducement it is in bringing about hoped for ideals, we are convinced that the union between a man and his chosen college is one of the most important steps of his life.

Letters to the Editor.

Editor of The Orange and Blue:—

While at Carlisle to see the Bucknell-Dickinson game, I attended the chapel exercises of Dickinson college. This service was remarkable in several ways. After an opening hymn was sung and the Scripture lesson read, followed by a prayer, the whole school joined in singing a rousing college song. The President then called one of the students to the platform—the college cheer leader, as I soon learned—and requested him to lead a few yells. To judge from the sound every student did his best. Dr. Reed then called upon Coach Faurot to make a speech. The coach gave a plain forceful talk, in which he related some of Dickinson's football history and impressed upon the school the necessity of winning. It was a speech well calculated to inspire a team to its best efforts and to show the student body their part in the coming contest. More cheers followed that would do honor to a school twice the size of Dickinson. The President expressed his confidence in the team, and his hope that a glorious victory would result from the coming game. As the students marched out, the halls resounded with college yells and songs.

I had gone to Dickinson with the assurance of victory, but after witnessing such a demonstration of college spirit and determination to win from the President down to the greenest Freshman, doubts began to arise in my mind. You all know the result of the game. Although the actual work depended upon the team, who can tell how much of that victory lay in the fervent support of every individual member of the college? With such a power behind it a team must win.

Second Lecture Changed.

The following telegram was received by A. B. Claypoole, manager of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture course from Governor John A. Johnson, who was scheduled to speak on the second number of the series of entertainments given by the Y. M. C. A.

St. Paul, Minn.,

To Mr. A. B. Claypoole,

"Because of impaired health as the result of a very severe political campaign, it will be impossible for me to deliver the Lecture under your auspices of the 30th of November.

JOHN A. JOHNSON."

Mr. Claypoole will endeavor to have Governor Johnson speak at a later date or secure another lecturer as distinguished and capable as is the Minnesota governor. Announcement will be made in due time as to what will be done.

Hubbard Lectures.

Elbert Hubbard, the popular lecturer and writer, spoke to a high class audience in the Opera House on Friday night. His theme was "Health, Wealth, and Happiness." He spoke in a plain and interesting manner and flavored his address with wit and humor.

After the lecture, he was entertained by the Sherman Club, at Mrs. Huth's parlors. A light menu was served which was followed by several toasts. Heacock, '11, acted as toastmaster and called upon several who were present. Among those who spoke were Brown, '09, Macfarland, '11, and Professors Burpee and Wilcox. Owing to the lateness of the hour, Prof. Colstock, who was to speak, declined, when called upon. McCulloch, the Academy Scotchman, entertained the company with one of Robert Burns' poems.

After the banqueters had their pictures taken, Mr. Hubbard was called upon. He emphasized "work along with education." The program adjourned with a Bucknell cheer for Mr. Hubbard.

Ministerial Association.

The Ministerial Association held its regular meeting on Wednesday night. No special leaders had been appointed and the time was taken up in the discussion of the honor system. From the trend of thought expressed, the men seemed to think that such a system, started by the right parties and backed by the student body would be a move in the right direction.

About fifteen members were present.

Junto Banquet.

The Junto Literary Society held its second annual banquet, at the Broadway Hotel, Milton, on Thursday night last. A delightful menu was served and prepared the way for a number of toasts, which were replete with wit and humor. Dr. Enoch Perrine was the honored guest.

Thanksgiving Recess.

The Thanksgiving recess will begin at 12.15 noon ,Wednesday, Nov. 25th, and extend to noon Monday, Nov. 30th. The first recitation will be held at 1.15 Monday.

SEASON CLOSES WITH TIE SCORE

COULSON ELECTED CAPTAIN.

Varsity Plays Strong Game at Capitol City and Breaks Even With George Washington University.

The football season for 1908 has closed and while the Varsity did not fulfil all expectations yet in several instances, it showed itself to be strong. Had the men been playing together for more than one season, the story of the season's work might have been different. Coach Smith worked hard with the men and had he had the assistance in his coaching that the coaches of the larger colleges have, there is reason to believe that some of the games that were lost would have been won.

The men, who were awarded their football "B" are as follows, O'Brien, '09, captain, Groff, '09, Winegardner, '09, Edmunds, '10, Beamer '10, Snyder, '11, Coulson, '11, McAllister, '11, Shoop '12, Owens, '12, Munk, '12. Wickham, '12 Henderson, '12, Schmid, '12, Frampton, '12 and Tyson, '12. At a meeting of the "B" men this morning, Coulson, was elected captain for the next season. Coulson is a strong man and a swift halfback He was out a few games during the season on account of a badly sprained ankle. There is no doubt but that he will make a good leader for the team.

The Game.

In a brilliant game at the American League Park grounds at Washington, Bucknell wound up its football season on Thanksgiving Day with an even break with George Washington University. The score was 5-5, each side scoring a touchdown but failing at goals.

A forward pass executed by Shoop and Schmid gave Bucknell its touchdown in the first half of the game. Twice again during the remaining period of play the Orange and Blue players were upon Washington's goal line. Once the ball was carried over on an onside kick but had to be brought back because the referee claimed that it had struck ground on the other side of the line. Another time Bucknell was close up to the goal posts when a doubtful decision gave their opponents the ball on downs.

Society of the Capitol City went wild over the contest. The Washington Post makes the following comment on the game:

No contest has been more evenly waged in this city in years, and one more stubbornly contested. To the forward pass Bucknell owes its success. They had this open style of play down a nicety and developed to its fulest extent. Owing to the terrific line plunging of the Bucknell backs, the Hatchetites secondary defense was brought up much closer than usual. This left but one man at any distance behind the line. Munk, the Pennsylvania quarterback, was quick to realize this, and shot his spirals with great accuracy. On every occasion, with the possible exception of one, this trick worked, Bucknell's touchdown was the result of the forward pass, being thrown from a fake place-kick formation. It was one of the prettiest plays ever seen on a local gridiron, and the Pennsylvania quarterback deserves great credit.

There was little to choose betwe.n the two teams. It looked as if the visitors slightly outweighed the locals. Their backfield was pounds the best in weight, but were not quite as fast as the local backs.

Capt. O'Brien, of Bucknell, won the toss, and defended the south goal. Amid the deafening cheers of the rooters in the stands Hart kicked off to Munk at precisely 2.40 o'clock. Shoop on the first line-up plunged through tackle for 16 yards, and Wickham added 12 more. Henderson tore off, 7, and a forward pass netted 20. Two other attempts at the line failed, but again the forward pass worked successfully, and the ball rested on the Hatchetites' 8-yard line. Up to this time the visitors had been ripping through the local eleven's line almost at will, and it looked as if a touchdown would be made.

Sommers called on his men to hold, and they responded gamely. The line on three attempts proved to be a Gibraltar, George Washington holding for downs. Thrall immediately punted, Henderson receiving the ball and running it back 10 yards, Shoop tore off 15 yards around left end, but the ball was brought back and Bucknell penalized 10 yards for holding. Eckhoff, on the next play, broke through center, throwing his opponent for a loss.

Bucknell's Touchdown.

Munk kicked to Thrall, who ran the ball back 15 yards. Byrd, on a quarter back trick was thrown for a loss. Bucknell recovered an on-side kick, and immediately pulled off one successfully for 25 yards. This put the ball on the Hatchettes's 20 yard-line. Two attempts at the line failed to make the required distance, and to add to Bucknell's discomfort, they were penalized 10 yards for off-side play. Here is where one of the prettiest plays plays of the game occurred, and resulted in a touchdown.

Munk, after his team had been penalized, dropped back as if to hold the ball for Shutt to try a goal from placement. It was the third down and 20 yards to go. Instead of the ball being passed to Munk, Shoop received it, and threw a long forward pass to Schmit, Bucknell's left end. Thrall saw the player coming his way, but he had a man as interference, and Schmid went over the line for the first touchdown of the game. Munk missed the goal.

The ball changed hands several times before the conclusion of the first half and rested in midfield when time was called.

Bucknell kicked off in the second half and for the next quarter of an hour the battle waged back and forth on the gridiron with the honors about even on each side. Finally George Washington secured the ball and carried it to Bucknell's three yard line on a series of line plunges. The Orange and Blue line held solid but on the last down the Washington quarter back skirted right end on a trick play and carried the pigskin over for a touchdown. Ellis missed the goal and the game ended in a tie.

The line-up:

Geo. Wash.	Bucknell.

PROMINENT ALUMNUS DIES IN LONDON

WAS TRAVELING FOR HEALTH.

H. G. Dreisbach, '85, a Well Known Bucknellian, and a Resident of Lewisburg Succumbs to Illness.

The illness of Mr. H. Grant Dreisbach, the prominent young business man of Lewisburg, resulted fatally on Monday morning the 23rd at nine o'clock in London, England.

For the past three years Mr. Dreisbach's health had been suffering, and he was compelled to give up active business pursuits with the hope that he would regain his desired physical condition. With this end in view, Mr. and Mrs. Dreisbach and daughter Anna went to Europe the latter part of June of last year, returning in December last. He was greatly improved in health by his trip abroad, but in the following months he began to suffer a relapse, and last July the family again sailed for a trip to the European continent.

After traveling and visiting several of those countries, Mr. Dreisbach's condition became such that the family went to London, where the service of one of the most noted physicians were engaged, and he was placed in a private hospital for treatment.

His ailment was diagnosed as pernicious anaemia, a disease that is said to be uncommon in the male sex, but it is always fatal. His case was placed in the hands of one in Europe who was a specialist in this treatment of the disease, but the skill of medical science availed nothing.

Mr. Dreisbach was a son of the late Cyrus Dreisbach, and was a decendant of a family that dates back through the Revolutionary period. He entered Bucknell University and completed the course, graduating with the class of 1886. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. After graduating he became a member of the firm of C. Dreisbach Sons, the leading wholesale hardware firm in this section. At the time of his death he was a junior member of the firm, but for the last three years devoted little attention to the business duties, in the hope of recovering his impaired health.

The deceased is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Anna, and the following brothers and sisters, Wm. M. Driesbach and I. Minor Dreisbach, both of Lewisburg; Mrs. Fred T. Nesbit, of New York, and Miss Laura E. Dreisbach, of Philadelphia.

The deceased was appointed one of the Pennsylvania Commissioners to the St. Louis exposition by Gov. Stone.

Funeral services of Mr. Dreisbach will be held at his late residence on Third street at 2.00 o'clock. Friday afternoon.

College Bible Class.

Dr. Perrine in addressing the College Bible Class took as his subject the commandment "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." He defined this command as meaning "Thou shalt not use or utter God's name for vain or false purposes." By a "vain purpose" he meant one that is empty one in which nothing worth while is to be accomplished. This definition precludes all the common forms of swearing. From the mansward side the real objections to profanity are the indications thus betrayed of a poverty of mind, a poverty of expression and a poverty of moral attainments. By a profane use of his name we lower our own moral nature, the moral natures of those who hear and destroy all reverence for the Almighty.

By a "false purpose" he meant that is deceptive, in which error is made to appear as truth. It precludes calling on God's name to "make the words appear the better reason." God is one who is always to be defended and thus by calling him to witness in falsehood we assail the very foundation of His character. The commandment does not however preclude the solemn calling on God's name for a distinct purpose that is worth while. It is permitted to use God' name to affirm the rectitude of our intentions and the truth of our assertions. Yet the better way is the principle advanced by Christ when he said "Swear not at all." Modern ideas are more and more reaching this point and even the courts of law permit the solemn affirmation in place of the old oath. The advance is toward the development of such characters and powers of speech that men simply and straightforwardly speak the truth.

The Higgins-Cockill Nuptials.

On Wednesday evening the 25th at half after eight at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Higgins, their daughter, Miss Mary, was married to Mr. George W. Cockill of Pottsville.

The Rev. Nelson Cleaver of the M. E. church, performed the ceremony, after which the bride and groom received congratulations amid a beautiful bower of palms and roses arranged in the bay window, where the ceremony was performed.

The gifts to the young couple were beautiful and numerous, and included china, cut glass, linen, silver ware, pictures, etc.

After supper Mr. and Mrs. Cockill departed on their wedding trip amid a shower of good luck, tokens and merrymaking as they entered their carriage to take the midnight train for Philadelphia, from there going South on a short tour.

Upon their return they will make their home in Steelton, where Mr. Cockill is in the employ of the Pennsylvania Steel Company. The groom is a Bucknell graduate of the class of '05, and was an noted athlete during his college career, being prominent in football nad baseball. He is a great player on the diamond, and after his graduation was signed with professional teams, playing last year on the champion Williamsport Tri-State league team.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO GIVE PLAY

COMEDY — "HALFBACK SANDY"

New Organization Will Present Appropriate Production in the Opera House on Saturday Evening.

On Saturday night, Dec. 12th, the Men's Dramatic Club of the University will present "Halfback Sandy," a college comedy, in the Lewisburg opera house. Little has been heard of the club since its organization. It has been working so quietly that it is possible that not more than half of the students knew that it was in existence. The announcement that the dramatic club has already prepared a play that will be given this term comes as an agreeable surprise to the student body and there is no doubt but that a large audience will greet the wearers of the "buckskins" or as it is in this case, the wearers of the "football togs."

The names of those who will participate in the caste has not yet been made known, but it can be inferred that some of the best college talent of the four classes will be upon the stage.

Practices have been held three or four times a week under the direction of Miss Schillinger, who has had all the class plays and other dramatic productions under her direction for a number of years, and who is very competent as an instructor along dramatic lines, and it is expected that the performance will be one of the best ever given by college talent.

The play will be an interesting one as the name suggests. It includes all esting to a college student and resembles those phases of life that are interbles to some extent the popular play, "The College Widow."

The Dramatic Club fills a long felt want at Bucknell. Other colleges of our own standing and some whose attendance is much less than our own have had such organizations and have met with great success and there is no reason why the Bucknell Club should not be a permanent organization. It is the intention of the club not only to give productions in Lewisburg but also to make tours in different sections of the country.

Part of the proceeds from the play will go to the Athletic Association and the rest to the Dramatic Club for the purchasing of costumes and for putting the Club on a permanent financial basis.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. held an interesting meeting on Thursday night when Warmkessel '10, led. The subject discussed was "Temptation" Mr. Warmkessel took the temptation of Christ for his text and gave a very practical talk He said "Perhaps the greatest battle field of the world is the place where the devil tempted Christ, where the forces of evil in the world attempted to overcome the powers of good. The evil one selected the sorest temptation, he tried to conquer Christ at a weak spot. But there was no weak spot and every temptation was answered emphatically and with the Scripture back of it. Every man has his battle with evil. He must either yield or conquer. To be victorious, it is essential to follow the example of Christ, and by a knowledge of him and his word, to overthrow the evil one."

In the open discussion, different temptations were mentioned and methods of overcoming them were named.

The association orchestra which was missed at the last meeting, was again present an assisted in the music.

Judged from the standpoint of numbers the University of Paris is the largest university in the world. Last year it had an enrollment of over 16,000.

EXAMINATIONS.

In another week, the fall term examinations will be under way. This period of testing is looked upon by some as a time when the professor gives opportunity to the student to sum up in black and white what he has learned during the term. By others it is looked upon as a time of hardship, a time when the professor does his best to ask everything that the student does not know, and a time for the student to hand in all the knowledge he possesses and all the information he can gather from other sources.

Bucknell does not have the honor system in connection with her examinations. In most cases if not in all the professors treat the students as honest and honorable men, and allow them to work unwatched. In a few cases, shameful as it is to say, the professors give credit where credit is not due, they trust students who take advantage of the undeserved compliment and who try to make "ex" in their studies, irrespective of the fact that they are making "def" as far as character is concerned.

It seems rather strange that men, who are spending hundreds of dollars a year, in order to become proficient in their life work, should sacrifice that one quality which is more in demand than any other, that they should "sell their birth right for a mess of pottage" and for a very poor mess at that.

While there is a certain amount of strain connected with the examination, it is only a taste of what must be experienced in actual life. Moreover, there is a great satisfaction in having honestly and successfully accomplished an arduous task.

Band Making Progress.

The Bucknell Band, which at the beginning of the term, was little more than a venture on part of a few who desired to have a band at the University, has so progressed that now there is no doubt but that it has become a permanent organization. Several new instruments have been received through gift and purchase and a number of new musicians have united with the band. At present there are sixteen members and under the leadership of Long, '11, and they are producing some fine music. During the past two weeks they have rehearsed marches, two steps, waltzes, and barn dances, which they will render at the coming basketball games. Their practices which are held three times a week, attract a large number of listeners.

Those who now belong to the band are as follows; cornets, Long, leader, Houck, Fahringer, and Houghton, trombones, Johnson and Frambes, altos, Owens and Hollenbach, tenor, Loveland, saxophone and clarinet, Silvius, piccolo and flute, Warmkessel and Drier bass-horn, Jener, snare-drum, Sprout, symbals, Waltz, bass-drum, Banks.

That the Alumni are looking for Bucknell to be represented at the relay races at Franklin Field next Spring may be seen by the following extract from a letter to the Orange by "Cozie" Thompson:

The library has lately received a handsome set of books, "The Makers of History" in twenty volumes, bound in Japan Vellum. Seventy-three volumes of bound magazines and several other books have also been placed on the shelves.

At a meeting of the Harvard Board of Overseers, held Nov. 4th, the resignation of President Charles W. Eliot was announced. President Eliot has been the head of the Cambridge Institution for forty years, and he is one of the oldest and best known of the American college presidents.

The honor system has been in force at W. & J. for two years, and has been favorably received by the student body. In a recent issue of the Washington Jeffersonian, a Senior pointed out where several change might be made of advantage in the method, but praises its superiority even as it stands over the former plan.

Besides the addition to the curriculum of the course in Business Training, Harvard will make another change in courses this year. This is the union of the Andover Theological Seminary with the Harvard Divinity School. Theological students will thus be able to pursue all the courses formerly open to them, and the Andover men will have the further advantage of the additional facilities furnished by Harvard.

At Princeton the practice known as "horsing" has been substituted for that of hazing. It consists of nothing more injurious, for example, than making freshmen march to their meals in lockstep. "Horsing" is strictly regulated by undergraduate public opinion, which finds its utterance and codification in the Senior Council, the undergraduated governing body. Under no circumstances whatever may a sophomore lay hands on a freshman. Such brutal practices that characterized the hazing of fifteen or twenty years ago are now impossible.

Jane Chapman, '10, Florence Stauffer, '10, Ruby Pierson, '10, Ruth Safford '11, Katherine Carpenter '11, and Gretchen Rudack, '11 were chosen as a committee to select the officers for the coming year. Professor Davis Addresses Medicals.

The regular weekly meeting of the Bucknell Medical Society was held in the Biological Laboratory on Friday afternoon when the members listened to a brilliant address by Dr. Davis. He took as his topic, "Can Disease be cured by Combatting its Cause." In the course of his remarks. Prof. Davis made many important suggestions and admonitions to the future physicians. He defined disease as consisting of several factors of unequal value and traced its origin to a germ, paying a great tribute to Bachteriology upon which Prevention Medicine is largely based. "But we must have Curative Medicin as well, said the doctor." With all combatants we cannot avoid disease entirely. The duty of the physician and surgeon is to treat men suffering from different diseases and not to treat the disease itself."

Alumni Make and Unmake Laws.

A curious incident is furnished in the fact that the State Senator, who introduced the pure food bill which passed in the last term of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and the Judge, who recently declared the bill unconstitutional, are both graduates of Bucknell. State Senator Earnest L. Tustin, '84, of Philadelphia, was sponsor of the pure food law, and President Judge Martin Dell, '69, of Blair county, knocked the bill out on the ground that it was unconstitutional.

CELEBRATION OF MILTON'S BIRTHDAY

HIS 300TH ANNIVERSARY.

Dr. Enoch Perrine, Professor of Literature, Addresses Students on Life and Works of Noted English Poet.

The three hundredth anniversary of the birth of Milton, the English poet, was appropriately celebrated by the College on Wednesday, last, when Dr. Enoch Perrine, professor of Literature, gave an address in Bucknell Hall to a large number of professors, students and visitors.

"Leigh Hunt tells us that on one occasion he took Wordsworth into his library and pointed to the latter's works side-by-side with those of Milton, whereupon the poet expressed himself as very highly honored. And well he might; for it was the opinion of a minor poet, Leigh Hunt, expressed in deeds, of the comparative rank of probably the fifth English poet, William Wordsworth and that of the second, John Milton. There is good ground, however, for refusing to put Milton so low down in the scale as even second, since Dryden, forty-three years old when Milton died, at that time poet laureate, declared that while Homer excelled in loftiness of thought and Shakespere in majesty, nature combined the two in Milton.

"Milton never had to fight or wait for fame. From the hymn "On the Morning of Christ's Nativity," written when he was twenty-one years of age, to the "Samson Agonistes," written three years before he died, no one questioned that a great, a very great poet was among them; and when in the issue, living Puritans were dug out of their graves and hanged, Milton, Cromwell's other self, old and poor and blind, was left unmolested because, as they told King Charles, he was writing a poem that would reflect eternal honor upon the English name.

"Poets have sung the praise of this epic poet but no one has put the case so well as Macauley: 'The public has long agreed as to the merit of the most remarkable passages of Milton's poetry, the incomparable harmony of the members, and the excellence of that style which no rival has been able to equal, which displays the highest perfection of idiomatic powers of the English tongue.'

"That Milton represents flawless excellence and unfailing dignity is not to be denied and the reason for this can best be learned from his own words, 'Ceaseless diligence,' he practiced, so he says, and he hoped from very early times—these are his words 'That by labor and intense study, joined with the strong propensity of nature, I might have something so written to after-time, as they should not willingly let it die.' Back, however, of the gladness he had in his toiling over his lines, was his conception of what poetry and the poet really are, not a product to be ground out by a slave in a factory, not a money-making scheme, promoted by a slick manipulator—very little cash did he ever receive for all the poetry he ever wrote—not this; but a high and holy thing, so that to quote his own words 'He, who would not be frustrated of his hope to write well hereafter in laudable things, ought himself to be a true poem.' Ever in his great Taskmaster's eye he worked, and the result, so far as the form is concerned, testifies what he called the 'unceasing solicitude' with which 'I have sought this perfect model of the beautiful in all the form and appearance of things.'

"His temper was neither lyric nor didactic and possibly not dramatic, but epic. No matter whether he paraphrases the Psalms, or introduces us to the Shepherds in Arcady or wails for Lycidas, or narrates the struggle of angel with archangel, the greater part of it is done as with Gabriel's trumpet from some point in the upper sky. A lover of music, a son of an accomplished composer, he believed, with Plato, that melody and harmony bear direct y upon the formation of character.

"The poets are free in praising both his life and his works. Doubtless there were times when it was difficult to get along with him. Young Mary Powell left him in a huff, not understanding that she had taken an absorbed scholar for a husband. However, she came back after time upon her knees, and he raised her up into his open arms. These daughters inherited none of their father's powers of thought or desire for the ability to compose. Possibly, with a little more tact and a little less of the school-master on his part, they might not have hated him so violently. All his forbidding temperament—which may be accounted for by his surroundings and by the times in which he lived—all his unlovely attitude towards the smaller matters of social intercourse make us regret that he did not have more of that sociability of which, alas, Burns had too much. But this had nothing to do with the unstained purity of his personal conduct and the spotless integrity of his written works.

"Milton had engraved on his heart the one word—Liberty, and for it he plead; liberty in state, and this opened him to Cromwell, although he disliked many of the Puritan practices; liberty in the church, liberty in social relations and liberty in education.

"What, then, could give a poet more right to immortal fame than these titles of Milton, 'flawless excellence and unfailing dignity,' unsurpassed verse, whose sound is like that of the sea; spotless integrity of both life and work; Freedom's mightiest singer? He did great things for us, but because he took no middle f ight he did not and could not do what other poets have done and for which we love them while we admire him."

At this point Dr. Perrine quoted from many of the leading poets, including Shakespere, Buras, Pope, Wordsworth, Lowell, and Goldsmith, and showed that while some of the greatest writers had their minds on the individual, on nature or on humanity, Milton soared above and dwelt upon the great principles of life.

He concluded with the words of Professor Patteson, Milton's late biographer: "We shall prefer to read the fashionable novelist of each season as it passes, but we shall choose to be represented at the international congress of world's poets by Shakespere and Milton: Shakespere first and next, Milton."

At the recent seventy-fifth anniversary of Haverford, there were fifty-eight colleges and universities represented. Among the guests were twenty-two colleges presidents, Dr. J. H. Harris was one of the number.

ALLAN G RITTER, '09

EARL G. GUYER, '09

"HALF-BACK" SANDY SCORES TOUCHDOWN

OPERA HOUSE WELL FILLED.

Men's Dramatic Club Present First Play of the Year, and the Acting is of the Professional Style.

The Men's Dramatic Club presented their first play of the season, "Half-back Sandy," on Saturday evening, before a well filled house and scored a decided hit. The play from start to finish held the closest interest of the spectators, and caused the house to resound with applause and laughter.

The comedy was a typical reproduction of college life, from the scene in "Half-back Sandy's" room before the big game to the familiar incident that took place in Professor Dryden's Ancient History class room.

A suggestion of the "Comedy of Errors" ran through the whole play, making the situations at times very ludicrous and the anticipations as to the outcome entirely problematic.

The players took their parts in professional style. O'Brien as "Sandy" Smith, made a first-class farm hand as well as a famous half-back. Shields and Loveland made a clever pair, the former in the last two scenes being disguised so like the latter that the two could not be told apart. Hanks and Connor acted their female parts as real women and captivated the eyes of more persons than 'J. B. MacReady" or "Sandy." Ritter took a hard part well and displayed dramatic talent.

There was however, no one more at home on the stage, or no one who caused more comment because of his professional style than Guyer, as "J. Booth MacReady," a retired actor. Time and again he brought down the house, and he was repeatedly applauded.

The whole affair was a great success and reflects much praise and credit on Miss Schillinger, through whose work and effort the play was made possible.

A desire has been expressed among the student body that the club give another performance in the near future.

"Sandy" Smith—Charles O'Brien.
Josiah Krop, his uncle—D. Walter Moore.

Medical Society Meets.

The last meeting of the Bucknell Medical Society for the year 1908 was held in the Biological Laboratory on Friday afternoon. The topic for discussion was, "The Relation of the Physician to the Pharmacist." It is the good fortune of the society to have among its members two pharmacists and Grandy, '12, a graduate of Valparaiso University Dept. of Pharmacy, was equal to the occasion. In the course of his most interesting remarks, he referred to the common practice of physicians of filling their own prescriptions which in most instances is inaccurate, unsanitary and also intrudes upon the profession of Pharmacy. "On the other hand," said Mr. Grandy, "there are many pharmacists who make a practice of prescribing over the counter which also intrudes upon the profession of Medicine. Proper ethics as well as high standards in education will confine each profession within its own bounds."

Dr. Groff was also present and told the members some interesting episodes.

The society intends to give open meetings from time to time for the benefit of all who are interested in medical work. Among the prospective speakers for the present Academic year is a surgeon of renown from one of the Philadelphia hospitals.

Moot Court Held.

On Thursday evening, in Theta Alpha Hall, Professor Johnson's law class held a very interesting session of "moot court," Judge McClure presiding, and Professors Stedinger and Johnson acting as associates. It was a case of "Smith vs. Jones," in which the question was "Whether the title had passed to goods purchased by Jones from Smith and had been lost in Smith's store, which burned during the night." Woods, '10, and Spurgeon, '11, acted as counsel for the plaintiff, while Humm, '09, and Gaskins, '11, argued for the defendant. After a heated discussion, which lasted for more than an hour and a half, Judge McClure rendered a decision of the court in favor of the defendant, thereby claiming that the title to the goods had not passed, to which decision Associate Judge Stedinger dissented. The speeches of the young lawyers were well prepared, and showed ability. A large number were present, both members of the class and of the faculty.

Bucknell Relay Team.

A letter from "Cox" Thompson contains the following which shows that the Alumni are anxious to have Bucknell represented on the Franklin Field next spring:

"Would like to see you fellows stir up the men so that Bucknell will be represented in the relay races on Franklin Field next spring. Also there should be a Bucknell team contest at Harrisburg next May 30th. I am not the only one of the alumni who wish to see Bucknell represented at both these places and we do not care to meet the disappointment in this matter as we did a year ago. Can't you get the thing started."

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Eucpia Literary Society held its last meeting of the term on Friday night when the following officers were elected for next term: President, Claypoole, '09; Vice President, Smith, '10; Secretary, Fitch, '11; Treasurer, Sisson, '11; Critic, Stockbrand, '10; Sergeant-at-arms, Waltz, '12. An extemporaneous program was rendered, Parliamentary drill, led by Smith, '10; Debate, "Resolved, That a Three Years Course in College Should be Sufficient for a Bachelor's Degree." Affirmative, Cramner, '12, and Davis, '12. Negative, Waltz, '12, and Miller, '12. The judges, Fitch, Veite, and McNeal decided in favor of the negative.

Theta Alpha had no meeting.

BASKET-BALL PROSPECTS YET UNCERTAIN

A HEAVY SCHEDULE ARRANGED.

Bucknell to Meet Strong Teams on the Floor and Must Develop Fast Material to Maintain its Former Record.

After a football season which did not satisfy our hopes we are about to enter the basket-ball season, in which department of athletics we have always more than held our own. At present the outlook for the team is not especially bright, as the most of last year's team have not returned. But according to reports, we have received some good material in the Freshman class. This year there will be an opportunity for any man with basket-ball ability to come out and work for a position on the team, as almost a whole team must be selected. This affords an unusual opportunity for new men to make the team. Remember that the season opens early and practice cannot begin too soon. The first game of the season is on Friday, Jan. 15, with Susquehanna University. Their team is an excellent condition and with almost all of last year's team back, they will give us a lively game. The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 15th—Susquehanna, at Lewisburg.
Jan. 27th—Susquehanna, at Selinsgrove.
Jan. 30th—State College, at State College.
Feb. 2nd—Allegheny, at Lewisburg.
Feb. 6th—Lehigh, at South Bethlehem.
Feb. 13th—Carnegie Tech., at Lewisburg.
Feb. 18th—Alumni, at Lewisburg.
Feb. 20th—State College at Lewisburg.
Feb. 26th—Dickinson, at Lewisburg.
March 6th—Lehigh, at Lewisburg.
March 11th—Delaware, at Lewisburg.
March 12th—Gettysburg, at Lewisburg.
March 19th—Seph-Fr sh., Lewisburg.
Uncertain—Univ. of Pittsburg, Lewisburg.

For several years there has been some objection to playing games with rather weak teams, as such contests have been decided at the commencement of the game. The manager this year has secured a heavy schedule, and if we wish to close the season with a clean record, the team dare not be in the least inferior to last year. We meet Allegheny, one of the few colleges which have succeeded in defeating us, and their hopes of defeating us this year are high based on their record of last year. They won all of the fourteen games scheduled, including Yale, whom they have defeated for the last three years.

The two games with State College will probably be the most interesting ones on the schedule, owing to the natural rivalry and their defeat last year. Although the game at State comes early, by playing Susquehanna at Selinsgrove, the team will get accustomed to playing on a strange floor.

Dickinson will be an unknown quantity as this is their first season of basket-ball. Because Swarthmore decided quite late to have a team, the managers were unable to arrange a date for a game. Lehigh has not played us for some years, but in the last game we defeated them. Carnegie Technical School is a new team to us and will make a very interesting contest.

The most important change in the rules for the coming season, is that two officials are required. Then another change which is causing considerable comment in basket-ball circles is that five fouls by one man will disqualify him. The stringency of this rule is increased by the fact

THE FALL TERM.

As another term of the college existence closes, one is inclined to take a retrospective glance that he may determine whether or not the term has meant anything to him individually or to the college as a whole. As to the former question, it must be left to each individual to answer, but we believe that it is possible to point out a few things that will indicate, as far as the college is concerned, that the term has not been spent in vain.

What has been done that has added in any way to the material or intellectual growth of the college? It has, indeed, been a term of organization. A need was felt for a glee club which had lain dormant for several years, and through the efforts of a few, the musical organization will soon be able to render a commendable program. Along with that, the Mandolin Club has been working and it is probable that the two clubs will take some trips during the Spring vacation. A college band, the need of which has long been felt, is now a permanent feature of the institution and will render its services on all desirable occasions. The prospective lawyers, physicians, and chemists have established societies for the furthering of study along their particular lines. The Debating League, which was a venture last year, has drawn up a new constitution, and is now working on a firm footing. The Dramatic Club, an entirely new feature, which entertained so delightfully last Saturday, is an organization that will not only bring credit to the University but will also act as the best kind of an advertisement when playing in other places.

Surely, these new activities are a mark of advance, and prove the fact that Bucknell is as wide awake as any other institution.

Debating Team Chosen.

On Friday night the last preliminary debate was held for the choice of men who shall represent Bucknell in Intercollegiate debates. The question discussed is the one that will be debated with Lafayette next term and reads as follows: "Resolved, That Federal Courts Should be Prohibited by Congress from Issuing Injunctions in Labor Disputes." Those chosen were Velte, '10, Fries, '09, and Fetter, '09. The first debate will be held at Bucknell. The date will probably be February 5th.

New Jersey Social Club.

The students from the state of New Jersey have organized a social club to be run on the same plans as the Philadelphia Club and the Western Pennsylvania Club. The officers elected are as follows: President, Harshorne, '10, Vice President, Banks, '10; Secretary, Miss Nala Webb '09, and Treasurer, Oliver, '11.

ALUMNI.

Lynn S. Goodman, '05, Mass. Tech. '08, has accepted a position as electrical engineer with the D. C. and W. B. Jackson Company, of Boston.

At a recent State Student Volunteer Convention, held at Syracuse, N. Y., Whitby, '07, and Bromley, '08, of Rochester Theological Seminary, were in attendance as delegates.

Rev. R. M. West, '89, who up until lately, has been preaching in St. Paul, Minn., has accepted a call to become the pastor of the Park Ave. Baptist church, of Rochester, N. Y.

Griffith, '07, of Rochester, Theological Seminary, has been elected president of the Middler Class. Bromley, '08, of the same institution, was chosen leader of the evangelistic band.

Announcement has been received here of the wedding of Miss Lilie E. Kerr, of West Chester, Iowa to Rev. Chas F. McMann, '94. The ceremony took place at Corydon, Iowa.

Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, ex-'73, commanding the Department of Mindanao, will be the senior officer in the Philiipine Islands on the departure of Gen. Weston. He will remain temporarily in charge until the arrival at Manila of Gen. Duvall. Gen. Bliss will return to the United States as soon as relieved.

The Sunbury Daily celebrated its 35th birthday on Monday with a special pictorial section. Besides a complete history of the paper the souvenir contains cuts of the editors and all the employees, and the new firm, Messrs. Dewart and Eichholtz, '97, are deserving of all the nice things that can be said about them.

Arguing before teachers at Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, for a general moral awakening, Dr. John I. Woodruff, '90, advocated female suffrage.

"The best age for a child to be taken abroad to study a foreign language is between the years of 11 and 16," said Dr. G. M. Phillips, '71, of the West Chester State Normal School, in an address before the Philadelphia Mothers' Club, at the New Century Guild, No. 1307 Locust St., Philadelphia. Dr. Phillips further stated that he considered the usual idea of teaching children a foreign language early in life, a mistaken one, for even should they become perfect in a language, they are less likely to retain it when they come to live among English-speaking people again than would be a child of 16. And he also thought that the young college graduate who goes abroad to study is too old to become absolutely perfect in another tongue.

To the College Students.

White, Richard Watson Gilder and President Butler, of Columbia University, are interested. It distributes, without charge, pamphlets by well known men dealing with various international matters. COLLEGE LOCALS.

Pres. Eliot and Football.

The students of Bucknell will be pleased and ready to subscribe to the following clipping from the "Phila. Public Ledger," concerning Pres Eliot and his relation to the football situation in the college of which he has been president for nearly forty years.

"It is admitted that the man who has made the most important contribution to the football situation is Charles William Eliot, president of Harvard University.

President Eliot was a splendid athlete in his day, and an advocate always of wholesome sport. There was something more important in his eyes than victory, and that was true sportsmanship; and something more important than sport, and that was the honor of a gentleman and the great principle of fair play. Not long ago tremendous abuses crept into college athletics. The bona fide students abused their own freedom, and then, under the impulse of the "want-to-win" maniacs and desperadoes, they began to lure semi-professional gladiators to "take the football course, as hired men at the universities. These men were "ringers" and paid students. The blackguardism of which they were capable, and which they exhibited under the unrestrained encouragement of a low collegiate public opinion, was a disgrace to America and to her educational institutions. President Eliot invoked the aid of his faculty and corporation and laid down the law for the revision of honor which is natural to the unregulated student body.

The Harvard and other student bodies called him "old Granny Eliot," but he persisted, and at present he wins triumphs on football fields generally which are wholesome for straightforward sport and fair play. Yale and Harvard are to be congratulated in that they and others now have learned to 'buck the line hard' and to remain clean Americans."

Pan-Hellenic.

The other week I read in your paper concerning the Pan-Hellenic organization of the Greek letter Sororities of the college. From elsewhere, I learn that the object of this organization is to allow the new girls time to become acquainted with the merits of the different sororities so that they may be sure they are right before they pledge.

While I do not believe it is necessary for college men to set forth as a criterion for all their methods, the example of the "coeds" yet it occurs to me that in this one instance, the men could not do better than to emulate the action of the sororities.

It is impossible, in my estimation, for a Freshman to decide, with judgement, to what fraternity he should pledge himself, within a period of a week or two after arrival in college. It is a matter both with him and with the fraternity, that is serious. It determines to a large exent what course he will pursue, especially in social lines and with what men he will associate all through college and it demands careful thought and consideration.

Why could not the Greek letter men form a Pan-Hellenic organization for the purpose of regulating pledging so that both the fraternities and the prospective men would be absolutely sure of each other before the invitation is given or accepted? "1910."

Y. M. C. A.

The note of Christmas rang throug the whole Y. M. C. A. meeting on on Thursday evening. Macfarland, '11, was the appointed leader. He mentioned the origin of Christmas, the customs that prevail and the danger of putting too much emphasis on the giving of gifts on a commercial basis, while the suffering poor are in need of attention. He concluded by saying that if the true spirit of Christ, whose birthday is being celebrated is possessed, Christmas will be observed as it should.

Alumni—Attention.

To Editor of Orange and Blue.

The Pittsburg section at present, is having a siege of alumni banquets. That means that there are alumni associations in existence. Last night I attended one of Susquehanna University and during the same evening Gettysburg alumni were doing likewise with the football eleven and guests. I venture the prediction that Gettysburg will have some organized and worthy enthusiasm at to-day's University of Pittsburg game. State College alumni will hold a banquet in behalf of their Alma Mater and their eleven next week.

What about Bucknell? In marked contrast is the half-hearted loyalty of our alumni. What is the cause? Some one has told me there is an organization in Western Pennsylvania but it exists only for the purpose or raising money for the institution. Well, that is a good purpose but certainly it is not the whole purpose. For one, if Bucknell plays in Pittsburg next fall, I will be ashamed to be one of the rooters and root like we did this year. No wonder the team did no better. It did well enough at that. Why some of the alumni never came near the rooter's section. Of course, if Bucknell plays here I will be there, if possible but I would like to be with a bunch that is alive.

Bucknell's Alumni out here need stirring up.

Incidentally the Bucknell-ci-el yell might be expunged in parts at least. It expects too much of our teams.

Truly Yours,
CHAS. M. TEUFEL, '04.

BASKET-BALL PROSPECTS YET UNCERTAIN

that a new rule goes into effect in regard to dribbling, which will make fouls numerous, at least in the early part of the season. The University of Penna. will place numbers on the players' backs, in order that they may be more easily distinguished, and the same will probably be done by many other colleges.

Owing to the fact that another official is required and that the schedule contains more expensive teams the Committee decided to raise the price of season tickets for reserved seats to $2.00. The seats will be placed on sale in the early part of next term, and due notice of the date will be given.

The success of the season demands the earnest and serious efforts of every man in the school who has basket-ball ability, and the heart-support of the college men by their attendance at the games. The college band expects to add to the spirit of the rooters in helping to give Bucknell another spotless basket-ball record.

LEWISBURG OPERA HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

STRUCTURE NOW IN RUINS.

College Deprived of Suitable Euilding for Holding Class Plays and Customary Minstrel Shows.

Lewisburg suffered one of the heaviest fire loses in its history on the morning of Sunday, Dec. 27th, when the Lewisburg opera house building was discovered in flames at the early hour of 3.30. The flames were first discovered by the people living in that vicinity, and the first alarm was rather slow in being sounded owing to the engine house being locked, and entrance barred to the fire bell. The bell in the Beaver Memorial church was rung, and later the fire bell was sounded.

As quickly as possible the department was on the scene and had streams playing on the building. The steamer had five streams on the fire, and there were three other fire plugs drawing from the mains. The water service was splendid, and met the demands made upon it.

The fire when first discovered was in the opera house restaurant, and soon ate its way through the wood partition into the plumbing establishment of Chas. Oberdorf, and into the floor of the theatre overhead. The firemen at once realized that it had one of its hardest fights to save adjoining property, and that the large structure was doomed. The high scene loft made an inspiring spectacle when it burst into flames.

Ruins from Third street.

Courtesy of the Saturday News.

The heat from the flames was intense, and the efforts of Fire Chief Wensel were in the direction of keeping the flames within the massive walls, and protecting adjoining and close property. The Weidensaul, Union National bank, and Mrs. Bennett's stables were on fire several times, but were kept from spreading the fire. After an hour or more of fire the side walls of the three-story structure fell and crushed a rear building in the yard of Mrs. Shorkley and stables along the alley.

It was with the greatest difficulty that the fire was confined to the opera house building alone. The Wolfe property across the street had a blazing roof, and other buildings in various parts of the town were fired from the large blazing pieces of wood that were carried upward in the fire. The roofs on the Cameron House, John Prowant's store building, the Saturday News building, and other places had small fires started on them, but were extinguished before they had assumed any serious proportions. The snow that covered many buildings and the damp roofs is conceded to be all that kept the fire from leaping across the street and sweeping everything before it clean to the river front.

Milton was telephoned to for assistance, and sent down a hose cart and a detail of men, who rendered valuable aid. A steamer was also kept in readiness up there to be sent at the earliest possible moment.

The opera house building was a three story brick structure, with about sixty feet front, and fully one hundred and fifty feet deep. It was owned by H. Eyer Spyker, and was one of the best equipped and most modern houses outside of the large cities. Mr. Spyker made many notable changes in the building, adding a large scenic loft, fitting up a number of dressing rooms and other conveniences that permitted him to show the largest companies that were on the road.

It also afforded a suitable place for the holding of class and college plays and minstrel shows which have always been leading events of the college year.

The loss on the opera house and Mr. Spyker's coal office was very heavy, on which there was but an insurance of $10,000. The original cost of the building was $33,000, and since then many thousands have been spent on it.

After the fire the street was roped off, fearing that the high walls would fall. Sunday evening a high wind came up, and blew down a part of the wall on Mrs. Shorkley's house. The slate roof on the rear of the house was crushed in, and the ceiling and floor broken through to the ground floor.

The work of cleaning up the debris has been carried on since, and the rubbish hauled to the boro dump on Sixth street.

College Bible Class.

Dr. Harris spoke to the Bible Class concerning the fourth command. "Remember the sabbath day to keep it holy." He said that the sabbath of God was this time since the culmination of the biological and physical series with the introduction of man; this time in which no new species have arisen. God's sabbath is the age of spirited development and this spirited development we see illustrated by the growth of such institutions as the home and the state by art, literature and science.

The human spiritual sabbath is related to the divine sabbath. There can be a sabbath of God for God is a person, having power over his power.

The object of the sabbath for man is to maintain and enlarge his personality. The tendency of business and the times in which we live is to make man a machine. To counteract this tendency and to cause him to be a man developing spiritually is accomplished by the sabbath. The effect of a man's changing his clothes for church, the social intercourse there the music and the discourse on some moral theme all tend to broaden him. But of course ritualism will not have such a broadning effect.

The newspaper connects one with the broad world and tends to make one more of a man and less of a machine. But the newspaper cannot take the place of the pulpit for the paper simply collects the facts. It lacks ideality, it does not point to "what ought to be."

The sabbath of man also has a physical basis since people are so constituted that a periodic rest is necessary in order to prevent a physical break down. In civilized communities this rest is found in a change of occupation.

Y. M. C. A.

The first Y. M. C. A. meeting of the new year was held in Association Hall on Thursday night. The committee chose to make the service a New Year's meeting and to that end Gibson, '09, the appointed leader took as a text for his remarks "Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ." He mentioned the fact that it is necessary for every Christian man to grow, to grow more beautiful and symmetrical in character, and to become continually stronger through resisting the powers of evil. He further stated that two of the greatest hindrance to growth were concealed sins and lack of Bible study.

The president turned the service into a consecration meeting, and a large number took part. Prof. Stoltz sang a solo.

Preparations are being made for a revival week during February.

BASKET-BALL PLAYERS HARD AT WORK

SUSQUEHANNA FRIDAY NIGHT.

Team Must be Picked Largely From New Material as Few Old Men Have Returned for the Seaon.

The basket-ball season opens for Bucknell this week with the prospects a trifle too far off color to be pleasing. Not for several years has there been such a dearth of seasoned material from which to pick the 'varsity five and Coach George Hoskins will almost have to perform a miracle in order to develop anything like a winning team.

Always strong in basket ball it seems a regretable fact that Bucknell must even face the possibility of a set-back this season. Last year the team completed a brilliant season with an unbroken string of victories, State College, the old rival of the Orange and the Blue, Swarthmore, W. U. P. and several other minor colleges teams had their colors trailed in the dust of the basket ball floor as the result of the splendid work of the Bucknell quintet. The present schedule is even harder than that of last year and the team which represents Bucknell must be every bit as fast if anything like a successful season is to be expected.

One of the most serious obstacles that must be met is the filling of the places left vacant by the loss of last year's varsity men. O'Brien, captain of the '08 team, is so far the only one of the last year big five to return to college. Lose, who played so clever a game at forward for three years, and Lenhatt, whose clever work at center contributed to Bucknell's victories for a full four years, graduated last June; Harris, whose brilliant work as guard won him the captaincy at the close of the season, is in California, and is expected to remain at the Pacific coast for at least several more weeks. Clausen, Harris's team mate and one of the quickest guards seen on the local floor for sometime, left College in the fall. Others who have not returned are Butcher and Leech who did some clever goal shooting towards the close of the season last year.

The changes in the rules this year which allow shooting from a dribble, disqualifying a player after he has committed five fouls, and providing for various other radical reforms in play, have added to the burden of Coach Hoskins who already has his hands full in trying to round out a team from practically new material. There is a wealth of material for that matter but the difficulty is that there are so few players above the mediocre class who, although they might develop into excellent stuff if given long enough practice, have not the experience necessary for the 'varsity. All the men are working hard in the gymnasium every afternoon and evening in the week. The season will begin on Friday night when Susquehanna plays Bucknell on the home floor. Until this contest shows up the mettle of the new Bucknell quintet, any prophesying as to what may be expected of the team the season will be entirely a matter of guess-work.

Green-Krauter Wedding.

On Saturday, December 19, in the M. E. church of Tobyhanna, D. Albert Green, '08, professor of biology at Lock Haven Normal School was united in marriage to Miss Mary Krauter, a graduate of East Stroudsburg Normal School.

Miss Lillian Krauter, a sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid and Eugene VanWhy, '09, was the best man. The ushers were, B. T. Harris, '08, S. R. Smith, '09, Joseph Frederick, and Lyeth Krauter.

After a two week honeymoon in the south the bride and groom will reside in Lock Haven.

The University of Illinois has begun the best year of mission study in its history. Approximately 350 men are enrolled.

Bucknell Student Wins Honors.

About a year ago there was held at the city of Guayaquil an elaborate celebration in honor of Pope Pius X on the event of his Jubilee. On that occasion contests for gold and silver medals were opened in all branches of liberal arts and literature. A silver medal was offered to the one who would present the best design for school buildings to be erected in that city. Alvarez '09, entered the latter contest, and so brilliantly succeeded that during the holidays he was notified that he has been awarded the first prize and the corresponding honorable mention. The honor means much to Alvarez and to Bucknell when it is known that a large number of countries were in the field.

Dr. J. H. Harris Lectures.

In a Franklin paper appears the following:

"The Baptist church Saturday night was filled to overflowing to hear the lecture by Dr. John Howard Harris, president of Bucknell University, on the "Life of Abraham Lincoln." A special invitation had been issued to members of Mays Post, No. 22, to attend, and also to Oil City post. Mays post to the number of sixty marched in uniform from their quarters to the church, and were ushered to the front seats, reserved for them. Commander Charles Miller acted as president of the meeting and when the big crowd and the old veterans had been seated and quiet reigned, the chairman introduced Dr. D. C. Hughes father of Governor Hughes, of New York, who made a grand and impressive prayer. Then General Miller introduced the speaker, who for an hour and ten minutes held the large audience almost spellbound, so interesting and thrilling was his discourse upon Abraham Lincoln's life. The speaker was personally acquainted with Lincoln, which better enabled him to tell his audience the life history of this great man as they had never heard it told before."

Watsontown Wedding.

L'Agenda Notice.

All juniors must have their photographs ready for the engravers before Jan. 16, 1909. Group pictures must be in before Jan. 23, 1909. New Clubs or Organizations desiring space in book will please make application as soon as possible. Mgr.

UNDERCLASSMEN HOLD ANNUAL BANQUETS

FESTIVITIES HELD AT SHAMOKIN

Hotel Gramar Entertained the Freshmen on Monday Night, and the Sophomores on Friday Night.

On Monday evening, January 4th, the last day of the holiday vacation, about fifty of the Freshmen journeyed from their homes to Shamokin to enjoy the occasion of their annual banquet. Hotel Graemar was the scene of the festivities and the management entrusted the Freshmen with nearly the entire building.

At the customary hour the "Wearers of the Green" assembled in the dining room, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and partook of an elaborately prepared menu.

During the evening the banqueters indulged in college songs and college and class yells. At the call of S. A. Bair, the president, the following responded to toasts:

"Our Loyal Counselors," Mark (Tennyson) Baldwin.

"Response," Joseph L. Sie Conover.

Class Poem, Wade Weitzman.

"The Gridiron," Joseph N. Hazleton.

"The Faculty," John Cope Pastor.

"Class Prophecy," Frederick Isler.

"Our Alma Mater," Arthur D. Waltz.

"Die Schonen Madchen," F. V. Rambles.

"Response," Florence Clum.

"Qui Ferunt," Harrison Schuyler Sweet.

"Our Class," John Askey.

"College Life," Augustus William Greason.

The invited guests were Conover, Yo and McDonough.

Sophomore Banquet.

For the first time in many years the Sophomores followed the example of their Freshmen friends and held their banquet in the same town and at the same hotel as did their rivals, but not, however, on the same night. All day Friday, the Philadelphia & Reading trains bore Sophomores to Shamokin and the culmination of the exit of the 1911 class occurred at 6.10 Friday evening when the last survivors, including the girls, boarded the train for the scene of festivity.

The usual banquet scrap of former years was practically done away with. A few Sophomores attempted to kidnap the Freshman president and several Freshmen tried to keep some of their rivals from going on their intended journey, but the trouble did not last long, and no one of either class was molested.

The Sophomores were as royally treated as their antedpants and passed the evening in the usual banqueting style.

"Blue and White," W. Neil Baker.

"Our Honored Superiors," James A. Tyson.

"Response," Leon A. Jones, '09.

"Les Belles Femmes," Norman G. Gower.

"Les Garcons Braves," Miss Grace S. Cobb.

"The Athlete," Wesley A. Wolfe.

"To Be or Not to Be," Roy A. Long.

"Hazy Notions," James K. Bowman.

"The Powers That Be," Miss Kathryn B. Ryan.

"We're Here Because We're Here," Lyman C. Shreve.

UNDERCLASS BANQUETS.

During the past two years there has been no little dissatisfaction concering the time of holding the underclass banquets. On one occasion a class remained away after the opening of the Winter term for a much longer period of time than was necessary and a result, had little interest in their banquet and moreover brought reproach upon themselves because of the classes they missed. At the last Freshman banquet, held during vacation, no more than half the class were present; the other half remaining away because of lack of interest or because the social functions of the holiday season forlade. The banquet, while it afforded pleasure, was not truly a class affair and was not successful as a class affair. Why it was held during vacation, the committee only knows. It was no doubt either to avoid missing classes or to keep out of touch of their friendly rivals—the Sophomores.

The question arises—what is the class banquet for? Is it to stimulate a "class scrap," is it to give opportunity for those of a wild nature to get together and "make merry," or is it to unite the members of the class in closer bonds of friendship and, through the eloquence of the toasts, to encourage fidelity to the college of which they are members. If it is held for the former reasons, the sooner it is discontinued the better, if it is held for the latter reason it is not fulfilling its mission, for the class as a whole does not attend.

It is the plan of many of the colleges at the present time to allow the classes to attend these banquets in peace and it is the custom of many classes to hold their banquets at a time and place that is convenient to all. Lehigh has set a good example. According to her newly instituted custom, the Seniors banquet first and the other classes follow in order at stated times. There is no effort on part of one class to break up the festivities of another. The result is far more satisfactory than the old method and it serves a higher purpose.

At a co-educational institution like Bucknell, the classes could well afford to do away with rivalry as far as banquets are concerned, and would make a move in the right direction if they they would hold their banquets at a time and place most convenient to all, the time preferably being during the Winter term.

BASKET-BALL.

The basket-ball season opens this week. While a large number of candidates have been out for practice yet the outcome for the season is hard to predict. The schedule is heavy and the expenses greater than last year. It is up to every student to give the team plenty of practice and to be present at all the games,—preferably with, reserved seats are only $2.00 apiece, but if that seems impossible, at least—be there yourself.

Letter from Lesher, '05.

The following extracts from a letter by Harold V. Lesher, '05, to the manager of the Orange and Blue may prove of interest: "After the first year's service (in the Philippines) I spent the vacation of April and May in South China. At present am engaged in the Teachers' Normal institute held for two months in the provincial capital. I teach mathematics to 120 native teachers and have charge of Athletics.

"The Philippine Educational service offers good opportunities to college men and women, especially to young married couples. Large numbers come to the Islands every year. Importance of the Study of Spanish

The two Americas are named and sharply divided linguistically as geographically. In North America, English is the universal tongue, while in Central and South America, Mexico and the West Indies, Spain's, the mother of the old conquerors, remains the language of the people. It is a fact that the Spanish-speaking races of the south-ern half of the two continents are showing a growing inclination to acquire a knowledge of English; and it is desirable, if only for the purpose of commerce, that the English-speaking people of the northern half should reciprocally learn to speak Spanish.

To young men, preparing themselves for a career in the world, they will find that a knowledge of Spanish will enable them to procure lucrative positions as there is a great demand for fairly educated young men who can converse and correspond in Spanish, and are thereby the better qualified to fill positions. Demands for lady teachers, stenographers, typewriters traveling companions, etc., are constantly increasing from all the Spanish-speaking American countries.

Why go abroad before learning Spanish when you have the opportunity to learn the language from a Spanish-spoken person at home.

I will open a class based on the most sensible plan for those wishing to learn the Spanish language also will arrange hours to suit.

Stephens-Downes Nuptials.

The home of the Rev. LeRoy Stephens, D. D., of South Sixth street, was the scene of a very beautiful wedding on Christmas evening, the contracting parties being Miss Gertrude, one of the daughters of the house, and Mr. John C. Downs, editor of the United Presbyterian paper, which is published in Pittsburg. The rooms were beautifully decorated in holly and Christmas greens. Promptly at six o'clock to the music of the wedding march which was played by Mr. Carl Benscoter, of Brookville, the wedding procession entered the parlor led by Dr. Stephens, followed by the bridegroom and his brother, who attended him; then came the six garland girls, Miss Ruth Stephens, Miss Downs, Miss Aleph Stephens, Miss Kearney, Miss Blood and Miss Ross. They were all attired in white and carried long garlands of trailing pine and holly, making a strikingly beautiful procession. Then appeared the flower girls, Miss Elizabeth Stephens, the youngest sister of the bride and her two nieces. They were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Stephens, a sister of the bride, and Miss Henderson, of Brookville, a very intimate friend. Their gowns were pink and green and they carried pink roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her eldest brother. Her dress was white chiffon batiste and she carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The very solemn and impressive marriage ceremony was performed by Dr. Stephens the father, who also gave his daughter away to the man of her choice. After a very fine supper was served the bride and groom departed amid showers of confetti, and the best wishes of their friends to take the half-past eight train for Washington, D. C., and other cities. The presents were beautiful and numerous.

The bride has been teaching music and art in the schools of Brookville, Pa. She graduated with the class of '99 as did her sister, who acted as bridesmaid.

NEW FEATURE FOR MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS

CONCERT BY COMBINED CLUBS

Because of the Destruction of the Opera House, a Program of Different Nature Will Take Place of Minstrel Show.

A feature that is entirely new has been planned by the managers and leaders of the musical organizations of the University. The feature is a concert and entertainment to be given in March by the best talent in the Mandolin Club, the Glee Club, the Orchestra, and the Minstrels.

This concert will take the place of the regular college minstrels that have been given every year. It was with much reluctance that the managers gave up the idea of holding the regular minstrel show but such a move was not only deemed advisable but was considered the only thing to do, since the opera house has been destroyed.

The opera house was the only suitable building in Lewisburg in which a minstrel show could be held, for it was the only building that contained all the facilities necessary to give such a show.

The only building now available is Bucknell Hall and because whatever entertainment given must be held there, it has been thought best to make the change.

Besides, the managers have planned to give the concert in other towns an cities, and the entertainment that is now being arranged will appeal a great deal more to the general public than would an ordinary minstrel show.

The program given will be a varied one and every effort will be made to make it as original and effective as possible. There will be choruses by the Glee Club, vocal solos, duets, and quartets, instrumental solos and selections by the Mandolin Club. Several sketches will be presented by college talent that will give the program life and variety.

The music, which is under the charge of Prof. Stolz, has been selected to a large extent. It will consist not only of classical compositions, but also of the best selections from the comic operas. A few musical specialties will also be introduced that will be decidedly new and that ought to prove quite an attraction.

Practices will begin this week. Glee Club practice will begin this evening and a full attendance is desired as all the pieces must be memorized. A second practice is scheduled for Wednesday at nine o'clock, which will continue to be the regular hour for rehearsals. As soon as the special music arrives, which has been sent for by Prof. Stolz, the members of the Glee Club will be asked to practice almost nightly for a week, so that the leader can begin his work of correcting mistakes and balancing the parts. Other practices will be announced later.

As has been formerly stated, every position on every part of the program is open to competition, and the men for the concert will be selected by the managers.

A note from the leader states the following, "I desire to have all those who will try for places on the Glee Club to be present th's evening and also next Wednesday evening. The men must soon be chosen and those who show a willingness to work hard will be among the first to be selected. No one who cannot be in his place for every practice, except for a reasonable excuse, need report."

If all plans can be effected, it is probable that the combined clubs will present an elaborate program.

College Bible Class.

Dr. Harris spoke of the second clause of the fourth commandment, "six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work." The poets of heathenism picture the early state of man as a condition of leisure, but the Hebrew book maintains that man, made in God's image, was even in the beginning given a great task. He was to conquer the world and subdue it and later commanded to evangelize all nations.

Labor not work is the curse of God and labor comes when we endeavor to shirk our work by a short cut, when we become transgressors. Then do "we eat our bread in the sweat of our face." But the command to work is written in our physical metnal and moral constitutions. Man must continually do in order to be physically healthful. He can gain the mental power that is demanded of men by mental exertion, alone. And the fact, illustrated all about us today, that the idlers of both extremes of society rot away would tend to prove to us that work is as necessary for moral health and development as it is for physical and mental health and development.

Van Stone-Evans Wedding.

During the holiday vacation occurred the marriage of Miss Annie Evans, Inst., '76., and Prof. Samuel P. Van Stone, of Newton, N. J., the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride on North 3rd street, Lewisburg, and was solemnized by the Rev. J. McCalman, of Covington, Ohio, a brother-in-law of the bride. The house decorations were of holly.

Mrs. Van Stone is well known in and about Lewisburg, and since the death of her father has conducted the stationery firm of Evans & McCalman. Prof. Van Stone has been engaged in educational work since his maturity, and is one of New Jersey's well known educators.

About fifty guests were present, including the following from out of town: Prof. and Mrs. Albert A. Stewart, Hamilton, N. Y., Mrs. Rickard and daughter, Plymouth; Miss Nellie McFadden, Long Branch, N. J. Miss Selina Tucker, New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Stone departed on their wedding trip to Philadelphia and New York and will make Lewisburg their home for the present year at least.

Engineers Organize.

The engineers of the University while they are the last to band together, have lately effected the largest organization of the college, and have enrolled, in less than a month, over a hundred members. At the first regular meeting, permanent officers were elected as follows: President, Jones, '09; Vice President, Fagley '10; Secretary, Hugh Roser, '10; Treasurer, Alvarez, '09. A committee has been appointed to draw up a constitution.

Through the effort of Alvarez the engineers were photographed in front of the library. The picture may be seen in the window of Ginter & Cook Nearly every member was present at the time of the taking of the picture.

Delta Delta Delta Cotillion.

The Delta Delta Deltas gave a cotillion, Monday evening, January 5th, in the Armory Hall. The room was tastefully decorated with Fraternity banners, and pine trees, one of the Tri Delta emblems. Favor dances were danced, among which were the Snowball Dance and the Fling Dances. The patronesses were represented by Mrs. N. F. Davis, Mrs. F. R. Hamblin, Mrs. Weber Gerhart, Mrs. Joseph Wolfe, Mrs. Curtis Heinen, and Mrs. E. E. Craig; the Faculty by Prof. Davis and Prof. Wolfe. Among the out-of-town guests were Fred Zugschwert '08, Emily Ebling '08, and Edna Smith, of the Chi Chapter, Delta Delta, Delta. The function was a grand success.

BASKET-BALL TEAMS LAND VICTORIES

SEASON'S GOOD BEGINNING.

'Varsity Trims Susquehanna in a Slow Game While Sophomores Show up Dickinson Seminary.

Bucknell played its first game of the basket-ball season in the Tustin Gymnasium last Friday night, winning from Susquehanna by a score of 29-12. A fair sized crowd turned out for the game which was typical of early season contests and lacked the snap and excitement of fast playing.

The visitors excelled Bucknell in their team work and passed well but were weak in shooting. Several times they seemed dangerous but after the locals once got well into the game they piled up a lead that the visitors could not overcome. Both teams labored under the new rules regarding dribbling this year and were frequently penalized for fouling. H. H. Haverstick was disqualified on the five foul rule in the second half and Captain O'Brien and Shoop also came near being put out of the game on the same ruling.

Shoop played well with the usual cleverness that characterizes his work on the gridiron last fall and was the brilliant feature of the Bucknell line-up. He seemed to be the only one who could shoot in close defensive playing and he was also quick in working the ball into the opponent's territory. Craig played well at guard for his first 'varsity game.

One of the most pleasing features of the game was Bucknell Band which made its winter debut and discovered popular melodies from the upper end of the balcony. There were sixteen pieces in the band and the selections, played before and after the game and between the halves, delighted the large crowd of spectators present.

The score:—

Susquehanna.		Bucknell.
H. Haverstick . .	forward . .	Shoop
Walter, Hartman.
C. Haverstick .	forward :	McCollough
		Reber.
Mason	center	O'Brien
Thompson . . .	guard	McNinch
		Redcay, Rhoades.
Crawford . . .	guard	Craig

Goals from field, Shoop 5, O'Brien 2, Craig, H. Haverstick, Mason 2. Goals from fouls, C. Haverstick 4, O'Brien 3, McCollough, H. Haverstick 2. Referee, Turner. Scorer, Benson. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

Sophomore-Dickinson.

The Sophomores proved themselves a worthy team on Saturday by going to Williamsport and defeating the fast aggregation representing Dickinson Seminary. The victory was unexpected, as the team had had little or no practice previous to the game. They were further handicapped by being compelled to play Y. M. C. A. rules with which they were not acquainted .

At the end of the first half the score was tie, 12-12. At the beginning of the second, Dickinson took the lead, but by three accurate shots by McCullen, which were thrown in rapid succession, the visitors came to the front and by some phenomenal shooting by Thatcher, who shot nine goals during the game, the Sophomores score continued to advance until the game ended with a lead of ten points.

Goals, Thatcher 9, McCullen 3, Redcay 2, Craig, Loveland.

Y. M. C. A.

On Thursday evening the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in Association Hall. Claypoole, '09 had the service in charge. His discourse was directed mainly to the Christian students and he mentioned the fact that it was necessary for the Christian to realize the full significance of the life and teachings of Christ. He then pointed out the duty of the Christian student to the non-Christian student, namely that of example and personal influence. By quoting from the Bible, he made clear the plan of salvation that could be used by Christian men as a guide in their own lives and as a method toward leading others to a true knowledge of Christ.

The president suggested that the remarks of those who desired to take part should be limited to this question, "What is My Opinion of Christ." To this question a number responded and all seemed to feel that the power of the one perfect life was the highest and most effective that could possibly exist.

Reminiscences.

Eleven years ago Christmas, the Bucknell Glee Club made a vacation tour stopping at Perkiomen Seminary, West Chester, Brandywine Manor, Coatsville, and Allentown and scored a big hit. They closed the season with an excellent concert in Bucknell Hall, which is commented upon as being the most successful musical event of the season.

It is exactly ten years ago last week that the Freshmen and Sophomore classes banqueted at the Haag House, Milton. From all accounts the Freshmen made things lively for the Sophomores. Nearly every member of the respective classes were present at the banquets.

The Juniors of the year of 1899 took advantage of the January snow and gave a Junior sleighing party. They were driven to Milton where they stopped at the Haag House.

Monthly Meeting of Alumnae Club.

The Bucknell Alumnae Club met in the Institute Parlors, on Tuesday evening, January the twelfth. Miss Kunkle and Miss Ocker rendered a piano duet. Mrs. C. Hare then read a paper on "Home Making and House Keeping," outlining in a very practical and successful manner the need and the possibility of making good and happy homes. Mrs. Emma B. Matlack gave an article entitled "Financial Knowledge for Our Girls" in which she emphasized the necessity for training girls to transact business independently, and to save and invest money wisely. The meeting closed with a vocal solo by Miss Pines, and an account of current events by Miss Elizabeth Kremer.

Lincoln Memorial Tablet.

A bronze Lincoln Memorial Tablet has been placed in the chapel on the front wall, to the left of the platform. The tablet is one of a thousand that are being sent out to the universities and colleges of the country, and is worth about sixty dollars. The memorial movement is under the direction of the Lincoln Memorial Association.

The inscription on the tablet is the most fitting that could be obtained for it is none other than the immortal words spoken by Lincoln at Gettysburg in 1863, at the dedication of the cemetery in Gettysburg. Lincoln's autograph is seen at the bottom.

BUCKNELL ALUMNA ORIGINATES NEW IDEA

LANTERN SLIDES FOR SCHOOLS.

Miss Alicia M. Zierden, Curator of the State Educational Museum, Introduces Practical Plans.

A new and practical method of teaching, originated by Miss Alicia Zierden, '99, will soon be introduced into the public schools by the Educational Department of the State. It is a plan that is decidedly unique and original in Pennsylvania and consists of the imparting of information by means of circulating loan collections of lantern slides by the state.

The method is one that will appeal to the young student more than any other for it addresses the eye and leaves a firmer and clearer impression of the subject under discussion than could the most perfect written or spoken description. Next to travel, it is the best way of seeing the world, next to experiment, it is the best way of studying science. In the case of art and architecture, it comes nearest representing the original subject and in the case of history it carries the imagination from age to age and implants on the mind as no other plan could, the customs, manners, dress and character of the former inhabitants of the world.

Through Miss Zierden's efforts a collection of 1500 lantern slides has been gathered by the State, which it is proposed to loan to schools, institutions, study clubs, agricultural, historical, natural history, art and architecture societies—in fact, to all the various organizations that are educational in their bent.

These slides are beautiful in their colorings, many of them most exquisite. They are loaned free of charge on application to any institution devised for educational purposes, the number given to any single applicant being as high as 100, fully illustrating any lecture that one many desire to give.

These pictures take one into the depths of the forests, to the cultivated field, teeming with flowers and insects; to the busy metropolis, through the great factories, into the mines and upon a general tour of travel and information. The subjects include geography, travel, botany, zoology, physical geography, history, art and architecture, with special sets on transportation, industries, education and kindergarten.

A large number of the better equipped schools have installed lanterns and apparatus or are about to install them and the plan will soon be put into practical use.

Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course.

The third scheduled number of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture course will be given in the M. E. Church on Saturday, January 20th. The entertainers are the Dunbar Company, better known as the bell ringers. Those who heard them four years ago will confirm the statement that the Company presents a high class program which is exceedingly entertaining from beginning to end. A musical novelty and treat is in store for those who have not heard them.

Tickets will be on sale on the night of the entertainment at Heiser's store and at the door of the church. Single admission, 50 cents.

Arrangements for the second lecture which was postponed on account of the illness of Gov. Johnson, have not yet been fully made but will be announced in a few weeks.

Woelfkin to Hold Meetings.

Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin has been secured by Matthias, '09, president of the Y. M. C. A. to hold services at Bucknell during the early part of February. Dr. Woelfkin is an interesting man, a sympathetic speaker and comes prepared to answer the problems of the student that relate to his higher life. Particular announcements will be made in due time.

WHERE ARE THE MAGAZINES?

Where are the Magazines? Perhaps this is the most frequent question heard in the library; and it is not only asked by the students who go to the Magazine room and find nothing but a few technical periodicals of ancient dates on the shelves, but it is also asked by the librarian himself who has been compelled to place all current literature under lock and key lest some of it disappear from the library and be missing when the time for binding comes.

Such a state of affairs does not speak well for the students, at least for some of them. It is a rare treat to have the privelege of using and reading the best current literature of the day and there is no reason in the world why such a privelege should be abused.

Because of the thoughtlessness of a few, it is now necessary to see the librarian before a magazine can be had and on account of this fact there will be much less reading of magazines which should be located in the most inviting place.

CONTRIBUTIONS.

The Orange and Blue will be glad to receive at any time, letters or articles of news from the alumni or undergraduates. At the present time the contents of the paper come from the pen of three or four and it is not possible that these few can give to the paper the variety it ought to have. A letter on any vital question will be acceptable and news of college or alumni interest will find its way into these columns. Speak up, and express yourself.

BAND'S DEBUT.

For the first time in nine years, music from the University band was heard on Friday night at an athletic contest, and so appreciatively did the musicians play that more than one admirer expressed the desire that they reappear at every basket-ball game and perhaps render a short program after the game is finished.

The promoters and leader are to be congratulated upon the band's success. It filled an important part of the evening's entertainment and occupied the time between halves very pleasantly. It will henceforth be considered as important at an athletic contest as the game itself.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Euepia.

The first meeting of the Euepia Literary Society was held on Friday evening in the Society Hall. On account of the basket-ball game all of the program was dispensed with except the debate, The question discussed was "Resolved, That the Election of Senators Should be by the Direct Vote of the People." Trauger, '11, and Igler, '12, spoke for the affirmative and Cranmer, '10, and Watts, '12, upheld the negative. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

Nestor and Trauger were elected as members. The meeting adjourned with the critics report.

Theta Alpha.

The regular meeting of the Theta Alpha was called to order by President Velte. The leection of officers which was postponed from last term was held with the folbing results: President, Saylor, '10, Vice-President, Bower, '11, Treasurer, Sirett, '10, and Critic, Tyson, '11.

Speeches were made by the retiring and newly elected presidents. On account of lack of time the debate constituted the whole program. The question, "Resolved, That Canada Should Be Annexed to the United States" was discussed on the affirmative by Gerhart, '12, Harris, '12, and Gettys, '12, and on the negative by Starkweather, '12, and Hoffman, '12.

Word came from Berlin recently that an American citizen of German birth had announced his intention of giving $55,000 to Harvard University to be used for the erection of a suitable building in Cambridge for the home of the German's Museum. Harvard has already many handsome structures and the prospect of securing a new one of this quality is viewed with pleasure by the friends of that institution.

The chairman of the Bible Study Committee led the discussion of the evening which dealt with matters pertaining to the promotion of the work in general and in the classes themselves. Alumnus Complimented.

At Renovo, Pa., last week, was held the 18th Anniversary of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. which is under the charge of Horace J. Sheppard, '06, General Secretary. At the meeting Mr. Sheppard gave an interesting report, in which he stated that during the year 111,030 visits were made at the Y. M. C. A. Concerning Sheppard, the Renovo Record says:

"We note with pleasure the great work the Association has accomplished since its organization in this place. Its growth has been steadily increased during the years and under the management of Horace J. Sheppard, the present general secretary, many important improvements have been made which place this branch of the Association among the foremost in the interior of the state. Mr. Sheppard came here nearly three years ago, and by earnest effort he has won the confidence and esteem of all with whom he has become associated, and he is regarded as one of the best secretaries the Association ever had. He is a graduate of Bucknell University, being a member of the class of 1906."

BASKET-BALL GAMES RESUMED THIS WEEK

SUSQUEHANNA AND STATE.

After a Fortnight of Practice, 'Varsity Will Enter the Floor With No Certain Prospects.

After nearly a fortnight of hard practice, the Bucknell basket-ball team will again take the floor this week when it will play two games away from home, one at Selin's Grove with Susquehanna on Wednesday and the other on Saturday with its old rivals at State College.

The showing of the team against Susquehanna in the opening game of the season here on the 15th was far from encouraging. It was a comparatively easy victory for the local five but with one exception—Shoop—the team work of the players was ragged and their goal throwing decidedly off color. Coach Hoskins' trite comment upon the game was that "the players did the best they coould." He did not intimate what could be expected in the future.

Since the Susquehanna game, however, the 'Varsity squad has had almost nightly practice in the gymnasium and has shown marked development in the new style of play under the persistent coaching of Doc Hoskins. A few men have reported for practice but none of these has shown any exceptional ability, although one or two of them may round out into good material later in the season. Every one of the new candidates practically has to go through the process of learning how to play basket-ball all over again. The new rules regarding dribbling are responsible for this and have eliminated some of the features of the game which made Bucknell so strong in team work last year.

Goal throwing is still one of the weak points of the team's play. This was one of the conspicuous faults in the Susquehanna game and is still far from being remedied. Shoop so far has the title for the surest shot, and the only trouble is that he does not even have a close rival for the honors. O'Brien, who is the only member of last season's Varsity back this year and who will consequently again take the captaincy of the team, is still way below the standard. The chances are that he may be shifted to forward for the Susquehanna or State games and Thatcher, who has been making brilliant showing of late, played at center. Some of the other men on the team and those showing promising improvement are Craig, McMullen, Kurtz, Rhoads and Frampton.

The next game at home will be with Allegheny on February 5.

College Bible Class.

Dr. Harris spoke of the observance of every seventh day as a day of rest. The Christian's seventh day is Sunday, that of the Jews is Saturday while the Mohammedan's is Friday. Each however is the seventh day observed as a holy day, preceded by six days of labor, the particular day determined by the time we seventh day is the Sabbath but for begin to count. For the Jews this Christians it is the day after the Jewish Sabbath called by them the Lord's day. Christians celebrate that day because it was that day on which Christ rose from the dead. Then on the first day or Sunday of the week following the resurrection the disciples were assembled and Christ appeared to them. Paul in his letter to the Christians sets aside the first day of the week as the day for the Lord's offering. John in Revelation calls the first day of the week the Lord's Day, the day in which he was in the spirit. As the Christian church spread more and more among the Gentiles the Jewish customs were gradually dropped and with them the old observance of the Jewish Sabbath in the substitution of the Christian Lord's Day.

Senior-Sophomore Dance.

The Sophomore girls gave a dance, in honor of the Senior girls, on Friday evening, January the twenty-second. It was held in the old gymnasium, which had been transformed into a bower of beauty for the occasion. Miniature flags of maroon and white were scattered among those of blue and white; Nineteen -Nine and Nineteen -eleven pennants, as well as Bucknell banners, were seen everywhere. The subdued light which prevailed was replaced by moonlight during many of the dances. The music was provided by a four-piece orchestra, recruited from Sophomore talent.

The evening began with a grand march. A program of sixteen numbers followed, varied by extras, and intermissions for the purpose of indulging in the fruit punch and wafers which occupied an inviting corner of the room. It ended with a "sing" and a couple of flashlights. Everybody had a splendid time, and departed regretfully.

Reminiscences.

Twelve years ago, Bucknell possessed a band whose reputation was more than local. A concert was given in Bucknell Hall by the band which according to the Orange and Blue of that time was much appreciated. The music played was of a highly classical nature and the program was varied by flute and 'cello duets and by music by the Bucknell cornet octet.

Bucknell's basket-ball team of ten years ago was defeated, during the last week of January, by the Clover Wheelman of Philadelphia, 18-16 and by Williamsport Athletic Association.

In 1904 at this season of the year, the annual call for track candidates was issued and to he call a large number responded. The captain of the baseball team had also issued a call and the Orange and Blue of that date gives an account of the possibilities of the team.

The first issue of the Orange and Blue occurred in the spring of 1897. Since that time the following men have been connected with it as editors.

Bucknell Medical Society Meets.

The regular weekly meeting of the Medical Society of Bucknell was held on Friday afternoon in the Anatomy Room. After the usual business of the Socict was transacted, the members listened to an interesting paper on the "Advantages of a College training as preliminary to the Medical course" by Fred B. Little, '11. Little discussed both phases of the question and used important data in showing that the rank and action of men in the Medical Profession is determined largely by their knowledge of preliminary subjects. "In order to succeed the physician and surgeon must be philanthropic. He must enter the profession not for the almighty dollar but rather for the goood he can do for suffering humanity. With this his ideal, his reward will come unconsciously."

The society subsequently discussed the choice of an emblem, colors, and motto. Dr. Groff suggested the Staff and Serpent of Hippocrates which was unanimously adopted. Cherry and White were chosen as the colors. The motto as embodied in the emblem of the society is Vis et Sapientia.

Through the kindness of Dr. Groff, W. Wayne Babcock, M. D., Professor of Surgery in Temple College and surgeon to the Sanaritan Hospital, has been invited to address the association at one of its future meetings.

GREEK LETTER MEN GIVE A DANCE

PAN-HELLENIC EVENT SUCCESS.

The second Pan-Hellenic dance of the year was held in the armory on Friday night, and proved to be a great success. The social event was under the managemnt of Hunter, '09, and Reber, '10, who assumed the responsibility for the arrangement of the dance. The occasion was a Pan-Hellenic affair, and men were present from all of the Greek Letter fraternities.

The armory was tastefully decorated with bunting and with pennan's and emblems of the different societies, and the large ball-room presented a gay scene after the guests had arrived.

The program consisted of two-steps, and barn dances, there being twenty-numbers in all with frequent encores and two extras. Music for the dances was furnished by Campbell's orchestra of Sunbury and the musicians livened the feet of the dancers until twelve o'clock.

The patronesses invited were Mrs. Wm. Leiser, Mrs. Wm. Foster, Mrs. Harold McClure, Mrs. W. L. Gearhart, and Mrs. R. F. Halfpenny. The invited guests were Prof. Wolfe and wife, Mr. Walter Blair and wife, Judge McClure, Mr. Drew Leiser and Dr. W. R. Roland.

About fifty couples were present including young ladies from Milton, Sunbury, Winfield, Oil City and other places. A pleasant feature connected with the event was the fact that the young ladies from Milton formed a sleighing party and came to the dance in a unique manner. From the reports heard in and around College on Saturday the dance was pronounced a signal success and was held to be one of the most enjoyable social events of the year.

Bower '11, Saves Drowning Boy.

Fleming Bower, '11, son of Mr. F. E. Bower, of this place, figured in a most heoric deed at Milton yesterday afternoon, which should place him in the list as a worthy applicant for a Carnegie medal for bravery shown. Bower was skating on the ice below the railroad bridge at Milton. A small boy, Stoonet Watts, 12 years old, of Milton, was skating, and plunged into an air hole in the ice. The little fellow went under the water several times, and the only ones in the vicinity were youngsters of the same age. Fleming Bower, seeing the accident, skated toward the air hole, leaping fifteen or more feet into the icy water, and caught the boy as he was going down for the last time. Others came to the assistance of the two who were clinging to the ice, but it was fully twenty minutes before a boat and ropes were secured to pull the two from their dangerous position. During all these long minutes in theh icy water. Bower maintained a good hold on the lad, and kept him from going down. Both were benumed with the cold, and were at once hurried to a place to thaw them out. The act of rescue was a most daring one. Bower never stopping to remove clothing or skates when he made the leap to save the drowning boy. Bower is a member of the Sophomore Class of Bucknell. For some years he was connected with the navy but has recently with-drawn from the service. His nautical experiences served him well in this rescue.

Ministerial Association.

The first meeting of the Ministerial Association will be held on Wednesday evening next at seven o'clock in Association Hall. Dr. Perrine will address the meeting.

Brown publishes her baseball schedule in an issue of last week. There are twenty-six games on the list.

Prizes Awarded.

Awards interesting to students of Pennsylvania Colleges have been made by a committee of economists for the best essays submitted by college graduates and students. Four prizes in all, aggregating nearly $2,000, have been given.

The first prize was taken by Oscar Douglas Skelton, formerly of the University of Chicago and now Professor at Queen's University, Toronto.

A women, Mrs. Edward Sherwood Meade, of Philadelphia won the second prize by making a study of the agricultural resources of the United States. She is the first woman to win one of the essays but has previously distinguished herself by her scholarship, holding fellowships at Bryan Mawr and the University of Pennsylvania. Essays were submitted from all over the United States.

The committee which awarded the prizes consisted of Professor J. Laurence Laughlin of the University of Chicago, J. B. Clark of Columbia University, Henry C. Adams of the University of Michigan, Horace White of New York City, and President Carroll D. Wright of Clark University. The donors of the prizes are Messrs. Hart Schaffner & Marx of Chicago.

1. The first prize of one thousand dollars to Oscar Douglas Skelton, A. B., Queen's University, Kingston, Canada, 1900; graduate student in the University of Chicago; Ph. D., The University of Chicago, 1908; Professor of Political Economy in Queen's University; for a paper entitled "The Case against Socialism."

2. The second prize of five hundred dollars to Emily Fogg Meade (Mrs. Edward Sherwood Meade), A. B., The University of Chicago, 1897; Fellow at Bryan Mawr, 1897-1899; Fellow at University of Pennsylvania, 1899-1900; for a paper entitled "Agricultural Resources of the United States."

Notice was also given by the committee that writers and students who wish to compete for the prizes offered for 1909 will be allowed until June 1st, to make their studies and finish their essays.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. met Thursday evening in the Association rooms at 9.00 o'clock. In the absence of President Mathias, vice-president Edwards conducted the business meeting, after which Bracken, '09, was called upoon too conduct the prayer meeting. He took as the object of study the gospel of John. In his preliminary remarks, Bracken stated that the book of John offered from the other gospels in that it had to do more with the inner life of Christ and that it gave forth the impressions made by Him on the world. The leaders then, assigned several passages which brought out clearly the impressions that Christ made on the people of his time. The opinions of John the Baptist, Nicodemus, the five thousand who were fed, and the blind man who was healed, were given as example of the impressions made and all expressed the thought that Christ was the promised Messiah While some of the Jews believed that Christ was a prophet, or that he was John the Baptist, risen from the dead, others of them accepted him as the Messiah. The leader closed his talk by giving a summary of the impressions made and by asking this question. "What impressions has the life of Christ made upon you?"

Lecture To-Night.

The Rev. J. Heinrichs, President of the Theological Seminary at Ramapatam, India, will speak to the students in Bucknell Hall to-night at eight o'clock.

SLEIGHBELLS RING FOR UPPERCLASSMEN

WINTER TERM SOCIAL FUNCTION.

Senior Sled-Load Goes on Wednesday, Juniors Follow Thursday Evening, Mifflinburg, the Scene of Banquets.

Seniors.

Taking advantage of the heavy snow, fall and of the good condition of the roads, members of the Senior class held their annual sleigh-ride on Wednesday night.

The committee in charge consisted of Winegardner, chairman, Gibson and Owens. They were compelled to make short work in preparation as the weather promised to spoil the sleighing before the end of the week. Wednesday night was chosen as the time most suitable for the function and a sled-load was soon enlisted to participate in the affair.

At five o'clock the party left the Seminary and drove through town, singing class songs and giving class yells. A two hours drive brought them to the Commercial Hotel, of Mifflinburg, where, the report comes, they were delightfully entertained.

At 7.30 the members of the party were ushered into the dining room of the hotel in which place an elaborate menu was served. The traditional dish, chicken and waffles, was the chief feature of the bill-of-fare, and it was accompanied by as many side dishes as the table could well hold. Ice-cream, cake, and fruit concluded the feast and the banqueters adjourned to the parlor.

The remainder of the evening was given over to the playing of games and to music. Miss Lutz, who was the invited guest rendered several vocal selections, and the entire party serenaded the hotel guests with Bucknell songs.

At ten o'clock the sled drove up to the corner and the Seniors took their departure not without giving the Bucknell-ite-el farewell salute to the Commercial House. The homeward trip was safely made, the party reaching the Seminary shortly after eleven.

Juniors.

The Juniors followed the example of the Seniors, choosing the night following the one on which the members of the class of 1909 indulged in their sleigh-ride, and selecting as their place of merriment the same town, Mifflinburg, and the same hotel, the Commercial House.

Fifteen couples made up the party and at five o'clock, they left the Seminary, en-route for the hotel. Their departure from Lewisburg was made known by the songs and yells they gave, and the expression of their good feeling was heard until the three teams which conveyed them had gone some distance out the pike.

They reached the hotel in quick time and at eight o'clock assembled around the viand laden tables of the dining room, where the hotel chef and the head waiter did all in their power to satisfy their demands. The menu served was on the same order as of the night previous when the Seniors feasted there, chicken and waffles predominating.

After the feasting was over, Wiant, who was chairman of the sleigh-ride committee, acted as toastmaster and called upon the following who responded very appropriately with impromptu toasts. Messrs. Pangburn, Earl and Edmunds, and Misses Watkins, Cathers, Hare and Calp. The speeches having been concluded, the Juniors adjourned to the parlor where they spent the evening with games and music.

Miss Margaret Calp was the invited guest.

TRACK PRACTICE.

In a publication of the Orange and Blue of January, 1904, there is issued a call for track candidates to report regularly at the gymnasium for practice and training. A large number responded to this call, and the result was, a track team of some account. Has any one heard of such a call as this during the present year? It will possibly be April before it is thought of and then by the time the track men are showing any form, the college year will be over. Other colleges have winter training, why not we? If a track team is to be able to compete, it must begin to prepare far ahead of time, at least as far as head as do its opponents, and if it is impossible to make the necessary preparations, the idea of having a team might as well be abandoned. If Bucknell can not be well represented, let her not be represented at all.

Another suggestion arises with this one. Is it impossible to send a relay team to Philadelphia? The alumni are anxious to see it for they remember the days when Bucknell was accustomed to carry home the laurels. It will, however, be impossible to effect a qualitative participate in the May events, if that team is not organized and put to work at once.

UPPER CLASS SLEIGH-RIDES.

During the past week, members of both the Senior and Junior classes have indulged in the annual social event of the winter, the sleigh-ride. This event is supposed to be a class affair just as the class banquet is supposed to be a class affair but as in the case with the class banquet, neither the Seniors nor the Juniors had a representative number to participate in the festivities of the week. While the committees in charge are to be commended for the work they did in such a short time, yet it is no more than right that each person of the class should receive an urgent invitation to attend this function. Could not arrangements be made so that invitations by one member of the class to another could be eliminated, and a general invitation to all be issued? Under such circumstances a great many more would feel disposed to participate in the event than do under the present plan and the sleigh-ride would be a class affair.

THE EDITOR.

The editor of the "Umpire," Oklahoma University, draws the astonishing salary of twenty-five dollars per month. Poor fellow. He does not know the supreme joy of working merely for "glory."

This week the Baptist Publication Society is to bring out the Rev. Samuel Zane Batten's study of "The Christian State." The author discusses the nature, origin, the functions and form of the State; the drift, the advantages, the perils, and the unfinished tasks of democracy; and in his final section the relations of State and Church, the programme of the Christian State.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Euepia.

The Euepia Literary Society held its weekly meeting on Friday night. A discussion on "Coeducation" by Miller, '12, was followed by the regular debate. The question argued was as follows, "Resolved, That the Salary of the President of the United States should be Doubled." Smith, '10, and Nestor, '11, spoke on the affirmative and Oliver, '11, and Coll, '12, discussed the negative. So evenly did the sides argue that the judges rendered a neutral decision. The debate completed the program.

Theta Alpha.

The Theta Alpha assembled in the Society halls for its regular meeting on Friday night and listened to a discussion by Warmkessel on Edgar Allen Poe. The question "Resolved, That Travel is More Conducive to a Broad Education than Books," was upheld on the affirmative by Pugh, '11, Pastor, '12, and Waltman, '12, and was opposed by Reiter, '12, Davenport, '12, and Spurgeon, '11. A decision in favor of the negative was rendered, which completed the program.

Arrangements were made for the L'Agenda picture and Hamm was appointed critic.

COLLEGE LOCALS.

Florin, '09, spent Saturday in Williamsport.

Velte, '10, filled the Baptist Church of Eagles Mere on Sunday.

The Freshman basket-ball team has three games scheduled for the week.

Mathias preached in the East End Baptist church, Williamsport, on Sunday.

Marsh, '11, entertained Miss Wallace, of Oil City, for a few days last week.

Brown, '09, has been spending a few days with Bartlett, '06, of Crozer Theological Seminary.

Howell, '06, has returned from a visit to Pittsburg, where he was summoned as a witness.

The Scrubs will play basket-ball with the Lock Haven Normal Team on Saturday next at Lock Haven.

During Hilton's visit home, his father, who had been sick for a short time, died. Hilton is not expected to return.

The members of the Sigma Chi fraternity of the college were entertained at dinner last week by R. M. Darlington, ex-'03.

The Intercollegiate debate between Lafayette and Bucknell will be held in Bucknell Hall on Saturday night, February 6th, at eight o'clock.

For the commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, the services of Dr. Wayland Hoyt have been secured. He will deliver several addresses in the Chapel at times to be announced later.

"Doc" Younkin narrowly escaped a serious accident last week while on his way to the Cemical Laboratory. As he was going down the slippery hill, a young boy on a sled came down in back of him and knocked his feet out from under him. He struck his head a severe blow on the ice, and was hardly able to return to his room unassisted. His condition which was at first thought to be serious, is improved, and he is now able to be about.

Day of Prayer.

The observance of the Day of Prayer for Schools and Colleges which is scheduled for Thursday of this week has been postponed by the authorities of the University and will be held at a later date. The Y. M. C. A. as has been announced has secured the services of Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin for the first or second week in February and it is the intention of those in charge of the services relative to the Day of Prayer to observe that day during the stay of Dr. Woelfkin. It is believed that such a plan as has been mentioned will be more fitting and will be carried into effect at a time in keeping with the occasion.

The regular work on Thursday will not be suspended.

Letters to the Editor.

(The Orange and Blue is not responsible for the sentiment expressed in letters to the Editor)

In every High School and Normal School, the students issue a literary school paper at least once a month. In Kansas State College, an institution not much larger than ours they publish a four-sheet newspaper triweekly, and a magazine every month. Bucknell used to display its literary talent in the "Mirror," but this seems to have met with an untimely end. To me, such a magazine is an imperative need for every school. Is it not possible and desirable for us to have a literary supplement to the "Orange and Blue," or a new Bucknell paper? '09.

Where is Zeta? The Catalogue says that Zeta is a literary society conducted by the young women of the college. We have been hunting for it ever since we came, and have not found it yet. The men find an outlet for their debating energy in Theta Alpha and Euepia; but we girls must either keep quiet or gossip. If a helping hand were extended, we would be only too glad to organize, or reorganize for literary purposes. Some Subscribers.

Y. M. C. A. Entertainment Saturday.

The Dunbar Company known as the Quartette and the Bell Ringers will present an elaborate program in the M. E. on Saturday night beginning at eight o'clock.

Their history is their strongest endorsement. They have given nearly two thousand concerts on tours carrying them more than three hundred thousand miles, far enough to encircle the globe twelve times, to every part of the Union, Canada, Great Britain and the continent, and everywhere great audiences have been charmed with their programs. In some of the large courses, they have appeared annually during their seven years of travel, and, in may others, they have appeared again and again with uniform success, and now about 75 per cent. of their engagements are returns. They sing part songs with all finesse of mature men and finished musicians that they are, and they produce comedy in song that is at once orighal and refreshing. Most of their music is in manuscript, not published, much of which is composed or arranged by members of the company. Their equipment is the finest money can buy, their present magnificent carillon of neart two hundred bells having been made under their personal supervision while abroad. They have perfected several improvements in bell construction and have placed hand bell ringing among the arts instead oof a pleasing specialty. Ralph Dunbar's cello solos have won splendid praise from exacting critics, who hear often the world's greatest 'cellists and are only interested in music in its highest developed forms. The press comments upon their work in the highest terms. Tickets are now on sale at Heiser's drug store and will be sold at the door on the night of the entertainment.

A gift of $50,000 to the endowment fund of the University of Virginia has been made by Colonel Oliver H. Payne, of New York.

VICTORY AND DEFEAT FOR BUCKNELL

VARSITY MAKES GOOD SHOWING.

Susquehanna Yields Laurels on Her Own Floor, While State Wins in Hard-fought Contest.

The Varsity resumed basket-ball last week by defeating Susquehanna on her own floor by the score of 23 to 17, and by being defeated by State, 28 to 16. The playing of Bucknell was better than anticipated and opinions have been expressed that any team that plays in Tustin gymnasium will have to work hard to deprive the home team of the victory.

Susquehanna Game.

On Wednesday evening, January 27, Bucknell played basket-ball on Susquehanna's floor. This has not happened for several years and caused great interest in Selinsgrove and in the nearby towns, especially since Susquehanna was confident of winning.

Morehead, of Sunbury, was referee and the game was generally clean though hotly contested. Bucknell got a good start on Susquehanna and kept it throughout the game. Crawford of Susquehanna, was disqualified for making five fouls. The greatest number made by any Bucknell man was three. Thatcher shot the fouls for the Varsity and with a little more experience will become an expert. The first half ended with a score of 17 to 9 in Bucknell's favor.

In the second half, O'Brien was put at center and Thatcher at forward. The increased determination of Susquehanna, the above mentioned change in positions, and the general slump of the Varsity, allowed her opponents to pull up to 18 points while her own score went up but 6. But the lead was too great and the victory for Bucknell was never in great danger. Shoop played an excellent game and made six field goals, Kauffman, who broke his nose in the initial game of the season, had it rebroken in the first half but remained in the game through part of the second half.

The winning of this game was important as it will no doubt destroy the impression that Bucknell's failure to play Susquehanna of late years was the fear of being beaten on the latter's floor, an impression which Susquehanna meant to confirm by a high score in their favor.

Bucknell-State Game.

On Saturday evening, Bucknell met State College on the floor of the latter institution and was defeated in a close game by the score of 28 to 16. The Varsity labored under a disadvantage, due to the facts that the floor was very large, that the baskets were peculiarly arranged, and that the ball frequently went out of bounds.

In the first half, Bucknell took the lead, making a goal and a foul before their opponents had scored. The lead, however, was not long maintained and by fast playing and accurate passing, State rolled up 14 points while the Varsity made 9.

The size of the floor had its effect on Bucknell in the second half. They were unable to keep up the pace set by State and succeeded in making only 7 points, while State doubled her score of the first half.

O'Brien did excellent work in throwing goals from the foul line, making 6 out of a possible 12, while State made 2 out of the same number of possibilities. Shoop, as usual, was in the best of form, and proved a problem to his opposing guard. No men were put out of the game because of the foul-limit rule.

The visiting team received the best of treatment and respect. After the game they were entertained at the concert of the College Glee and Mandolin Clubs, held in the Auditorium.

Dr. Groff Lectures.

The members of the Bucknell Med. Society enjoyed a treat on Friday afternoon when they were introduced to "Life in the Tropics and Tropical Medicine," by Dr. Groff. The Doctor has spent several years in the West Indies subsequent to the Spanish-American war, and while there was Secretary and Treasurer of the Superior Board of Health in Puerto Rico under the military government. The essence of this experience was presented in a most interesting way.

He first took up the licensing of physicians, dentists and pharmacists. "In all these professions the practitioners must have a license, but this license may be acquired before receiving a diploma. There are first, second, third and fourth class physicians in the islands. A man who has a diploma, a license and has passed an army examination, is a first class doctor. A second class physician has a diploma and license and holds a municipal position. A third class physician has a diploma and license but holds no government position, and a fourth class one has a license but no diploma.

"Besides these there is another class of practitioners or assistants, known as "practicants". A practicant is a man who has served an apprenticeship with a physician, after which he appears before the examining board and gets a license to practice minor operations, but only as an assistant. The midwife is also licensed for her work and in some cases is well prepared. In respect to municipal medicine, every municipality is supposed to have at least one municipal doctor who must do all the work of a health officer, must inspect all the food supplies sold in his district, must inspect all water supplies, must view every dead body before it is buried, perform autopsies when necessary, prescribe for all the poor sick, examine every animal before it is killed for food, and do all the vaccinating in the district.

"The quacks are tolerated just as in this country. One of the peculiar forms of quacking in Porto Rico is a sort of spiritualism. When a first class doctor dies, some quack enslaves his spirit, and when this quack is called to see a patient he consults the spirit of this good doctor and writes a prescription, which, of course, is the prescription of the spirit doctor.

Dr. Groff also discussed the sanitary conditions which were in a very bad state when he visited the islands. It was largely through his efforts that these have subsequently improved.

Banquet in Honor of Dr. Hill.

The Philadelphia Bucknell Alumni Club at its last meeting extended an invitation to Hon. David Jayne Hill, LL.D., American Ambassador to Germany to be the guest honor at its next banquet. The invitation was conveyed to Dr. Hill by Dr. S. Lewis Ziegler, and Dr. Hill accepted the invitation. The banquet will be held when Dr. Hill returns on a visit to this country and on such date as may be convenient to him.

Intercollegiate Debate.

The first contest of the Intercollegiate Debating series will take place in Bucknell Hall on Saturday evening. The question under discussion will be, "Resolved—That the Issuing of Injunctions by Federal Courts in Labor Disputes should be Prohibited by Congress." The time has been advertised for eight o'clock. The price of admission is 25 cents.

DR. WOELFKIN TO ADDRESS COLLEGE MEN

NOTED SPEAKER FOR Y. M. C. A.

Evangelistic Meetings Are Planned for Every Night Next Week in Bucknell Hall.

Evangelistic meetings led by Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin, a noted speaker and evengelist, of the Rochester Theological Seminary, will begin next week under the direction of the college Y. M. C. A. The meetings will be held every night from 7 to 9 o'clock in the Chapel, and all students will be urged to attend.

Dr. Woelfkin comes to Bucknell strongly recommended. One of his notable successes has been at Denison University where series of meetings have been conducted by him annually for three successive years. His work elsewhere has also borne striking testimony to his ability and the local organization has been congratulated by the State Y. M. C. A. Committee upon its good fortune in securing his services.

Those who have heard the evangelist declare him to be a most entertaining and gifted speaker and urge that no one should miss the opportunity to hear him.

"Dr. Woelfkin was born in New York City September 15, 1859. From his 4th to his 14th year he lived in Wilmington, Del., and then returned to New York. At the age of 16 he began to learn the trade of decorative painter and designer; for ten years he was engaged in this work and was very successful.

"Dr. Woelfkin was converted in Wilmington in his boyhood days and was early drawn into religious work. While in New York he became Superintendent of the Sunday School of the Noble St. Baptist Church, and during the absence of the pastor, conducted a revival meeting in which seventy of the scholars were converted. This work led him to look toward the ministry as his life work and for the next four years he devoted much of his time to the study of the Scriptures. In 1885 he took charge of the Emanuel Baptist Church of New York City, during the absence of the pastor, and his work was very successful. After closing his work he was called to the First Baptist Church of Stamford, where he was ordained in 1886. He served as pastor of the first church of Hackennsack, N. J., the North Church of Jersey City, and his last pastorate was at the Green Ave. Church, Brooklyn. Here he remained eleven years. During his pastorate, in addition to raising the current expenses, the church paid off $30,000 debt, expended $20,000 in improvements and contributed $50,000 toward varied benevolences; the baptisms numbered over 500 and the church was built up in the Spiritual life.

"Dr. Woelfkin is a man of simplicity and Godly sincerity; he is a man of deep experience and great intellectual ability; he is a gifted expositer and speaks with a force that brings truth home to the hearts of his hearers. For many years his services have been in great demand, at conventions and evangelistic conferences. He has been a speaker at Northfield, Whona, Keswick, Eagles Mere, and many such places. In manner he is reverent and impressive; he has sympathy for the other man and is always glad to lend the helping hand. For a year and a half he served as evangelist for the American Baptist Home Mission Society. At present Dr. Woelfkin is serving as Professor of Homoletics in Rochester Theological Seminary, and is highly esteemed by students and professors. His work among college men has been very successful. Denison University has been one of his fields of labor. He closed a very successful series of meetings there yesterday. While in the Seminary he has filled the largest pulpits in the U. S., including Tremont Temple, Boston. During last summer he taught in the Chicago Summer School and drew large numbers to his classes. His coming to Bucknell ought to mean much to all the people who hear him. "To know him is to love him"."

HAVARD GRIFFITH, '07.

The Y. M. C. A. invites the co-operation and attendance at the meetings of all the members of the Faculty, all students in the college, Institute and Academy, and in short everybody connected in any way with Bucknell University.

College Bible Class.

Dr. Harris continued his discussion of the Sabbath Day by showing that the importance of the Sabbath is not derived from its negative side as a day of rest but from its positive side. The Sabbath has been the chief instrument in keeping the Jewish nation pure. The preservation of the Jews as a distinct people begins with the synagogue. These places of worship were first established after their return from exile in Babylonia. The synagogues were rectangular buildings placed upon the highest elevation in the city, it being regarded as a point of religion that no house should be higher than the synagogue. If no elevation could be found a pole was erected on top. This pole marks the origin of our modern church spire. The service of the synagogue was based upon the Hebrew Scriptures. First came reading of the Law, then the chanting of the Psalms, and next the reading of the Prophets from the Scroll. After the regular service the strangers in the audience were invited to speak. It was on such occasions that Christ and the Apostles frequently found opportunity to address the people. The effect of this service has kept the Jews solid as a nation. The educational effect has made them intellectually superior to all nations. In proportion to their numbers the Jews have produced more distinguished men than any other one people.

Again it was among the Jews that Sunday Schools and compulsory education was first established. Every Sabbath Day the children were gathered in the synagogue and taught the scriptures. Moreover, soon after the destruction of Jerusalem there was an edict passed that schools should be established in connection with the synagogue. The purpose of these schools was to instruct the children in the history of the Jewish people and in whatever arts might be added. There we have the beginning of compulsory education.

Financing the Debate.

Officers of the College Debating League will canvas the entire college during the early part of this week for the purpose of disposing of tickets for the Lafayette-Bucknell debate on Saturday night. After the payment of the expenses of the Gettysburg-Bucknell debate last year there was a deficit of about $4.50. This must be met this year in addition to the expenses of the coming bate. The treasurer desires the students to know that it will necessitate the purchase of a ticket by practically every one in order to clear off all indebtedness in connection with the coming debate.

PRACTICAL HINTS TO MINISTERIALS

DR. PERRINE THE SPEAKER.

Functions of the Minister and Preparation of the Sermon Features of an Interesting Discourse.

Prof. Enoch Perrine delivered an address on "The Chief Work of the Minister," at the Ministerial Association meeting held last Wednesday evening in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

After a short analysis of the work of the minister, Prof. Perrine selected preaching as his special subject. He spoke in part as follows: "The chief work of the minister is, beyond any doubt, to preach. The minister is not a business manager. He must understand the workings of the business world to the extent that he shall be able to make both ends meet. But his greatest work is not business. Nor is the minister an amuser of the people. Of course he must be sociable. Everyboly is expected to be so. But if the people find that their minister is chiefly an amuser, he loses his power in the church. A great many ministers are meddling in affairs of amusement that have absolutely nothing at all to do with the work the Lord Jesus came into the world to establish. And neither is the minister a distributor of goods. The work of the many charity organizations is a blessed work. Let no one disparage the efforts of the men and women who relieve the distress of the poor and afflicted. But this work is the work of other people besides the minister. He shall look after their spiritual needs. So a minister is not a business manager, neither an amuser, nor a distributor of goods. But the chief work of the minister is to preach. And if his great commission is to preach, nothing is more important than his sermon."

At this point the speaker took up the matter of the sermon. He pointed out the two kinds of sermons, the made sermon and the grown sermon. "Some sermons are put together just as the chair-maker makes a chair. All the material is found outside, then stuck together. The concordance suggests the points, and the book of anecdotes fills the intervening space. The sermons are entirely objective. They do not become a part of the man, and so are ineffective. But the man who grows his sermons finds a very different response. He studies his concordance in conjunction with his Bible. He thinks the matter over in his brain. His illustrations come from his observation and experience. He reads and absorbs what he reads. As a result he speaks that which he knows to be his. The doctrines he preaches he really believes. He is sincere in everything he says. And people feel his sincerity. His sermons are effective. These sermons are not made, they are grown."

Then in concluding his very instructive and helpful address, Prof. Perrine emphasized the necessity of ever advancing proof for every statement. "Then," as he said, "people will believe, but not until then."

Y. M. C. A. Concert.

The Dunbar Quartette and Bell Ringers gave a highly entertaining musical program in the M. E. church under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Every number was encored, from the classical selections of the world's composers to the comic songs and mock opera. The bell ringing feature was a part of the program that was novel and one that held the closest attention of the audience. The concert was a financial success.

Scrub and Freshmen Games.

The Scrubs were defeated in their second game of the season by Lock Haven Normal by the score of 50 to 17.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE.

The first debate of the intercollegiate series will be held in Bucknell Hall on Saturday night of this week when Bucknell will meet the Lafayette team. If precedent is followed there will be no brass band present and no mass meeting the night before to arouse enthusiasm for the contest. Some of the students will be there, it is true, but the majority will hover in the background and possibly congratulate the debaters if they win, or more likely, criticize them if they lose.

And yet we pride ourselves on the "Bucknell Spirit." We back our athletic teams with it, and yet no foot ball eleven nor base ball nine ever took the field with less support that which goes to the platform with the college debater. Fortunately debating has a higher motive than the hysterical plaudits of the crowd. Its reward is in itself. Still there is a certain satisfaction to the debater in knowing that the college is back of him, that the fellows show enough interest at least to come out to the contest so that he does not have to argue to empty benches, and finally, that he is sure of their support whether he wins or loses.

FEERUARY MEETINGS.

As announced in the Orange and Blue of to-day, Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin will spend the second week of February with the students of Bucknell. It is a privilege of rare occurrence for Bucknell to entertain for a week one of the greatest of American preachers, and it is still more a privilege to have the opportunity of listening for an hour a day to one who understands the college man's needs and who knows how to treat them.

The hour between seven and eight can be reserved with little inconvenience for the meetings in Bucknell Hall. We hope that all the college men will take advantage of the occasion and will pay their respects to Dr. Woelfkin by being present at every meeting.

Senior Girls' Masquerade.

Naia Webb, '09, and Myra Chaffee, '09, gave an "Old Ladies' Masquerade" to the Senior girls. At the appointed time, 8.30 p. m., old ladies of every description gathered in the gymnasium, twice-bereaved widows chatted with spinsters, and red-shawled Irishwomen stood their their ground beside lace-clad dowagers. Tea-drinking was the principal occupation of the evening. Next came the inevitable dance, and then a flashlight. The guests departed, singing "Good Night, Seniors."

John D. Rockefeller has agreed to donate $150,000 to Richmond.

Euepia.

The members of Euepia met on Friday evening for their regular meeting, having a good number present. Crossman, '11, summarized the current events. The question for debate was changed by a vote of the society and the following one discussed; "Resolved—That Public Libraries should be Open on Sunday." Smith, '10, and Stockebrand, '10, were the affirmative speakers and Teigmeier, '12, and Waltz, '12, the negative. The affirmative received the judges' decision. Nector, '11, concluded the program with an account of the "Jersey Devil."

Theta Alpha.

The Theta Alpha society presented an extemporaneous program on Friday night. Pugh, '11, gave a recitation, and Street, '10, discussed the question, "Is a Long Christmas Vacation Detrimental to Student Life?" Hoffman, '12, and Waltman, '12, opposed John Harris, '12, and Davenport, '12, in the debate, "Resolved, That Immigration should be Restricted to One Million People a Year." The judges rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative and the meeting adjourned.

Scrubs vs. Bloomsburg.

Ramapatam President Gives Address.

The Rev. J. Heinrieks, President of the Theological Seminary at Ramapatam, India, gave an instructive address on India last Monday evening in Bucknell Hall. Dr. Heinrichs limited his subject to the unique features of India as a mission field.

He told his audience that although the area of India was scarcely half that of the United States, nevertheless India, with its 300,000,000, constitutes one-fifth of the poulation of the world, and that the national increase is about 3,000,000 per annum. Many of the higher class of India, excepting the Mohammedans, are of the same Indo-European stock as ourselves.

India stands unique as a mission field because of its debasing religion and gross idolatry, and although there used to be prevalent a belief in one God, to-day a degrading polytheism confronts the missionaries, which has gradually increased from a few gods, to 330,000,000 gods and idols.

The second unique feature of this country as a mission field is its atrocious system of caste, for besides the four leading castes, the Brama, the Military, the Mercantile, and the Agricultural, there are many sub-divisions. The most promising caste is the Agriculture, for eighty-five per cent. of the people of India live by farming. One-fifth of the population is of no caste. The caste originated with the coming of the Aryan into the country and because of difference of color, but to-day the color makes no difference. Buddhism was born in India as an opponent of the caste system, and while Buddhism is atheistic, it is moral, but mere morality will not save an individual or a nation, and for this reason Buddhism failed to save India. This country should have been saved 2,000 years ago before the introduction of the caste system.

The third unique feature of India from the missionary standpoint is its low intellectual level. Before the caste distinction came India was one of the greatest intellectual centers of the world, but to-day only five or six per cent. of the male population are learned, and only one-half per cent. of the female population are able to read and write. There are sixty-seven different languages in India with their respective grammars and dictionaries, and also many dialects. The Sanskrit is the classical language. One of the most notable characteristics of the people is their politeness.

Christianity and education and the introduction of western ideas are causing the caste system to disappear. The gospel of Jesus Christ will accomplish what either intellectuality, or Buddhism could never do. It will lift the burden from their shoulders, and put them upon a new life level.

ALLEGHENY DEFEATED BY A CLOSE SCORE

FASTEST GAME OF THE SEASON

Western College Loses by Clote Margin. Lehigh Wins on Saturday in Unsatisfactory Contest.

In a game sensational with fast playing and brilliant shooting, Bucknell won from the speedy Allegheny quintet Friday night by a score of 30-28. The victory was won in the last minute of play when with the score at a tie Captain O'Brien threw a goal from the side of the floor.

Allegheny is regarded as one of the fastest basket-ball aggregations among the college teams and their playing gave evidence that they have much upon which to ground their reputation. A victory was hardly even hoped for by Bucknell. State had only defeated the collegians by a narrow margin on its own floor the night before and the Orange and Blue followers were expecting for a close score at best.

In anticipation of a good game, a large crowd of spectators filled the gymnasium fully a half an hour before the time scheduled for play to begin. They were entertained during the wait by the Bucknell Band which was again on hand and livened up the intervals before and between the halves with popular melodies. The excitement aroused the cheering section and the snappy yells added zest to the contest.

Allegheny took the lead early in the first half. Three points were tallied in rapid succession on fouls which were thrown with unerring precision by Baker, their clever little left forward. Kurtz threw the first field goal for Bucknell and O'Brien added another point on a foul and and tied the score. For the remainder of the first half Bucknell was slightly in the lead and finished the half with the score in its favor at 15-13.

The visitors made a spurt at the beginning of the second period of play and the score was again tied at 19-19. The crowd went wild a moment later, however, when Bucknell made a sensational spurt and piled three goals in the basket in less than two minutes. All three goals were made on long and difficult shots. Kurtz started it off with a clever throw from the side of the floor, Shoop threw clean on a long side shot and O'Brien dropped in another from near the center of the floor. These three men started for Bucknell. Kurtz who made his initial appearance on the home floor with the 'Varsity, was especially clever. Twice he threw goals with opponents clinging to his back and each time the referee called fouls but according to the rules, the goals were counted.

Allegheny picked up the lead in a few minutes later. Baker, who scored twelve of his team's points on fouls, basketed two goals from under the gallery and two fouls pulled his team one point ahead of Bucknell. The goal thrower was himself disqualified on fouls soon afterwards, however, and was replaced by Benedict. A moment later the teams were neck and neck with 28 points each. They held together for three or four minutes with neither side able to score, then the ball soared towards the goal on a shot by O'Brien, scarcely flicking the netting and dropped through the iron rim of the basket, and the victory was won.

The line up:—

Allegheny		Bucknell.
Baker	forward	Shoop
Benedict.
Maxwell	forward	Kurtz
Hines	center	O'Brien
Phillips	guard	Craig
Weidler	guard	McNinch

Lehigh-Bucknell Game.

In a game that bore no comparison to the Bucknell-Allegheny contest, Lehigh defeated Bucknell on the floor of the former by the score of 46-13. The game was hardly a satisfactory contest as the floor was so small that it did not admit of much dribbling, and the game was delayed again and again because the decisions of the Lehigh senior referee were disputed.

The first half ended with the score of 16-9 in favor of Lehigh. The second half was little more than a farce, as the Bucknell five became disgusted with the decisions of the referee. O'Brien was disqualified and ordered from the room because he did not play gently enough, while Craig and McNinch were compelled to retire from the game before its completion because of the five-foul rule.

Line-up:

Bucknell	Positions	Lehigh
Kurtz	forward	Dayette
Shoop	forward	A. Osborn
O'Brien, Capt.	center	A. Osborn
Thatcher		Waltz
Craig	guard	Kelfe
McCullen
McNinch	guard	Davies, Capt.

Field goals—Street, 5; Davies, 5; Dayette, 3; A. Osborn, 3; Kelfe, 2; Shoop 2; Kurtz 2; O'Brien 1. Foul goals—Dayette 10; O'Brien 2; Shoop 1. Referee—Stobicus, Lehigh. Timekeepers—Thatcher, Bucknell; Ewing, Lehigh. Two 20-minute halves.

College Bible Class.

Dr. Harris spoke of the Sabbath as a civil institution and the laws for its observance. Among the Jews a cessation from labor on the Sabbath was enforced according to the law of Moses. But it was a long time before Christians had any civil power and until that time there was no law regarding the religious observance of the first day of the week. In the year 321 A. D. the first Sunday law was enacted forbidding work in the cities but permitting it in the country districts especially during seed time and harvest. Later the Romans extended the law to prohibit all law suits and state business on Sunday. Labors of mercy and of love have always been permitted. The Franks took their laws from the Romans and with them their Sunday laws. The French nation since the time of the French Revolution has been exceedingly lax regarding the observance of the Sabbath.

England under Alfred the Great in 876 took the Roman and Frankish laws. These are the laws, modified in many ways, upon which ours are based. Formerly attendance on services of the church was required but since the Revolution this practice has ceased for we believe, as Americans, in complete religious freedom.

The Sunday laws we now have are to preserve the Sabbath as a civil institution, not as a religious institution. It is recognized (1) because all agree that one day for rest out of seven is necessary; (2) Since Sunday is the one most convenient for all it is kept and to permit religious liberty the laws forbid that any shall disturb those who are worshipping. (3) The state is benefitted by the moral and intellectual development which religious institutions make possible and therefore legislates to protect them.

John H. Mathias.

Woelfkin Meetings begin Tuesday at 7.00 P. M.

CROZER PRESIDENT AND BUCKNELL TRUSTEE DEAD

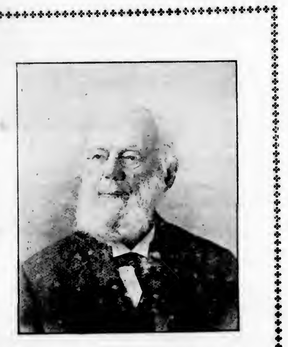

DR. H. G. WESTON PASSES AWAY

A Noted Theologian, Educator, Pastor and Friend and Official of The University.

After an acute illness of one week, Rev. Dr. Henry Griggs Weston, president of Crozer Theological Seminary and trustee of Bucknell University, died at 7.30 o'clock on Saturday at his home in Upland. Dr. Weston was in his eighty-ninth year and had suffered from rheumatism for a number of years. Within the last month his condition steadily became worse and a week ago blood poisoning developed, hastening death.

He is survived by three children, Miss Dora Weston, Francis E. Weston secretary of the Keystone Drop Forge Co., Chester; and Dr. John Weston, of Duluth, Minn.

Dr. Weston frequently has been called the "Grand Old Man of the Baptist Church." He was born in Lynn, Mass., in 1820. He lived in Boston until he was 11 years old, when his father died. He was educated at Brown University, entering at the age of 15, then taking a course at Newton Institute.

Henry G. Weston, D. D., LL. D.

Upon graduation he went to answer the call for gospel workers in Illinois, which was then considered the frontier. The western life of the boy preacher was full of hardships. He received no salary for the first year, frequently slept out of doors and went hungry on more than one occasion.

His eloquence attracted attention and he was called to the pastorate of the Oliver Street Baptist Church, of New York, which was afterward merged with the Madison Avenue Baptist Church.

In his congregation were some of the big financiers, steamboat magnates and bankers, and he often laughingly said that he found them a difficult lot to handle.

The fame of Dr. Weston in New York city attracted John P. Crozer, who offered him the presidency of the newly organized Crozer Theological Seminary at Chester.

Dr. Weston accepted the post and has been president of the Institution since 1868, and has been widely known as a theologian and educator.

In 1845 he was married to Miss Endamilie Van Meter, of Kentucky. The following year he was ordained to the Baptist ministry at Frankfort, Ky. He was pastor at Washington, Richland and Peoria, Ill., successively in the years from 1843 to 1859. In the latter year he was called to New York.

He was president of the American Baptist Missionary Union in 1872 and 1873, and editor of the Baptist Quarterly from 1869 to 1877. He was given the honorary degrees of A. M. by Shurtleff College of Illinois; D. D., by the University of Rochester and LL. D., by Brown, Bucknell and Denison and Southwestern Universities. He was the author of a number of books and treatises on theological subjects.

Of late years his physical debilities have made it necessary to turn over the active management of the seminary to the dean, the Rev. Dr. Milton G. Evans.

In 1868, Dr. Weston became a member of the Board of Curators of Bucknell University, serving in that capacity till 1882, when he was made a member of the Board of Trustees, in which position he continued his helpful membership until he was called to his reward.

At the "Way of Life" meeting on Sunday, the President of the University made the life of Dr. Weston the basis of some lessons for the students.

The funeral took place at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. Services were held in Commencement Hall at the seminary grounds, at Chester, and Rev. Dr. Milton G. Evans, dean of the seminary, had charge. President Harris, of Bucknell University, attended the services.

Wife of Prominent Alumnus Dies.

Mrs. Anna Hakes James, the wife of Rev. John Sexton James, D. D. '68, pastor of the First Baptist church of Altoona, died at Atlantic City on Tuesday, and her remains were brought to Lewisburg on Wednesday evening, and were taken to the home of Dr. LeRoy Stephens, on Sixth street, from whose home the funeral was held on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. James was born in Massachusetts, and was aged about 58 years. About a year ago she underwent an operation in Philadelphia for cancer, and to recuperate went to spend the winter at Atlantic City, where she was taken ill with pneumonia and her death resulted. Two sons, Dr. Henry H. James, in San Francisco, and Arthur James, an editorial writer on the N. Y. World, with the husband, survive her. The funeral servics were conducted by Rev. Judd and Dr. J. H. Harris. Interment was made in the cemetery here. Eight members of Dr. James' congregation in Altoona, six of whom were deacons in his church, came to attend the funeral.

Third Y. M. C. A. Concert Saturday.

The third Y. M. C. A. contest will be given on Saturday night at 8:15 in the M. E. church. The basket-ball game, scheduled for the same night will be played at an earlier hour so that both functions can be attended. The attraction for Saturday night is "The Four Great Musical Artists."

The Bucknell debating team consisting of C. C. Fries, '09, leader; N. C. Fetter, '09, and L. J. Velte, '10, met the Lafayette team whose members were William Aston, '11, J. S. Linn, '11, and A. E. Keller, '10, in Bucknell Hall on Friday night and were defeated in what the judges [illegible] a close contest.

The subject for discussion was "Resolved, That the issuing of injunctions by Federal Courts in labor disputes should be prohibited by Congress." Bucknell presented the affirmative and endeavored to prove that as far as labor disputes were concerned the injunction is an inadequate and unjustifyable method for determining the settlement of the dispute, that it prevents the growth and progress of the economic world at large, and hinders the development of economic conditions, that it shows class distinction, and that it effects the court of equity itself in that it deprives the judiciary of the confidence of the people.

Lafayette on the other hand presented these arguments to maintain its side; first that the injunction is a great equitable remedy; second, its use has been such as to maintain inviolate the plainest principles of equity and justice; third, that it is the best and frequently the only means in the hands of the government for checking outbreaks in labor disputes threatening rights of liberty and property, and fourth, that such a measure would be unconstitutional.

In the debate proper each man was allowed ten minutes to present his arguments after which there was an intermission when Miss Eleanor Nixon varied the program with a piano solo.

The debate was concluded with a five minute rebuttal on part of each speaker. At the close of the rebuttal the judges without consultation, placed their decision in sealed envelopes which were handed to the presiding officer. The negative secured the unanimous vote.

The presiding officer of the evening was Hon. A. W. Johnson, of Lewisburg, and the judges were W. P. Eveland, President of Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport; W. W. Evans, Superintendent of Schools, Bloomsburg; and S. A. Thurlow, Superintendent of Schools, Pottsville.

The debate was the first of the series of the Triangular Debating League, consisting of Gettysburg, Lafayette, and Bucknell. The next debate will be held some time in April between Gettysburg and Lafayette at the former place. The winners of the series will be presented with gold medals by the league.

The judges and those in attendance expressed entire satisfaction with the debate on Friday night and with the superior work of the teams. It was admitted that Bucknell had the more difficult side of the question and also that Lafayette maintained the negative with convincing arguments and a strong rebuttal.

Cap and Dagger.

The Men's Dramatic Club was formally organized last week under the name of Cap and Dagger and the following officers elected: President, Lallman, '09; Vice President, Beemer, '10; Secreatry, Briemier, '10; Treasurer, Shreve, '11; Property Men, Conner and Hanks. On Wednesday evening the Club held its first regular meeting, adopted a constitution and arranged dramatic programs for the next two fortnightly meetings. A trip, on which "Half-Back Sandy" will be produced, is being considered and judging from the interest manifested in the organization Bucknell is assured of a permanent and well organized dramatic club.

HOMER D. KRESGE, '10

An instance has come to our notice of late where a newspaper of wide circulation in a nearby town has been quick to take a fling at Bucknell because of the unseemly actions of some of the students in one of the lower departments of the institution. The criticism was possibly very properly provoked, but the reflection cast upon the entire University because of the actions of a few individuals is decidedly unfair.

Unfortunately, it is too frequently the case that the public cultivates a hostile attitude towards the college men. It is ever ready to see. In him the flaws which it overlooks in others and seems to delight in holding him up to ridicule. Others may indulge in the wildest of revels under the guise of "public celebrations" but let a college man innocently turn lose some of the enthusiasm that he has piled up during several weeks of monotonous class room and dormitory existence, and he is immediately branded a barbarian.

These are the conditions and the only way to correct them lies in the college man himself. It is a deplorable fact that the college man is too often to blame for the adverse opinion of the outside world. He does sometimes give too free a rein to his spirits and does things without thinking. But this is the exception rather than the rule, as some people and some newspapers like the above mentioned, would persist in having it. Let the college man take care that his actions do not reflect discredit on that Alma Mater which has given him her name, but should he err upon occasions, let the criticisms be against the individual and not against the entire body of college men.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Several notices which were placed on bulletin board asking for track and field candidates have failed to bring forth some promising material that exists in college material which without doubt would at least be able to compete successfully in the various events with the colleges now on the schedule.

Let those who have not as yet responded to the call and who already have had experience on track and field, and those who realize that a little training will develop in them a competitor in one or more of the field or track events see Coach Hosking. It is only by training, and early training at that, that we can expect a winning team. Several of the lower classmen have already shown their ability in practice, others can do the same. All that is required is a response to the call for candidates. A number of the events thus far have had but few, if any, candidates. Here is a chance for under-classmen to get into college athletics.

Prof. Seiler on Contagion.

The topic which demanded the attention of the Medical Society on Friday, was that of "Contagion and Inspection," and the speaker was Prof. Seiler, Asst. Prof. of Biology. After giving an outline of his topic, he confined his talk entirely to the contagion and inspection of diseases of animals including man. He discussed at length the Public Water and Meat Supply as having on Typhoid and traced the spread of this malady to unsanitary causes existing both commonly and incidentaly.

Some of the incidental ways in which disease may spread he assigned to the handling of food, public sewage, public institutions, public conveyances, the spray like vapor from the breath which is inhaled by some one.

But in the case of some diseases an intermediate host is necessary between the individuals to effect the spread from one to another. Thus the mosquito is the agent in spreading Malaria; the rats in spreading the bubonic Plague.

Prof. Henkels, who is head of the modern language department of Ursinus College, composed an air to fill the long-felt want of an original national tune, as that now sung to "America" is borrowed from the British "God Save Our King."

ACADEMY

On Friday evening the basket-ball team took an easy victory from Lewisburg by a score of 50 to 2.

On Tuesday evening the Y. M. C. A. was addressed bytheRev. Seebach of the Lutheran church and by Brown, '09, of the college. Both addresses were interesting and instructive.

With a badly crippled team, the Academy met the strong Millersville toam in the gymnasium on Saturday afternoon and held them down to a score of 34-30. With the team in perfect condition other results could have been anticipated. The schedule for the week is: Feb. 12, Middletown H. S., at Middletown; Feb. 13, Millersville Normal at Millersville; Feb. 13, evening, Lancaster H. S., at Lancaster.

Chemists Discuss Cement.

The subject discussed Feb. 4, was Cement.

The history of cement was described by Derr. It was used in the construction of the pyramids, it has also been taken from the ruins of ancient Greece and Rome. No proof can be found that it was used during the "dark Ages." Today the best cement is the Portland cement, so called, because it resembles Portland stone. It was first made in 1824 .

The manufacture of cement was described by Snyder. It is manufactured from clay and limestone. The clay must be rich in silica and the lime heated to drive off the carbon dioxide. One kind of cement is made from artificial materials such as the lava from volcanoes and the slag from blast furnaces. Most of the cement at the present time is made from cement stone. This stone contains right proportion of lime and silica and no clay is required.

Keyser told about the testing of cement. It must come up to certain standard which depends on its weight, strength, hardness, and the time required for it to set.

The uses of cement were given by Tranger. It has been used for some time in building the walls of houses, either in hollow blocks or solid concerete construction. When the walls are made solid steel rods or wire are used to strengthen it, when it is known as reinforced concrete.

There has been much experimenting in making telephone poles out of cement and they have recently succeeded in making a satisfactory pole. Another use is the making of piles for the building of piers; railroad ties are also made of cement. One of the most recent use is the building of dams and mine shafts of concrete.

CARNEGIE TECH. LOSES IN A WALKOVER

VISITORS PLAY FAST BALL.

In a Game Replete With Brilliant Plays Bucknell Adds Another Victory to the List—Score 42-23.

In a goal throwing carnival on the home floor Friday night, Bucknell easily won from the fast Carnegie Tech. five, by a score of 42-23. The game, which started off well, was a bit too onesided to be exciting and after the close of the first half, it wound up in an attemp on the part of the Bucknell players to see how many goals they could pile into the baskets.

The Smoky City players showed good form early in the first period. They were fast in team work and in passing but were weak in finding the baskets and as a result lost several good chances at goals. Their two little forwards, Brown and Harrison, were unusually clever. The Bucknell guards played them so close, however, that they were unable to do an effective shooting and scored only two goals and one goal respectively. Casey, their big guard, injured his nose in a mix-up in the second half and was compelled to retire from the game. He was replaced by Williams.

Although a trifle slow in getting into action, once started the Bucknell players scarcely once relaxed their pace until far ahead of their opponents. A tendency to try long shots too often kept down the score even lower than it might have been. A few of these long throws dropped through the net for goals but many more missed or fell short. The playing was far more effective when the men stuck to team work and passed to the man nearest the basket. O'Brien and Kurtz worked out well under the baskets and dropped in the majority of the goals for Bucknell. The local captain showed improvement in the free throwing of goals from fouls and tallied six points out of nine chances.

A few sensational plays made up for what the game lacked in close playing. In the first half when the teams were running close, Shoop took the players off their feet by twisting the ball into the basket on a one-handed shot from the center of the floor. Soon afterwards Dolan, the tall, lithe center of the Smoky City aggregation, found himself free in the middle of the floor and taking a chance shot dropped the ball in for a goal on the longest throw of the game. One of the really unique plays was reserved for the second half, however, when Kurtz, the sure-shot of the local five, tried foot-ball tactics successfully for a goal. The Bucknell forward was dribbling the ball down the floor when one of the "Tech." guards rushen in to stop him. Just as his opponent reached him Kurtz ducked under him on a "center rush dive," came up free under the basket and dropped the ball in on a back-board shot.

The young women will give declamations while the men are expected to present orations. The contest will take place in April.

College Bible Class.

Dr. Woelfkin addressed the College Bible class on Sunday morning on the topic "Callings in Life." The outline of his talk was as follows: There are some men who, on account of circumstances have little or no choice concering their life calling. They are bound by their environment. Others keep watch for every opportunity, they look for switches which will lead them to higher things. Still others go further and make opportunities and these are the ones whose success is the greatest.

When the choice of a life calling is made, when the opportunity to succeed is grasped, that life calling and that opportunity should not become ends in themselves but means to an end. The business man can make his business a blessing to humanity, the lawyer can work in order that his clients may receive justice, the medical men may and do sacrifice in order that their patients be relieved, the minister must become the servant of the people to gain their confidnce, all must seek as the end of their work the good that they can do.

In closing, Dr. Woelfkin advised that every man should have a side hobby which is to act as a balance and as a protection against one-sidedness.

Four Musical Artists

The third concert of the Y. M. C. A. lecture course took place on Wednesday night in the Methodist church before a large audience. The performers were Miss Smith, contralto, Mr. Carr, basso, Mr. Pfouts, violinist, and Mr. Shonert, pianist. The program consisted of the most classic music including compositions by Liszt, Bellini, Pressel, Mendelssohn, Schubert and Donizetti. The first and last numbers were especially pleasing. In both, all the performers appeared upon the platform. In the first they gave "Puritani." Miss Smith taking the part of "Elvira" and Mr. Carr assuming the role of "Giorgia." They were accompanied by the piano and violin. In the last number they rendered "Ah, Had I Tears for Weeping," when Miss Smith sang the part of "Irene" and Mr. Carr that of Belisario."

Mrs. Abram Brown read a papr on William E. Gladstoene. Miss Van Gundy had a very interesting address on Abraham Lincoln. This was followed by an exquisite violin solo by Miss Armstrong, Mendelsshon's "Spring Song." Mrs. Phillip's paper was on Alfred Tennyson; Miss Bender's on Oliver Wendell Holmes. Refreshments were served at the close of the exercises, and an enjoyable evening was spent.

DR. WOELFKIN MEETS WITH COLLEGE STUDENTS

NINE ADDRESSES DELIVERED.

Ideals of Christ Presented to Student Body During Week by Great American Preacher.

During the past week the students of Bucknell have been listening daily to addresses delivered by Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin of Rochester Theological Seminary, on topics dealing with the ideals of Christ. The meetings began on Tuesday evening and closed on Sunday afternoon with the "Way of Life" meeting. On every occasion the Hall was well filled and at the Sunday morning service in the Baptist church a very large audience listened to Dr. Woelfkin. The Ministerial Association, the Y. W. C. A. and the College bible class also enjoyed talks by the professor. His services were secured by the Y. M. C. A. officials and his expenses were paid by subscription. He was entertained at dinner by several of the eating clubs, and also at the Seminary.

Tuesday.

On Tuesday evening, Dr. Woelfkin began his series of meetings by an address on "Christ's Ideal of Liberty." He spoke in part as follows; "Christ's ideal of liberty can be seen in the fulfillment of his mission. He was anointed to preach to the poor, that is to the ones who were limited in body, mind and spirit, by circumstances. He came to free them by making them transcendant and by liberating their potentialities. Again, He came to preach to the captives, who were held in bondage by evil habits and by the tyrannizing powers of the world. He broke their bonds by his teachings and principles. Again, it was His mission to recover the sight of the blind. More than once did He heal those who were physically blind, but infinitely more often did He open the eyes of those who were groping in spiritual darkness and who knew not the way of truth and light. And, lastly, He came to proclaim liberty to them that were bruised, by suffering and sadness. His whole history is replete with incidents when He healed the broken-hearted. Christ was and is man's great liberator from all the shackles of sin and the world."

Wednesday.

On Wednesday night Dr. Woelfkin continued with an address on "Christ's ideal of the law of religious verification." He said, "Religious verification is necessary for all religious life. It is essential to test all things and to hold fast to that which is good. Christ does not ask us to accept Christianity without testing it, if we do so with a mind unprejudiced. Just as in science the searchers after truth prove all things before they believe them, so are all privileged to do with regard to religion. Religion however, has a right to say what faculty must be addressed, in the test and demands that the experiments be sincerely made. Christ gives to us in His life and teachings the concrete way of making the test. He proved the value of Christianity by doing the will of God and the only way any one else can verify religion is by the same method. A positive verification based on faith is necessary, and the test must be made by every man before he can either honestly accept religion or become an agnostic."

Thursday.

Dr. Woelfkin devoted Thursday evening to the topic, "Christ's Ideal of the true place of emphasis in life." "There are," said he, "four possible places upon which Christ could have laid the greatest stress of his life. He could have made His present life an easy and comfortable thing, he could have acted a theatrical part or he could have compromised with either to gain the world. But he chose rather to look up and to learn the will of God and in so doing he put special emphasis upon His spiritual life. Many a man has destroyed his greatest possibility by putting the emphasis on the wrong place, he has sold out for a pittance. The world can offer only wealth, fame and power and surely none can afford to sell out for any one or all three of these. It is true that the physical, mental and moral life need development but none of these should blind a man so that he cannot see that the great emphasis of life should be placed upon his spiritual being."

Friday.

The subject for Friday evening was "Christ's Ideal of recovery in life as seen in forgiveness of sin." "An erroneous idea has been prevalent that it is easy to forgive sin, but not so. Try a sin before the court of nature and what is the verdict? The answer comes that it is hard to forgive. Try a sin before the court of society and even though tarnished itself it gives back the same answer. The court of experience does not revoke the decision and the court of personal conscience answers even more emphatically than the others that sin is hard to forgive. If all these courts return the same answer surely the court of heaven, the judgement seat of God, will not revoke the decisions. Sin by its very nature is hard to forgive and each time it is indulged in it makes a man weaker, it destroys his highest possibility. The only recourse for salvation is the Cross of Christ and that Cross does not mean the suffering of a few hours but an anguish that shall exist as long as mankind continues to sin. To recover, one must reject his sinful life, he must look to the Cross, he must seek an attitude between himself and God that will cause him to try to do His will."

Sunday Morning.

On Sunday morning Dr. Woelfkin spoke in the Baptist church before a large audience. He continued his series of addresses by speaking upon "Christ's ideal of service." He said, "Christ gives the ideal of service in the principle 'It is more blessed to give than to receive'a nd by the statement He made in connection with His actions. 'I am in your midst as he that serveth. The motive of every action is either pride or humility. Christ became the great teacher, leader and saviour because he humbled himself even to the washing of his disciples. By the results of His life, it is evident that it is humility that is the path to the soul, it is humility that enables us to meet our fellow men on their own grounds, it is humility that is the ultimate law of authority. Christ did all He did because He was willing to become the servant of all and only can we develop ourselves, do good to others and honor God by humbling ourselves and becoming the servants of mankind."

Sunday Afternoon.

The week of meetings closed at the "Way of Life meeting held in Bucknell Hall on Sunday afternoon At that time, Dr. Woelfkin gave his final talk on the Ideals of Christ when he spoke on "Christ's ideal of heroism." "Christ's ideal of heroism is found in his mission on the earth. He came to bring men as sons into glory and to cleanse them from sin. In order to accomplish this he had to do acts which were heoric. He was compelled to face problems relating to things carnal. He was compelled to look beyond the family and nation to things eternal, and at last because of the stand He took. He was tried, persecuted, and crucified. If any man will do the will of God he must take up the cross of Christ and follow him. A man's life is a conflict no matter whether he goes wrong or right and it is foolish for him to be fighting on the wrong side when on the right side he can have a perfect man for a leader. The Christian religion is looking for heroes, heroes who are willing to face the evils of the world and to fight the good fight of faith."

WAYLAND HOYT, LL. D. TO LECTURE THIS WEEK

SUBJECT—"ABRAHAM LINCOLN."

Washington's Birthday Will be Appropriately Observed by Lecture by Hon. Thomas H. Murray.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, the students of Bucknell will have the privelege of celebrating the Centennial Anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln by listening to three lectures on the Martyred President by Wayland Hoyt, LL. D. The exercises were postponed one week on account of the Woelfkin meetings, and hence come a few days after the twelfth of February.

Dr. Hoyt makes it a practice to visit Bucknell every year and to address the students on topics of interest. His addresses at former times have been well attended and thoroughly enjoyed, and the students are anxiously awaiting to hear his presentation of the life of President Lincoln.

The first lecture will take place on Tuesday evening in Bucknell Hall and the other two on Wednesday at hours to be announced at chapel. Dr. Hoyt will base his discussion on the preparation of Abraham Lincoln, his preliminary work in Illinois, and his service in the Civil War.

Washington's birthday, which comes on Monday, the twenty-second, will be observed as a holiday and the usual day's vacation will be given. In the evening the Hon. Thomas Murray, of Clearfield, will address the students in Bucknell Hall. Mr. Murray is widely known as an effective orator and his volume of addresses, recently published in New York has gained him an enviable reputation.

On the evening of March 1st, an illustrated lecture on China is expected from David Porter Leas, A. M. This lecture will be upon the Economic and Financial side of Chinese public life and will open a new field to most people.

Section Banquet of Phi Gamma Delta.

The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity held a section banquet at the Lochiel Hotel, Harrisburg, on Friday night. Thirty-five members of the fraternity were present including representatives from State, Gettysburg, and Bucknell. The dining room in which the banquet was held was tastefully decorated with ferns, potted plants, and purple and white bunting. A palatable menu was served. After the feast, Harry McCormick, ex-'04, Bucknell, acted as toastmaster and called upon a number of those present for responses. Vice President Fairbanks, who was an invited guest, was unable to attend on account of a previous engagement. The active members who represented Bucknell were Fritz, Hunter, and Wilkinson, '09, and Leihou, Howell, Shields, and Shreve, '11. A number of the alumni were present.

Darwin's Centennial Commemorated.

In commemoration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Chas Darwin, the great English naturalist and biologist and "Father of Evolution," the Zoology class of the University appropriately celebrated this event last week. During the entire week Prof Davis discussed in his lectures to the class, the different phases of Organic Evolution including variation and selection, and on Friday, the 12th, which marked Darwin's centennial, he paid a loving tribute to the author of "The Origin of Species by means of Natural Selection," treating of his early life, preparation, travels, and discoveries for the scientific world.

DR. WOELFKIN.

During the past several days, the students of Bucknell have had the privelege of listening to one of the greatest pulpit speakers of America, and most of them availed themselves of every opportunity offered to hear Dr. Woelfkin speak. It is perhaps true that no man who has ever come to Bucknell in the capacity of a preacher, has been more able to hold the attention of the students nor has better presented the Christian religion than has Dr. Woelfkin. Every address seemed to hit the mark and to leave an impression that will not vanish with his departure nor even with his memory. Every student was appealed to in the spot most most tender to him. The feelings of no one were hurt, the ideas of no one were attacked. The ideals of Christ were presented in a clear, reasonable manner, and no one was forced to a decision.

The students of Bucknell appreciate the services which Dr. Woelfkin has rendered during his stay at the college and also the efforts of the officials of the Y. M. C. A., who made possible the meetings.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abrhaam Lincoln will be appropriately celebrated this week. Dr. Wayland Hoyt, of Philadelphia, will address the student body on the Life of Abraham Lincoln. Dr. Hoyt needs no introduction. He has pleased audiences in Bucknell Hall on numerous occasions with his power of thought and speech and his ready wit. He comes this time with a subject that will in a particular manner appeal to the students. Not only will he present an historical sketch of the life of Martyred President but he will draw lessons from that life that will be well worth the attention and thought of the students.

THE LEHIGH INCIDENT.

The unfortunate incident that happened at Lehigh in connection with the basket-ball game played there has very happily blown over without any friction on part of the colleges. The occurrence did not amount to very much itself. No harm was intended and because both colleges looked at the matter in the right light, the athletic relations between Lehigh and Bucknell are as mutual as ever. In a recent issue of the Brown and White, the editor complimented Bucknell on her plan of selecting referees for intercollegiate games and lamented the fact that Lehigh has not been using that method herself. Misunderstandings must necessarily arise at times in intercollegiate athletics, but if they are viewed in a reasonable light, they will pass away as quickly as they appear.

SENIORS.

In about two months the Seniors will have entered upon the last term of instruction at Bucknell. At the end of that term friendships which have been formed during the last four years, will, to a greater or less extent be given up, and that fact is not admitted without an inward feeling that somewhat corresponds to the emotion of the student who leaves home for his first term at a boarding school.

It is fitting then, that a Senior's last days should be made his best, that he should leave college with nothing but the most pleasant reminiscences of his Alma Mater. These favorable conditions are brought about in numerous ways. At Princeton, the Seniors assemble every pleasant spring evening on the steps of one of the buildings, and, for an hour, sing Princeton songs. Some colleges celebrate Senior week, when each day is set apart for a special feature.

During the last few years the Senior classes of Bucknell have been endeavoring to carry out these practices and have succeeded. We would like to see the Seniors of 1909 go still further. A committee could be appointed which could work up some original ideas and endeavor to have them carried out. There are numerous ways of bringing the members of the class together, and of causing them to enjoy the last days of their college career in a particular way, and we believe that if such a committee should be appointed it would be supported by every member of the class.

Miss Ruby Sawyer, of Rutherford, N. J., is visiting Naia Webb, '09.

Dr. Woelfkin and Prof. Edwards were the guests of the Senior table, on Saturday evening.

The Y. W. C. A. leader for this week was Ruby Pierson, '10, the topic, "Junior Meeting."

Josephine Hankins, '09, who was called home by the serious illness of her father, returned to school on Saturday. Her father is now out of danger.

Address to Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Woelfkin's address to the Y. W. C. A. girls on Saturday evening was in the nature of an evening meditation. His subject was "Keeping the Tryst of the Threshhold," his text, "The Lord bless thy goings out and thy comings in, from henceforward and forevermore.' The gist of his talk was as follows: It is a good thing to form the habit of keeping the tryst of the threshold, to pray to God when we go out in the morning, and when we come in at night. We lose most in life by surprises, and this will fortify us against them. We must not however, ask God to bless a day that is to be filled with pride, or vanity, or falsehood, but one that is to be lived to His glory. We must live, not in past memory, or in future anticipation, but in the day, and the day alone.

Holman Hunk's painting "Christ, the Light of the World," represents Jesus, lantern in hand, knocking at a door. He showed it to a friend who said, "Hunt, it's perfect in everything except this, you door has no latch," "No, replied Hunt," That was done purposely. The door of the heart can be opened only from within. Let us open our hearts to Jesus, and keep the tryst of the threshold. Some evening, we will come along the road for the last time, enter the house for the last time, greet our beloved ones for the last time, go through the familiar round of duties for the last time, then may God keep the tryst of the threshold with us in our eternal home.

ACADEMY

On Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the Y. M. C. A. President, C. H. Boyer; Vice-President, D. G. Morse; Secretary, F. H. Fahringer; Treasurer, T. S. Owen. President Boyer was also elected to attend the convention to be held in Pottsville.

For some reason the team met a hard luck streak on their trip to Middletown, for when they arrived there they lost to Middletown High by a score of 36 to 6. When they reached Millersville Normal, they were entirely played out and they lost to that worthy school by the score of 57 to 9. There is no schedule for the coming week.

Dr. Woelfkin Addresses Ministerials.

On Friday afternoon at 4.20 P. M. Dr. Woelfkin addressed the ministerials, speaking on several matters that related to the minister and his work. Dr. Woelfkin said, "The ministry is the vocation that gives the largest mental outlook, it is the vocation that brings one in touch with the lives of men at the most vital point. It is the vocation of the greatest compensation. A minister does not become rich, he does not even receive a salary that will compare with the incomes of men of other professions but he secures friends and with friends all that is essential for life and its comforts.

"There is a seeming antagonism between religion and science which must be overcome and there is a readjustment that is necessary to make the work successful. Truth must be accepted and preached and proof must be based on experience. Hypocrisy will lend trouble to the work but the minister who feels that no man is beyond his help can overcome any difficulty in the handling of mankind. He must have his mind foremostly upon men and his sermons must be a means to an end and not simply an ornation of polished rhetoric.

LINCOLN ANNIVERSARY FITTINGLY CELEBRATED

DR. HOYT ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Preparation of Martyred President, Preliminary Work, and Service in the Civil War Subject of Discussion.

On Tuesday evening at 8.00 P. M., and again on Wednesday at 11.15 A. M. and 2.00 P. M., the students of Bucknell celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln by listening to Dr. Wayland Hoyt, LL. D., of Philadelphia. Dr. Hoyt gave three lectures in Bucknell Hall, discussing the early preparation of the Martyred President, his preliminary work, and his service in the Civil War and concluded by drawing lessons that naturally arose in connection with what he said on the life of Lincoln.

Dr. Hoyt said in part, "I intend to present to you those phases of Lincoln's life which meant most to him and which mean most to us. Let me first tell you of his early training as is narrated by his intimate friends. Lincoln's parents were poor, plain living mountain whites who lived a simple life. They were landowners but not slave owners. Tom Lincoln, Abe's father, was a shiftless man who had all he could do to support his family, but Nancy Lincoln, the mother of the president, was a hard worker and possessed those qualities which fortunately inspired her son. To her Lincoln said he owed all that he was or might become. Limited by poverty, the young boy grew, educating himself with the few books he could obtain, and being educated by all with whom he came in contact. He learned from his youth to think clearly and to bound every thought on all sides.

"His first undertaking was that of store keeping but in that he failed. He cared more for books, and eagerly devoured Blackstone, when by chance, he fell upon a whole edition. He later became surveyor, speaker, vote-getter and lawyer and in all he showed integrity and strength of character.

"Lincoln's specialization which equipped him for service consisted of two things, first, his practice as a lawyer and second, his debate with Douglas. In the former, under the guidance of Judge Logan, his partner, he became a close student and it said of him that in his profession he was honest and upright, a peace maker and practicer of morals as well as of law, and that he never accepted a case which he believed was wholly in the wrong. It is estimated that between the years of 1849 and 1854 he conducted a greater variety of cases than did any other lawyer pleading before the Illinois courts.

"His debate with Douglas cleared many problems in his own mind and caused the utterance of several statements that later were instrumental in putting him at the helm of the nation. It was true that he was defeated for the Senatorship, but had he won, he would have lost the presidency.

"When Lincoln took the oath as president of the United Sates he confronted a chaotic state of affairs. The time required clear, concise speech and Lincoln, as his letters, proverbs, and extracts from his addresses evince, was equal to the occasion.

"Combined with his mental power was his physcial strength, his iron nerves and his giant body, upon which he had to rely when the nervous strain of difficult decisions kept him awake for many hours at a time.

"Again the time required a wise management of events. Lincoln showed his master mind when he kept the Northern cannon hushed until the South had fired the first shot.

"It was because of Lincoln's humble birth, because of his humanity, because of his self-sacrifice, because of his deep religious nature, because of his determination to maintain the right, that he became the savior of the Union and that his name will be reverned as long as the country lives."

Dr. Hoyt concluded by showing the guiding hand of God in the great crisis of the nation and the far-reaching power of humility as expressed by Lincoln's life when he became the servant of all.

Philadelphia Alumnae Meet.

Fifty members of the Bucknell Club met last Tuesday at No. 1604 North Broad street Philadelphia, for the purpose of exchanging reiamiscences, discussing some important topics and incidentally lunching. Eight tables filled with women who have graduated from Bucknell from 30 years ago up to the year 1908 made a great showing for the old college. Following the luncheon a number of brief but interesting addresses were made by members of the alumnae, of which a little sketch of Chinese life by Mrs. Charles Newbold Thorpe described in detail two dinners in one of the large cities of the empire which were unsurpassed by anything the Western world has to offer.

Interesting and entertaining were the incidents in "The Life of an Editor," as brought out by Miss B. A. Bane, who is an assistant editor for the Baptist Publication Society. Other subjects discussed were "Women in the Medical Profession," by Dr. Mary Wolfe; "Daughters of the American Revolution," Mrs. A. Mulford; "The Life of a Pastor's Wife," Mrs. C. A. Walker; "Life of a Teacher," Miss Goodman; "Young Women's Christian Association," Mrs. Henry Green; "Missions," Mrs. C. H. Bages and "Foreign Travel," by Mrs. W. B. Clement.

Among the guests were Mrs. M. P. Tustin, Mrs. Dewey A. Cobb, Miss E. B. S. Payne, Mrs. Daniel Sutter, Mrs. J. B. Willett and Mrs. E. D. Fairles. Mrs. I. Harrison O'Harra acted as chairman. The meeting closed with the singing of "America."

Phi Kappa Psi Founders' Day.

On account of the death of Brother W. C. Gretzinger, the celebration of Founders' Day by Phi Kappa Psi was turned into a memorial service last Friday night, in Milton. President D. Hallstead, of the national fraternity, was present and delivered a eulogy on Mr. Gretzinger. Others who spoke were Prof. Frizzell, of State College and Dr. Eveland, of Dickinson Seminary. More than forty were in attendance.

Lecture This Evening.

Tonight in Bucknell Hall, at 8.00 o'clock, Hon. Thomas Murray, the noted author and speaker will give an address. The student-body and the public are invited to attend. There will be no admission fee.

WILLIAM C. GRETZINGER SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS

BUCKNELL LOSES REGISTRAR.

Alumnus and Official of the University Yields to Bright's Disease in Prime of Life. Funeral on Sunday.

The death of Captain William C. Gretzinger, Registrar of Bucknell University and one of the most prominent and best known men of this section, occurred at his home on Sixth street Thursday afternoon at 1.45 o'clock, the culmination of an attack of Bright's disease accompanied with other ailments.

A month or more ago Mr. Gretzinger was seized with a severe cold, and he was compelled to remain at his home for some days until he partially recovered. He was able to come down town for a day or so, but it was only a short time until he suffered a relapse, and his condition assumed a serious phase. For several years he had been affected with a kidney ailment, and the ravages of the cold left him in such a weakened condition that his old trouble was aggravated and left him an easy prey to more serious complications. For the past week he had been growing gradually weaker, and his friends began to realize that the final end was not far off, but hoped that a favorable change might occur that would restore him to his former state of health. Thursday morning he became unconscious, and his death was quiet and peaceful.

WILLIAM C. GRETZINGER, A. M.

Mr. Gretzinger was born August 23, 1866, in Reading, being the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gretzinger. His early education was received at the public schools of Reading, and later he took a course in the Reading Business College. He then entered Carroll Institute, Reading, a preparatory school for college, and received a gold medal for deportment. He started to read law, and entered Perkiomen Seminary, and from there entered Bucknell University and was graduated from this institution with a high rank in the Latin Scientific course with the class of 1889. Mr. Gretzinger received the Chaplain J. J. Kane prize, a gold watch, for the best graduating oration, and also won the Junior Oratorical prize, whilst in college.

He early evinced buisness ability and enterprise in the active interests of the University. In 1887 he founded "The Commencement News," and was also the prime mover in the founding of "L'Agenda," and became the first business manager of the publication. He was likewise manager of the "Mirror" for two years. He served for a time as editor of the "Lewisburg Chronicle" and was also editor of "The Shield," the official publication of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

In 1889, before his graduation, he was elected Registrar of the University, which position he held with credit to himself and the institution until his death. He made the office what it is today, having systematized the business affairs of the departments of the University under one central office.

His splendid business qualities were not only confined to the college affairs, but in years past he took an active part in the affairs of his town. As a member of the town council he inaugurated several reforms in municipal matters. The Lewisburg Fire department had no more earnest and untiring worker than was Mr. Gretzinger. He aided the boys and did not hesitate to enter into the hardest work when the services of the department were called upon. At the recent burning of the opera house, he stood with the department directing a stream in the efforts to confine the serious conflagration within its limits. Lewisburg lodge, I. O. O. F. No. 96, enrolled him as a member, as he also was of the college fraternity Phi Kappa Psi. He was also a leading member of the Sons of Veterans.

For a number of years he was connected with the National Guards of the State, rising from the ranks of a private to Quartermaster of the Twelfth regiment, with the commission of Captain. His keen executive and business ability was so apparent in the conduct of his office that he was recently paid a compliment by an inspecting officer for the manner in which he handled the regiment.

In 1891 Mr. Gretzinger was married to Miss Mary A. Stoner, of Sunbury, and to this union two children were born, Miss Margaret and William C., who with their mother survive him.

The funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at his late residence on sixth street. Dr. J. T. Judd, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lewisburg, was in charge and was assisted by President J. H. Harris, who spoke and by Professor Thomas Edwards, who offered prayer. The pall bearers who were all intimate friends of the deceased, were, Frank Burpee, C. A. Lindeman, and Joseph M. Wolfe, pro-

On Wednesday night, the Junior Class gave their annual Promenade in the armory. The event is the chief social function of Junior week and is attended by Alumni, undergraduates, and friends of the students. A large number "grads" were back and had intended to take in the basket-ball games which were postponed.

The Armory was tasteful decorated for the occasion. Pennants of Bucknell and other colleges and fraternity banners hung upon the walls and black and red bunting relieved the monotony of the ceiling. Furniture from the fraternity rooms had been placed in the corners and side rooms to afford rest for those who were not dancing. In one corner, an electric display showing the numerals "1910" in black and gold added to the attractiveness of the ballroom.

At nine o'clock, the cabs began to arrive and soon the large hall presented a gay appearance. The grand march was led by Chairman Beemer and from that time until three in the morning there was no cessation in the pleasure of the evening. The music was furnished by Campbell's orchestra, of Sunbury, and the musicians favored the dancers with two-steps, waltzes, and barn dances. A feature of the evening was the moon lance. The lights in the room were turned out except the "1910" electric display, the result prooving very effective.

Refreshments were served at a seasonable hour by the caterer, Mrs. Stanard, of Lewisburg.

The members of the committee who assumed the responsibility of managing the promenade were F. D. Beemer, chairman, J. W. Halliwell, E. S. Hartshorn, J. L. Conover, E. B. Woods, and P. J. Abraham.

The patronesses were Mrs. H. M. McClure, Mrs. W. O. Shaffer, Mrs. Nellie C. Marsh, Mrs. T. C. Thornton, Mrs. R. F. Halfpenny, Mrs. Wm. Leiser, Mrs. P. B. Linn, Mrs. W. L. Gerhart, Mrs. Wm. Forster.

1911 L'Agenda Board.

The literary board of 1911 L'Agenda will organize on Friday afternoon of this week when the newly appointed members of the board will meet at four o'clock in the Chemical Laboratory. All appointments have been made by the editor with the exception of the artists, who will be chosen later. These, with those already elected, will complete the literary board, which will consist of the following: Editor-in-chief, J. G. Sholl, Jr.; assistant editors, C. H. Heacock and Miss Katherine Bronson; literary staff, Miss Gretchen A. Radack; Miss Evelyn H. McCaskie, Miss Sara E. Meyer, Miss Helen W. Cure, Miss Ruth S. Safford, Miss Elizabeth S. Kates, F. C. Bower, F. McAllister, P. B. McAnulty, Leroy Macfarland, F. C. McNair, C. K. Pugh, W. D. Rhoads, N. W. Rosenberg, J. O. Roser, L. C. Shreve, Jesse K. Spurgeon, J. W. Traquer, and J. A. Tyson.

Junior Week Functions Postponed.

On account of the death of Wm. C. Gretzinger, the functions scheduled for the latter part of Junior week were postponed. The annual Alumni game, which was to have been played on Thursday night has been called off for the present and the State game, which was advertised for Saturday night, will be played later if arrangements can be made. The Pan Hellenic dance, which was to be held after the State game, has been postponed indefinitely.

WILLIAM C. GRETZINGER.

A cloud was cast over the entire University on Friday when it was learned that William C. Gretzinger, Registrar of Bucknell University had succumbed to his illness. Few of the students knew of Mr. Gretzinger's condition. It was known that he was not in the best of health but upon his own request no mention of any serious illness was made and his true condition was only known shortly before his death.

Perhaps no greater calamity could have fallen upon the college, for there was no one more interested in its welfare, no one who was more willing to assist the students, no one who was loved more or respected than was Mr. Gretzinger.

He was thoroughly concerned and closely connected with all the college activities. Athletics, literary work, and social functions all received his attention and approval. He was largely instrumental in the reviving of the college band and not only secured new instruments for it but contributed toward that end himself. He knew the individual students better than any one else did and was always willing to lend them council and aid.

His many duties of college, town and state deprived him of his necessary moments for leisure and recreation. He had no regard for self when there was anything to be done and practically sacrificed his strength and his life for those activities with which he was connected.

While the college has been called upon to surrender Mr. Gretzinger as its registrar and colleague in every activity, yet never will it yield to oblivion his name and his works. He has found an abiding place in the heart of every Bucknell student and he will be remembered as long as the college walls stand, as one who served and sacrificed for his Alma Mater.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The Memorial Services, which are to be held on Tuesday afternoon will give the Bucknell student-body one last opportunity of paying reverent respect to the deceased Registrar of the University. Dr. Enoch Perrine, who will speak at the service has long been acquainted with Mr. Gretzinger, knowing him as a student and official of the University, and through this acquaintance will well be able to eulogize those sterling qualities which made Mr. Gretzinger respected and beloved by all who knew him.

WILLIAM C. GRETZINGER SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS.

fessors of the University, Stanton R. Smith, '09, a fraternity brother, Samuel Wolfe, M. H. Taggart, and W. W. Fetzer, fellow-members of the National Guard, and John Bucher. Interment was made in the Lewisburg cemetery.

Many beautiful floral tributes, the gifts of classes, fraternities, organizations, to which Mr. Gretzinger belonged, and the faculty, were borne to the cemetery by alumni and students, and placed upon his grave.

Among those who attended the funeral were H. S. Hopper, President of the Board of Trustees, D. P. Leas, Treasurer of the Board, Senator E. L. Tustin and Judge H. M. McClure, members of the Board, the college faculty and the following officers of the National Guard, Colonel Chas. M. Clement, Sunbury; Captain M. H. Taggart, Northumberland; Captain W. W. Fetzer, Sunbury; Lieutenant George W. Deppen, Sunbury; Captain W. H. Straub, Milton; Lieutenant A. J. Hester, Milton; Major Charles P. Hester, Milton; Major Charles P. Gerhart Danville; Lieutenant and Asst. Surgeon Cameron Shultz, Danville; Major B. F. Updegraph, Williamsport; Captain and Commissary, Clarence Foresman, Williamsport; Lieut. and Asst. Surgeon Robert D. Trainer, Williamsport; Colonel W. F. Richardson, Governor's Staff and Keeper State Arsenal, Harrisburg; Colonel W. F. Barber, Lewisburg; Major Wm. R. Follmer, Lewisburg; Captain T. H. Morrow, Lewisburg; Lieutenant S. B. Wolfe, Lewisburg; Lieut. James L. Groff, Lewisburg.

Contributed.

Mr. Gretzinger's entire life as a man has been spent in connection with the University. His relation to its work was most intimate,—meeting and doing business, as he did, with professors, students, parents, guardians, friends. Few, if any, were so closely allied to all its varied interests. In these multifarious duties he displayed a business integrity, foresight, and tact that were far beyond the ordinary with one so young in years, and as the days sped on he became especially efficient since no present attainment satisfied him. His main object was to look after the commercial affairs of the institution, and this brought him face to face with many problems to be solved and many different people to satisfy. That he discharged the task in such a way as to win the confidence of his superiors in administration and the respect of those with whom he dealt is beyond question. In the difficult matter of discipline he often managed the affair so that order was maintained and good feeling prevailed. A staunch friend to his own college fraternity, he meted out justice to all, and to do any kind of business with him was to see that he was trying to do what was right, and would stand the test both today and tomorrow.

He had a great part in the educational as well as the financial affairs of the institution. He knew well the courses offered and could and did conduct applicants to their proper places. The young aspirant for academic honors who still halted in opinion was shown by him the path of true decision, and the timid Freshman no less than the confident Senior found him an untiring helper. He was no mere money-getter and money-dispenser, he was deeply anxious about that thing for which the institution was founded and stands,—the mental and moral development of those who come under its influence.

In civic life he was enthusiastic. The church, the Sons of Veterans, the Fire Company, the Military, all received a full share of his attention; and in whatever he did as a member of these organizations he had a view to maintain order, multiply comfort, and uplift society. It was an inspiration to see his joyous face while with others he carried forward the purposes of these beneficent institutions.

Gretzinger Memorial Services.

SWARTHMORE WINS BY FOUR POINTS

FAST GAME WITH QUAKERS.

'Varsity Wins From Dickinson In Slow Game. Shoop Is Disqualified for Season.

Bucknell split even on the two basket- ball games played last week, losing the first contest on Monday night to the fast Swarthmore team by a score of 20-16, and winning the second on Friday night from Dickinson by a score of 28-19. Both games were played at the Tustin Gymnasium.

The Swarthmore Game.

Failure to make free throws from fouls count cost Bucknell a victory in a fast and furious game with Swarthmore on the home floor on the night of Washington's Birthday. Out of twelve chances for free throws Bucknell scored only two points. The final score was 20-16.

The playing had a dash and vim to it which made the contest one of the fastest and most hardly fought of the season. Both teams were on their mettle and while Swarthmore had much the advantage in the team work, its forwards were slow in finding the baskets. Bucknell had the same difficulty however, and so speedy were the visiting guards that Kurtz and Shoop were unable to work off any of their usually brilliant plays under the basket.

Frequent fouling by both sides during the first half kept down the total of field goals. Captain O'Brien tallied the first point for Bucknell on a foul throw but after that went to pieces on his shooting from the foul line and failed to tally another basket during the entire game. Later Shoop took a try and succeeded in adding another point to the score but out of the full dozen chances the home team was able to make only two tallies. Swarthmore was little better in its foul throwing but, however, scored two more than Bucknell.

The first half was well advanced before either side scored a goal from the field. Kurtz basketed the first ball for the home team and followed it soon afterwards with another. Captain O'Brien added two more goals during the remainder of the half which ended with the score tie at 9-9. Swarthmore took a spurt in the second half. A final rally pulled Bucknell within striking distance of their opponents but the effort came too late. Craig and McNinch each secured pretty goals on long shots from near the center of the floor. O'Brien played the star game for Bucknell, while Gillchrist excelled for Swarthmore.

The score:—

Swarthmore.		Bucknell.
Griffin	forward	Shoop
Smith	forward	Kurtz
Gillchrist	center	O'Brien
Eberle	guard	Craig
Loughton	guard	McNinch

Goals from field—Gillchrist, 4; O'Brien, 3; Griffin, 2; Kurtz, 2; Smith, Eberle, Craig, McNinch. Goals from fouls—Gillchrist, 3; O'Brien, Shoop, Griffin, 1. Referee—Turner. Time of Halves—20 minutes.

The Dickinson Game.

After the exciting game with Swarthmore the contest with Dickinson on Friday night, was very tame. The game lagged from the very start and with the exception of occasional spurts by either team lacked snap and interest.

Bucknell had no difficulty in defeating the visitors although it looked at one time as if the home team was about to give away a sure victory. Early in the first half a brilliant streak of team work put the Orange and Blue quintet ahead by seven points. After that the guards took the game for a too sure thing, and frequently left the visiting forwards wide open. Quick to take advantage of this, Dickinson piled several goals into the baske in rapid succession and finished the half one point ahead of the home team.

Shoop, who had been declared ineligible for further playing by the Executive Board of the Athletic Committee at a special meeting held Friday afternoon did not appear on the floor. His place at forward was filled by Thatcher, who played a fair game considering the general slumpiness of the whole team. McNinch was retired from the game in the first half and replaced at guard by Reber, while in the second half Craig was put out for roughing it up with one of the Dickinson forwards and McCullough replaced him.

Most of the last half was played with the new combination and although the team work was a trifle ragged the shooting excelled that of Dickinson and the game ended in Bucknell's favor by a score of 28-19.

The score:—

Bucknell		Dickinson.
Kurtz	forward	Boall
		Houseman
Thatcher	forward	Hankee
O'Brien	center	Hoffman
McNinch	guard	Vanhook
Reber
Craig	guard	Garrett
McCullough		Ambrose

Goals, Kurtz 4, O'Brien 3, Reber, Thatcher 3, Craig, Houseman 3, Hankee, Hoffman, Vanhook 2, Ambrose 2. Fouls, O'Brien 4, Hoffman. Timers, Hoskins, Bucknell; Murray, Dickinson. Umpire, Turner.

Hon. Thomas Murray Speaks.

On Wednesday evening, February Twenty-second, the Hon. Thomas Murray of Clearfield addressed the student-body in Bucknell Hall. As a prelude to the lecture, Miss Lutz rendered two vocal solos, accompanied by Henry Africa '09. Professor Perrine then introduced the speaker of the evening, announcing his subject, "Lincoln, The greatest American, and Why."

The lecture was in brief as follows: Lincoln was the greatest citizen America ever produced. He had great wisdom in choosing the time for action, in choosing the best men for his cabinet; in choosing excellent ambassadors, and in choosing able generals. The secret of his greatness lay in his broad sympathy for his fellow-men, in his large faith in humanity, in his ability to express himself in clean, terse, straight-forward language, and in his power to distinguish between the essential and the incidental. The English are a people who hold a high opinion of themselves, and who, although slow in their ideas, are reasonably sure. They were the first to recognize Lincoln's superior command of English. Prof. Perrine added a few remarks concerning Lincoln's love for the common people, and his appeal, also, to the highly educated. The evening closed with a violin solo by Miss Armstrong.

Advisory Board Changes Officers.

At a meeting of the Advisory Board, held on Friday afternoon, the following were elected as officers: Chairman, Prof. Benjamin Griffith, Secretary, Baskins, '10; Finance Committee, Prof. Llewellyn Phillips; Prof. Griffith, and Humm, '09. Prof. Griffith was elected to fill the vacancy left by the resignation as chairman of Prof. Wolfe who duties as registrar demand his attention. Prof. Wolfe has held the office as chairman of the Board since its reorganization and has been of great assistance to the managers of the several teams in helping them arrange schedules and finance the games. His service has been much appreciated by the student-body.

Shoop, the star foothall and basketball player was declared ineligible by the board to represent the college in athletics any more this year on account of being deficient in his studies.

FITTING TRIBUTES PAID TO WM. C. GRETZINGER

MEMORIAL SERVICES IN CHAPEL.

Life and Character of Deceased Registrar Eulogized by Dean Thomas Edwards and Dr. Enoch Perrine.

Memorial services for the late Wm. C. Gretzinger were held in the chapel on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. The Hall was filled with students who laid aside their daily work to pay reverent respect to their departed friend. A quartette from the Baptist choir began the service by singing, "Crossing the Bar" after which Dr. W. E. Martin led in prayer. President Harris called upon Dean Thomas Edwards of the Seminary to give an address and later upon Dr. Enoch Perrine, who was an intimate friend and former teacher of the deceased Registrar. Dean Edwards said:

"During the past week so many appreciative things have been said, so many beautiful sentiments have been expressed, that little room is left for originality or novelty in speech or sentiment. The best we can do is to voice again, as appropriate to this occasion, some of the thoughts interchanged and some of the feelings common to thousands, not only in our immediate community and vicinity, but also in the state at large, and in many places in other states wherever Mr. Gretzinger's friends and acquaintances are found, for his friends were many and widely distributed.

It is fitting that we seek some of the springs and sources of the power, the wide usefulness, the genius for winning and keeping the admiration, love and loyalty of his friends and acquaintances which characterized his life; for existence of such things is not accidental.

"Two ideas found free place in his philosophy of life. Personal worth as an expression of character; honest, efficient, ungrudging service as the expression of the attitude of the man toward life.

"To illustrate the first statement, permit the quotation of one utterance of his made during his last illness. Our honored President Harris had brought him kindly greetings and words of cheer from his friends in Philadelphia, especially from the members of the Board of Trustees of the University, telling him of their earnest solicitude, and their plans to help him regain his health. When I said to him, 'Gretz-boy, it is worth living and working forty years to be so generally and genuinely loved as you are,' he said, while tears streamed down his face and, and sobs choked his utterance, 'Oh, Professor, I wish I was more worthy of it!' That idea of worth was dormant in his mind. It dominated the fashioning forces of his character. He always wanted to give full value in worth for every confidence and trust you placed in him. He wanted to measure up to the highest type of manhood—the genuine Christian character. He wanted to be worthy of his titles as Christian, as gentleman, as officer, as citizen, as son and brother, husband and father. And in the judgement of his friends and co-workers, he wanted and strove to be.

"The second statement finds its illustration in the effort made by Mr. Gretzinger to interpret in daily life that expression of the Christian Philosophy of life, which for all the centuries has stood as the test of all other philosophies. I refer to Christ word contained in the twentieth other philosophies. I refer to Christ's be great among you shall be your servant; and whosoever would be first among you shall be your slave.'

"Mr. Gretzinger's attitude toward all the interests of his life both small and great was that they were worth while—worthy of his best attitude, his interest, his effort. He regarded the worth of this work. Hence it was that he was the most popular registrar and business manager anywhere; and in efficiency the peer of the best in like office anywhere. All the details of the work of his office were important. Hence whatever he did for his Alma Mater received the devotion of a son to a mother. Hence it was that in the National Guard, he was the peer of any of his rank in the service in executive ability and in the comprehenslon of the multiform duties of his office.

"We who have known him for years, in all the conditions of life and service, do not wonder that his fellow-soldiers, men of rank above him as well below him wept unashamed, as they looked upon his face for the last time; that the employees feel that they have lost a friend and brother ,that our honored President found it impossible to speak of the relations broken after twenty years of association, with composure, that the Board of Trustees were unanimous in their praise of his worth as man and officer; that they feel that his loss is irreparable; that we all feel keenly the loss of the ever ready, courteous, sympathetic, generous officer; the loyal, sweet-spirited affable friend who, though he might not tell us so, yet always carried our burdens, whether we wanted him to or not.

"He was in the possibilites of his nature a greater man than the most of us knew.

"He made msitakes, but not the same one many times. Take him altogether; put the man and the officer over against his work and his opportunity, and he always measured up to the demand of the situation.

"A clear head, a clean mind, an untainted generous, open heart with no place for malice in it; grasp of detail, singleness of purpose; the feeling of responsibility which grows out of the just valuation of worth in himself and in his cause or vocation make the hero, every time, and combine eo prophesy the fruitage of greatness when the times comes. He had those qualities of intellect and feeling and will which would have made him a "Captain of Industry." If he had devoted his mind to those pursuits.

"Never was a truer, better, more considerate husband and father; his first and last best thoughts concerned his home.

"In the city of the dead, in his narrow house; in his narrower bed, the tired body rests from toil, asleep. Somehow, for the sake of the emphasis which comes from the contrast of ideas, I am glad to think that he is clad in his uniform. It meant much to him. It represented his best recreation; it represented one of the dearest public interests of his life, he honored, and wore worthily that uniform in life; but the soldier is at rest. The man who was behind the soldier;—the man who was in turn the officer, the citizen, friend, home-guardian is not there. He has been knighted in the presence of the King of that government to which he had sworn highest fealty and which he loved best. No sword figured in that ceremony; no, but a chaplet, a crown, and the kiss of everlasting peace."

Dr. Perrine's Address.

In this chapel, before the President, Professors and Instructors, and in the presence of these students and friends, if I speak at all of Registrar Gretzinger whose untimely departure we so much deplore, the loss of whose service and society we so keenly feel it must be as his teacher and then as his fellow-worker in this University where he spent all his active life and I have passed the greater portion of mine. For the most part one speaks on occasions like this of his elders or of his contemporaries. That would seem and is the natural order; but today that order is reversed, and as with Edmund Burke before his dead son Richard additional drops fall into the cup of bitterness, since he preceeds who should have followed, he who erstwhile was taught now teaches, bearing before his in-

DR. JOHN T. JUDD RESIGNS HIS PASTORATE

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE SUNDAY.

Duties as Pastor of Baptist Church will Close with Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

At the close of the morning service in the Baptist church yesterday, Dr. John T. Judd, to the surprise of the whole congregation announced from the pulpit his intention to dissolve his relation with the First Baptist church as its pastor. Dr. Judd has filled the pulpit of the University church for the past twenty- five years, and would have celebrated his twenty-fifth Anniversary in June.

The pastor has been on the best of terms with his congregation and is highly respected and esteemed by all who know him. At the close of the service, his action was the subject of much comment and many of the members expressed the desire that the pastor reconsider his step.

Dr. Judd stated in his resignation that he believed that the church for some reason or other had not moved forward as rapidly as it should and it was not filling its full mission nor assuming its whole responsibility toward the town or University. He further stated that it was his belief that the only way to revive the work was to make a change in the pastorate.

A meeting of the church will be held in two weeks to consider the action of the pastor. It is not known how the church will act in the matter but the opinion has been expressed that if the resignation is accepted at all it will be done with reluctance and with a feeling of regret.

Dr. Judd is perhaps better known by the Alumni than any other pastor in Lewisburg. Having assumed his duties in the year 1884, he has been thrown into contact with a large number of students who have attended Bucknell since that time and has participated in the Baccalaureate services, which are always held in the Baptist church, since the beginning of his pastorate.

Ben Greet at Sunbury.

The Ben Greet Players, who presented "As You Like It" on the college campus two years ago, will give the "Merchant of Venice" in the Chestnut Street Opera House, Sunbury, on Tuesday evening, March the second. The company has gained an international reputation, having played in many of the large cities of Europe and America and at a large number of the leading colleges. It is expected that many from Lewisburg and Bucknell will attend the Sunbury performance.

A special train will leave for Sunbury on the Reading Roard at 7.20 P. M. and will return after the performance. Tickets for the play and train may be purchased at Baker's Drug Store. The seats are selling at $.75, $1.00, and $1.50.

Y. M. C. A.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held on Thursday evening in the Association Hall. A report of the Y. M. C. A. Convention, held at Pottsville, was given by Hean, '12, who was a delegate. Hertzog, '10 then took charge of the meeting and gave a talk on "Parasites" in which he compared the parasites of the natural world with those of the spiritual world.

Junior Smoker.

On Monday evening, directly after the Swarthmore game, the Juniors gave a smoker in the Armory to the Seniors and Alumni. A large number responded to the invitation of the Juniors and the evening was spent in smoking, conversing and dancing. The Bucknell Band furnished music and responded readily to encores. The event has come to be one of the regular functions of Junior week, having been instituted by the class of 1909.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Some years ago, the Literary Societies of the University played a very important part in the life on the institution. Theta Alpha and Euepia were great rivals and were continually striving to outdo each other. The programs rendered were carefully prepared and an evening with either society meant much to the members, both to those who listened and to those who spoke. That rivalry has long since died down and during the past few years has given evidence of itself only at the inter-society debates. But we fear that we have heard the death knell of even that annual contest as no move has yet been made by either society to choose debaters or to make arrangements for a debate. Rather a deproable condition of affairs it is, especially when there are so many men in the institution who intend to make public speaking a large part of their work. The societies are being looked upon by many as a joke but perhaps the biggest joke in the professional world is the man who cannot give a clear-cut, logical, talk.

We hope that the societies will not give up the idea of a debate and that they will develop material which may well represent Bucknell on intercollegiate debating teams in the future years.

THE COLLEGE BAND.

The last performances of the College Band are well worthy of note. At the basket-ball games and at the Junior Smoker, at which they played, the improvement over former appearances was a subject of many remarks, and gives Bucknell reason to be proud of an organization which has made such a rapid advance in skill and proficiency. The leader, who is an excellent cornist, and the manager are to be congratulated upon the successful results of their efforts. The former has sacrificed a great deal of time in order that the band should have sufficient practice and has on numerous occasions brought players from Sunbury to assist in balancing the parts. It is rumored that the band will be employed by the G. A. R. for the Memorial Day services in May.

FITTING TRIBUTES PAID TO W. C. GRETZINGER.

Concluded from first page

structor a torch into the dark. A son, in the opinion of his father, never becomes of age, and in like manner "once a pupil always a pupil," so the devoted teacher believes. Persuade him otherwise, you cannot; climb that pupil never so high, the teacher will see the very same eyes looking down upon him that gazed upward on a happy day gone by. In every success of this pupil loosed now from tutelage the teacher will have his own part—secretly, it may be, but none the less surely; as from a covert, he watches each year's achivement or failure, disheartened at the latter and exultant over the former. This immortality the teacher is determined to enjoy, though any other be denied him; he will live in the words and deeds of those who have sat at his feet. This is the recompense for the deprivations incident to his carrer.

And because of this relationship of tutor and pupil, broken now for the first time since I made his acquaintance, the Registrar charged with the management of important affairs in both church and state never, to my eye, reached his majority. Whether he was deeply engaged with the accounts at his office, or conducting some University function, or marching at the head of his Company of soldiers, to me he was still the same youth that, by some paradox or other, had reached the positions of responsibility and was discharging his duty with distinction.

And this is the reason why his life led here—all the active part of it as a man—has been especially interesting and pleasant to me. He never forgot the old and enduring relationship, try as I might not to say or do anything that would remind him of it. There was always in his attitude an elusive something that betrayed his remembrance and appreciation of an earlier hour, and was the source whence came a gentleness, a courtesy, a consideration that were uncommon and delightful. Not alone when things went smoothly but likewise when he was in the rough rapids of perplexity, he could and did command himself; and I cannot recall one unneccessarily quick or hard word in all his many and varied dealings with me. Doubtless this was the case in his connection with others—all others; but to me,—oh, it was the teacher taking an honest pride in his pupil, and seeing things hidden from vulgar eyes not enlightened by this intimate companionship.

Thus he has left a legacy better than brick, good as that is, for that is dead unless made alive by the lofty spirit of the donor; better than money, for that may in the changing years be diverted into unexpected and debasing channels; better even than books, be they never so masterful, for they need an interpreter. Books, money, bricks may perish soon and will disappear at last; but the impress of a noble character outlives the stars, it will not degrade and cannot be degraded, and it speaks its own message in its own voice as with arch-angel's trump.

Matthew Arnold is persuaded that greatness and goodness are no myths, either of the past or the present, because he saw them exemplified in his father. These great and good folk are not servants, they are sons of God, they know the Father's innermost mind, and their greatness and goodness are seen in the fact that they do not "make life hideous, arid and vile" but being "heroic, fervent and good" are "helpers and friends of mankind." Such in his own sphere here among us was he whom we sadly and yet confidently dismiss into the great Mystery.

If college bred means four years' loaf,

Tribute to Captain Gretzinger.

Col. Clement, of the Twelfth Regiment, N. G. P., has sent out the following relative to the death of Capt. Gretzinger: "With the deepest regret, the commanding officer, announces to the regiment the death of Capt. William C. Gretzinger, quartermaster of this regiment, which occurred at his residence, at Lewisburg, Thursday, February 18, 1909. A more faithful and efficient soldier, a more loyal and devoted friend it would be impossible to find. His death is a serious loss to the regiment as well as a personal grief to every member of the Field and Staff. Captain Gretzinger enlisted in Company A, Twelfth Infantry, January 16, 1899; was appointed regimental quartermaster sergeant July 2, 1900; first lieutenant and battalion adjutant June 3, 1902; captain and quartermaster June 11, 1903; and reappointed September 13, 1904. In each station he performed his duties with singular fidelity and with the best interest of the regiment ever in mind and without the slightest consideration of self. For the past three years he has also acted as post commissary at the rifle camp at Mt. Gretna, where he won the highest respect and esteem of all the officers and men of the Guard who attend the annual rifle matches."

LEHIGH LOSES BEFORE BUCKNELL

ONE POINT DECIDES GAME.

Captain O'Brien Brings Victory to Orange and Blue By Scoring Ten Goals from Fouls. Score 16-15.

In what was by far the closest and most exciting game of the season on the home floor, Bucknell won from Lehigh on Saturday night and retaliated for the defeat at South Bethlehem a few weeks ago. The playing surpassed that in the fast game with Swarthmore, a little more than a week ago, and the closeness of the score, which ended 16-15, added zest to the contest.

The game was won for Bucknell by the cleverness of Captain O'Brien in throwing free goals from the foul line. O'Brien showed much improvement in his goal throwing which was one of his weak points in the Swarthmore game. In the former game his shooting was very erratic but he steadied down in the Saturday contest and tallied ten points out of thirteen chances. These points scored on fouls exceeded those made on field goals by Bucknell. Only two field goals were thrown by the home team in the first half and one in the second.

The Lehigh players proved no mean opponents. They were exceptionally clever in dodging and dribbling and their excellent passing continually puzzled Bucknell throughout the game. Their one weakness was in shooting. Two lucky throws on distance shots gave them the lead in the first half. Again near the end of the game, one of their forwards knocked the ball into the basket after a miss at a foul throw. This was the only tally made by the visitors in the second half.

The game started off with a rush. For the first few minutes the ball flew up and down the floor first in possession of one side and then the other. Both teams had trouble in finding the baskets and the goals were few and far between. Bucknell scored first on a foul. O'Brien threw the goal and Kurtz dropped in a field goal a moment later.

A sensational one-hand shot by Merkle gave the Brown and White its first score. The ball was thrown from near the center while the Lehigh man was on the run. The score placed the two teams close together. Bucknell led during the early part of the first half but Lehigh made a rally and just finished two points to the good. The half ended with the score, Bucknell 11, Lehigh 13.

Thirteen seemed to be a hoodoo for the visitors. During the second half their shots came dangerously near the basket but it was not until the game was nearly over that they finally succeeded in knocking the ball in for a goal. Bucknell was also scored only one field goal, was more fortunate however in the throwing of goals on fouls.

Lehigh's goal gave them the lead by one point late in the game but O'Brien threw a foul a few minutes later, and tied the score. Excitement was intense as the time for the half to end grew shorter. One minute before time was up O'Brien threw another goal and the Bucknell rooters went wild. The crowd thinking the game was over, rushed out on the floor. The cage was cleared immediately, however, and play resumed. Lehigh tried hard for a tally but Bucknell guarded closely and a moment later the whistle blew, a victory for the Orange and Blue.

The score:—

Bucknell	Position	Lehigh.
Thatcher	forward	Dayette.
Reber
Kurtz	forward	Merkle.
O'Brien	center	Street.
McNinch	guard	Davies.
Craig	guard	Keife.
		Cook.

BUCKNELL DAY AT ORPHEUM.

On Wednesday of this week, the management of the Orpheum will hand over the afternoon matinee and the evening performance to the Bucknellians who will give a show on that day for the purpose of defraying the heavy expenses which have devolved upon them during the last year.

The pictures which will be shown on that day will be of particular interest to the students of the Seminary and College. Beside the regular performance there will be special attractions. Men from the college will furnish music and there will be some comical features introduced.

The day will be known at the Orpheum as "Bucknell Day" and a special invitation is given to every student to be present and enjoy himself and incidentally to boost the treasury of the Bucknellians. The price of admission for the one day will be ten cents.

OTHER GAMES OF WEEK.

The Sophomores went to Sunbury on Thursday night and were defeated in a fast game by the score of 35 to 17.

The Freshmen went to Susquehanna on Saturday and defeated the Y. M. C. A. team there by two points. The final score was 25 to 23.

The first interclass game was played in the gymnasium on Wednesday afternoon when the Freshmen defeated the Juniors by the score of 24 to 18. The contest would have been more appropriate to a gridiron than to a basket-ball floor.

BASEBALL BEGINS APRIL 10TH

TWENTY-ONE GAMES SCHEDULED FOR THE SEASON.

Bucknell opens its baseball season April 10th, with Susquehanna University, on the home grounds. There are three new teams on the schedule this year, the Carlisle Indians, Swarthmore and the Harrisburg Collegians.

Manager Haggerty had arranged twenty-eight games, but was compelled to cut this to twenty-one on account of a ruling by President Harris, which will not allow the team to play more than two games on any one trip.

Although the schedule is not a hard one, it is very well arranged, inasmuch as Cornell is the only one of the big five to be played, and this game will not be pulled off until the team has been in practice a month.

Bucknell takes no southern trip, and has always been compelled to play the teams of the big five early in April, before her team had been selected, and rather than do this it it was thought best to keep them off of the schedule.

The early April games will hardly show the strength of Bucknell, as the team will be made up virtually of new men, of whom very little is known. It is not known when Captain Clarke will make his call for candidates, but it will not likely be before the opening of the next term, the later part of March.

Among the candidates for catchers are Wagner, of Watsontown High; Daggett, of Milton High; Frampton, of Bordentown Military Academy; Schmid, of Northeast Manual, Munk, of Western High, is said to be a fast infielder, and Henderson, of Brookville High, and Harrison, of Pittsburg High, are promising infielders.

Among the outfield candidates are Manning, Captain Clarke, Shoop, Kurtz, Steel, and Clarke, '12, all of whom look good.

The following schedule has been arranged by the manager and shows a new feature in the shape of an Alumni game to be played Commencement Week. August, '07, will endeavor to get Mathewson and Cockill to play on the Alumni team.

April 10, Susquehanna University, at Lewisburg; April 16, Mount St. Mary's, College, at Emmitsburg, Md.,

DAVID PORTER LEAS LECTURES ON CHINA

LANTERN SLIDES EXHIBITED.

Present Condition and Future Outlook of Oriental Country Presented to Large Audience.

David Porter Leas, for twenty-seven years treasurer of Bucknell University, visited the institution on Monday and gave a lecture on China in Bucknell Hall in the evening.

Mr. Leas has made the Oriental country a study, having travelled over it extensiveley and having viewed it with the eye of a financier. During his tour he carried a camera and photographed many of the interesting sights he saw. These pictures he had intended for his own private use but when he saw the result of the negatives he was persuaded to have the views mounted on slides so that he might exhibit them on a larger scale.

The lecturer began by giving his audience, which completely filled Bucknell Hall, a general idea of the country of China. He said, "One of the first things an observant traveler notices when he enters China is that the country has been running in a rut for many hundred years. There is much evidence of the old customs and ideas which have been so instrumental in retarding the progress of China. However, she is not lying dormant. The ideas of the west are being rapidly introduced and assimilated. China is looking toward Europe and America for help and is receiving it. New methods are being introduced, reforms are going on, old superstitions are being torn down, public schools and colleges are beginning to play an important part in the education of the young, in fact the whole country is assuming a new atmosphere and is being endowed with a reinforced life.

"While China has not been a leading manufacturing country, the probabilities are that she will in the near future, take a leading stand with regard to manufactured products. Her lands are the most thickly populated on the globe so that she will not lack laborers, she has an abundance of raw material which has not been touched, and it is intimated that millions of dollars are secluded in hiding places which could be utilized and could greatly increase the income of the country.

"China has good facilities for the carrying on of inland commerce. Numerous waterways connect cities and canals have been constructed. The use of the steam conveyance is growing. Two large railroads are now in operation and capitalists are booming others.

"The power of the press which is always a leading factor in the progress of civilization has been growing and the news papers are doing a great deal in directing the course of events of the country.

"China is waking up. The western world has pried open her gates and given her a new start and if I read the signs of the times correctly, China will become a leading power in the coming years."

After the address, Mr. Leas showed on the screen the many pictures he had taken, and explained them in an informal way. Among the slides were views of the Oriental buildings, the people, the waterways, the idols, and the natural scenery. Professor Davis had charge of the exhibition and used his electrical lantern.

Y. M. C. A. LECTURE COURSE

GOV. JOHNSON SOON TO APPEAR ON LEWISBURG PLATFORM.

For several years the Y. M. C. A. of Bucknell University has been giving to the student body and the citizens of Lewisburg a lecture course consisting of clean and high class entertainments. During the last two years the expense of the course has been increased by two hundred dollars, while the price of the season tickets has remained the same. This was done with the aim of giving the patrons the very best that could be obtained. Last year the management came out with a deficit of thirty dollars. This year there are yet two lectures to come, the cost of which will be two hundred and eighty dollars.

Frank Dixon will appear on the 19th of this month, and another date is being arranged for with Gov. Johnson which will, if possible, be early in April. Both these lecturers are of the highest class on the American platform today.

Y. M. C. A. ELECT OFFICERS.

At the regular meeting of the college Y. M. C. A. the annual election of officers was held. Only one name was nominated for each office and as a result the men named were duly elected when the secretary cast the deciding ballot in their favor.

The following men were elected: President, Pangburn, '10; Vice-president, Velte, '10; Secretary, McNair, '10, and Treasurer, Fetter, '10. These men will assume the responsibility of their office at the beginning of the Spring term. The new president will appoint and announce his committees within a few days.

At the same meeting, Velte, '10, took charge of the devotional exercises and gave an address that was the subject of considerable comment.

ANNUAL RECEPTION OF COLLEGE WOMEN

Seminary Parlors, Handsomely Decorated, the Scene of the Brilliant Social Event.

On Friday evening, the College Women gave their annual reception in the Seminary and received and entertained over two hundred guests. The affair is looked upon as a leading social function of the college year and everything was done by both hosts and guests to carry out this idea.

At eight o'clock, the invited guests began to arrive and were received by the several committees who so distributed themselves that it was impossible for the most bashful Freshman to escape the hand-clasp of at least a dozen who made it a point to give everyone a royal welcome. At the entrance to the parlor stood Professor Edwards, Dean of the Seminary, and his wife and with them the officers of the College Women's Association, who were introduced to the people as they entered.

The halls were decorated in a handsome and novel manner and showed the results of weeks of planning and work. Hanging from the ceiling of the chapel on strings of different lengths were thousands of balls of cotton, which, while they gave a touch of winter, added a pleasing glow to the festivities. The winter effect was carried out still further by the cotton laden pines which were tastefully planted around the room and by snow huts which very fittingly took the place of the usual cosy corners and proved the more attractive. For those whose blood might be chilled by the vivid suggestion of the northlands, a hint of the tropics was provided. In the center of the hall a number of palms grew in a pool of water and in the water two small, live alligators swam about and proved to be a center of attraction. The whole effect of the decorations was conceded to be one of the most pleasing that has been seen at the Seminary for some time.

Refreshments were served in the Seminary dining halls. Eight tables were spread and were lighted with green candles. The first course consisted of oyster paddies and fruit salad and the second of ice-cream, cake and coffee. The faculty and members of the upper classes ate at the first table and the members of the lower classes at the second.

Musicians from Sunbury, who sat within a pine enclosed apartment, furnished music during the whole evening.

At the acenstomed hour of twelve, the guests began their departure and many congratulations were made upon those who had managed the social function and upon those who who had so pleasantly entertained.

The officers and members of the committees are, Officers: Pres. Edith Corlies; Vice-pres., Ethel Watkins; Sec., Bessie Kates. Treas. Margaret Curtis.

Committees:

Invitation: Anna Carey, chairman, Allie Platt, Katherine Carpenter, Florence Clum. Reception: Sara Ray, chairman, Josephine Hankins, Emily Lane, Helen Waite. Refreshments; Helen Cliber, chairman, Ruby Pierson Evelyn McCaskie, Verna Whittaker, Decorations; Gretchen Radack, chairman, Vera Cober, Lillian Turner, Laura Hamill, Grace Cobb, Myrtle Walkinshaw.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

Earle G. Guyer, who is chairman of the Senior Play Committee, has appointed the following who are to make arrangements for the play which is to be given during Commencement week in June. Miss Josephine Hankins, Miss Mable Stout, and Messrs. Hallman, Moore and Fetter.

SATURDAY'S GAME.

The game on Saturday was one of the most hotly contested ever seen on the home floor. On account of the dissatisfaction of the former game with the Brown and White both teams went on the floor with the determination to win and they held the spectators in suspense until the second half ended. We must compliment the visitors upon their team work. It far surpassed that of the Varsity as far as passing was concerned. On the other hand, the wearers of the Orange and Blue and especially the captain earned the victory. The score shows neither team has any reason to boast. But more pleasing than the game itself was the sportsman-like attitude of the visitors. Although several fouls were called upon them, no decisions of the referee were resented except in a perfectly legitimate way. A friendly attitude prevailed through the entire game.

Turner, the referee, was severe on both teams but his decisions were fair and impartial. The athletic committee can congratulate itself that it is able to secure so efficient an outsider to officiate at all games and the student body may well appreciate his services.

A FORTUNATE CONDITION.

There was brought to our notice, not long since, a peculiar state of affairs existing in a certain university, whose name we forbear mentioning. At that institution, the ordinary class prerogatives were reversed. The underclassmen held full sway. They did as they pleased whether their deeds gained the approval of the upperclassmen or not, and no amount of advice on part of the upperclassmen was either heeded or regarded. The condition was what might be called collegiate anarchy. The students of Bucknell are to be congratulated that there exists at their institution no tendency toward such a state of affairs.

Montana Alumni Club.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Montana, held its initial meeting Feb. 23, 1909, at the home of Miss M. E. Chambers, of Great Falls. After the routine business of organization the charter members held their first banquet.

This association now includes members residing in Anaconda, Cascade and Great Falls. It is hoped that all other Bucknell Alumni in Montana will register with the secretary, Walter B. Brinker, '07, City Engineer's office, Great Falls, Montana.

The Glee Club of Franklin and Marshall made a successful tour during the Christmas vacation. Forty-eight men participated in the tour. A cut of the club appears in the College Weekly.

Prof. Hamblin Addresses Ministerials.

At the recent meeting of the Ministerial Association, Prof. Hamblin was present and addressed the students on the methods the minister should employ in overcoming controversies and disagreement. Prof. Hamblin said:

"Charles Reade has written an invaluable little book which appeals to every thinking man. 'Put yourself in his place.' It seems commonplace and unecessary to emphasize the importance of this book. For most of the controversies and disagreements between people are the result of the inability of the human mind to appreciate other people's points of view without considerable effort. And this is true of professional men. The lawyer must cultivate the grace of putting himself in the juror's place if he would understand how to reach his intellect and heart to compel a decision in his favor. The teacher likewise fails who does not teach his subject to a class or audience with the knowledge of their position. He must put himself in their place. But none the less is this true of the minister. If he is to persuade men to accept the higher life which he defends and promulgates, he must understand their situation in life. He must meet them on the same level, man to man.

"Now, perhaps above all other people, the Protestant denominations are antagonistic to those whose faith does not exactly agree with theirs. The Roman church is assailed, from the pulpit as well as from the new. The priests and the Fathers are denounced because their beliefs are not in accord with ours. Before we complain about them why not transplant ourselves to their places? We would not have reason to criticize them if we knew their position. Their lives, as they are seen in Southern Europe, are about as exemplary as the life of the average Protestant in our own country. After all, daily living is the test.

In like manner this idea is true of the Christian in his relation to the non-church member. He must forget his own condition for the time and step down to meet his non-Christian friend on his own level.

And lastly, the minister especially needs to regard the situation of his congregation in financial matters. Should all men give one-tenth to support the Lord's work? Here is a miner. He makes $700.00 a year. He has a wife and three children. He belongs to the church. Wou'd you say he should take one-tenth of $700.00 or $70.00 and give that to the Lord? What do we mean when we say, 'Give to the Lord? Money is tangible, Lord is intangible. One is visible, the other invisible. To give to the Lord means to give to people who represent Him. Well, then, do not those three children represent the Lord? If the miner father gives of his earnings to increase the happiness of his home, he is supporting the Lord's work. Of course we should give as God has prospered us, but because of this obligation, no rules can be laid down for every man. The minister needs to understand the other man's situation.

NUMBER SEVEN FATAL TO VISITORS

TWO SLOW GAMES PLAYED.

Delaware and Gettysburg Score Fourteen Points Apiece, While Bucknell's Lucky Tally is Twenty-eight.

Bucknell turned a double knot in its string of victories last week to mark the end of a fairly successful basket-ball season. The games were played on Thursday and Friday nights with Delaware and Gettysburg respectively, and by a strange coincident Bucknell won both contests by the same scores 28-14. With the exception of the game on Tuesday with the Alumni, and a few class games in which the 'Varsity men will participate individually, the basket-ball season, as far as the schedule with outside teams is concerned, is now closed.

Delaware Game.

Bucknell easily walked away with the Delawarians in a slow game on Thursday night, defeating the visitors without much effort by a score of 28-14.

Neither team was on its mettle and while the Delaware quintet mixed things up a bit with the local five at intervals during the game, those spurts were so few as to make the contest lag for want of fast playing. The contest also appeared much slower in comparison with the lively go with Lehigh during the previous week. Had Bucknell played with anything like the spirit they exhibited against that college the Delaware boys would never have known that they were in the game. As it was the home team simply accented a victory as a matter of course and after the few minutes of play settled back and with the exception of a little fast passing now and then, exerted just enough effort to win by a comfortable margin.

There was a bit of a shake-up in the local line-up, Reber being placed at forward during the early part of the game to substitute for Thatcher. The latter has been slightly crippled during the week by a bad foot, but he got into the game in his regular position in the second half. McNinch being retired and Reber shifted over to guard. This last combination worked much better than that in the first half and while the defense was too frequently left open, the offensive work proved more effective.

The line-up:—

Bucknell. Positions. Delaware.
Kurtz . . . . forward . . . . McGarvey
Reber . . . . . forward . . . . Ruth
O'Brien . . . . . center . . . . Haley
Craig . . . . guard . . . . Marshall
Thatcher . . . guard . . . . Greenwood

Goals from field—Kurtz, 5; O'Brien, 4; Reber, 2; Thatcher, 2; Haley, 2; McGarvey, Ruth Marshall. Goals from fouls—O'Brien, 2; Greenwood, 4. Referee—Turner.

The Gettysburg Game.

Foot ball "stars" comprised the greater part of the Gettysburg basket-ball aggregation which appeared on the home floor Friday night in the closing act of the season. The game was fast at times and the big fellows on the visiting team gave a much better exhibition than a team of the previous night. They were handicapped by their size, however, and the smaller but speedier Bucknell men easily outpointed them both in team work and goal throwing.

The temptation to retaliate for the pirliching by Gettysburg of an almost certain victory on the gridiron here last fall, put Bucknell on its mettle from the very start of the game and the visitors were led a merry chase before the whistle blew for the end of the last half. Both teams were erratic in their shooting. Several times the local forwards got the ball under the basket with no opponents near but failed at easy goals. The Gettysburg forwards faired even worse on easy shots and missed several chances for baskets.

Reber played at guard in place of McNinch for Bucknell and Thatcher was in at forward. The two local forwards tallied five goals each, Brumbough excelled for the visitors.

The score:

Line-up:—

Bucknell Position Gettysburg.
Kurtz . . . . Forward . . . . McCarroll.
Thatcher . . Forward . . Brumbough.
O'Brien . . . . Center . . . . Bream.
Reber . . . . Guard . . . . Snyder.
Craig . . . . Guard . . . . Phillipy.

Goals from the field; Kurtz 5, Thatcher 5, O'Brien 2, Reber, Brumbough 5 Snyder. Goals from fouls; O'Brien 2, Brumbough, Bream. Time of halves, twenty minutes. Referee, Turner.

DISCOVERED A NEW MOTH.

In the February number of the Entomological News is an original description of a species of moth new to science. The moth was found by P. H. Hertzog '10, near Cheltenham, Pa.

The larva of the moth feeds on and infests the branches of the Rhododendron bush. It promises to become a destructive pest on this beautiful shrub. The adult moth in many respects resembles the male peach tree borer but is only one-third as large. The moth has been baptized by the name of Sesia rhododendri.

S. A. E. HOUSE PARTY

LOCAL CHAPTER ENTERTAINS LARGE NUMBER OF GUESTS.

The S. A. E. fraternity gave a house party to a large number of friends during the last week. It was the first social event of this kind ever undertaken at Bucknell and was pronounced a great success. The chapter house, which is the only one at Bucknell, was particularly arranged for the occasion, and was made as home-like as possible for the fifteen young ladies who stayed there.

The guests arrived on Wednesday morning and in the afternoon were entertained at the Orpheum when the Bucknellians had charge of the show. In the evening, the chapter house was the scene of the opening reception after which a card party was given.

In the afternoon of the following day, a theatre party went to Milton and were entertained at at the Family Theatre. In the evening, the guests witnessed the defeat of Delaware at the hands on the Varsity and then returned to the house where they indulged in a marsh mellow roast before the open fire-place.

The S. A. E. ball was the attraction for Friday night and the day was spent in decorating the Armory for the occasion. Gold and purple bunting, the colors of the fraternity, were tastefully hung from the ceiling and walls. A feature of the decoration was a representation of the pin with its emblem and jewels. Two other pins were made up, one containing the dates 1856-1909, and the other the dates 1893-1909.

Over one hundred participated in the dance, including the alumni of the fraternity, guests from Lewisburg, and representatives from the other college fraternities. Grange's orchestra consisting of eight pieces, played waltzes and two-steps from nine o'clock until three. At every fourth dance, the lights of the hall were turned out with the exception of the lights under the three pins and the dance was dubbed the "Sig-Alph." Twenty-four dances were on the program and the orchestra played four extras. Those who were present remarked upon the exquisite decorations and upon the unusual good time, that that the S. A. E. men gave them.

On Saturday afternoon, most of the guests took their leave, after having a four-days taste of college and fraternity life.

The ladies who were entertained at the house were Misses Mabel Harry, Norristown; Elizabeth C. Florin, Johnsburg; Belle Watson, Margaret Schwer, and Florence Lundy, Jersey Shore; Wilhelmina Painter, Margaret

FRILL AND FROWN PRESENT SHAKESPEARE

THE CLUB MAKES BIG HIT.

Professional Acting Exhibited by Women of Bucknell When They Play A Midsummer Night's Dream.

The Frill and Frown, the Women's Dramatic Club of Bucknell University presented in the Institute chapel on Friday night one of Shakespeare's Comedies, A Midsummer Night's Dream and far surpassed in their acting, the expectations of the invited guests.

At eight o'clock the guests had arrived and the program began when Misses Boynton and Detrich played a piano duet, and overture by Mendelssohn. When the curtain arose, the audience was taken to the palace of Theseus in Athens and from that time until Puck, the fairy, bade the guests "Good-night," the actors held their audience up to the highest key of interest.

Most of acting was in a woodland near Athens and it was in this woods, which had been placed upon canvass by Hallman, '09, that the audience saw the fairies entangle lovers and sweethearts in quarrels and contentions, that they were charmed by the dance and song of the wood-nymphs, or were greatly amused by the queer antics of the workmen, who were practicing their play for the Duke of Athens.

The palace scene in the last act presented a gorgeous array of costumes for it was in this scene that the lovers had been disentangled and had found and wooed their sweethearts, and had come together to see the workmen give their most ludicrous play.

The acting of every individual in the caste was the subject of the highest comment on part of those who were present. Some of the parts were unusual, and hard to present but in every instance the player made the audience forget her and see only what she was representing. Several remarked that the production was the finest and best interpreted that they had ever seen given by amteur actors.

The music which was arranged to suit the play added greatly to the effect. Miss Boynton at the piano added touches to the acting which was very noticeable and the singing of the fairies gave variety to the entertainment.

The burden of the training fell upon Miss Schillinger who has been at the head of Dramatic work at Bucknell for some years and a great deal of the success of the play has been due to her management.

About two hundred invited guest were present: The Men's Dramatic Club attended in a body.

The participants were:

ALUMNAE CLUB.

The Bucknell Alumnae Club held its annual monthly meeting in the Institute parlors, on Tuesday evening March ninth. Mrs. Katherine Larrison gave an interesting discussion on the "Language and Literature of the Present." She used the method and brought out her points by means of question and answer. Miss Slifer gave a very good paper on "We and Our Books," elaborating the thought, "Tell me what you have read, and I will tell you what you are." Mrs. Leroy Butler briefly summarized the current events. Florence Clum, '12, rendered a vocal solo, accompanied by Nell Kobbe. Institute. Miss Kobbe also played an instrumental solo.

CLASSES WILL MEET IN DAILY CONTESTS.

The close of this week will mark the end of the basket-ball season. On the whole, the winter game at Bucknell was not a successful as usual. In former years the teams have had clean records but this year a few defeats have marred the schedule. However, only one of those defeats occurerd on the home floor, and that was when the strong Swarthmore team won by 4 points. When it is considered that all the men on this year's team were new except Captain O'Brien, there can be no cause for dissatisfaction over the season's work.

The manager of the basket-ball team has finally arranged a game with the Alumni to be played on Tuesday night the 16th. A great deal of trouble was experienced in arranging the date and it was not known until this morning that the graduate representatives could come. The five will comprise Lenhart, Lose, Cockill, Smith and Johnson, and they promise to give the college five an interesting contest. The game will be the last 'Varsity game of the season.

A full week of class games will end the season and will climaxed by the Sophomore-Freshman contest which will be played on Saturday night at eigth o'clock. All the classes have strong teams and no one team has yet been picked as the champion.

FRANK DIXON ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

Frank Dixon, the popular lecturer, who has gained fame as an orator all through America, will be in Lewisburg on Friday night and will speak in the fourth number of the Y. M. C. A. lecturer course at the M. E. church. No one can afford to miss the lecture, especially those who are interested in public speaking.

Tickets will be on sale at Hefner's drug store and also at the door on the night of the lecture.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY WEDNESDAY.

The regular meeting of the Chemical Society will be held in the Laboratory on Wednesday at four o'clock. The subject for discussion will be "Aluminothermy."

GYMNASIUM EXHIBITION FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY

NOVEL AFFAIR IS PLANNED.

Athletic Contests, Acrobatic Feats, A Comic Show and Music have been Placed Upon the Program.

The Athletic Association has arranged for a novel exhibition and entertainment to be given in the gymnasium on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. An admission fee of twenty-five cents is to be charged, the proceeds to go to the Athletic Fund.

It has been customary to give a gymnasium exhibition every year, but on account of the poor attendance at this affair, there were few participants in the athletic events. Under the new arrangement, the contests will receive an incentive, because of the keener rivalry, which has already been manifest, and on account of the larger crowd which will naturally attend a function of this kind.

Coach Hoskins who has been busy for a week preparing the program, announces that every effort is being made to give as interesting an entertainment as possible. Already he has secured entries for the athletic events. Any student, who so desires, may participate in the contest by handing his name to the coach.

Besides the pole vault, high jump, high dive, and like features, there will be potato races, wrestling matches and boxing bouts which promise to be interesting and exciting.

As a novelty there will be introduced as has been advertised, a circus performance with the necessary clowns and wild animals. The coach is having cages made for the latter in the college shop and promises to present many species exhibited for the first time to the public.

Music will be furnished by the Bucknell Band, who have prepared special selections for the evening and by the Bucknell quartette who have been engaged to sing.

The association is desirous of clearing the debt that rests upon it and requests that the students by attendance and by participation in the program, help initiate the celebration of St. Patricks's day in the manner proposed and also enable the association to liquidate its debt.

Tickets are on sale at Prowant's store. Admission tickets are sold for twenty-five cents and reserved seats for fifteen.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

Dr. Harris spoke of the teaching in the New Testament concering the Sabbath. As an institution it is not much dwelt on in the New Testament but the principle regarding it is stated in Mark 2: 27 that the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath.

There are two tendencies in human nature respecting institutions such as the Sabbath. The first is to magnify the institution and make it an end in itself. The other extreme is to make the institution unnecessary and an evil and the individual everything. Jesus takes the middle ground that while the institution is to minister to man it in itself is good and not an evil nor is it unnecessary. The principle of the Sabbath,—the end in view is to develop manhood and womanhood, not only of self but also of your neighbor and of the community. For complete manhood, one must get away from the toil of the week and develop his spiritual nature. The aim of the Sabbath is to spiritualize man and therefore it is a day of work, of spiritual work distinct from other toil. For this reason the legislation in regard to the Sabbath, which is in our country, of a negative character, in that it secures these rights to the poor and weak to be exercised without hindrance, is good.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S PLAY.

Midsummer Night's Dream, as presented by the Frill and Frown Dramatic Club on Friday night, was a treat to all who were present. It is not often that the students at Bucknell have a chance to see such plays as those written by Shakespeare presented. Before the Opera House was burned, it was customary for the management to have several of the highclass plays given every year but since that building has been destroyed, the students who have desired to see any dramatic work have been compelled to go to Sunbury or Milton.

With such talent as was displayed on Friday night and with so many students in college who enjoy seeing a play such as was given it must again be lamented that the University does not have an auditorium in which the different clubs of the University could give their performances. If Bucknell or Commencement hall could have been utilized, either place would have been filled, even if an admission fee had been charged and in that case there would not have been so many compelled to miss the production which was worthy of as large an audience as Bucknell and Lewisburg could offer.

BALL PLAYING.

The season of the year has come when the college men indulge in passing the baseball and almost at any time one can see them on the lawn in the quadrangle taking the kind of exercise and at the same time can notice that the sod around the buildings is being badly torn up. The university has spent a great deal of time and money in fixing up that particular plot of ground and since there is plenty of other space around college for exercise, it seems needless to abuse the lawns and the shrubbery.

'SNITS."

We would warn the Freshmen, in arranging their schedule for the Spring term not to monopolize the "snits." A few Seniors who exhausted the so-called snit studies last year have discovered their mistake too late and are now lamenting their foolish choice.

BUCKNELLIANS AT ORPHEUM.

On Wednesday of last week the Bucknellians were given full sway at the Orpheum and by a program of moving pictures, music, and clog and highland dancing, kept the hall packed during all the afternoon and evening.

At four o'clock, the band paraded down the hill and marched through the streets of Lewisburg and then to the doors of the Orpheum where they drew a crowd which followed them into the show. It was a good incentive for the people kept coming until the last performance had begun.

In most of the vaudeville, students participated. Musical numbers, consisting of solos, quartettes and string duets were rendered. The highland fling, by a Scotchman from the Academy, prooved to be quite a novelty and the dancing of Clifford Lell, of town, was frequently encored.

The show was a financial success. Robert Darlington, '02, was in charge and was assisted by several of the students.

The Bucknellians, through the Orange and Blue, desire to thank all those who participated in the program and those who attended for their support and are very much indebted to Mr. Ralph Koser, who so generously gave them the use of the Orpheum without any charge.

ALUMNI AND FRESHMEN MEET DEFEAT

'VARSITY VANQUISHES "GRADS."

Sophomores Lose to Class of 1912 in First Half But Finish With Victory in Second.

Two games last week finished the basket-ball schedule for the year. The strong Alumni team was defeated by the 'Varsity on Tuesday in a rough and tumble game and the Sophomores took almost certain victory from the Freshmen by a professional spurt in the second half.

The 'Varsity basket ball team officially closed its season last Tuesday night when it played off the postponed game with the Alumni and won easily by a score of 33-14.

Inability to find the baskets handicapped the veterans of Bucknell's victorious quintets of previous years who were represented in the Alumni line up by such men as Cockill, "Dippy" Smith, "Jimmy" Lose, "Gert" Lenhart, and "Johnny" Johnson. Lose and Lenhart were members of last year's famous squad which completed the season with an unbroken string of victories, and both were one-time captains of the 'Varsity. Cockill and Johnson have been with the Harrisburg Collegians since leaving college, and these with Smith, presented a line-up of no mean ability.

Against this veteran aggregation the 'Varsity presented its regular line up with the exception of Thatcher, who was out of the game on account of sickness. His place was taken by Reber who did clever work at forward. Kurtz was the other forward, O'Brien played at center, and Craig and McNinch did the guarding. In the last of the second half the substitutes Sprout and Frampton were put into the game and showed up well.

The Alumni held well early in the first half but the superior team work of the 'Varsity gave the latter a lead which soon put them out of reach of their opponents. O'Brien and Reber were exceptionally brilliant in their shooting, the 'Varsity captain scoring five baskets, three of which were made on distance shots. Lenhart still retained his eye for free throws and tallied eight points on fouls for the Alumni. The three fled goals scored by the Alumni were made by Lose, Cockill and Johnson.

Lineup:—

'Varsity	Position	Alumni.
Reber	forward	Lose
Kurtz	forward	Smith
OBrien	center	Lenhart.
Craig	guard	Johnson
McNinch	guard	Cockill

Substitutes; Sprout and Frampton on 'Varsity. Field Goals; O'Brien 5, Reber 5, Kurtz 3, Sprout, Craig, Lose, Smith and Cockill. Foul Goals; O'Brien 3, Lenhart 8. Referre, Godcharles. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

FRESHMAN—SOPHOMORE GAME.

The hardest interclass contest seen at Bucknell for some time was played in the gymnasium on Saturday night when the Sophomores defeated the Freshmen by the score of 21 to 16. General sentiment prevailed before the game that the Sophomores would easily defeat their opponents but it was not until the game was over that they had any claim on the victory.

When the teams entered the floor the gymnasium rang from end to end with the shouts and cheers of the underclassmen. The Sophomores sat at the east end of the gymnasium and the Freshmen at the west and the contest between class spirit and lung capacity was equally as strong as the game itself.

The Sophomores began the scoring by tallying a field goal and a foul. Then the Freshmen got busy and so covered the 1911 forwards that they could not touch the basket and Kurtz himself, who has been doing some star shooting for the 'Varsity during the season, lost all control of himself. The cipher was soon removed from opposite the 1912 score board and it continually advanced until, at the end of the first half, there were eight points credited while the Sophomores had only three.

The Freshmen were highly elated over the success of wearers of red and black and they felt confided that they would get back at their rivals for the defeat in football last fall. Even the girls of the class showed their appreciation of the strenuous fight that the team was putting up and as is customary upon such occasions a bouquet of roses were dropped from the gallery by one of the admirers and was picked up by the captain of the Freshman team. When the teams appeared on the floor for the second half, the Sophomore girls, not to be out-done, presented the captain of 1911 a large bunch of carnations.

The flowers, together with the appearance of Thatcher on the floor, who took his position as center seemed to put new vim into the Sophomore team and by brilliant passing and two phenomenal shots by Kurtz, the score was tied and then passed. The Freshman made several hard attempts to regain their lead but they failed and the game ended with a margin of five points in favor of the Sophomores.

Kurtz played his usual good game after he woke up and McCullen displayed skill at free goal shooting securing eight from the foul line. Capt. Dreher was a strong center for the Freshmen scoring six points as did Frampton at forward.

Lineup:

Sophomores	Position	Freshmen.
Kurtz	Forward	Bartholomew
Rhoades		Daggett.
Loveland	Forward	Frampton
Redeay
Redeay	Center	Dreher
Thatcher
McCullen	Guard	Henderson
Craig	Guard	Schmid

Field goals; Kurtz 4, Frampton 2, Bartholomew 2, Redeay, Thatcher and Dreher. Goals from fouls; McCullen 8, Dreher 4, Frampton 2, and Redeay. Referee, Turner. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

PHILA. B. U. ALUMNI CLUB

MEETING AND BANQUET TO BE HELD ON 23rd OF APRIL.

The Alumni Club of Philadelphia is comprised of about five hundred loyal Bucknell Alumni and old students are looking forward with much enthusiasm to their annual meeting and banquet, which will be held at Kuglers on Friday, the twenty-third of April. It will be a distinctly Orange and Blue night, and nothing too good for Bucknell.

Among the Bucknell men who have been selected to respond to toasts on that occasion are Hon. Simon B. Wolverton, former Congressman and Director of the Philadelphia and Reading; Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, formerly Military Governor of the Philippines, and Pres. of the U. S. War College; Senator Ernest L. Tustin, the brilliant lawyer; Rev. Thomas Sprague, the great pulpit orator; Hon. J. Thompson Baker, whose fame as an after dinner speaker has made him widely sought for at the most select banquets in Philadelphia; Mr. Romain Hassrick, the new star in The North American's staff; and from the University, Professor Enoch Perrine, Litt. D., and The President of the University.

The finest quartette in the city will furnish music for the occasion. The Alumni Club is planning to have a truly Bucknell evening and every person who has worn the Orange and Blue will find old chums and acquaintances present to welcome him. The reception commences at seven o'clock.

NOTICE TO COLLEGE MEN.

A meeting of the college men has been called by the president of the Senior class to convene in the Y. M. C. A. Halls at 9.00 o'clock to-night. The object of the meeting is to discuss plans for a College Men's Reception.

INSTITUTE SENIORS' ANNUAL RECEPTION

GIVEN ON THURSDAY EVENING.

Handsome Decorations of Green Which Fittingly Suggest the Season, Adorn the Seminary Parlors.

The Senior class of Bucknell Institute concluded the formal festivities of the term by holding their annual reception in the Seminary parlors on Thursday evening. Between two and three hundred guests from the college, academy, Lewisburg and other places were present.

As the invitations sent out contained no cards, the gentlemen as they entered, were presented with paper shamrocks which brought smiles to their faces and sealed their destiny for the evening. At the head of the stairs stood the reception committee consisting of Dean and Mrs. Thomas A. Edwards, Miss Slifer, acting preceptress, and the officers of the class.

The parlors presented a quaint appearance in their coats of green and it was rumored that the spirit of St. Patrick had been interviewed through a clairvoyant, before the decorations were planned. From the ceiling hung boughs of evergreen and now and then a white pipe and a bit of shamrock added a veritable Irish touch. In place of the accustomed banners upon the walls were painted skins containing the names, colors and insigna of colleges and universities. Potted plants placed in appropriate places completed the decorations.

A new feature was added which broke the monotony of "weather" and "the recent fire" conversations. Upon the wall hung eleven silhouettes, which presented the likeness of eleven members of the Senior class. The most characteristic attitude of each girl was portrayed and there was no little amusement afforded when the guests endeavored to name them correctly.

Refreshments were served in the dining halls where the green effect was carried out not only in the decorations but also in the refreshments.

At the midnight hour farewells were said and the Senior class was many times complimented on the manner in which it entertained.

COLLEGE MEN'S RECEPTION

In the spring of 1906 the college men woke up and gave a college men's reception that proved to be decidely one of the most enjoyable social functions of the year. In the following spring, the reception was repeated with more success than in the former year. Last year, however, through a slip in the cog, or for some other unknown reason, it was decided that such a function was not necessary so the event was called off.

There seems to be no reason why the college men should not give a reception. They have plenty of room in Main College which may be used for the purpose. It would not necessarily have to be given on the same plan of the College Women's, in fact, there would be some chance for the display of originality if it were different. Why not hold a reception some time during the spring and make it of such a nature that all the men would attend. Eliminate for a change the high collar and the dress suit and make it a shirt waist affair. The expense would not be great and there is no doubt but that it would be as enjoyable as a more formal arrangement. A Senior.

Y. M. C. A.

The last meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held on Tuesday night at nine o'clock. A program consisting largely of music will be given and the chairman of the music committee will conduct a song service.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

Dr. Harris spoke of God as one individuality and yet as a trinity. We believe God to be one but not a stark unit as the Pantheists or Unitarians; he is rather a unity. The trinitarian holds that God is a unity, not three distinct individualities working together as a sort of committee but one person with a unity of natures. We have an illustration of of the trinity in man; his power to think, his capacity to feel and his ability to do; the three make up the one man.

God then as eternal being or essence is the Father. Since then man cannot know being "No man hath known God at any time;" that is in his essence of being. God as essential being expresses himself in eternal reason which we call the son, "Through him (as eternal reason) have all things been made." God as active or will is the Holy Spirit. But reason always precedes action and this then is the third person of the trinity.

Now as to the relation of the eternal reason to Jesus of Nazareth John says "the reason or word became flesh and we behid the revelation." The stone, flower, animal, bird, and man are all expressions of the God as eternal reason in different degrees. Now Jesus is one step higher than these. He is a fuller expression of the divine nature than any human being. In Jesus Christ is the fullness of God as a God of love and mercy ,manifest.

RESIGNATION NOT ACCEPTED.

The congregation of the Lewisburg Baptist church at a recent meeting voted almost unanimously to not accept the resignation of their pastor, Rev. Judd, which was presented by him at a recent Sunday service. Rev. Judd has been in charge of the church for nearly a quarter of a century, and his move to retire from the church as its head was not looked upon favorably by many in the church. The congregation has asked him to reconsider his move, and has granted him a six months leave of absence.

No religious sentiments may be a bar to admission nor are allowed to "abridge their privileges or immunities." The institution has property of over a million dollars, seven hundred thousand of which is in productive investments. Among the larger givers to the institutions, we note the names, Samuel A. Besides the usual College courses leading to degrees in Arts, there are offered courses of four years each in Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Chemistry, Biology and for students who wish to prepare for law, for business, or for taking part in public affairs.

FRANK DIXON LECTURES.

Frank Dixon, the popular orator and lecturer delivered his noted address on "The Man Against the Mass" at the M. E. church on Friday evening. The lecture was the fourth number of the Y. M. C. A. lecture course.

Mr. Dixon directed his remarks against Socialism showing that it destroyed competition, responsibility, individuality, that it was the opposite extreme of anarchy. The discourse was not without its humor and showed the speaker's power of illustration. The audience was captivated for two hours and was not ready to cease listening when the end came.

NOVEL PERFORMANCE IN GYMNASIUM

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATION

Exhibition and Circus Prooves Great Attraction and Nets Neat Sum for Athletic Association.

The Exhibition and Circus advertised for the evening of St. Patrick's Day, was held in the gymnasium under the management of Coach Hoskins, and proved to be an interesting and comical performance. The seats on the first floor of the building were filled and a number of the chairs on the track were occupied. The proceeds, which amounted to a neat sum, were turned over to the Athletic Association.

At eight o'clock the Bucknell band, which furnished music during the entire evening ,played a march and the performers entered the arena. There were acrobats, tumblers, boxers, wrestlers, wild animals, comedians and clowns.

The gymnasium was well arranged and tastefully decorated for the occasion. Two rings were marked out on the floor so that there might be a continual double performance. The gallery was draped with orange and blue bunting and American flags and green flags of the Irish were hung in appropriate places.

Wolfe, '11, acted as ringmaster and announced the different features of the evening. The gymnasium exhibition was the center of attraction. A large number of students participated in the contest and continually received the applause of the audience for their excellent work. Feats were performed on the horizontal bars, on the parallel bars, on the swinging rings, and on the leather horse. Bartol, '05, who wears a gymnasium "B," was the star actor of the evening but was not an eligible contestant. The boxing bout between the clowns was as ludicrous as was serious the three round glove contest between Hoskins and Schmid.

The performance lasted for fully two hours and was exceedingly enjoyed by the spectators.

It has been rumored that an effort will be made to make the celebration an annual event in which case it is believed that more interest will be shown.

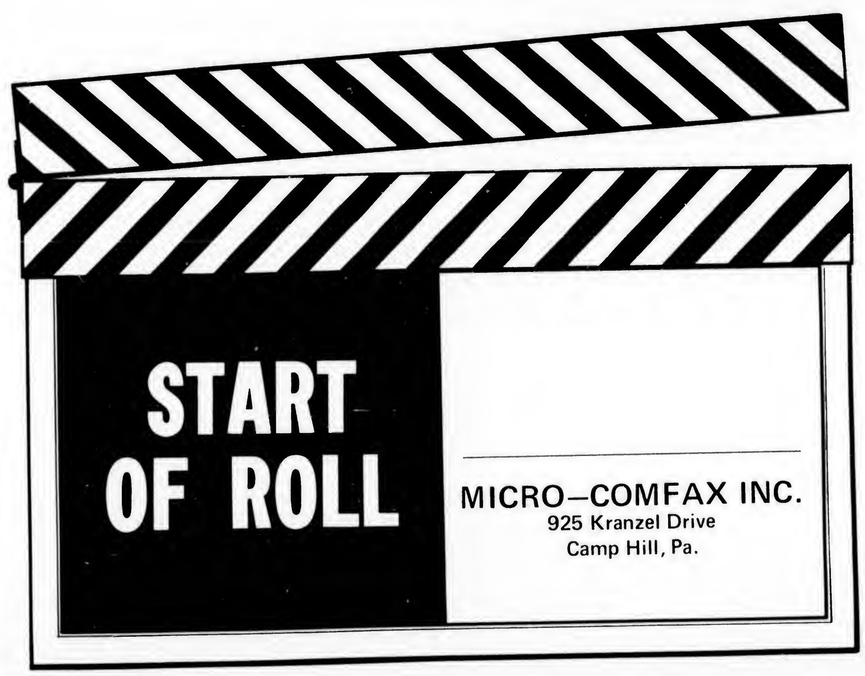

TWO FIRES IN A WEEK

Twice last week the students had extra exercise forced upon them when the fire bell rang on Monday and again on Thursday. The first conflagration was in the homes of Robert L. L. Bowes and H. E. B. Wagner where several of the college men have a boarding club. The loss from water and fire amounted to over $500.

At 7.45 P. M. on Thursday night a bright light appeared to the west of the college and it was not long before a large number of college men were hurrying out toward the fair grounds where a barn on the premises of Whitney Foresman had caught afire. The building was totally destroyed.

CHECKER CLUB.

A number of checker enthusiasts, who have lately been indulging in that game to the extent of several heated contests, have conceived the idea of forming a Checker Club and it is probable that such an organization will be effected in the Spring term. It is proposed to arrange a tournment for the championship of the College.

VOLUMN XIII. LEWISBURG, PENNA., MONDAY, APRIL 5, 1909. NUMBER 23

BASEBALL SEASON BEGINS SATURDAY

SCHEDULE WELL ARRANGED.

No Selection Has Yet Been Made for 'Varsity from Large Number of Candidates.

With basket-ball and other indoor sports shelved until next winter, baseball now has the call and will take the leading part in college sports during the remainder of the school year. Twenty-two games in all have been scheduled by Bucknell for its baseball season which will open next Saturday with a game on the home grounds with Susquehanna. Of these games scheduled half will be played away from home and half at Lewisburg.

Practice for candidates for the team began last week upon the return of the students from their spring vacations. Several men reported on the diamond on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and Friday a practice game arranged between the 'Varsity and scrubs but was postponed on account of the rain. The failure of Fridey's game to materialize has prevented the sizing up of the new material of which this year's nine must necessarily be largely composed because of the small number of '08 'Varsity men who are back. The prospects are fairly encouraging, however, if anything is to be judged by the assorted reputations with which nearly every new candidate who presents himself for practice is labelled.

The appointment by the Advisory Board of the Athletic Association of Northrop, '10, to the captainey has met with the general approval of the student body. "Jake" was the main stay in the pitching staff last season and his superb twirling and faithful work for the team made him the logical successor to "Jimmy" Clark, the star center fielder who was captain-elect of this year's team but who failed to return to college.

The question of a coach for this season is still unsettled. Until a coach is secured the direction of the squad will be in the hands of Physical Trainer Hoskins and the captain and manager. All men are to be given a fair try out, it is understood, and the chances for making the team are excellent. Good material is needed for almost every position.

Manager Haggerty has been busy since the beginning of the spring term in getting ready for the opening of the season. New uniforms and a lot of other new paraphenalia have been ordered and will reach here sometime this week. The diamond has been rolled and levelled and the base and field lines laid out, and all other arrangements will be completed in time for Saturday's game with Susquehanna.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING.

"The Influence of Bacteriology upon Medicine" was the subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the Bucknell Medical Society on Friday afternoon. Pres. Youngkben, '09 was the speaker and opened his discussion by explaining the theories of disease, showing how the germ theory of Koch and Pasteur replaced the ancient demoniacal Hippocratean, and medieval homeopathic ideas. He next took up the various kinds of bracteria and microorganism and discussed their routes of entrance into the body. The defenses of the human body were next considered and finally the modes of transmitting infection.

SPRING TENNIS.

The different tennis clubs have been busy during the past week getting their courts into shape for the game and for the tournaments which have already been scheduled. The doubles, which were postponed from last fall will soon be played and the tryouts for the 'Varsity team will be made in the near future. The schedule has not yet been completed.

BUCKNELL ATHLETE DIES.

Dr. George O. Barclay, a few years ago one of the best-known all-round college athletes in the country, died at the University Hospital Philadelphia, Saturday morning, 12 hours after an operation had been performed upon him for appendicitis. He had been ill for about a week.

Dr. Barclay was married and lived at No. 5858 Whitby avenue, maintaining dental offices in the Perry Building. He was a graduate of Lafayette and Medico-Chirurgical Colleges and though not participating much in athletcs during recent years, maintained a deep interest in all kinds of sports, acting as coach for the Lafayette football team for several seasons.

Mr. Barclay entered Bucknell as a Freshman and soon became popular on the athletic field where he showed up strong the 'Varsity football team and was a leader on the baseball nine. He left Bucknell during his course and went to Lafayette where he also made his mark as an athlete. In the Penn-Lafayette game in 1896, Dr. Barclay, as a member of the latter's eleven, made a sensational 75-yard run for a touchdown, causing the only defeat that Penn suffered that season.

NEW EXIT FROM "GYM."

An exit from the gymnasium is being constructed by the college workmen. It is in the nature of a bridge which will lead from the southern corner of the building to the high path leading to the Physical Laboratory. The exit is being constructed so that the crowds at the basket ball games can easily leave the building in case fire should break out.

STAG DANCE FOR BAND

BENEFIT FOR MUSICAL ORGANIZATION IN "GYM" TONIGHT.

The Bucknell band, under the management of Banks, '10, has planned a stag dance to be held in the gymnasium tonight beginning at eight o'clock. Music will be furnished by the band and they promise to be liberal in responding to encores.

An admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged for admission to the floor the proceeds to go to the band treasury. The benefit is a new thing for the present college generation and promises to prove attractive.

The band has begun its spring work and is desirous of adding several new instruments which are badly needed to its possession. It has thus far depended but little upon the student body for aid and it takes this method to give them an opportunity to assist in booming the organization.

All of the college men and also those of the town who are interested are invited to attend.

DELTA PHI DANCE.

About twenty-four couples enjoyed a dance given by the Delta Phi Sorority on Friday evening, March twenty-sixth, in the Armory. The hall was very tastefully decorated with the Sorority colors and flowers. The program which was composed of waltzes and two-steps was rendered by Campbells Orchestra of Sunbury. A number of out-of-town guests were present. The following acted as patronesses: Mrs. Thomas Baker, Mrs. William Forster, Mrs. William Leiser, Mrs. Ralph Steans, and Mrs. F. Stoughton. Refreshments were seived by Mrs. Stannert.

FAIR POSTPONED.

The Bucknellian fair, which had been planned for the last of April, has been postponed until the 13, 18 and 15 of May. Extensive preparations are being made. Each class and fraternity has been asked to contribute something in the nature of an entertainment or feature for the vaudeville and it is probable that the fair will be the most novel and original that has been seen in Lewisburg for some time. As has been announced, a dance will close the three day's program.

FOOTBALL MANAGER ANNOUNCES SCHEDULE

TEN GAMES ARE LISTED.

Susquehanna, State and Dickinson Will Play on Bucknell's Gridiron. Rules Have Been Changed.

The schedule for the 1909 football season has been arranged with the exception of one date, October 30th. Three of the ten games are to be played at Bucknell, including Susquehanna, State and Dickinson. There is no game with any of the "big six" which fact is rather welcomed by the players as a game with Penn, Princeton or Cornell is as hard on the team as two other games especially since any one of them involves a long trip.

No coach has yet been secured for the fall. It is rather early to talk about prospects but if as much good material comes in this year as came in last, Bucknell should be well represented on the gridiron.

Several important changes in the rules have been made by the intercollegiate football rules committee which recently met in New York.

The most important of these was that reducing the number of points for a goal from the field from four to three. This will make two field goals equal in value to one touchdown and a goal, a thing which has long been sought by many football enthusiasts. With this change it will be more difficult for a team with a good kicker to defeat a strong team by scoring goals from the field.

Another change provides that in case a team incurs two penalities in the same play, the offended team shall have the right to choose which penalty shall be inflicted. Last season in many cases umpires were much bothered by the confusion resulting from such conflicting penalities.

A rather important change was made in the rules governing touchbacks. Next season, a team making a touchback will be allowed two rushes before being compelled to kick. Under the old rules, the team could only take the ball out and kick immediately. The object of this change was to lessen the great difficulties which a team labored under when near their own goal line.

Among other new rules was one imposing a penalty of five yards on a team whose center make a feint of passing the ball in order to deceive his opponent, and one providing that no penalty can carry the ball over the goal line either for a safety or a touchdown. The other changes made are mainly slight amendments clarifying the old rules.

A committee was appointed for the interpretation of disputes. It consists of the following men: Walter Camp, Yale, chairman; E. K. Hall, Paul Dashiel, W. S. Langford.

Football Schedule.

September 25th, Susquehanna at Lewisburg.

The president of the University has secured Raymond M. West, D. D., '89, of Cleveland, Ohio, as the orator for the Alumni meeting on Tuesday night, June 22nd. Miss Blanche Bane, '04, of Philadelphia, has been appointed poetess.

Band Masquerade Dance tonight, Gymnasium, 8.00 o'clock, all invited.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

In the College Bible Class Dr. Harris began the study of the International Sunday School Lessons on which he will speak throughout the Spring Term. The story of the lesson, which is found in the 10th chapter of Acts and which should include the first eighteen verses of the next chapter, is a record of how Christianity first passed out from the Hebrews to the Gentiles. It is the turning point of Chirstianity. In the preceding chapter Paul is made ready to carry out this great commission to the Gentiles and now the door is to be opened for him. The breaking of the barriers, the crossing of the border was accomplished by Peter.

"Go ye into all the world and preach the word of good news to every creature." This command does not seem so difficult to us as it did to the Hebrews. At that time the Jews could not conceive of the Gentiles as having the privilege of entering heaven. This feeling had been hardened by constant wars, and by differences in language and religion. To extend the truth of Christ and of Judaism across these barriers of language, these barriers of blood, across the borders of Judea into all the world was no easy task. Peter is chosen as the proper person to make this break. He begins the breaking of this barrier by going into the house of Cornelius, a Roman ruler.

This incident is the beginning of a world wide movement, not because it concerned one man and his family but because it marked the beginning of the preaching of the gospel to all peoples of all blood over the entire world.

SERMON TO STUDENTS

DR. O. C. HORSMAN ADDRESSES THE CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATONS.

The annual sermon before the college christian associations was delivered on Sunday by the Rev. Dr. O. C. Horsman, of the First Baptist church, of Williamsport. The services were held in the Baptist church of Lewisburg.

Dr. Horsman was introduced by Weaver W. Pangburn, the newly elected president of the Y. M. C. A., and announced as his subject, "The Christian Responsibility of American Institutions." He said in part, "The growth of the Christianity is like the growth of a seed. Christ came on earth to plant the seed, to instil Christian principles. The duty of the apostles was to help the seed in its growth, to establish churches. The people of America, and especially the ministers of the Christian churches, have a like mission to fulfill. They have in their power, both directly and indirectly, the ballot, a spiritual thing, by which they are able to fight the liquor traffic and the other gigantic evils which exist in our own country. The duty of the church of America is to create in the hearts of the millions a desire to do the will of God and thus to make of this land a veritable paradise."

KAPPA SIGMA BALL.

The local chapter of the Kappa Sigma fraternity held their annual spring ball in the Armory on Thursday night, the twenty-fifth of March. The room was tastefully decorated for the occasion and according to custom, there was an electrical display of the fraternity emblem which gave light to the moon dance. A large number of guests from college, Lewisburg and other places participated in the festivities.

DEUTSCHER VEREIN.

Deutscher Verein, in its meeting at the close of last term, elected the following officers to serve for the spring term:—Vorsitzende, Lillian Turner, '09; Vice Frasidentin, Myrs Chaffee, '09; Protokolfuehrerin, Helen Cliber, '09; Schatzmeisterin, Helen Hare, '10; Krittkerin, Bertha Geis, '10.

SENIORS WIN CLASS CHAMPIONSHIP

CLOSEST GAME OF SEASON.

Score Tied with Sophomores at End of Second Half. 1909 Victory in Extra Five Minutes.

The interclass basket-ball series ended on Monday, March 22, when the Seniors lauded a victory from the Sophomores and secured the class championship for the season. The Juniors had previously lost to the Freshmen and the Freshmen, in a close game, had in turn lost to the Sophomores and the final struggle was left to the wearers of the odd numerals.

The game was played in the afternoon and, as the examinations had begun, a small crowd filled the gallery seats. The Sophomores were confident of victory since most of their men had been playing 'Varsity ball or had been subbing on the first team during the term. While the Seniors seemed to be the favorite of the cheering section, yet three of the men on the 1909 team had not been in training and had played only two or three games since the season began.

During the first five minutes the underclassmen ran away with the Seniors and before their opponents knew it, had tallied ten points to one against them. A minute later the score stood fourteen to five. Then the Seniors took a brace and handled the ball in such a manner that, at the end of the first half the difference in the score favored the Sophomores by a few points only.

The second half proved much faster and rougher. The Seniors had the advantage and by closer guarding and more accurate shooting, outplayed their opponents and when the whistle blew for the close of the second half, the score stood 21 to 21.

The captains decided to play off the tie and the teams were given five more minutes to settle the title. After a minute of strenuous work, one of the Senior forwards made a lucky shot which put that team ahead. For the last four minutes the 1909 men kept the ball almost entirely in their possession and made the victory safe by adding two more baskets to their count. The championship, which the victory gave to the Seniors, is the first that class has won in basketball.

Line up:—

Seniors	Position.	Sophomores.
Lyte	Forward	Loveland.
Fetter	Forward	Redcay.
O'Brien	Center	Thatcher.
Hallman.	Guard	Craig.
McNinch	Guard	McCullen.

Final score, 27-21. Referee, Reber.

TRACK SCHEDULE.

The Bucknell tract team will be up against two hard propositions when they meet, this spring, the Gettysburg team at Gettysburg and the Dickinson team at Lewisburg. Some of the men have been working all winter but, as yet, there has not an over abudance of material reported to the trainer. Lenhart will be missed in the weights. He was generally sure of ten or fifteen points and it will take a good man to replace him. In other respects, the track situation is about as it has been for the past four years.

Trainer Hoskins has arranged for two handicaps meets to be held on the home track in which only Bucknell men will participate. The manager is endeavoring to schedule a high school meet to be held on the campus at the same time as the interclass meet.

The schedule is as follows: May 15, Gettysburg at Gettysburg; May 22, Dickinson at Lewisburg, May 29, Interclass meet.

Y. M. C. A. ANNOUNCEMENT.

At the regular meeting of the college Y. M. C. A. on Thursday, Dr. G. G. Groff will address the students. All the college men are invited to be present.

CLASS MEMORIAL.

The time of year has come when there is more or less speculation as to what the Seniors will leave to the college as the class memorial. It seems to be the custom of the classes to strive each year to out-do the preceeding classes and, as a result, there have been erected, during the past few years, several ornamental and useful memorials. The committee has talked the matter over but has not as yet presented any proposition to the class. It is rumored that the committee has three memorials which it will especially recommend to the class at the coming meeting. The first two are life size paintings of the president and of the former registrar of the University. Either of these would be very appropriate and would show the class's regard not only for the college but for these persons in particular. The third is an electric bell to be placed on East College and to take the place of the small country-school bell which now summons the students to chapel and to the classes. The last mentioned proposition would be exceedingly useful as it could be more readily heard and would perhaps lend more dignity to the recitation than does the bell now used.

BASEBALL.

Baseball begins Saturday on the home diamond with a game with Susquehanna. It is as uncertain as usual at this time what the prospects for a winning team are. However new the material is from which the team must be selected, there is no reason for the student body to feel that the season will not be successful. It is true that few of the old men of the 'Varsity are back but this fact is not altogether lamentable for most of the places will have to be filled by new men and as, there a large number of candidates who have already reported, the competition will be keen and it will require some hard and consistent work to make the team. The extra work on part of all the men will necessarily put life and spirit into the team which has been lacking on some past occasions.

The manager is to be complimented upon the schedule which is made up largely of games between the colleges best known to Bucknell and her most interesting rivals.

THE COLLEGE BRED MAN.

There is a tendency on part of some men who have made a success in life without a college education, to sneer at the college bred man.

It might be well for such men to consider the fact that the person most in demand today, in what whatever walk of life, be it professional or not, is the college bred man and to note the following editorial from the Boston Herald: "To an administration headed by a graduate of Harvard, with a cabinet two-thirds of whom are college graduates, there is about to follow an administration with a Yale alumnus for president, who is to gather around him nine cabinet members, eight of whom are college graduates. This reflects a movement of national proportions, and tells of a steadily increasing ratio of trained, liberally educated officials in federal, state and municipal offices. The latest analysis of the relative number of college trained men in American public life up to date, men who have gained sufficient prominence to be included in a standard dictionary of biography, has just been made by the Yale Daily News. There are 15,142 persons enrolled and described, and of these 5,326 graduates from college, Harvard leading with 883, Yale furnishing 713, Darthmouth, 268; Brown, 189; Williams, 157; Brown, 104, and Amherst, 102. If a shorter period of history is considered, and not the entire range of American growth, the percentage of college bred men who attain eminence has been much larger. Thus, of persons now prominent, listed in the work of reference called 'Who's Who in America,' over fifty-six per cent. attended universities and colleges, but did not graduate."

Rev. J. H. Cooke, '98, for a number of years pastor the Picture Rocks Baptist church, has accepted a call to the Logan's Valley Baptist church, of Bellwood, Pa.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Harold N. Cole, '05, a Senior in the Medical college at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, O., took first honors in the recent examinations for hospital appointments. This entitles Mr. Cole to first choice in hospital assignments after graduation.

Bucknell is well represented in the legal fraternity inCleveland, O., by Ralph Snow, '94; Frank W. Stanton, '02., and W. C. Keough, who taught French in the college during the years of 1904-'05 and'05-'06. All three have offices in the Society for Savings Building, occupying rooms 1031, 1033 and 719, respectively.

Lewis Theiss, '02, and his wife, Mary Bartol Theiss, '99, are still busy writing for the magazines. In the February number of Good Housekeeping there appears an article on "Color Harmony in Home Decorations", signed by both these alumni. Mr. Theiss also has an unsigned article on the "Ways of the Burglar" in the March number of the same publication. Other copies from Mr. Theiss' pen are: "The Uses of Denatured Alcohol", in the March Pictorial Review, and the second of the series, "Let's Build—Where?", in the March Circle.

C. T. Weymouth, the old Bucknell and Yale catcher, has been engaged to coach the Swarthmore College baseball team this spring. At Bucknell with Christy Mathewson, the New York pitcher, they formed one of the best batteries in the college ranks. After entering Yale he made a great reputation as an all-round athlete, starring on the baseball teams. Since graduation he has been general athletic director at St. Paul's School for four years, has assisted in coaching the Yale baseball squad and for the last two years has been the assistant football coach at Annapolis. Besides his coaching experience Weymouth has kept up his playing since leaving college and under his directions a strong team should be developed at Swarthmore.

Speaking of the booming of eastern cities through the work of commercial secretaries, a recent issue of "Profitable Advertising" has the following to say of George S. Lenhart, ex-'85:

"Atlantic City is doing more than any other eastern community along general advertising lines. The Publicity Bureau, under George S. Lenhart, was organized three years ago and incorporated last year. It is conducted by a joint committee of twelve representing the local Board of Trade, the Hotel Men's Association, and the Business League. Its best work has been done through "joint advertising," the general copy relating to Atlantic City being supplemented with the names of contributing hotels. A handsomely furnished and well-equipped working office is maintained. The two main features to which this bureau pays attention are the securing of publicity for the resort, and securing conventions. It publishes an attractive line of literature which goes all over creation. It has a branch office in London."

SEASON STARTS WITH VICTORY

SUSQUEHANNA PLAYS WELL.

Spectators, in Overcoats and Furs, See 'Varsity Trim Visitors in Eighth Inning.

While a crowd of enthusiastic spectators shivered on the hillside the new Bucknell baseball aggregation broke the ice of the 1909 baseball season at the athletic field on Saturday with the fast Susquehanna nine for opponents. It was a chilly day for baseball but nevertheless a rosy beginning for Bucknell who made its initial plunge into the year's spring sports with a promising flourish. Score, Bucknell 2, Susquehanna 1.

Evidently the Weatherman had not been consulted when the schedule was arranged. At any rate a cog slipped somewhere and the crowd which huddled along the hill bundled up in overcoats and wraps might, if the calendar were not consulted have more readily suggested November and football than sunny April and a Saturday-before-Easter baseball game. Spectators and players alike suffered from the uncomfortable coolness. What frost there was in the game itself was soon thawed out, however after the first inning was over and the players had got fairly into action. The fast playing kept the crowd well warmed up with excitement and a tie in the score which lasted through a few innings kept the blood athagle.

Bucknell presented a practically new line-up on the field and it was the first opportunity that followers of the team have had to size up the players and attempt any forecasts into the future. The only members of last year's 'Varsity on the field were Capt. Northrup, who occupied the pitcher's box, and Loveland, who held down his old place at shortstop. Captain Jake twirled a remarkable game for his first appearance on the firing line and gathered in ten Susquehanna scalps on strike-outs. Lovey held down his end at short. He accepted all his chances and handled the stick with a cleverness that showed that he has not lost his cunning during a winter's absence from the diamond.

The new men showed up fairly well for the first game. Munk did brilliant work at third. At second Henderson was a bit awkward in fielding his position but partially redeemed himself by his work at the bat. Daggert did a little better a first. As to his hitting, it would be unfair to judge of that from the first game. O'Leary, the new catcher, shows back of the bat. His work was good and he will doubtless prove a strong addition to the infield. The team with Clark, left field, should add much strength to the outfield. Lister, who covered right early in the game was handicapped in his playing by the high wind and missed a couple of chances. His place was later taken by Kunselman, a new pichter, who finished the game in good form.

This is the combination that McCormick, a former Bucknell ball player now with the New York Nationals helped to pick in pratice last week and there is every probability that, with a few changes and additions, that this will be practically the team that will represent Bucknell on the diamond this spring.

And it was against this combination that Susquehanna on Saturday pitted its hopes and its best pitcher, Musser, who, rumor has it, is soon to join the Williamsport Tri-State Leaguers. The hopes of the Selinsgrove rooters soared when their team tallied a run in the second inning on an error, a sacrifice, pass ball, and a hunt, and held the lead for six innings. In the sixth Maning circled the bases, beating out an infield hit and stealing second. He was forced to third on two bases on balls given by Musser to Clark and Loveland, and raced home on Captain Northrop's hard drive to short. The winning run was scored in the eighth by Henderson. The local second baseman reached first on an error and was sacrificed to second by Munk, reached third on Daggett's out and came in when Kauffman dropped the ball in fielding O'Leary's infield drive. The game, which was to have been called by agreement at the end of the seventh but was continued because of the tie score, ended with the scoring of the winning run by Bucknell in the eighth.

FIRE IN LABORATORY

SERIOUS DAMAGE PREVENTED BY TIMELY DISCOVERY.

Fire broke out in the embryology room of the Chemical Laboratory at 8.30 o'clock on Friday night and had it not been for the timely discovery of the fire by two of the students, the entire building would have probably been destroyed. As it was the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

As Fritz, '09, and Jenner, '10, were going toward the college on Friday evening, they noticed a bright light in the laboratory which seemed unusual. Hurrying over to the building, they found it open and, going upstairs, discovered that the embrology room was full of smoke and that flames had started around the experimenting closet. An alarm was sounded but before the fire company had arrived on the scene the flames were extinguished by Kauffman, '09, Jenner, and Prof. Owens, who made use of the emergency hose with which the building is equipped.

The fire started in the experimental closet where a gas jet had been left burning for an experiment. It was learned upon a later examination that the gas fire had melted the pipe connection and that the gas had escaped and ignited and set fire to the wood work. The flames were making rapid headway toward the partition and, had they not been extinguished when they were, it is probable that much valuable material in the room, including Prof. Davis' collection of slides, would have been destroyed.

NEW EDITOR APPOINTED.

The Orange and Blue announces the appointment of Emanuel Warmkessel as the Editor of the College weekly for the coming year. He will assume the responsibility of the paper with the next issue. It has been thought best to make the yearly change in the editorship at this time so that there will be no delay in getting out the first issues of the fall term. The change at this time will prove much more satisfactory to the retiring Senior editor and to the Junior editor, who takes his place.

CONFERENCE TO MEET AT BUCKNELL

DR. M. G. EVANS WILL SPEAK.

The Profession of the Ministry will be Presented to the Students in Series of Addresses.

During the first week of May, there will be held at Bucknell, a conference for the purpose of interesting young men in the ministry and of forming a close connection between the religious life of the seminaries, churches, colleges and preparatory schools. It has been realized among the leaders of the churches and of religious work that there is a dearth of young men who are preparing themselves for the ministry or for religious work of any kind. The condition at Bucknell shows this fact for there are at present in attendance at the University as many ministerials in the Senior class as there are in the Sophomore and Freshman class together.

Because of this fact, it has been argued that the denominational press be asked to bring the matter before the ministers, that they be asked to observe the first Sunday in October as a day of prayer in behalf of the ministry, that on this date the pastor preach a sermon on the opportunity for strong men in the ministry, that he present the matter specifically to young men's Bible classes, and that he give an opportunity for private consultation with any young man who might be interested in the matter.

The conference to be held at Bucknell is mainly intended to act as an incentive in the movement. At that time the present situation will be discussed and the significance of religion to society and to the individual, with special emphasis to the call to service, will be presented to the students.

The services of Dr. Milton G. Evans, Dean of Crozer Theological Seminary, have been secured for the conference. Dr. Evans is a strong and interesting speaker and is known by a large number of the students. He comes to present the profession of the ministry to the students of the University. It is also expected that one or more men active in pastorate work and that a faculty professor will be among the speakers.

The conference will begin on Sunday, May 2, in the Baptist church and will continue on Monday in Bucknell hall. The student body is invited to attend all the meetings. At the same time, private consultations will be arranged with any men who are now studying for the ministry and all others who are interested in considering that calling.

Announcements as to the time of meetings will be made as soon as they are definitely arranged.

BASKET-BALL "B'S."

In Basket-ball the "B's" may be awarded to those members of the squad who shall have played, of the intercollegiate games of one season, eight full halves. At least six of these halves must have been played after January 15. The men who qualified as are follows: Manager Poffenberger, Capt. O'Brien, McNinch, Reber, Craig, Thatcher, and Kurtz. The prescribed letter of for the players is a seven inch round "B", and for the Manager a six inch script "B."

DR. STEPHENS TO ENTERTAIN.

Dr. Leroy Stephen, Secretary of the Baptist Educational Society has issued an invitation to the members of the Ministerial Association to six o'clock dinner. One half of the men will be entertained on Thursday night and the other half on Friday.

LECTURE IN CHAPEL.

Demetrius Elias Constantine, the first Protestant convert from the noble families of Macedonia, lectured in Bucknell Hall on Thursday evening. He described in picturesque language Macedonia, the land of roses, the home of attar of rose, and its degradation under the rule of the Greek Catholic church, and the heavy hand of Turkish oppression. He then gave a very touching account of the disinheritance and threats of death that assailed him as soon as he joined the Protestant church, of his flight to America, and his struggles for an education here, and of his intention to return to Macedonia as a medical missionary. Owing to some misunderstanding, the lecture was not announced, and few were present, but the talk was indeed worth while.

NEW MUSICAL CLUB.

Last Tuesday evening in the Institute parlors, the members of the Senior class of the School of Music assembled for the purpose of organizing a musical club. It was decided to be known as the Pi Alpha Musical Club, with the white chrysanthemum for the flower and old-rose and white as colors. The officers elected for the remainder of the year were, Pres. Ida Williams; Secretary, Mable Johnson; Business manager, Pearl DeVoe.

The ideas of this organization is to give a practical knowledge of the ancient and modern composers, and meetings will be held.

PAN-HELLENIC DANCE.

A large number of couples attended the Pan-Hellenic Dance given on Thursday evening under the manage ment of Hunter, '09, and Reber, '10. These dances are becoming quite popular among the students.

JUNIOR DEBATE

FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT TO BE DISCUSSED ON FRI. NIGHT.

The annual debate of the Junior class will be held in Bucknell rall on Friday night. The question for discussion is, "Resolved, that the Fifteenth Amendment should be Repealed." The men who have won place on the debate are Woods, Helige, Smith and Fetter.

The speakers are allowed ten minutes with a five minute rebuttal. There will be no decision rendered as to the result of the debate and the prizes will be given as usual on the merit of the individual debate.

The men who will compete were chosen in the fall from the class in debate given as an honor by Prof. Bromley Smith and have given considerable time to preparation and practice in argument. The prize winners will be announced on the day of Commencement.

Music, appropriate to the occasion, will be rendered under the direction of Prof. Paul Stolz and Miss M. E. Boynton.

MEDICAL SOCIETY.

One of the most interesting and instructive talks of the year was given by P. H. Hertzog, '10, before the Medical Society of the University on Friday afternoon. Mr. Hertzog has had considerable experience with snakes and reptiles in the State Agricultural Department at Harrisburg, and gave the benefit of this wide experience to the fellows of the society. He took as his topic, "What a Physician Ought to Know About Venomous Snakes." After showing the characteristic of both venomous and non-venomous serpents, he took up the harmless nature of most snakes. The venomous varieties common in the Eastern States as well as those indigenous to Pennsylvania were next taken up. He laid much stress upon the importance of a knowledge of snakes to the physician, showing that the treatment of snake bites depends upon the kind of serpent inflicting the injury.

MASS MEETING DISCUSSES FINANCES

Managers Impress Upon Students the Necessity of Better Financial Support.

On Friday evening at a large mass meeting held in Commencement hall the preliminary meeting by the student body was held for the 1909 baseball season, as well as for the first game played with Susquehanna on Saturday.

The meeting was started off with several selections by the band, the members of which by thus coming out at the beginning of the season show what they intend to do to make the baseball season a success. Cheer leaders Bartol, Fetter, and Eakley then led several rousing yells which put spirit into the fellows, and several speeches prepared them to appreciate the real object of the meeting.

A large supply of baseball and track goods had been ordered, but owing to large debt, lack of present funds, and even of credit, the athletic association could not secure the delivery of this order, until the necessary money were forthcoming. The manager made a direct appeal to the students that the debt resting on the association is the student's debt, that the present demand and urgent need for money must be borne by the students, and that unless this money were secured even before Saturday's game, the players had to go on the diamond in old and inefficient uniforms. He stated the sum needed, and made a strong appeal to the students to do their share in the matter, and the financial committee would, in that case, do all that it could to alleviate the low financial standing of the organization.

Last fall's football manager Van Why then stated how the association had got into such financial straits. The first debt was incurred several years ago when the student body failed to respond properly to the coach fund for coach Costello. Last fall, he said, he met with even less success, and deplored the fact that the student body clamor for special coaching, and even subscribe fairly well when a canvass for money is made, but that only a small part of the subscriptions are ever paid. Then too money has been lost on several of the last baseball and football seasons, so that the association has now come to the point where something must be done in the way of better financial support. Captain Northrop also voiced the sentiments of the previous speakers in urging that financial aid was of the first importance for a successful baseball season.

After the subject of the meeting had been well discussed and while the band played several selections, the hat was passed around, and a collection taken, which, while it did not amount to the sum asked for, yet showed that the appeal had not been in vain. Men who did not have their money with them, promised to contribute their share later, and the meeting came to an end with everybody impressed with the proposition which the athletic association is up against.

BAND TO PLAY FOR G. A. R.

The services of the Bucknell Band have been secured for Memorial day by the G. A. R. of Lewisburg and vicinity. Prof. B. Smith, who has been interested in the organization since its beginning, drew up a contract with the G. A. R. officials last week and the band will begin immediately to practice music which will be suitable for the occasion.

ATHLETIC FINANCES.

Several features of athletics, discussed at the mass meeting on Friday evening, should come in for a little more thought on the part of many students. For instance there is the matter of special coaching which the student body in general desires, and which, to be sure, is what we should have. But it is one thing to talk about something and quite another thing to do it. If the students want a coach, they must expect to pay for one, and when a canvass is made for money, they must not shrink or run away into a corner and escape the responsibility which is assuredly theirs. There are of course, as everybody knows, reasons why some do not respond to an appeal for money as they should. But it is also to a large extent true that those who have the most reasons for withholding financial support, are usually the most liberal, a thing which is highly commendatory for them, but very depreciatory for those who can lend their assistance but will not. Then there is also that habit of subscribing and never paying. But a student who has college spirit enough to promise a certain sum should also have the stamina to fulfill his obligations and not leave the University with an actual debt left unpaid.

COLLEGE "SING."

The student body of State college is to receive a week's instruction and practice in singing under the leadership of a Prof. Cornell. They seem to be very enthusiastic over the opportunity of learning to sing well their college songs. Some time ago, one of the professors of the music department of the University offered his services to the student body and was very willing to give up a portion of his time to train the men so that they might indulge well in the favorite pastime of many of the colleges, the college sing. Few accepted his offer and as a result, it is probably true that the student body cannot sing together, with any sense of harmony, one college song. It is rather a lamentable fact that, at a University like Bucknell where there is so much musical talent, it is not possible to have the spring term "sings" which is a feature of many of her sister institutions.

DECLAMATION CONTEST.

The declamation contest given by the members of the Third form of the Academy for the prize offered by Rev. Doyle Porter Leas, of Philadelphia, Treasurer of Bucknell University, will be held in Bucknell hall on Saturday night at eight o'clock. The prize last year was won by F. Russel Hamblin.

DANCE IN "GYM"

B. U. BAND GIVES BENEFIT WHICH PROVES POPULAR.

The Bucknell Band, managed by Banks, '09, gave a benefit dance in the gymnasium on Monday night. Because the affair had not been widely advertised, the attendance was smaller than the promoters expected. However the gymnasium floor was made lively by the twenty or more couples who kept tune to the dances and waltzes played by the band.

The band, which was reorganized last fall, has been sorely in need of money for music and instruments for some time and because the leaders intend to purchase more music this spring so that they can render strictly up-to-date music at the ball games, they will have to draw heavily from the treasury.

The manager regrets that the affair of Monday night was not given at a time suitable to the majority of the students and he will give all the college men a chance to assist the organization in its work by a personal call during the week.

SENIOR-JUNIOR DEBATE.

Prof. Bromley Smith announces that he will endeavor next year to arrange a debate between the Seniors and Juniors, the debate to take place some time during the fall term. It is his idea to stimulate as much rivalry in the debating contests of the University, both class and intercollegiate, as there is in the athletic contests. The professor will announce his plans in particular at a later date.

NAVY BLANKED BY BUCKNELL NINE

'VARSITY OUTPLAYS MIDDIES.

Northrop Redeems Defeat at Mt. St. Mary's by Pitching a One-hit Game. Score, 4-0.

Bucknell won and lost in its two games of the southern trip last week, dropping the first contest on Friday to Mt. St. Mary's by a score of 8-3, and winning the second on Saturday from the Navy at Annapolis by a score of 4-0. The victory over the Middies was achieved through the superb twirling of Captain Northrop. It means much for Bucknell and has given remarkable impetus to the enthusiasm of the students in the base ball team which now has every promise of a successful season.

The Mt. St Mary's Game.

Heavy hitting augmented by the decisions of a student umpire gave the fast Mt. St. Mary's team a victory over Bucknell at Emmitsburg, Md., on Friday in a seven inning game. Close decisions in the fifth and sixth innings favored the home team and cost the Lewisburg nine a possible victory.

Kunselman who was in the box for Bucknell was hammered hard for his first game but held together well until the fifth and sixth innings when his opponents piled up six hits for a total of six runs. Bucknell scored the first and was in the lead until the third. In the first Loveland died on a grounder too short, Manning walked, Clark singled, and both runners crossed the plate on base hits by Northrop and Henderson.

A single and a home run tied the score for Mt. St. Mary's in the third. In the fifth Clark's throw to the plate beat out the runner but the umpire gave the home team the decision. Loveland scored for Bucknell in the same inning and again tied the score. The Southerners turned loose their heavy artillery in the sixth and a home run and four singles gave them five runs and the game. The game was called by agreement at the end of the seventh to allow Bucknell to catch a train.

The Game at Annapolis.

Bucknell toperdoed the Navy fleet at Annapolis on Saturday and fairly submerged the Middies. Captain Northrop led the assault of the visitors and brilliant work on the firing line supplemented by his clever handling of the stick not only gave a victory but also a shut-out over the Navy team.

A news dispatch from Annapolis gives the gist of the game and deservedly hands the laurels of the victory to Bucknell's captain. It says:

"Northrop's great work in the box for Bucknell enabled that nine to hold the Naval Academy without a score and with but one hit this afternoon, the figures being 4 to 0. The visitors won the game by scoring two runs in the first inning, the first run being batted in by Northrop,who thereby won double honors. The only hit secured off Northrop was a single by Hambsch, the Navy captain, in the eight inning.

The game by innings:—

First inning—Loveland out at first: Manning safe on first baseman's error. Clark struck out. Manning stole second and scored on Northrop's single, the catcher dropping the ball at the plate. Northrop stole and came in on a single by Henderson. Munk was out, Lamphier to Jones. Two runs.

Erwin and Gillam the first two batters up for the Navy, struck out. Wilson was safe at first on Soper's error, but was later caught at third, O'Leary to Munk.

Second inning—A two bagger by Soper opened up the second for Bucknell. Daggert walked, O'Leary flied to Lange and Loveland walked. Manning hit to the infield and Soper dug for home reaching the plate ahead of the ball. Manning was caught between the bases. One run.

Lange reached first on Munk's error and stole second and third, Northcroft fanned and Abbott and Hambsch wilted on infield flies.

Third inning—Clark and Northrop went down on hits to the infield. Henderson singled but was caught, off of first .

Anderson replaced Lamphier in the box for the Navy in the third. Northrop retired the side in order on strikes.

Wilson flied to Munk and Jones to Clark. Northrop to Soper retired Lange.

Fifth inning—Clark was out on a slow one to pitcher. Northrop hit for a base. Henderson went down on an infield fly and Munk hit the atmosphere.

Henderson and Soper handled Northcroft's grounder. Abbot walked and Hambsch and Anderson struck out.

Sixth inning—Soper and Daggert were out respectively on drives to second and short. O'Leary fanned.

PROGRAM FOR CONFERENCE

A NUMBER OF PROMINENT MEN WILL ADDRESS STUDENTS.

The program for the conference to be held in Lewisburg on the 2nd and 3rd of May has been partially arranged by those in charge. Dr. J. T. Judd will commence the conference with an address at the regular morning service on Sunday, the 2nd, when he will speak upon the topic, "The Divine Call to Prophesy." On the afternoon of that date, James M. Stifler, the eminent speaker of Boston, Mass., will deliver an address in Bucknell hall and the evening Dr. Milton G. Evans will speak upon the subject, "Permanency of Religious Leadership."

The services will continue on Monday, one meeting to be held in the morning and the other in the afternoon. Dr. Wallace was expected to speak at both services but a recent letter from him states that he will not be able to reach Lewisburg until the afternoon. At that time he will give an address in Bucknell hall on, "The Christian Ministry as a Sphere of Leadership." Other arrangements will be made later for the morning meeting.

An effort will be made to meet the ministerials of the University and all others interested in religious work on the Saturday previous to the conference in Bucknell hall. Topics of interest and importance will be discussed at that time.

MOOT COURT.

On Wednesday evening in Theta Alpha Hall, the Bucknell Law Club will hold Moot Court. A question on Agency has been submitted by Judge McClure.

Violin trio, Miss Stratton, Miss Chappell, Mr. Breimeier.

All the participants of the debate are to be highly commended upon the excellent manner in which they presented and defended their arguments.

In support of the question the affirmative speakers argued, that in the practice the fifteenth amendment is so violated as to effect none of the advantages it was intended to give to the negro; that the resulting evils of sectionalism and corruption of politics of the South, are flagrant enough to enforce its repeal; that public opinion, as determined by the courts, is not in favor of the amendment; that the amendment impedes the solution of the race problem by the South; and that it is not conducive to national growth.

The negative speakers opposed the question on the ground that race or color is no basis of distinction for determining whether a man will use his ballot to the best interests of the government; that the proper remedy is not in the repeal of the fifteenth amendment, but in the establishment, by law, of proper qualifications, which, by applying to both black and white citizens, will remove the cause of political corruption; that the enfranchisement of the negro has proved beneficial to the negro and the South; and that the disenfranchisement of the negro by the repeal of the fifteenth amendment would be detrimental to the South by aggravating the race question.

The speakers were allowed ten minutes for their first speeches, and while they were preparing their rebuttal arguments, the audience enjoyed an excellent violin trio, after which followed the five minute rebuttals. The decision of the judges is to be based upon the individual debate, without any regard to the side on which the men debated. The prize winners will be announced on the day of Commencement.

FORMER STUDENT DIES.

College friends of Warren H. Pettibone, ex-'07, will be grieved to learn of his death which occurred last Tuesday at Darneston. Already while at college, he suffered from ill health, and on this account he left Bucknell in his Junior year. For some time, then, he traveled through the South in order that he might gain back his health ,but even travel would not do this for him, and as a result he never became thoroughly strong again. He was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Y. W. C. A. BENEFIT CONCERT.

The Y. W. C. A., assisted by the Phoenix Club, intends to give a benefit concert in Bucknell Hall, on Saturday evening, May 1st. The musical program will be varied by recitations, a short play, and other interesting features. The proceeds will be devoted to sending delegates to the summer conference at Mountain Lake Park, Md. The price of admission is twenty-five cents. The Association asks for the hearty support of all its friends.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

On Sunday, Dr. Harris continued the study of the problem of inspiration or divine suggestion. Inspiration fol-

On Sunday, Dr. Harris continued the lows the same psychological process which governs the other operation of the mind. But in addition to the power of some minds during an exalted state, brought about by culture or even a fever, the power of the Holy Spirit aids in the perception of great universal truths. Thus great men like Milton, Webster, and Beecher attribute their power to an exalted state of mind and the aid of God through the Spirit. Moreover, there is the human element in all inspiration and suggestion. There is but one Spirit, but diversities of operations, and the result of the operations of this Spirit of suggestion, depends upon the character, culture, and knowledge of the individual. Therefore when interpreting any writing we must consider not only the circumstances surrounding the writer, but his character as well, and then derive the great general principles lifting them out of their peculiar setting.

But what are the tests of divine suggestion? In the first place it must contain something which is universally true and fundamentally important. In the case of Peter's vision, the important thing was the universal truth that God is no respecter of persons. Secondly the truth taught by the inspiration must be in harmony with every other truth. That which purports to be divine truth must fit all other truths of the universe. A new truth will be an addition to the truth already known, but not a contradiction. Finally, the teaching of the inspiration must agree with sound and fundamental morality. If it does not it cannot be from God, and the inspiration is not divine.

THE COLLEGE MAN.

When the college student reflects on the small percentage of persons who ever get more than a high school education,—and that especially in a time when the college-bred man is such an important factor in the world of business and politics,—he cannot but feel himself one of the select few of the land. His opportunities for mental and social development while at college are conceded to be far superior to those of his less favored friend who is compelled to stay at home and start life with a smaller far superior to those of his less favorvidual, then, he is expected to be a leader in the community where he may settle after his college course. And unless he can measure up to the requirements commensurate with his higher advantages, he will be considered a weakling and even outstripped in the race for success by his more energetic and aspiring high school classmate.

A BEAUTIFUL CAMPUS.

Already during vacation was begun the usual spring work of cleaning up the campus and bringing things in general about the buildings to a neater appearance than that which the winter rains and snows left behind. While this work has by no means yet been finished, it can be readily seen that even a little effort along this line makes a marked change and enhances the pleasantness of the college surroundings. And the college surroundings are, in a sense, just as significant to the student as are some of his class room efforts. That which he sees from day to day and from week to week cannot fail to leave its impress upon his mind. This impress makes either for good or bad; and for that reason, it is of prime importance that the University campus be as beautiful as possible. To the student-body belongs not a little of the effort in this direction. The unnecessary and, indeed, obnoxious practice of scattering paper or other refuse matter over the campus must surely be unsightly to any one with the least esthetic sense; and just in this respect there is much room for improvement.

The Orange and Blue will always deem it a favor if anyone will send in news which would otherwise fail to reach the Editors. The paper is the students 'weekly, having as its primary object the publication of news. To that end, therefore, anybody connected with the institution may do his part.

NAVY BLANKED BY BUCKNELL

ter to Soper. Clark gathered in Wilson's drive to left and Jones wilted on first.

Seventh inning—Erwin took Loveland's fly to center. Manning drew a pass, Clark flied to left and Northrop expired at first.

Lange swung at three of Northrop's curves and went to the bench; Henderson to Soper retired Northcroft, and Munk and Soper sidetracked Abbott.

Eighth inning—An error by Gilliam gave Henderson safe passage to first but he was caught napping off the bag and retired. Munk was hit by the ball. Soper and Daggert went down on hits to the infield.

The Navy got its first and only hit of the game in the eighth. Hambsch, the Middy captain, led off with a single. Anderson walked and the runners worked a double steal. With runners on third and second and none out, Northrop fanned the next two batters, Erwin and Gilliam, and the side was retired without a run on Wilson's fly to Munk.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

The county fair, to be given on the 12th, 14th, and 15th of May under the auspices of the Bucknellians, promises to be the attractive feature of the spring term. Manager Darlington announces that he has prepared a program for the vaudeville entertainment that will be hard to surpass. Quartettes, vocalists, musical clubs and entertained from the college have been secured to perform and outside talent will be engaged.

The college fraternities are working on special attractions and the sororities and alumnae of the town are busy making articles for the "fancy work" counter and are planning an elaborate menu to be served at the lunch tables on that occasion.

The committee in charge is willing to receive donations of any kind that would be appropriate to a country fair.

Y. M. C. A.

On Thursday evening the Y. M. C. A. held a Harvey meeting, at which both the matter of raising the Harvey fund this year, and the life and work of Harvey, were discussed. Mathias, '09, was the leader of the meeting, and in a very interesting talk he told of the place Harvey has always occupied in Christian work, his enthusiasm to help young men, and his rich experience as a Y. M. C. A. secretary. The greatest and best work of Harvey, however, has been done in Tien Tsin, China, where he has performed and is performing excellent service among the young Chinese of that city. The expenses for Harvey's work in China are being borne wholly by the college Y. M. C. A's, of this state.

BUCKNELL ALUMNAE CLUB.

The Bucknell Alumnae Club met in the Institute parlors on Tuesday evening. The severe storm made the attendance small, but those who braved the weather enjoyed an excellent program. Miss Lutz sang, and Miss Boynton played a piano solo. Mrs. Bourne read a very fine paper on "Temperance," and Miss Anna Judd gave an interesting summary of current events.

ALUMNI NOTES.

At a recent meeting of the Carlisle Presbytery, a call was presented for the pastoral services of Rev. George F. Baker, '97, from the Great Conewago church.

The Philadelphia-Bucknell Club will hold its annual banquet in Philadelphia on Friday night, the 23rd. Pres. J. H. Harris and Dr. Enoch Perrine have been invited to speak on this occasion.

"Mickie" Sheehan, '08, who has been spending several days at the college, and who was captain of last year's baseball team, has signed with the McKeesport team for this season. He will play in the outfield.

MEDICAL SOCIETY.

The regular weekly meeting of the Bucknell Medical Society was held on Friday afternoon in the Anatomy Room, when the matter of Alkaloidal Administration and its Advantages were taken up and discussed by F. J. Gronde, '11. Mr. Gronde showed how and why the alkaloids have a decided advantage over the crude drugs, tinctures, and fluid extracts of the Pharmacopoea. They insure greater accuracy in dosage, give quicker results, are more readily dispensed, and represent the important active principle of the drug. The nauseating effects of many drugs are also thereby dispensed with. There are, nevertheless, some cases in which the drug itself and its preparations are indicated. These must be determined by the physician in his diagnosis.

President Youngken enlarged upon the subject with a supplementary talk in which he laid particular stress upon the physiological action of the most important alkaloids.

BUCKNELL LEADS IN WAR DANCE

CARLISLE PLAYS PLUCKILY.

To the Tunes of the Band, Northrop Leads in the Merry Jig. Score 10-0.

Bucknell led the Carlisle Indians a merry war dance on the University field Saturday afternoon when they took the visiting braves into camp to the tune of 10-0. Captain Northrop did the fiddling for the Indian jig and held the Redskins at his mercy. He scored fourteen strike-outs, securing the scalps of eight of the visiting batsmen, and also led his team in hits with a homer and a single.

The Indians came to Lewisburg direct from State College where they lost on Friday by a score of 4-2, with Tarbell, who twirled the latter part of the bucknell game, in the box. A large crowd turned out to see the Redskins. It was the first big game of the early baseball season for Lewisburg and the hillside overlooking the athletic field was well filled with spectators when Umpire Wolfinger called the game at 2.45.

The college band made its initial spring debut at the game and hit up a lively air as the Bucknell players took the field for the opening inning. The Indians were easily retired in the first inning. Derr, the first batsman, and Libby, the third, both struck out, and Twinn died at first. In the third O'Leary dropped the ball on Hayes' third strike and the Indian reached first on the error. This was the first Redskin to get as far as first base again until the fifth when Marcus lined the ball past Munk for a single. Henderson juggled the ball in the sixth and allowed Twin his base and in the eighth Tarbell's grounder got away from Munk. The best the visitors could do was in the ninth when they got two men on the bases. Twin was safe on Loveland's poor throw to first and Libby singled to left. Northrop fanned Newashe and Daggert made a pretty catch of Ballenti's drive between right and center, doubling up Libby at second.

Bucknell scored first in the third. Daggert drew a pass, was sacrificed to second by O'Leary and came in on Loveland's pretty drive over second. A wild throw gave the local shortstop an extra base. He went to third on Manning's base hit, the latter stealing second. Clark placed a hunt down the third base line and Twin fielded brilliantly but threw wild to catch the runner at the plate and Loveland scored. A trick play brought Manning in a moment later when Clark coached a throw to second on a feigned steal.

A grand batting matinee in the fifth contributed six more runs to the Bucknell score. Manning walked, stole second and came home on Clark's drive through second and an overthrow. Clark stopped on second but trotted home a minute later when Northrop lifted the ball over the railroad tracks on a beautiful drive to right. Ground rules gave the Bucknell captain a home run on the hit but he circled the bases. Newashe, the Indian catcher, attempted to head him off at the plate and as he slid, jabbed him fiercely in the face with the ball. Northrop laid on the ground, dazed for a moment and indignant players and spectators, thinking that he was seriously hurt, rushed at the offending Indian. Quiet was soon restored, however, without any harm being done.

Newashe replaced Houser in the box after play was resumed but Bucknell tallied three more runs before the inning ended. Henderson fanned. Munk and Soper drew singles and Daggert again walked, filling the corners. O'Leary sacrificed, registering Munk at the plate. Soper and Daggert tallied before Loveland's infield drive was fielded home. Manning drew a pass and Clark was hit by a pitched ball. With the bases full, Northrop again came to bat. Spectators caught their breath when he straightened out one of Newashe's curves on another long drive to right. The ball went higher and not so far as his former hit and Hayes, the Indian right fielder, got under it.

Tarbell went into the firing line for the Indians in the sixth and prevented a further massacre. The local batsmen found him for one run in the eighth. Manning and Clark both walked. Northrop knocked a grounder out between first and second which hit Clark as he was going to second and the runner was retired. Northrop stole second and Manning registered on Henderson's sacrifice. Munk was out on a foul fly to Twin.

Clark did brilliant work for Bucknell in the outfield, pulling down everything that came into his territory. He scored four put-outs three of which were on hard chances.

ALUMNI BANQUET

PHILA. B. U. CLUB HAD ANNUAL DINNER ON FRIDAY.

The Bucknell Alumni Club, of Philadelphia, holds its annual meeting and banquet on Friday evening at Kugler's in that city. Dr. Paul J. Pontius, the President of the Club and an active worker in organizing the Bucknellites of his city, was toastmaster. There were about one hundred members and guests present, including many of the most influential men connected with the University.

Among the speakers were President Harris, who spoke on "The University;" J. Thompson Baker, "Dear Bucknell;" Dr. Enoch Perrine, "Alumni et Facultas;" Rev. Thomas Henry Sprague, "The College Man in Cuba;" and Romaine Hassrick, "Publicity."

Other guests were Dr. G. M. Phillips, principal of the West Chester Normal School; Joseph Wolfe M. Wolfe, and the Rev. Dr. Milton G. Evans.

THE BUCKNELLIAN FAIR.

The fair which will be given on the 13th, 14th and 15th of May under the auspices of the Bucknellians needs the support of every student to make it as successful as it ought to be. The girls of college, too, it is hoped by the management, will contribute small articles that can be sold at the "fancy work" counter, or any donations that would be appropriate for such a fair.

Some of the attractive features thus far promised will be a big street parade on the 13th, and an excellent vaudeville show. The Bucknell Band and the Guitar and Mandolin Club will furnish music, while on the evening of the 15th, the day of the State-Bucknell game, there will be a big dance.

INSTITUTE STUDENTS GIVE ANNUAL SOIREE

"WHEN FAIRIES REIGNED."

Many Invited Guests Were Entertained by Kings and Queens, Princes and Princesses.

The Fourth Form of Bucknell Institute gave their annual Soiree on Saturday evening in the Institute Chapel. They presented the play "When Fairies Reigned," an adaptation of the old favorite, "The Sleeping Beauty," arranged by Miss Hannah Bubb, a member of the class.

The curtain rose at eight o'clock, and transported the audience to the fairyland of childhood, where kings and queens and princes and princesses abounded, and fairies lured in every shady dell. While, of course, the main interest lay in the fate of the princess, yet many episodes, with their realistic touches, added to the charm of the play. Among them were the lovemaking between the Lord Chamberlain and Lady Trystina, the delightful self-sufficiency of the king, the amusing petulance of the queen when her claims to recognition were ignored, the crabbed crankiness of the king's grandmother, and the dismay of the Chamberlain when the Poet attempted to read to him, one of his own compositions, fifty pages long.

The costumes were elegant and suitable. The king in his ermine-bordered robe, the jester with cap and bells, the peasant girl in her picturesque, print gown, the princess in her quaint, old-world court dress, the princess in her dashing velvet suit and cap with waiving plume and the fairies in traditional garb, all were artistic.

The acting was natural. It bore witness to the exceptional ability of Miss Schillinger in training her pupils for dramatics. The sleeping scene was especially good where the princess slept between the sleeping king and queen; the Lady Trystina and the Lord Chamberlain slept in each others arms, and even the court fool and the king's grandmother slept. The prince's attempts to arouse them, before he broke the spell by kissing the hand of the princess, were quite comical.

A noteworthy feature was the solos and choruses scattered throughout the play. In fact the whole play was enlivened by the continuous, suggestive accompaniment played by Gretchen Radack, '11.

A large number of invited guests were present. They expressed their appreciation of the pllay, in the reception which followed.

The dramatis personae were:—

The program was as follows:

ACT I. Throne Room in the Palace.
ACT II. Scene I—Seventeen years after. A Peasant Cottage. Scene 2—Evening of next day. Room in the Palace.

Do not forget the conference to be held next Sunday and Monday by the three Baptist Theological Seminaries.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

In the absence of Dr. Harris, the College Bible Class was addressed by Professor Phillips, who presented a study of the social features of the church as it existed previous to the coming of Paul.

The church, which was essentially a social group or society, began with about one hundred and twenty members but increased in numbers to about five thousand in five years. Those of the apostles who had been with Jesus from the beginning of his ministry to the end, formed the nucleus of this group. Closely associated with them were the mother and brothers of Jesus, who aided much in preserving the words and teachings of Jesus. The majority of the group was composed of women, who were accustomed to contribute to the support of Jesus and his apostles, and of the multitudes from the middle classes.

The task of promoting the work begun by Jesus was performed by the apostles, since the multitudes, following the Jewish customs, assumed a passive attitude and allowed those vested with authority to advance the cause. All, however, lived in religious fellowship, in a communistic manner, under a great religious conviction.

Although they were strictly Jewish in practically all of their customs, they were vitalized by the hope of the nearness of the end of the world, and by the belief that their fellowship and work would hasten the consumation. They held that Jesus was the true Messiah coming to receive the good, destroy the wicked, and reign himself.

The permanency of their work was due to the gradual decay of the temporal and the development of the universal in their movement. The character of Jesus grew and grew until they saw him not as the Saviour of the Jews but as the Savior of the world.

PHI GAMMA DELTA DANCE.

The Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity gave an informal dance in the Armory on Friday evening. About thirty couples were in attendance. Music was furnished by Wintersbach's Orchestra, of Milton.

FRESHMEN MEET IN PRIZE DEBATE

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT.

Selections of Sterling Merit Given in Bucknell Hall for Annual Prizes Offered in Declamation.

On Friday evening, nine members of the Freshman class contested for the annual Freshman declamation prizes. A large and appreciative audience, drawn, undoubtedly, by the anticipation of a pleasant evening, had assembled in Chapel. The excellent and varied program which they heard left no one disappointed; for, whatever variety of taste may have been represented in the audience, there was something in the variety of tragedy and pathos, humor and melodrama, to delight everyone. But the real source of the pleasure was found in the different participants of the program, each of whom showed exceptional ability in declamation. The musical selections also added much to the pleasure of the evening.

The program was as follows:—

March . . . . . Miss Nixon.
Ingomar's Proposal . . . . . Hahn
Dale Davis Hollengaugh, Lewisburg.
Mona's Water . . . . . Anon
Alberta Lillian Pronson, Girardville.
How The Old Horse Won The Bet Holmes.
Frank Garfield Davis, Warsaw.
The Octoroon . . . . . Charleton
Eva May Rittenhouse, Granville.
Valse—Impromptu . . . . . Lack Miss Collins.
Wolsey's Farewell . . . Shakespeare
David A. McNeal.
The Swan Song . . . . . Anon
Helen Bottorf Waite, Lock Haven.
The Guarrel of Brutus and Cassius Shakespeare
Harry Reid Waltman, Millville, N. J.
Wanda . . . . . Bohm
Miss DeYoe
The Hundred and Oneth . . Donnelly
Florence May Clum, Scranton.
Mr. Winkle on Skates . . Dickens
John Cope Pastor, Harrisburg.

The speakers on the program need no higher commendation than the eager, undivided attention which every declaimer received. Only meritable production and pleasing delivery could have demanded such attention and been given such applause. The free, easy bearing on the platform and the clever interpretations of the selections showed that much preparation had been made for the occasion, and that each one is on a fair way to attain the purpose for which these prizes were set, proficiency in declamation. The winners of the prizes will be announced on the day of Commencement.

HARVEY FUND.

Special efforts are being made this year by the College Y. M. C. A. to raise what is known as the Harvey Fund, a sum of money to go to the aid of Chas. W. Harvey, '00, who is engaged in Mission work in Tien Tsin, China. When Mr. Harvey, several years ago, accepted the call to the foreign field, the College Y. M. C. A's. of Pennsylvania offered to furnish all the money needed by him. To this sum Bucknell, especially since she is honored in having one of her sons in the Volunteer Mission Work, promised to contribute yearly one hundred dollars. And this was done up to within a few years ago when interest in the matter waned. But this year the committee will ask each man in college to help secure again the promised amount.

CLASS CONTESTS.

Among the attractions which furnish the student body interesting and instructive entertainment during the Spring Term are the debating and oratorical contests of the different classes. The fact that each contestant has worked hard and trained thoroughly for the evening; the fact, too, that each has before him the hope of winning one of the prizes offered for the best production makes interest all the more keen on the part of the listener. But while there is a certain amount of honor in being among the chosen participants and which the prize lends stimulus to the contest, the primary value of such recitals is in the training received by each one who takes part. What difference does it make whether he wins a prize or not, provided he has opportunity to try out his speaking ability before an audience? Each student who expects to be called upon to do any kind of public speaking in the future should enter into these contests, for they afford him an excellent chance to learn to speak gracefully and forcefully in public.

A MIDNIGHT CELEBRATION.

A Letter to the Editor.

Dear Sir:—I want to call the attention of Bucknell students, through the columns of the Orange and Blue, to an incident which happened on the hill some time ago. It was the night after we beat the Navy that a number of fellows took it into their heads to celebrate the victory; and, to be sure, celebrating a victory is all right and very good as an encouragement for the team. But the objectionable feature about this particular celebration was the fact that it was begun when most peaceably inclined students were in bed. Furthermore, it was characterized by such a fearful howling and bellowing as to awaken nearly every student about the place, the whole affair being illuminated by a glaring bonfire which made the campus near the Library look, the next morning, like some gipsy's camping-place. Such a bit of rowdyism is far from genuine "college spirit," and if the students who stand for something at Bucknell would insist upon the maintenance of their rights, they would not be disturbed by early morning revelry.

Waffle Owens, '09, was elected delegate by the local chapter of Phi Kappa Psi to the District Convention of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, which is to be held at Harrisburg on Thursday and Friday of this week.

JUNTO LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Junto Literary Society elected the following officers; Pres. Smith, '10, Secretary, Bowman, '11, Treasurer, Coll. The organization has consented to enter a debating league with the Forum and Alpha Sigma.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Oliver B. Flinn, '89, is manager of the "Gold Reef Mine" at Phillipsburg, Montana. Mr. Flinn has been in the mining business for sixteen years already, working in Mexico for some time, and also at Cripple Creek, Col.

The Philadelphia Ledger of Sunday, the 11th, devoted nearly a whole page to the athletic record of Dr. Barclay, of Phila., whose death was recently announced in the Orange and Blue. The editor of the sporting section of that paper claims that Dr. Barclay was one of America's greatest athletes and gives an account of his numerous triumphs on the athletic field. Several cuts picture him in his different uniforms. Dr. Barclay began his career as an athlete at Bucknell.

Judge Martin Bell, '69, of Blair county, has won considerable favor in his section by his recent promise to the Ministerial Association of Blair county that in granting liquor licenses at the coming court he will apply judicial local option. That is, if the majority of the registered voters in any district in his county remonstrate against a license, he will refuse it. He will also refuse any license to a place selling to intoxicated persons or minors. As a result of his pledge, numerous remonstrances and affidavits have already been filed, and it is anticipated by the Blair county press that a number of licenses will be turned down.

Elkhart, Ind., and vicinity are well represented by former Bucknell students. Dr. Ophelia Staufft, '92, is a prominent physician of the town and Secretary of the Medical Society. A. M. Smith, '01, is city engineer of Elkhart, and another former Bucknell man, Mr. Bevan, only lately left that town to study medicine in New York. The town of Goshen, not far distant from Elkhart, has just as many Bucknell people. Chas. Baldwin, '08, and Allan Ritter, '09, are both teachers in the High School there, while Kate Berry, ex-'09, is taking Normal work at Goshen College. Dana M. Bower, '08, is head of the English Department in the Garrett High School. At Bristol, Hazel Knapp, '06, is Principal of the High School. Also Lewis Knapp, ex-'09, Junior in Electrical Engineering at Perdue University, and Donald Knapp, ex-'10, Junior in the Forestry Department at Michigan University, are not far distant from these other Hoosier Bucknellites; and the report comes from thence that jolly reunions are being held and that a Bucknell Club is expected to be formed.

MOOT COURT.

In Theta Alpha Hall last Wednesday evening, the Bucknell Law Club holds its second session of Moot Court. The question as presented by Judge McClure was:—

"Wilson, a merchant of Philadelphia, whose ship on a voyage from Melbourne to Liverpool was overdue, cabled Holden, a broker in Liverpool, to effect re-insurance upon her. Holden obtained insurance from Lloyds upon the ship lost or not lost. Two weeks before Holden was employed by Wilson, he had received information of a material fact tending to show that the ship was lost. Subsequent events revealed that the ship had in fact been lost some time before the policy was placed but Wilson did not know of or conceal from Lloyd any fact tending to show it. An action was brought by Wilson against Lloyds on the policy. Is the plaintiff entitled to recover?"

The Plaintiff was represented by Terrill, '10, and Abraham, '10, and the Defendant by Fritz, '09, and Metzgar, '10. The judges were: W. W. Johnson, Esq., C. N. Steininger, Esq., and H. M. Showalter, Esq.

Mr. Johnson rendered the decision of the court. After reviewing the case in detail, he stated that, in the opinion of the court, the Plaintiff should be allowed to recover, on the ground that the information was not in the mind of the agent at the time he took out the insurance, and that the information was not definite.

MINISTERIAL MEETING.

James M. Slifer will give an informal address to the ministerials at 7.00 o'clock on Saturday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. This will actually be the first meeting of the conference which is to be formally opened on Sunday morning by an address by Dr. J. T. Judd.

SYRACUSE LOSES TO B. U. NINE

'VARSITY IS IN FINE FORM.

Hard Hitting and Fast Fielding Wins Game; Numerous Errors Are Costly to Home Team.

In a game of tag with the weather last week, Bucknell slipped in ahead of the elements just long enough to overwhelm the Syracuse team but succumbed to a combination of snow, wind, rain and lightning, at Ithaca where it was scheduled to play Cornell on the day following the Syracuse victory.

The shut out scored by the weather man was almost as disappointing to Bucknell as a defeat would have been. It was the one opportunity of the year for Lewisburg nine to test its mettle against one of the teams of the Big Six and the prospects were very rosy for a Bucknell victory. Captain Northrop was to have been in the box for the local team against the Big Red nine and he and the rest of the players were in fine fettle for the contest. Cornell itself is said to have been a bit anxious over the game after the showing Bucknell made against the Navy and the Indians and would not listen to the proposition to postpone the game until the following day. Outside of the possibility of winning from Cornell, Bucknell also missed the opportunity of measuring up its prospects for the State game on May 15th. State was to have played at Ithaca on Saturday and the comparative scores of the Bellefonte team and Bucknell against Cornell would have proved valuable in making predictions as to the approaching contest between these rival teams.

The trip was saved from a complete failure by the graciousness of the weather which held back its April-day matinee long enough to give Bucknell a chance to win from Syracuse. The game was played Wednesday afternoon in the large athletic stadium at Syracuse and was an easy victory for the Pennsylvania nine. Score, Bucknell, 7, Syracuse, 2.

Hard hitting and fast fielding contributed largely to Bucknell's victory, while numerous errors assisted in Syracuse's defeat. A total of 12 hits was piled up by the Orange and Blue batsmen, whose outfielders also had eight outs to their credit. Syracuse, on the other hand, juggled the ball woefully and the players had eight errors to their discredit.

The victory was practically won by Bucknell in the first inning when three runs were tallied largely thro errors by the New Yorkers. Loveland was first at bat and he drove one at the pitcher which was too hot for the latter to handle. The shortstop fielded the ball but threw wild over the first baseman's head and the Bucknell runner went to third. Manning went down on an infield hit. Loveland was retired at the plate on Clark's attempted sacrifice, the latter reaching third on an overthrow to head him off at second. He registered on Northrop's hit to right and the Bucknell captain went to second, scoring on the rightfielder's error on Henderson's fly. Henderson tallied a moment later when the left fielder muffed Munk's fly. Soper was out at first retiring the side.

Clark and Manning did excellent work for Bucknell. News reports from Syracuse commenting on the game declare that the Bucknell outfield was the best seen in the stadium this season. Eight outs were scored in all by the outfielders and seven of these are credited to the two players mentioned.

The team will journey to Gettysburg on Tuesday and on Wednesday will play Dickinson at Carlisle. Dickinson will play a return game at Lewisburg on Saturday.

SOPHOMORE CONTEST

SELECTIONS OF SUPERIOR EXCELLENCE GIVEN ON FRIDAY.

The Sophomore class proved themselves equal to the Freshmen in ability to entertain an audience, when on Friday evening, eight of their number contested for the annual Sophomore oratorical prizes. Before eight o'clock almost every seat in chapel had been taken by a select audience who burst into applause when the contestants marched to the platform to the music of the piano played by Miss Dietrich. The participants proved themselves well worthy of the hearty applause, for they delivered an interesting and instructive program. Although the gentlemen, according to the rules of the contest, confined themselves to oratorical selections, still the nature and the style of each oration was so different that interest increased rather than diminished. Each selection was a masterpiece, taken from speeches of the world's greatest orators, and each participants showed careful training and preparation by the excellent manner in which he delivered it. By gesture, voice, and facial expression it was evident that each had caught the spirit of his oration and of the purpose for which it was delivered. In contrast to the deep and stirring tone of the orations, each of the young ladies rendered bright and humorous productions and carried their audience into a lighter realm. The musical selections by the members of the Bucknell School of Music also added variety to the entertainment. The program was as follows:—

ANNUAL L'AGENDA IS PUT ON SALE

WORK IS PRONOUNCED GOOD.

The Book Is Dedicated to the Late Wm. C. Gretzinger With an Appreciation by Dr. Perrine.

The Annual "L'Agenda," published yearly by the Junior Class of the University, was placed on sale Saturday morning by Business Manager Frank M. Jenner and his assistants. A large number of them have already been sold.

The appearance of the book is an improvement over former publications—as is customary it is bound so as to represent the class colors, having the black cover with gold lettering. A new feature is the gilt edge. The cuts are unusually clear, the drawings are novel and suggestive, and the pictures of the campus and of Lewisburg are well chosen.

The editor ,Homer B. Hedge, has displayed ability and skill in the arrangement of the material of the book. He has presented all the interesting facts and features which have occurred during the past year. Nearly every organization of the college has had its cut inserted, the Glee and Mandolin Club and the Bucknell Band being among the new ones.

The literary work is especially commendable. There is nothing that offends even the most critical. The personal writeups are out of the rut, and the regular literary work is a combination of wit and humor, with many high class literary touches. A history of the musical organizations at Bucknell is in a special way interesting.

The artists of the class have upheld the reputations of Bucknell's L'Agenda for high class sketchings. Nearly all of them are original, and the one introducing the officers and faculty is especially suggestive. The contributions by the Senor artists are exceedingly well executed and Philip Randall as class artist, has evinced unusual skill especially in his class introductions.

The book is dedicated to the late Wm. C. Gretzinger, who for twenty years was registrar of the University. "An Appreciation" written by Dr. Enoch Perrine, who was an intimate friend of the deceased registrar, expresses the regard of the entire alumni and student body toward Mr. Gretzinger, in his masterful and sympathetic style.

The whole book, both in appearance and in material is a high class production containing everything that interests any who have known or been connected with Bucknell and is a necessary part of the library of every Bucknellian.

CLASS MEMORIAL.

At the Senior Class meeting on Monday afternoon it was decided to erect an observation tower on East College as the memorial of the class of 1909. The initial plans have already been made, and the work will be pushed with the utmost haste in order to have it completed by the beginning of June. When finished the tower will always be accessible to both students and visitors.

LECTURE FOR BAND.

The Band intends in the near future to have a benefit lecture in Chapel by Prof. Bromley Smith. In order that the organization may fill the demands of college life, it too must have finances to carry on its work; and to that end it will hold this lecture, giving the students a chance in this way to help in the maintenance of a band.

CONFERENCE HOLDS ITS FIRST SESSIONS

LEADERSHIP IS DISCUSSED.

Series of Addresses Present the Conditions and Principles That Challenge Christian Manhood.

The Conference announced some time ago to be held at Bucknell in the interest of religious leadership, held its meetings yesterday and today. As an introduction to this series of meetings Professor Phillips addressed the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening on "The History, Principles, and Methods of Appeal to Religious Leadership."

Careful investigation by some men, as Dr. Harpel, led them to the belief that there has been a gradual decline in the number and quality of men entering the ministry. Consequently, at a meeting of the Inter-seminary Faculties' Alliance, held at Colgate in March 1908 it was suggested that efforts be made to raise up strong men for religious leadership by means of a series of conferences to meet at the various Baptist Colleges of the country. The men chosen as leaders of the conference at Bucknell were, Dr. Evans, President of Crozer Theological Seminary, Rev. Stiffler, of Boston, and Dr. Wallace, of Baltimore.

Dr. Evans and Rev. Stiffler arrived on Saturday and in the evening met the Ministerial Association in an informal gathering.

On Sunday morning Rev. Judd, of the First Baptist church, opened the conference proper in a sermon on the ministry, its need for efficient men, and the qualifications requisite for successful Christian leaders.

Rev. Stiffler addressed the Way of Life Meeting in the afternoon. In his discussion he spoke of the conditions surrounding the present ministry and the challenge which the ministry brings to American manhood. The preacher of today is simply an emancipated man, a Christian gentleman whose authority is God and his own character. Present conditions are such that if he is a strong man, his opportunities for creating public opinion are greater than that of any other man in the community. The men of today want to hear a man who has positive convictions and the courage to express them.

The ministry challenges the noblest qualities of manhood. The leader of his flock must have courage to stand to what he believes to be good and right. He must have patience, leading men to the Way of Life by love and compassion rather than by compulsion. His wisdom must enable him to see the needs of the time and apply the proper spiritual remedy. Then with absolute unselfishness in his work he may expect a reward of the deepest satisfaction.

In the evening Dr. Evans preached in the Baptist church on "The Permanency of Religious Leadership." Leadership, he said, is inevitable, because men are followers. Every person has not one, but many followers whether he wills it or not. Therefore every man should try to be the noblest leader that it is possible for him to be. Men are idealists rather than materialists. The foo-ball captain as well as the railroad builder are idealists, for they have definite visions of what they are to do to accomplish their objects.

But leadership in secular pursuits is not permanent. Leaders appear and are again forgotten. But religious leadership is permanent. The permanency of Mohammed in the memory of his followers is due to the permanency of his religious ideas. Likewise Buddha and Abraham have become permanent as leaders in religious ideas. For this reason, too, Luther is dear to the memory of the Germans, as Wesley is to England, and Moody to America. But far above every one else, Jesus mastered intellects of every variety, and brought a universal appeal. His leadership is eternal.

COMMENCEMENT.

The first appearance of the Seniors in caps and gowns several weeks ago, followed shortly by the announcement of the Commencement speakers, made the fact quite real that their student days at Bucknell are rapidly coming to an end. Most, probably, regret that such is the case, for their college days have been happy ones, and, then too, four years is not a long time to pass amid these pleasant surroundings. But the realization of approaching Commencement not only causes the Senior to look back on times well spent, but also compels him to look on into the future, to take a survey of the broad field of activity in which he must soon find his place. Thus Commencement actually means to most the choice of a life-work, and in the closing weeks of the year that is what many a Senior is up against.

BASEBALL.

Our baseball season is now well begun, and not a bad beginning it is either. With four games out of five to our credit, we have every reason to hope for one of the most successful years that Bucknell has for a long time seen in baseball. Although before the season opened, there was much reticence on the prospects of a winning team because of the fact that only two of last year's 'Varsity were back, the faithful practice, in spite of rainy weather, has developed a "nine" that for good "playing-together" is hard to beat. But in order that the student body may have perfect confidence in, and lend its best assistance to the work of the team, this corresponding earnestness is absolutely necessary. Every student has a right to expect every player to do his best. But every player has an equal right to expect every encouragement on the part of the student. Therefore there must be mutual fairness and mutual good-will between students and players to insure the future success which the results of the early games augur.

MIDNIGHT CELEBRATION.

To the editor of the "Orange and Blue:"—

I think such a communication as was published in the issue of last week should be answered and answered strongly. That a college man would think of writing such a protest, let alone offering it for publication, is to me a surprise. It is not only too true that Bucknell lacks a true and deep college spirit, it is, indeed, a fact that is lamented by all her loyal sons; but that the disloyalty should have reached such a state as the article printed indicates is too much almost to believe.

The article was undoubtedly written by a person who is selfish, one who would rather "catch a couple of snores" than get up to welcome a victorious team. It is true that the celebration took place on Sunday morning; but even if it did and even if the celebrants were in the wrong, they were vastly more in the right and as much more to be commended than their critic. More than that only part of the celebration was after midnight. It was run over into Sunday more by the zeal of the instigators to rouse an irresponsive college than by any sacreligious spirit. There was vastly more to the event to be praised than to be criticized harshly.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

Dr. Evans, President of Crozier Theological Seminary, addressed the Bible Class on Sunday. The lesson, found in Acts 13:1-12, records the selection of Barnabas and Saul as missionaries to the Gentiles. Luke, the Historian of the Acts, says that the Holy Spirit called them to the work. Men like Buckle say that history is determined by the configuration of the land and the environment of a nation, while Froude says that history is the result of the action of the human will. But these theories are at fault in their denial of the Divine power and efficiency. Luke, allowing the reader to add the environment and the human will, places particular emphasis on Divine power in history. All history must be interpreted as the combined results of these three factors. A man never attains his full force in the world until he interprets history and biography as the result of Divine guidance.

MEDICAL SOCIETY.

The Various Sects of Medicine and their teachings were taken up at the regular meeting of the Medical Society of the college on Friday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by Youngken after which Connor, '12, gave an interesting talk on the different schools of medicine. He traced their history back to the Ancient Egyptians, and laid especial stress on Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine, whose chief doctrine that opposites cure opposites is still adhered to today by the majority of institutions throughout the land. He then discussed Homeopathy whose founder was Hahnemann and whose doctrine is like cures like. The Electrics who ignore minerals and use only vegetable drugs, the Astopaths whose doctrine is concerned with the spinal nerves, and the Mataropaths were all taken up in order. In concluding, Mr. Connor showed how modern medicine demands a scientific basis irrespective of any sect.

Dr. Groff was present and augmented the discussion with a lecture replete in advice to the members.

DEUTSCHER VEREIN.

At a recent meeting of the Deutscher Verein the following were elected to active membership:—Misses Fahey, '10, Kates, '11, Radack, '11, Curtis, '11, Steinfirst, '11, Waite, '12, Weddle, '10, Cure, '11, and Messrs. Warmkessel, '10, Baldwin, '12, and Waltman, '12.

The Rev. Dr. M. G. Evans, '82, was unanimously elected president of the Crozer Theological Seminary, near Chester, at a meeting of the board of directors of the institution held on April 24 in Philadelphia. PHILA. B. U. CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Bucknell Club of Philadelphia, of which a partial account was given in last week's Orange and Blue, has been reported as one of the largest gatherings of the club in many years. The success of this meeting, held on April 23, at Kugler's, 1414 Chestnut street, was chiefly due to Herbert F. Harris, Esq., '96, of Camden, Harold Perrine, '04, and the members of the Executive Committee, whose efforts were untiring in getting into touch with every Bucknell man within earshot of the city.

From seven to eight o'clock an informal reception was held, during which the routine business of the the Club was transacted. Dr. Paul J. Pontius, '88, the President, presided and Dr. Albert Rowland Garner, '99, of Norristown, the Secretary, looked after the minutes. The following officers were elected:—Pres. Rev. C. A. Walker, '89, of Malvern, Vice-Pres. P. N. K. Schwenk, M. D., '76, of Philadelphia; Sec. Herbert F. Harris, Esq., '96, of Camden, N. J.; Treas. Albert Rowland Garner, M. D., '99, of Norristown; Chairman Executive Committee, Harold Perrine, '04, of Philadelphia.

The banquet which followed the business session was a most enjoyable affair. The menu cards, tastefully gotten up by J. Elmer Saul, '98, of Norristown, were especially attractive. On the front cover was the picture of the Main Entrance to the Bucknell Campus and there were also pictures of Dr. Pontius, the President of the Club, and of the late Wm. C. Gretzinger, whose genial and fraternal presence was sadly missed from the gathering.

B. U. DEBATING LEAGUE.

Bracken, '09, was elected delegate to attend the Lafayette-Gettysburg Debate held at Gettysburg on Friday evening.

DICKINSON PROVES HOODOO

Unfortunate Circumstances and a Strong Team Give Varsity a Set-back in Two Games.

Dickinson put a kink in Bucknell's string of victories last week, being awarded the first game at Carlisle on Wednesday on a forfeit and winning the second at Lewisburg at the end of the week by the figures of 4 to 1. The 'Varsity partly atoned for the set-back from Dickinson by taking a game from Gettysburg on Tuesday by a score of 3 to 1.

Special significance is attached to the Dickinson scores in view of the nearness of the first game with State College. This game is scheduled for Lewisburg on Saturday and Bucknell's chances for victory are still bright in spite of last week's set-back. State defeated Dickinson at State College just the day before the Carlisle team won from Bucknell. The fact that Bucknell lost and State won can hardly be taken as a criterion of defeat for next Saturday's game. Dickinson's victory here was colored with much luck. No one disputes that, but State may have the same kind of luck on its visit Saturday, and the local 'varsity has a hard week of practice ahead to prepare for such emergencies.

The Gettysburg Game.

Carpenter, the latest acquisition of the 'Varsity staff of pitchers, made his debut in the box against Gettysburg last Tuesday. He twirled a clever game, and helped out by strong support, landed a victory from the collegians by a score of 3 to 1.

Gettysburg made the first score, but Bucknell picked up the lead in the sixth and pulled out ahead by a batting streak in the eighth and ninth innings. Manning and Clark each drew two hits during the game, and O'Leary finished off in the ninth with a three-bagger. The line-up:—

The Two Dickinson Games.

Umpire Hanks was the pickpocket who pilfered a victory from Bucknell in the first game with Dickinson at Carlisle. That official forfeited the game to the Carlisle team in the ninth when Bucknell refused to continue the game because of one of his decisions which gave Dickinson the tying run in the ninth inning.

With the score 1-0 in favor of Bucknell, Latham came to bat in the ninth for Dickinson after two men had struck out, and lined the ball out over Daggert's head in right field. As the runner circled the bases excited spectators ran on to the diamond and when Soper relayed the ball to O'Leary and the Bucknell catcher tagged Latham three feet from the plate, the Y. M. C. A. LECTURE.

The College Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening held the last number of its lecture couse in Bucknell Hall when Lee Francis Lybarger, in place of Gov. Johnson who was to have lectured last fall, spoke to a large audience on "The Power of the Trusts."

The Lecturer began by showing that the trust is the greatest problem that confronts the American people, and that it is a problem of cause and effect which determines the conditions of daily life. He then went on and pointed out how the trusts manage and control the business and industry of the nation by centralizing authority and making a monarchy in he industrial world. Their motive is to destroy competition, establish monopoly, and extort all they can from the common people. The scope of their power is so great that they already control all the necessaries of life, and have thus made slaves of the mass of people. They owe their power to special privileges which are best seen in the protective tariff which this country maintains, in railroad discrimination and extortion, and in the ownership of the vast sources of supply.

BUCKNELL ALUMNUS DIES.

Dr. William H. Finn, '59, a well known physician who did splendid work with the hospital corps during the civil war, died Wednesday, May 5, at his home in Philadelphia, aged 74 years. After graduation from Bucknell he entered the Medical School of Harvard and graduated from that place with the class of 1863. He was a member of the Historical Society and formerly a member of the University Barge Club a brother of John Mutin Finn, of Coatesville, a member of the class of '54. The funeral took place on Saturday from his home.

ELOCUTION CONTEST

INSTITUTE STUDENTS DECLAIMED BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE.

The annual Elocution Contest of the Institute was held in Bucknell Hall, Saturday evenings. The room was taxed to its fullest extent to hold the large and appreciative audience. The nine young ladies who participated in the affair took their places on the platform to the music of a march played by Miss Reed. Professor Edwards then made the invocation, and the program followed. The recitations, varying in their character from broad humor to stern seriousness, were almost without exception, well-rendered and correctly interpreted. The performers did credit both to themselves and their instructor, Miss Schillinger. The interludes of the music, and the accompaniments of the recitative selections, added interest to the entertainment. The program was as follows:—

BUCKNELLIANS TO HOLD COUNTY FAIR

MANY ATTRACTIONS BILLED.

In the Interest of Athletics, Students are Expected to Help Make Fair a Success.

This is our last announcement of the Bucknellians' Fair. The Fair will start with the usual and customary live stock parade on Thursday evening at five o'clock, headed by the Bucknell Band. Some of the stock is livelier than others but it is all alive and includes some of the livest ever seen. The parade will start from the Armory and will traverse the principal streets of the town. Immediately after the parade the big show will open.

On the outside of the fair grounds proper, the side show will be the first attraction bumped into. Here at seven o'clock sharp on Thursday and Friday evenings Moko, the missing link, may be seen on the out side of the tent. One free look a Fatima the famous Caucasian Beauty. Rang O Tange O and Abyssinia, the celebrated Italian trick donkey. Then you pay the small price of one dime and pass on into the side show to see the world's weirdest wonders congregated all at one time.

Next to the Fair Ground proper, you look over and listen to the most famous round up of vaudeville stars that ever assembled at one time behind the footlights. They will put on a bill that will make a Keith Circuit show look like a mis-placed confidence at a horse race.

The fair is an assured success if the efforts of the ladies in charge mean anything. They have been working strenuously for the past several weeks to bring matters up to the proper shape, and ready for the opening night. The armory will be handsomely decorated and should present a most striking appearance. There will be booths of all kinds on every hand for the display of wares and articles that will be sure to appeal to you, while in the line of attractions there will be vaudeville, a shooting gallery, Gypsy Maids and many features that will add to the interest and delights in spending an evening.

The County Fair will be held on two evenings only, and the third night, Saturday, will be devoted to dancing.

The combined cents of the community will make a good many dollars for the Bucknellians at the County Fair. And if everybody helps those helping the Bucknellians, the Fair cannot help being a success. The student body is especially urged to attend.

PAN-HELLENIC BANQUET.

The first annual Pan-Hellenic Banquet was held at the Cameron House, Friday evening, May 7. Twenty-eight members of the different fraternities gathered around the festive board with Humm, '09, acting as toastmaster.

Toasts were enjoyed from a number of students, and a very interesting talk was given by Dr. Enoch Perrine, a member of Delta Phi fraternity of Brown University and also a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

JUNIOR ORATORY EXHIBITION.

On Friday evening in Bucknell Hall, seven members of the Junior class will meet in the annual contest held by juniors for the prizes offered in oratory. The orations, which will then be given, are original, and the basis for awarding the prizes consists of superiority in composition and delivery. They are of such a nature as would be suitable to give at the dedication of buildings or monuments. The contestants have worked ed hard under the direction of Prof. Smith to make of their productions spirited orations. Members of the School of Music will furnish the program with musical numbers.

NORTHFIELD MEETING.

On Thursday evening the College Y. M. C. A. held a Northfield Meeting, and although Mr. Neil McMillan who was expected to lead could not be present, the subject was ably presented by Trauger, '11. Northfield, the beautifully situated town in northern Massachusetts, as the leader indicated, is known throughout the Christian world for two reasons;—it was the home and is the burial place of D. L. Moody, and its conferences of various kinds have an international reputation and influence. Of these conferences the Student Conference is, perhaps, the largest and most important.

Northfield, as a gathering place for strong college men, offers three main advantages. In the first place the genuine, broad college spirit which the student feels in his ten days' stay there gives him an ideal of what college spirit actually consists. Bible and mission study in the morning give way in the afternoon to clear, wholesome athletic events between the various colleges represented; and relaxation from the earnest discussions of life problems is secured in pure fun as in the Fourth of July celebration, an event besides which our athletic celebrations look tame. The Conference, then too, helps in the successful conduct of Association work in the colleges throughout the year. The leaders of College Y. M. C. A's may there learn the methods and the fundamentals of Association work. But above all Northfield is a place of inspiration. Daily contact with the best men of other colleges as well as with some of the best speakers of the country cannot but help to arouse the best that is in a man. No one will leave the Conference without getting a larger outlook upon life.

State Student Secretary Koehler closed the discussion with an earnest appeal that Bucknell, instead of sending six men as last year, send at least twelve to this year's Conference which will be held from July 2 to 11. And to that end the Association will bend its efforts.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE

GETTYSBURG SECURES CHAMPIONSHIP OF LEAGUE.

The final debate of the Intercollegiate Debating League of which Lafayette Gettysburg, and Bucknell are members was won at Gettysburg on Friday evening, April 30, by the Gettysburg team. The question was :—"Resolved, that a complete federation of the Protestant churches is necessary in order that the church may properly perform her duty to the present age." Aston, '11, Linn, '11, and Keiber, '10, upheld the affirmative for Lafayette, while Waltz, '09, Jenkins, '10, and S. F. Snyder, '09, represented Gettysburg on the negative side of the question. Prof. C. F. Sanders, of Gettysburg, presided, and the judges were:—J. H. Morgan, Dickinson College; E. T. Jeffers, York Collegiate Institute; and Frank B. Wickersham, Esq., Harrisburg.

Bracken, '09, who represented Bucknell at the debate, reports that the debate was very good, and that a large audience was present. According to the rules recently agreed upon, the winners are to receive gold medals as a reward for their efforts. Arrangements were already made by the committee for the first debate next year, which is to be held, January 14, at Gettysburg between Bucknell and Gettysburg. Bucknell is to submit the question. It was also learned at the meeting of the committee that Allegheny College at Meadville has signified its willingness to join the league, but at this time it is not yet known what action will be taken concerning the matter.

Bucknell Alumnae Club.

The Bucknell Alumnae Club will hold its last meeting for this year next Thursday evening, May 11. All members are urged to attend.

CONFERENCE CLOSED LAST MONDAY

EXCELLENT ADDRESSES GIVEN.

Dr. Wallace, of Baltimore, Presents the Last Talk on Christian Leadership in the Ministry.

The closing meetings of the conference begun last week at Bucknell in behalf of Christian leadership were held last Monday. At 8.15 A. M. Dr. Evans addressed the student body in chapel. He said that the duty of the leader in all departments of life is to create and keep alive faith and enthusiasm in some particular thing. To this end the prospective leader needs to develop a strong personality, clear up the doubts of his mind, escape wrong influences, and grow in generous judgement and faith in his fellow men.

At 11.15 A. M. Rev. Stiffler spoke on "The Glory and Fascination of Leadership." Leadership expresses the spirit of the pioneer. The moulding of society supplies a man with a normal excitement for which he was intended and created. Then the satisfaction which comes from Christian leadership is permanent. The man who raises the ethical standard of commercial and social life has performed something which endures. Moreover, moral leadership requires all of a person's manhood to succeed. All the manly virtues are necessary to sustain one's influence as a moral leader. A man with a weak personality finds no place as a leader in the improvement of social and moral conditions. Only he who is absolutely unselfish can free men from physical, intellectual, and moral slavery.

At 3.00 P. M. Dr. Wallace, of Baltimore, closed the conference by presenting the opportunity for leadership afforded by the Ministry. Constructive leadership appeals to the imagination of young men. There is no greater demand for such leadership than that of the Christian Ministry. There is, at present, danger of the degradation of Christianity thro the degradation of the individual churches. The morality of young men, even in colleges, has been lowered by outside influences. This is due to a weakness in leaders. The minister, the leader in Christian thought can raise the standards of morality by means of his influence with teachers, children, and above all, the mothers of the race. The pastor is favored by certain conditions which aid him to reach his people. He speaks to them often, and they expect him to urge them to the highest in thought and action. Besides he is called in as counsellor in the crises of life, in times of sorrow and joy, when the heart is tender and the mind flexible. Hence he has a splendid opportunity to lead men.

AN ALUMNUS MARRIED.

Elkannah B. Hulley, '07, of Lewisburg, until recently in the employ of Bucknell as traveling agent, was married to Miss Mabel Bess Ross, of Pittsburg, last December. The wedding had been kept a secret for several months and only lately leaked out. Mr. Hulley is now connected with a Pittsburg advertising concern.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER.

James Henry Raslam, D. D., '90, pastor of the Gethsemane Baptist church of Philadelphia, will preach the annual sermon before the Educational Society, Sunday evening, June 20.

PHI KAPPA PSI DANCE.

The Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity gave an informal dance at their halls on Saturday evening, Campbell's orchestra, of Sunbury, furnished the music.

The May number of the "Ladies Home Journal" contains an article by Mary Bartol Theiss, '94, on "The value of Girls' Fraternities." This article, like many others of a kindred nature by the same writer, shows literary ability, and is a clear, argumentative treatment of the subject.

GAME AT DICKINSON.

The baseball game between Dickinson and Bucknell at Carlisle last Wednesday can only be considered an exhibition of poor sportmanship on the part of Dickinson. The opinion of a tristate umpire who witnessed the game was, that the man, concerning whom the dispute arose, should have been called out immediately when the crowd rushed on the field. The interference of a crowd on the field would render almost impossible the catching of a man at the home plate, but despite the interference Bucknell caught the man by at least three feet after the ball had been swiftly relayed to the infield.

Bucknell regrets that Dickinson should have allowed any such disagreeable ending to the game. The rush upon the field simply meant that Dickinson intended to tie the score at at the price of principle, or their reputation for fair deals. Of course the whole affair can be shouldered upon the umpire, but Dickinson could have very easily avoided the difficulty by abiding by this year's baseball rules.

"COLLEGE SPIRIT" AFFAIR.

If the so-called "celebration" very improperly designated as an exhibition of "college spirit" were thoroughly aired, there would be no doubt left in the minds of the student body as to whether we are loyal or not.

The student body would receive very little thanks if they interfered with a symposium. They might entertain the same thoughts concerning a "howl" instigated and continued during the early hours of the Sabbath by a few carousers unfortunately belonging to the same crowd. Bonfires and college spirit are mighty good things when lighted and exhibited in the right place and at the right time. We feel that nothing further need be said concerning this carousal which could only be identified with a college celebration when the person seeking the identification were in an unnatural state of mind.

While the Orange and Blue does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed in communications, it believes in such discussions as have been carried on the past few weeks, for they direct attention and thought upon matters which concern student conduct. We believe, however, that enough has now been said on all sides of the celebration question to make each one determine for himself what was right or wrong.

INTERCOLLEGIATE.

The New York "Evening Post" recently published the following editorial criticizing the newly-established system of unlimited cuts at Columbia.

The stockholders of Swarthmore have recently revised the charter and made it technically non-sectarian, which it has been practically for years. This legislation will make the membership of its faculty eligible to the Carnegie Retiring Allowance Fund and will probably in this respect be very helpful. Heretofore it has been somewhat difficult to retain high class teachers for they preferred schools where this privilege was available.

The trustees of Pennsylvania State College have decided to abolish the preparatory department at the close of this year. In the early days of the college this was a two-years' course. Ten years ago it was decreased to one year. The trustees have decided that the abolition of the course entirely will be a great economy in money and space. Candidates for the freshman class who are deficient will receive instruction for a number of hours a week free of charge.

If college bred means four years' loaf,
Some people say 'tis so;
Oh, tell me where the flour is found
By one who needs the dough.

BUCKNELL BEATS GETTYSBURG NINE.

Umpire in the mix-up called him safe. Bucknell claimed that O'Leary not only tagged the runner but that he should also have been declared out in face of the spectators swarming on the field and interfering with the play. Dickinson refused to compromise by sending Lathan back to third and the Lewisburg players left the field.

In the return game here on Saturday Dickinson won by a batting rally in the ninth inning. It's victory may largely be attributed to the injury of Captain Northrop, who was hit on the ankle by a batted ball in the eighth but pluckily continued the game. He had held the visitors to one hit up to the ninth but weakened perceptibly after hurting his foot. He hit the first batter up in the last inning and this, followed by a pair of singles and a home run hit, which got away from Manning, gave Dickinson four tallies.

Monk started a rally in Bucknell's half of the ninth. He doubled to center, Soper singled and the shortstop juggled Daggett's grounder allowing Munk to score. O'Leary walked but Soper was thrown out on an attempt to reach home on a pass ball, Loveland fouled to Gordon and ended the game.

VARSITY LOSES TO STATE COLLEGE

A TWELVE INNING GAME.

After Easy Victory Over Susquehanna, Bucknell, in a Close Game, Is Outbatted by Old Rivals.

Bucknell drooped its colors to its old rival, State College, Saturday in one of the hardest fought and most brilliant games ever played on the University field. Outbatted by its opponents, Bucknell fought pluckily for twelve innings and then only lost out through a bit of fortune, or rather misfortune, which gave State two winning runs and the game. The final score was State, 4, Bucknell, 2.

A great crowd of spectators, lured by fair skies and prospects of a good game, filled the hillside and bleachers and for nearly three hours watched in excited suspense the battle royal between the two rival college nines. The intensity of the excitement was increased by the tieing of the score early in the game and so stubbornly did each team fight for every advantage that they run neck and neck for nine consecutive innings. The crowds caught the spirit of the contest and throughout the twelve exciting innings the hillside echoed and reechoed with challenging yells intermingled with the hoarse honks of automobile horns and the softer strains of band music.

Still sensitive to the sting of last year's defeat, State came to Lewisburg intent on revenge. It got it but in the getting brought no dishonor on Bucknell whose plucky playing won it glory even in its defeat. The Blue and White nine played hard and fast. They found Captain Northrop easier than last year and hit him hard at times, but the Bucknell leader kept the hits well scattered and backed by splendid support, pulled himself out of several holes. The one weak place in the Orange and Blue line-up was the backstop. O'Leary, the regular catcher, was ineligible to play in the game because he was not registered last fall. His place was taken by Druckenmiller, who caught well but was unable to make the throws to second. State was quick to find the weak spot and stole bases with comparative ease until Daggett was brought in from right field to relieve Druckenmiller.

Following a tiresome delay occasioned by a dispute between the athletic officials of the two colleges as to the eligibility of Eberline, the State third baseman, and Soper, first base for Bucknell, the teams took the field without Eberline in the State line-up. Soper had been registered last fall and was allowed to play in the game, which was fortunate for Bucknell as later events proved. Kelley batted first for State and was retired on a grounder to Henderson. Vorhis connected with a two bagger and tallied a moment later on Workman's tripple. Hirschman hit to Loveland who threw to the plate to head off Workman but Druckenmiller dropped the ball and the runner was safe. McCleary flied to Henderson and Hirschman was doubled up at first.

Bucknell was unable to tally in its half of the first but in the second Henderson started off with a single to center. Dagget sacrificed, Henderson going to third and came in on an overthrow. Soper the next batter nearly put the ball between the memorial gates at the entrance to the campus on a beautiful drive to center. The runner easily circled the bases on the hit and tied the score. Munk reached first on an error by shortstop and stole second. Druckenmiller flied to Blythe and Northrop struck out.

Northrop settled down after the first inning and Skemp replaced Lynch in the box for State. The latter pitcher twirled a phenomenal game for the visitors and held Bucknell without a hit during the remaining ten innings of play. State had men on base in nearly every inning but fast fielding prevented further scores until the twelfth. Especially brilliant was the work of the fielders. Manning, Clark and Daggett all pulled in difficult drives. The work of the center fielder was exceptionally clever. He scored three outs and cut off a run at the plate by a magnificent throw from deep center in the ninth.

Twilight was beginning to fall when a generous streak of luck favored State and brought the battle to a close in the twelfth. Skemp struck out but the ball got away from Daggett on the third strike and the runner was safe at first. A wild pitch by Northrop advanced him to second and he reached third on Kelley's single to left. Munk took Vorhis' high fly in front of the plate. Workman drove a hot one past Henderson and Skemp and Kelley reached the plate with the winning runs before the ball was fielded. Hirschman and McCleary both struck out but the game was already won for State.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

B. U. WINS DOUBLES AND SINGLES FROM GETTYSBURG.

On Thursday, May 13, the Bucknell Tennis Team went to Gettysburg, and defeated the latter in a tennis tournament by a large margin. The Gettysburg players were not able to win either a double or a single, and the Bucknell players won out without any difficulty.

The doubles were played for Bucknell by J. Harris and Lowry and for Gettysburg by Clark and Smith. The scores were, 6-3 and 6-4. S. Harris, Bucknell, played against Smith, Gettysburg in the first set of singles, and won out by the score of 6-1, and 6-4. The finals were played by Lowry for Bucknell against Clark of Gettysburg, and the former won both. The score was 6-0 and 6-3. Gettysburg will come to Lewisburg on Thursday and play a return game.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK MEET.

On Friday afternoon the Lewisburg High school and the Milton High school held a track meet on the college campus, Milton winning by the close score of 31 to 27.

FRATERNITY BALL GAME.

Kappa Sigma fraternity on Thursday afternoon defeated Delta Theta Upsilon in a close and interesting game of baseball by the score of 20 to 19.

BIG COUNTY FAIR WAS A SUCCESS

SIDE SHOWS WERE POPULAR.

The United Efforts of Students and Town People Made the Armory a Pretty Scene of Activity.

On Thursday evening at five o'clock the Bucknellians opened the long expected Fair by a large street parade which started from the Armory, where the Fair was held, and passed through the principal streets of the town. The parade was led off by the University Band which for its first appearance in marching order made a fine showing. Following the band were floats gotten up by the students, carriages with the leading actors of the show, and following these a student drum crops which marched at the head of the column of live stock. Special features of the parade were the excellent display of dogs and the fine horsemanship exhibited by the marshals.

At seven o'clock the Fair proper began. The band was still on hand and played before the Armory until dark. In the meantime the side show in the large tent in front of the Armory was opened, and the crowds all evening were held spell-bound by the continued performance of acrobats, star singers, fancy dancers and the like. Especially noteworthy were the two-second brush sketches by the renowned artist of the show.

An admission price of ten cents also admitted one into the side-room of the Armory where a vaudeville show entertained crowded houses all evening. College and town talent made this one of the most interesting places of the Fair. Here the good singing and music by the College Mandolin and Guitar Club were very much appreciated, while dancing, declamation, and the juggler's arts supplied the audience with fun.

Moreover both the show and vaudeville were only side features of the Fair. The large Armory floor was the main scene of activity. In the center of the room a pretty rustic arbor served as a stand for selling lemonade. Along the walls of the room were ranged close together the ice-cream tables, cake and fruit stands, tents in which Gypsy maids told fortunes, bureaus where wedding were made to order, shooting galleries, a flower bower in which colonial dames with powdered hair sold roses. There were candy booths, and fancy-work counters, places that were all doing a rushing business the entire evening.

The way in which the room was decorated with college pennants, bunting and Chinese lanterns, the abundance of confetti, the loud yells of the criers advertising their special wares, and the cheerful faces and mingling of happy voices made the occasion appear more like an Italian carnival than a Lewisburg Fair.

The Fair on Friday evening, in spite of the rain and the fact that the Junior Exhibition in Oratory was held, was even more successful than the previous evening. New features in the sideshow and vaudeville gave additional interest to these attractions. The band again played the greater part of the evening, while the Armory was more crowded and busier than Thursday evening.

It is seldom that one sees at a fair more effort and zeal shown in the work than was put forth at this Bucknellian Fair. The ladies in charge did their utmost,—as a glance in particular at their counters showed,—to bring success to the Bucknellians. And the manner in which the different fraternities threw themselves into the work indicated an interest in athletics, the purpose of the Fair, which is usually not ascribed to the student body.

On Saturday evening after the State game the Fair closed with a dance held in the Armory. From thirty to forty couples were present, and a Sunbury orchestra furnished the music. Students from State College, who remained over from the game, took part in the dance. The ideal evening and the fact that many visitors were in town did not draw the crowd that might have been expected.

MEDICAL SOCIETY.

The society had as its guest on Friday afternoon Prof. Bromley Smith who delivered a very instructive address on the natural vs. the superhuman treatment of disease. He showed how the clergy of the mediaeval and ancient times and some of the present day are opposed to anatomy because they consider the body the temple of the Holy Spirit. Cutting would be irreligious according to this doctrine. It is beyond the natural method to base any belief in miracles. There must be some natural reason in back of them. The so-called miracles are nothing more than mental suggestions. Prof. Smith traced the ill-feeling of many of the churches toward the medical profession from ancient times to today simply because the sacrifice and natural cure of diseases have done away with mystical and superhuman ideas.

PHI GAMMA DELTA.

The Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity held a Section Convention in Lewisburg on Friday, May 14. The chapters represented were State College and Gettysburg. After the convention a "Dutch" lunch was served at the Cameron House.

TRACK MEET

B. U. DEFEATS GETTYSBURG BY SCORE OF 71 TO 33.

On Saturday the Bucknell track team went to Gettysburg where on Nixon Field it won the dual track and field meet held between Bucknell and Gettysburg by the large score of 71 to 33. As Bucknell has had no winning track team for the last three years, the result of this meet came somewhat as a surprise to many students, and in addition makes the outlook for next Saturday's meet with Dickinson, who defeated us last year, appear brighter.

Twelve of the Bucknell team were point winners, four of them winning together 44 points out of the total of 71. Dufton led with 15 points, and the three next highest were McDonough, 11; Terrill, 10; and Butt, S. Thatcher and Drake tied for second in the pole vault. The referee was Dunkleberger of Dickinson.

The Summary:—

100-yard Dash—First, McDonough, Bucknell; second, Zinn, Gettysburg. Time 10 3-5 seconds.

120-yard Hurdles—First, Dufton, Bucknell; second, Hunger, Gettysburg. Time, 19 2-5 seconds.

One Mile—First, Butt, Bucknell; second Fairchilds, Bucknell. Time, 5 minutes 10 seconds.

JUNIORS HOLD ORATORY EXHIBITION

ORATIONS WERE ORIGINAL.

Seven Members of Class Contest for Prizes Offered on Superiority in Composition and Delivery.

On Friday evening seven members of the Junior class contested for the Junior oratorical prizes. All of the contestants had been chosen on merit based on their work in the rhetoric and oratorical departments. The feature wherein the Junior Exhibition differed from the two previous contests was in the fact that each oration was an original production and consequently thought as well as delivery had to be taken into consideration in judging the relative merits of each selection. The program was interesting and instructive because the subjects dicussed were varied and because almost everyone of them touched some vital issue of the present century. Each speaker handled his subject in a pleasing, up-to-date manner and adopted his style to the nature of his subject. Each speaker, too, showed careful training and preparation by the forceful, graceful manner in which he delivered his production. The piano solos by Miss Williams and a vocal solo by Miss Clum was an orchestral g feature of the evening. The p gram was as follows:—

March . . . . . Miss Williams

Orations Occasion Orator

Dedication of a Monument to the Private Soldier.

Everyday Heroes . . Homer Blaine Hedge, Scenery Hill.

A Classic Theatre.

A Temple of Justice.

Implications of Liberty . . Weaver Weddel Pangburn, Elizabeth.

Fantasie in D Minor . . . Mozart, Miss Williams.

A Laboratory of Applied Science.

A City Playground.

Who'll Buy My Lavendar. . . German Miss Clum.

A Museum of Modern Antiquities.

A Model Reformatory.

Modern Criminal Reform . Max Conrad Wiant, Connellsville.

The speakers on the program need no higher commendation than the eager, undivided attention which every orator received. Only meritable production and pleasing delivery could have demanded such attention and been given such applause. The free, easy bearing on the platform and the clever presentations of the compositions showed that much preparation had been made for the occasion, and that each one is on a fair way to attain the purpose for which these prizes are set, proficiency in public speaking. The winners of the prizes will be announced on the day of Commencement.

ATHLETIC EVENTS.

There is no game scheduled in baseball for the Varsity team this week, but instead of a ball game on Saturday there will be a track meet on the home grounds between Bucknell and Dickinson. The Dickinson team at the recent track meet at State lost to the State Collegians by the score of 70⅓ to 41⅔.

Two tennis tournaments are also scheduled for this week. The first will be with Gettysburg on Thursday at 3.00 o'clock, and on Saturday at 10 o'clock Dickinson will play against us. In a tournament with Gettysbury Dickinson recently won out. Both tournaments will be held on the Merry Widow Courts, Seventh and St. George streets.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ORATORY.

Bucknell is in an intercollegiate debating league; and while it is true that there is far too little interest displayed in the matter, it is not due to a lack of talent and ability in public speaking. An institution, the size of Bucknell, should not only take part in intercollegiate debating, but should also be a member of an intercollegiate oratorical union. We have every spring term a Junior debate, for which the participants have as preparation less than twenty hours class room work. This usually forms the basis for the intercollegiate contests. On the other hand we have courses in oratory extending over several years; we have Freshman and Sophomore declamation contests, all of which are very good. But with all this preparation, effort, and, we dare say, success, the work could be carried much further, and we could yearly have several intercollegiate oratorical contests as well as intercollegiate debates. Here is a chance for some one interested in oratory to take the first necessary steps in the promotion of a good phase of college activity.

INTER-FRATERNITY BASEBALL.

We note with pleasure that during the past week a game of baseball was played between several fraternities, and it is safe to say that there are others who are just as much as we. The fact of the matter is that Bucknell is a trifle backward in this kind of sport. Brown University, for instance, and many others who, to be sure, are larger than our institution, have both fraternity leagues and class leagues. This might not be possible at Bucknell, but it is possible to have more games of this kind. And in this way too the greater majority of the students come into close touch with athletics, become interested more in out-door sports, and in that way derive the real benefit from athletics for which they are intended. Of course this idea does not only hold true to fraternities. It can be done just as well by the various clubs and organizations. Last year, it will be remembered, there were class games conducted by the Y. M. C. A. to raise funds, and the games were fairly well attended. Hence it is quite evident that the good start that was made last week in a student's game should be followed out by other organizations.

Y. M. C. A. ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Susquehanna Game.

Bucknell easily won from Susquehanna in the return game played at Selinsgrove last Wednesday. The Susquehanna team had the lead early in the game but Bucknell went ahead in the sixth and won out with the figures 9-4.

Carpenter started the game in the box for Bucknell but was touched up for three hits and a total of four runs in the third and was replaced by Northrop. The local Varsity captain held the Selinsgrove nine without further score. Musser was in the box for Susquehanna and twirled an excellent game but was given miserable support.

FROM THE BUCKNELLIANS.

The Bucknellians through this medium desire to express their appreciation of the hearty co-operation accorded them by the College, College girls, and Seminary, which co-operation together with that of the ladies of the town, constituted so largely to the success of the Fair, and for the same we hereby wish to express our thanks.

THE BUCKNELLIANS.

TRACK CAPTAIN.

The Executive Committee of the Athletic Association at a meeting last Monday appointed Hallman, '09, as track captain. The basket-ball team's deadlock in the election of a captain was not decided, but a new election was ordered, and the members of the team given another chance to select their captain themselves.

ONE TWILIGHT CONCERT.

The Memorial Day services in Lewisburg will be held on Monday, May 31st, and the Bucknell band will furnish music on the occasion. The memorial address will be delivered by Dr. Enoch Perrine.

INTERCOLLEGIATE.

At Harvard the Delta Upsilon fraternity has, for the past eleven years, presented with marked success some of the masterpieces of Elizabethan Comedy. On April 12, they presented Chapman's "All Fools," and they have given Ben Jonson's "Eastward Ho," "The Alchemist," "The Silent Woman," and others of like note. Here is a splendid way by which fraternity ability and energy may show itself.

The University of Michigan has the oldest Young Men's Christian Association. It was organized on October 12, 1858, and has a present active membership of five hundred. It is interesting to note that while Yale University was named after its famous student, Elihu Yale, two centuries ago, not a student by the name of Yale has matriculated there since. This is also true of Harvard University.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

The College Bible Class was addressed, on Sunday, by Professor Phillips, who discussed the book of Acts in its plan and purpose, its composition, and its credibility. The Acts is literary history rather than pure history; that is to say, the author of the Acts, like other Biblical historians, wrote with the purpose of teaching some truth, and therefore collected and presented his material to set forth that particular idea. The general plan of the book with its divisions, the manner in which the story of Peter is suddenly dropped and a new man, Paul, brought to the front, and the depiction of the Roman environment as favorable to the movement of the church show that the purpose of the writer was to ultimately win the favor of the Roman government.

Luke drew his material from three main sources. Concerning Paul's work, Luke had Paul himself as an authority. Facts concerning the church previous to Paul's connection with it, the author obtained from written sources, while his own experiences furnished him with additional material.

The trustworthiness of a book must be judged from the sources which enter into the making of the book, and the attitude of the writer toward the material. Paul and Luke, as sources of the Acts, are quite trustworthy, while the material concerning the church previous to Paul, because it contains primitive elements, and is narrow in doctrine, may be considered as coming from the early church. The attitude of the author, as shown by his testimony and his life, should induce us to regard his work as worthy of our confidence.

BUCKNELL WON TRACK MEET

In a Drizzling Rain Runners Make Good Time. Dickinson Led In Field Events. Score 62 1-3 49 2-3.

Bucknell won from Dickinson in the dual meet held at the University field Saturday afternoon. The meet was closely contested and went to the local athletes chiefly through their clever work in the dashes and distance runs. Dickinson had the better of the field events. The final score in points was Bucknell 62 1-3, Dickinson, 49 2-3.

Drizzling rain and a wet track made conditions unfavorable for runners and spectators alike, but in spite of the weather fast time was made by the contestants and the spectators forgot their discomfiture in the excitement of the contests. Our college record was broken in the two mile run and the runners skimmed the dmic down close in other events.

The most sensational race of the afternoon was the one mile run won for Bucknell by Butt, '10. Starting in the rear with four contestants Butt refused to be dragged in the trap set by the Dickinson runners who tried to tempt him into a spurt on the first lap. Yarnell who set the fast pace for the visitors turned the lead over to Seltz after the second lap and the latter had the Bucknell men outdistanced by nearly 30 yards when the runners took the last turn. As they reached the last quarter Butt gradually narrowed down the distance between himself and the Dickinson man and swung into the home stretch only a few paces behind him. He then spurted and passed his opponent, reaching the tape an easy first.

Sacrificing first place and a new time record, Butt slacked up at the end of the two mile to give first place to Fairchilds who had run a splendid race against Myers, of Dickinson. Butt took the lead early in the race and maintained it until near the finish. He had already won his "U" in the mile run and slowed up to let Fairchilds who had spurted ahead of the Dickinson man, pass him. Fairchilds not only won his "U" but reduced the local track record for the two mile from 10.56 to 10.52.

MacDonough showed splendid form in the dashes. He took the first heat of the 100-yard dash without difficulty and later won the final dash by a fine burst of speed after a bad start. In the 220-yard dash MacDonough again beat Samuels, and Captain Washabaugh, the crack Dickinson runners, to the tape.

Dickinson took the first place in the weight and broad jump while in the other field events the Bucknell men divided honors for first.

120-yard hurdle—Ambrose, Dickinson, first; Dufton, Bucknell, second. Time, 16 2-5

Mile run—Butt, Bucknell, first; Yarnell, Dickinson, second. Time, 4 52 2-5

220-yard dash—McDonough, Bucknell, first; Samuels, Dickinson, second. Time, 23 1-5

Half-mile run—Day, Dickinson, first; Terrill, Bucknell, second. Time, 2.10.

220-yard hurdle—Green, Bucknell, first ;Day, Dickinson, second. Time, 29 2-5.

Pole vault—Tie for first. Thatcher and Drake, Bucknell; Lewis, Dickinson. Height, 8 feet 6 inches.

High jump—Tie for first, Gufton, Bucknell, and Hallman, Bucknell. Height, 5 feet 6 inches.

Referee; Prof. Smith, Bucknell.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

The Bible lesson for Sunday was the fifteenth chapter of Acts. Here, as Dr. Harris pointed out, is recorded the final break of the Christian church from Judaism and the preparation for the universality of Christianity. Four chief events mark the progress of this separation: fir ?es ts sent out the apostles as missionaries to the whole world; second, Peter was sent out to preach the Gospel to Cornelius, a Gentile; third, the church at Antioch took up missionary work in a formal way and set up a separate Christian congregation, and fourth, the apostles settled the question as to whether the Old Testament as a whole, was to be binding upon the Christians, or whether the New Testament only, was to be authoritative. While most of the Jews still clung to the old ritual, the apostles took only that which was universal in it and set aside the rest. Hence, while the Old Testament contains valuable laws, lessons, and illustrations, only the New Testament is regarded as having universal authority in the Christian world.

ARM BROKEN BY FALL.

While practicing at pole vaulting on Wednesday afternoon, "Taff" Neff, '11, accidentally lost his balance in going over the rod and came down rather heavily on his arm and shoulder, thereby receiving severe bruises and a broken arm. The injury, however, does not prevent him from being about.

TENNIS MEET

B. U. GAINED SECOND VICTORY OVER GETTYSBURG.

On Thursday afternoon Bucknell gained a second victory over Gettysburg in the return tennis tournament played on the Phi Psi court. At no time were the visitors dangerous, for they did not succeed in winning one set in either "singles" or "doubles." In the "singles" S. Harris represented Bucknell and Smith, Gettysburg. The scores were 6-3 and 6-4. The "doubles" proved more interesting than the "singles" as the two teams were more closely matched. Both sets were 'dence sets and two extra games had to be played each time before the the winners could be determined. Bucknell finished strong, however, and captured both by the scores of 7-5 and 7-5. In the doubles Lowry and J. Harris represented Bucknell while Clark and Smith represented Gettysburg.

The tournament with Dickinson which was scheduled for Saturday was canceled on account of rain.

BEN GREET PLAYERS.

The Ben Greet Players will give the "Tempest" on our campus on Thursday, June 10, and not on the 9th as previously announced. The performance will be in the evening, and not in the afternoon. In connection with the play they will give the music especially composed after Elizabethan manner, by Sir Arthur Sullivan. The audience may be assured of an evening of delight and profit that will be the very finest of its kind.

They will give precisely the same performance on the evening of June 4th in the Botanical Gardens of the University of Pennsylvania

The Argument.

Henri Marquis of Corneville, an exile, returns to his ancestral home of the occasion of the great annual fair which is being celebrated in the village that receives its name from his chateau. It is one of the old-fashioned Norman villages of the Seventeenth century.

In the First Act, the curtain rises on an assemblage of village gossips, discussing scandal and small talk. Serpolette is the topic of conversation among the belles of Corneville. Gaspard, an old miser, wishes to marry his niece, Germaine, to the principal magistrate of the district, the Bailli. This arrangement does not suit Germaine, nor a young fisherman named Jean Grenicheux, who pretends that he has saved her life from drowning on a certain occasion. To escape from the power of old Gaspard, Germaine takes advantage of the privileges of the fair and becomes the servant of the Marquis. Her example is followed by Grenicheux and Serpolette.

The Second Act is taken up with the supernatural visitors who have made the Castle of Corneville so long an object of dread. Henri determines to find out the real character of these ghostly appearances, and discovers that it is all the work of the old miser, who has concealed his treasures in the chateau. The discovery drives Gaspard crazy, especially when he hears the bells of chateau ringing for the first time since the flight of the Marquis.

The Third Act represents the grand fete given in honor of the return of Henri to his ancestral home. Serpolette arrives as a Marchioness, as some papers, found in the chateau, indicate that she is the lost heiress. The miser, however, recovers his reason, and shows that Germaine is the true Marchioness. A love duet between her and Henri, and the reconciliation of all the parties, bring the romantic story to a close.

SOPER WINS SHOES.

Through some mistake last week The Orange and Blue failed to announce the fact that Soper, the Varsity's first baseman, won the pair of shoes which Irey & Brobeck, the local shoe merchants, offered to the man who would make the longest safe hit in the State game. Soper's beautiful drive to center field, which netted a home run, procured for him the prize.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP.

The next qualifying examination under the Rhodes bequest will be held in October, 1909. The elected scholars will begin residence at Oxford in October 1910. Scholarships will also be open in 1911, in 1913, and 1914, and so on, omitting every third year.

The scholarship is valued at $1,500 a year and is tenable for three years. Candidates must be unmarried and between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five years. It has been decided that all scholars shall have reached, before going into residence, at least the end of their Sophomore or second year work at some recognized degree-granting university or college.

There are two scholarships for each state and territory. Selection in most states is made by a committee appointed by representatives of the colleges. In some states the appointments are made in rotation by the leading colleges.

For the examination of 1909, candidates will be examined in the following subjects: Arithmetic, the whole; either the elements of Algebra or the elements of Geometry; Greek and Latin Grammar; translation from English into Latin; unprepared translation from Greek or Latin or one Greek and one Latin book.

In accordance with the wish of Mr Rhodes the Trustees desire that "In the election of a student to a scholarship regard shall be had to (1) his literary and scholastic attainments, (2) his fondness for and success in manly, outdoor sports, (3) his qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy and protection of the weak, kindliness, unselfishness and fellowship, and (4) his exhibition during school days of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates."

SENIOR RECEPTION

LARGE NUMBER OF COLLEGE AND INST. STUDENTS PRESENT.

Thursday evening, May 20, Dr. and Mrs. Harris tendered their annual reception to the graduating classes of both Institute and College. The function was preceded by a very pretty ceremony at the Institute when the college boys lined up on either side of the walk, allowing the girls to pass through, and then fell in behind and closed the rear of the procession which took its way to the President's house.

Dr. and Mrs. Harris received, and very quickly succeeded in making their guests feel at home. The rooms were soon crowded with Seniors who made an interesting and distinctively academic picture in their traditional garb of cap and gown. Great masses of spring flowers, scattered about, completed the scene, and lent a touch of May to the air.

The animated conversation of the early part of the evening later yielded place to the singing of college songs, and the merry strains of such time-honored favorites as the "Spanish Cavalier," enlivened the occasion. Sprightly chat and laughter again held full sway during the serving of refreshments, while the orchestra supplied an accompaniment of music. All enjoyed themselves thoroughly and reluctantly took their departure.

About one hundred and twenty students were present in addition to the other invited guests, Prof. and Mrs. Edwards, Miss Bush, Miss Boynton, and Prof. Stolz. This large number was due to the fact that the present Senior classes, both of College and Institute, are the largest known in the history of the institution. Everybody reports a good time, and the Seniors are now somewhat better acquainted with each other.

JUNIOR ELECTION.

At a meeting of the Junior class on Thursday the following officers were elected for next year:—Pres., Abraham; Vice-pres., Hain; Treasurer, Roser; Secretary, Miss Lane; Historian, Miss Chapman; Poetess, Miss Gibson.

SENIOR CLASS TO PRESENT PLAY

REHEARSAL ALREADY BEGUN.

"The Amazons," A Farcical Romance in Three Acts to be given June 20 of Commencement Week.

On Monday evening, June 20, of Commencement week, the Seniors will present "The Amazons," a Farce in three Acts, by Arthur W. Pinero. Following is the cast of characters:—Ida Mabel Slout, Josephine Adelaide Hankins, Eunice Virginia Hall, Anne Frances Chaffee, Helen Dilling Cliber, Gilbert Harding Lyte, Earl Guilford Guyer, Milford Scott Hallman, David Walter Moore, Harold Lyman Hunter, Frank Herman Fritz.

In "The Amazons" Pinero permits himself to dally with the "mannish woman" idea in the lightest, gentlest spirit of satire, and in a most whimsical mood of romance. In the Tangle of Overcote Park we seem to hear distant laughing echoes from the Forest of Arden, and in Lady Noeline Beltarbet and Barrington, Viscount Dittterly, we fancy we recognize the descendants of Rosalind and Orlando.

The scene is laid in "The Tangle," an overgrown corner of Overcote Park and all revolves at Overcote Hall. Overcote is popularly known as a two hours' from London. The events of the play occur during a single in September day.

Concerning the popularity of the play in both England and America little need be said. "The Amazons" ran at the Court Theatre, London, until July 8, 1893, being originally produced March 7, 1893. By July 8 a hundred and eleven performances had been given, a record which spells success. The greatest success, however, yet achieved by "The Amazons" has been in America at the Lyceum Theatre, New York. Mr. Daniel Frohman produced it quite unostentatiously, and its triumph was immediate. The freshness, delicate humor, and unconventionality of the piece captivated the playgoers of New York and "The Amazons" became the talk of the town. A like popularity has accompanied the piece throughout the United States, where it is about to commence its second season "on the road."

Under the able and efficient coaching of Miss Edyth Schillinger, who has charge of the play, the cast of characters is rapidly rounding into shape. Arrangements for the play will be published later.

UNGENTLEMANLY CHEERING.

The Brown Herald, the daily publication of Brown University, in a recent editorial on "Ungentlemanly Cheering," severely arraigns the undergraduates at that institution for an attempt to "rattle" the pitcher of an opposing team. It says in part:—"The disorganized cheering in the ninth inning of Saturday's game, when, with two men on bases and none out, the Brown stands attempted to unnerve the Lafayette pitcher and players by hooting and rowdy cheering, was one of the most ungentlemanly exhibtions ever given by Brown undergraduates. It has always been our custom to frown on the practice of such tactics, and to pride ourselves on the difference in that respect between college and professional baseball. Last Wednesday, in the contest between Yale and Brown at New Haven, an attempt at disorganized cheering was made by the home stands, and the better sentiment at the Connecticut institution was so chagrined that the Yale News sent a special telegram to the Providence Evening Bulletin denouncing the spirit shown. Organized cheering only has a place in college baseball, and individual attempts at disconcerting opponents must stop."

While we do not pretend to insinuate that a similar condition exists at Bucknell, we, at the same time, heartily admire the stand taken by the "better sentiment" at the two New England Universities, and believe that students here can profit by the example. The motive to annoy an opposing team can hardly b called sportmanlike; and, ethically considered, it can in no way be justified. There is, however, a decided difference between organized cheering and the ungentlemanly tactics of making empty noise.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION.

On Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock the ministerial students and all others interested in Christan work are invited to meet with President Harris in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. A good attendance is desired.

Prospects for supply work this summer are better than they have been for a number of years. Several new men have already accepted offers to preach in the country districts, and new opportunities will likely be presented each week until the close of the school.

Another Big Game.

The strong Villa Nova baseball team will be here next Wednesday to meet the Bucknell nine on the college campus. The game will be clled at three o clock, and an admission of 35 cents will be charged. The Villa Nova team is a strong one, and has met with few defeats at the hands of the college teams.

INTERCOLLEGIATE.

Sixty-five years has been set as the age limit of the University of Minnesota faculty. Members of the faculty who have already reached this age will be asked to resign at the close of this year, and new members can make contracts to hold good only until they have reached this age.

The New York "Evening Post" recently published the following editorial critizing the newly-established system of unlimited cuts at Columbia.

"Learning will not long be on the defensive among college men. If every faculty adopts the new Columbia method of making scholarship a social asset. In the undergraduate world, as elsewhere, the social leader is thrice marked; he must be a gentleman of leisure, he must enjoy certain privileges, and these privileges must be made visible in the etiquette of his class. Heretofore, the athlete and the rich idler have possessed all three distinctions, but now a little brains and a little diligence will earn them on Morningside Heights. The bright student may play golf while his classmates doze uneasily through lectures; and his seat will be a badge of honor even more conspicuous than the oarsman's lettered jersey. To pass a course, he needs only to master it—and 'cuts' are no longer to be counted against him. Only one thing he lacks to make him rank as high as the athlete and the rich dawdler in the esteem of his contemporaries, and that is the disapproval of the faculty. But the material advantages of his status probably offset this; and, if they do not, he may still fall under the official ban by appearing only twice a year on the campus."

H. C. Gardner, '05, is in the employ of the Portland Cement Company at Easton.

Y. M. C. A.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A., on Thursday, which was under the general direction of the Missionary Committee, was addressed by Professor Hamblin. In the course of his address, he showed how Christianity had changed the spirit of the times and transformed men and nations, because it brought each man a personal Saviour. Christian missionaries, who necessarily feel that they have a personal religion, have aided in the extension of this spirit and transformation. And now that oriental nations are opening to modern civilization, it is of vital importance to the whole world, even for self-preservation, that the transforming spirit of christianity be brought to the nations of the East.

VARSITY DOWNS THE VILLA NOVA NINE

A HARD BATTING CARNIVAL.

Bucknell Players Showed Good Form In Wednesday's Game, But Fordham Won From Them Sat.

In a batting carnival on the athletic field on Wednesday afternoon of last week Bucknell won from the fast Villa Nova team by the figures of 10-9. The game was featured by heavy hitting of both teams and the bunching of hits towards the end of the game which gave a sensational finish.

The rest of a week and a half following the State game found the Bucknell players in excellent condition for the contest. Captain Northrop occupied the box and although he was clouted hard at times he scored eleven strike outs and pulled the locals out of numerous holes. The return of O'Leary back of the bat perceptibly strengthened the team. The clever little backstop clipped off a pair of runners by throws to second and third, respectively, and contributed to the score by two timely singles. Soper was also conspicuous for his work on first base. Twice he dug the ball out of the dust on erratic throws to the base and also stopped some hard drives into his territory.

In the batting Bucknell had a total of twelve hits, just threes less than Villa Nova, which numbered among its fifteen singles four three-baggers and one two-base hit. A home run by Manning was the only extra-base hit tallied by the locals.

The swat-fest began in the first inning and became more terrific as the game progressed. Bucknell took the field and Savage opened for Villa Nova with a single, was advanced to third on Monahan's sacrifice and walked to the plate on McGeehan's triple to center. Northrop struck out the next two batsmen.

Singles by Loveland and Henderson with a bunt by Manning sandwiched in between gave Bucknell the tying run in the second half of the first. The visitors registered another run at the plate in the third but Bucknell bagged two in the fourth and went one ahead. The lead thus seesawed back and forth until the sixth when the locals took the lead and maintained it for the remainder of the game.

In the eighth Bucknell was two runs ahead of Villa Nova when a timely batting streak raised the lead to four, which later developments proved was just enough for a victory. Two men were out when Loveland singled. The runner was still on first when Manning came to the bat and lined a hot one past first. The ball shot past the right field and rolled over into the railroad ditch where the Villa Nova fielders searched for it in vain while the runners circled the bases. The visitors came up with a strong rally in the ninth. Three singles and a triple netted them three runs, but four were needed to tie the score and the victory went to Bucknell.

Loses to Fordham.

Heavy hitting again featured the game with Fordham at New York at the end of the week when Bucknell lost to the Bronxonians by a score of 11-5.

It looked like a possible victory for the Orange and Blue players early in the game as they made the first score. In the third, however, the Fordham batters opened up on Northrop and four runners crossed the plate before the side was retired. Sprout later relieved the Bucknell leader in the box but was unable to stop the swatfest.

Clark, Soper, and Munk were heavy hitters for Bucknell.

TENNIS MEET

S. U. WINSS SINGLES AND DOUBLES FROM DICKINSON.

On Saturday the Bucknell tennis team journeyed to Carlisle to play Dickinson, and the weather conditions finally permitted the game, for twice before had these teams been scheduled to play on the home courts and twice rains had interfered and the games had to be cancelled. Dickinson is not as strong in tennis as in baseball and lost both doubles and singles to the Bucknell players. The singles were played by Richards of Dickinson and S .Harris of Bucknell. The score was 6-1 and 6-3. J. Harris and Lowry represented Bucknell in the doubles and won them from Baker and Vannever of Dickinson by the easy score of 6-0 and 6-3.

OPERATIC SOCIETY PRESENTS PLAY

THE "CHIMES OF NORMANDY."

The Bucknell Operatic society gave the public one of the rarest treats of the season on Friday evening, when they presented a comic opera, the "Chimes of Normandy." The proceeds are to be used for the benefit of the Dr. Elysee Aviragnet prize fund. A large stage, covering the entire front of the Hall, had been erected and beautiful effects were produced upon it by red and white footlights.

The characters of the opera were:

Serpolette . . . . The Good-for-Nothing
Alice K. Lutz.
Germaine . . . The Lost Marchioness,
Florence Clum.
Gertrude . . . . . Laura Hamil.
Jeanne . . . . . Kathleen Ryan.
Manette . . . . . Edith Harpel.
Suzanne . . . . . Clara Collins.
Henri . . . . Marquis of Corneville,
Wesley Wolf.
Jean Grenicheux . . . A Fisherman,
Frank Gibson.
Gaspard . . . . . A Miser.
Fred Breimeier.
The Bailli . . . . . Newton Fetter.
Registrar . . . . . (Greffier)
John Mathias.
Assessor . . . . . (L'Assessuer.)
Frank Gronde.
Notary . . . . . (Le Tabellion.)
Paul Smith.
Villagers, Attendants of The Marquis.

When the curtain rose in the First Act there appeared an assemblage of gaily dressed belles of Corneville, an old-fashioned Norman village. Interest was first centered about Serpolette, a mischief maker of the village. Presently, Henri, Marquis of Corneville, but long an exile, entered and became the center of attraction for the young maidens. Then appeared Gaspard, an old miser who wished to marry his niece, Germaine, to the Bailli, magistrate of the district. Her objection, and the attention which Grenicheux, a fisherman paid to her, so enraged the old man that he threatened to imprison both. Germaine then entered the service of the Marquis to escape the power of her uncle, while Grenichex and Serpolette followed her example.

In the Second Act the Marquis examined his chateau, which was said to be haunted. His men and servants searched the dark, spectral recesses of the castle in terror, but were surprised to find no ghosts. Finally Grenichaux was left to keep watch. He was in deathly terror, imagining that he saw all kinds of spectres in the shadows. Scarcely able to resist fainting from fright he discovered that Gaspard used the chateau as a place to conceal his treasurers. The discovery drove Gaspard crazy.

In the Third Act a grand fete was represented as given in honor of Henri's return home. On the strength of some proofs found in old documents Serpolette announced herself as a Marchioness, the lost heiress. Her proofs seemed well grounded, but finally old Gaspard recovered his reason sufficiently to show that Germaine was the true heiress. The scene closed with a beautiful love duet between Henri and Germaine and a reconciliation of all parties.

The interest throughout was intense. The gay life of the old village represented by the First Act introduced the audience at once into the spirit of the old times. Old Gaspard, with his shy glances and strange actions, suggested something mysterious to follow, while his anger when he found that Germaine and Grenichex had eluded him was amusing.

The dark spectral figures moving about in the gloomy rooms of the chateau, were so well represented that one could almost excuse Grenicheux for his terrible terror. aGspard, gloating over his treasure in the dim light of candles, and his pitiable condition upon being discovered added to the weirdness of the scene.

The gaiety of the grand fete, the sudden turning of the tables between Serpolette and Germaine, and the touching love scene between Germaine and Henri, made a pleasing climax to the romantic story.

The whole opera was so rendered as to deserve the highest commendation of participants and instructors. The spirit of each one and the admirable execution of each individual part showed a combination of talent and training which is rarely found.

INTER-CLASS FIELD AND TRACK MEET

SOPHOMORES EASILY WON.

College Record for Mile and Two-mile Runs Broken by Butt; Dufton Passed the Record in High Jump.

On Saturday afternoon the Sophomores won the inter-class field and track meet with a score of 71 points. Although little class spirit was shown by the rooters, the events were all closely contested. By the splendd work of Butt, '10, and Dufton, '12, three college records were broken. By Butt the college record for the mile run was reduced from 4.48 2-5, —the time made by Flood, '05, on the home track in 1903,—to 4.44, and the two-mile was reduced by him from 10.52 2-5, made by Fairchilds last Saturday in the Bucknell-Dickinson meet, to 10.42. Previous to Fairchild's record was that of Elliot, '07, whose record was 10.56 2-5. Dufton broke the record in the running-high jump by clearing the tape at 5 feet 11 inches, passing the previous record by two inches. Cure, '08, had, in 1905, made the college record of 5 feet 9 inches. McDonough made a beautiful sprint in the 100-yard dash, which he did in 10 seconds, thus [illegible] the time made by several [illegible] on the home field. By continued and consistent training he also will yet be able to do something by way of "smashing" records.

The day for the meet was ideal, and that fact, added to the earnestness and faithfulness with which most of the men have trained, accounts for the exceptional work done in most of the vents. No intercollegiate records were broken, but to be able to count three college records excelled and one equlled is a fact worthy of one day's work. Especially commendable is the work done by Butt whose persistent training won for him double honors, and gives good hope of what he may in another year accomplish. Dufton, for his beautiful leap in the high jump, won second honors.

Along with the track meet there was a lively relay race pulled off between high-school teams representing Milton, Sunbury, Shamokin, and Lewisburg, which resulted in victory for the Sunbury team.

The summary of events:

100-yard dash—McDonough, '10, 1st.; Weinstein, '11, second; Conover, '12, third; Hunter, '09, fourth. Time, 10.

BEAUTIFY THE CAMPUS.

A May number of "The Independent" which contains an article on "The University of California," has the following to say about the method which the California University students have to beautify their campus.

"A California custom that could be adopted by many other universities, much to the improvement of their looks, is Labor Day, when all the students turn out to beautify the campus. It is like a scene from a utopian romance, the wageless workers, ready to do anything useful, each according to his ability, all duly coordinated and directed by volunteer experts; the civil engineers superintending the grading of roads and the cutting of new paths; the arboriculturists the planting and trimming of trees and shrubbery; a season of general cleaning up, clearing out and putting to rights; a working day of socialistic brevity, for shortly after noon the boys are called from their labors to a bean feast prepared by the girls in the gymnasium, and the afternoon and evening are spent in sports and merrymaking. The value of the work done last Labor Day is estimated at $2,800, but the greater gain to the university in the development of an interest in the looks of the campus cannot be calculated in dollars."

This article needs no further comment than that it presents clearly what can be done with sufficient interest and will to improve college surroundings without any large outlay of money. We have a beautiful campus here at Bucknell, but the example of such spirit as shown at California might impel us to the same kinds of efforts to make our campus still more beautiful.

VILLA NOVA GAME.

Villa Nova's baseball team, besides being the fastest nine that played here this season, proved itself also to be a gentlemanly lot of players. Repeated disputes with the umpire and unnecessary fistic encounters between the runners and the basemen were entirely absent. A spirit of good feeling seemed to pervade the entire game. Although the "ump" was a little wild at times in his decisions, the visiting team accepted them in a true sportsmanlike fashion as did Bucknell. The free-for-all fight which occurred at first base in the State-Bucknell game put a bad color on the contest from the start, and the crowd had a right to expect that a "mix-up" might occur at any moment. The intense rivalry between the two latter teams should offer no pretext for a hostile attitude on the part of either side. College men generally avoid acting like "preps" in every other phase of college life; and why should they not extend this endeavor to the athletic field. Again Bucknell compliment Villa Nova on her clear sportsmanlike playing.

Y. M. C. A.

Professor Phillips addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Thursday, encouraging daily study of the Bible. The chief aim of a student should be to develop a strong character. With this purpose in view he should get a good thought every day, assimilate it, and make it a part of life. Since religious convicitions an essential part of the making of character, there is no source so good as the Bible for good thought which makes character. By following some course of Bible study the student can find the truths of the Bible which have a bearing upon the individual life.

TWO GAMES OF BASEBALL.

After the somewhat strenuous eastern trip, the baseball team will have no let-up in its work this week, for on Thursday it will meet the strong rival team of the University of Pittsburg on the Campus, and on Saturday the Swarthmore team will come here to cross bats with Captain North rop's strong nine. Both games are expected to be good, and everybody is wanted on the hillside.

With two big baseball games this week, the team should meet with strong encouragement from the student-body. Turn out and help the team win.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

The College Bible Class was addressed by Professor Phillips on Sunday. The subject was "The Tolerance of Paul." Although Paul was a positive and aggressive man and scholastic in his reasoning, he was not intolerant as one might expect. Toward the Jews from whom he had broken away, and toward those who were Christians, but who still held to Jewish rituals; he showed a sympathetic spirit, not despising them but desiring that they be as he. Furthermore he recognized their historical worth as the nation which made Christianity possible, and interpreted their past so as to justify his own position. Only when their attack involved his office as an apostle, or when they insisted on the continuation of Jewish ceremonies, or when others transgressed on his territory, did he oppose and chide them. At other times he sought peace and quitely followed his work of teaching the Gentiles. From the Magnanimous spirit which Paul showed toward those who did not agree with him, the Christian church may still learn valuable lessons.

ALPHA SIGMA.

VILLA NOVA AND PITTSBURG DEFEATED

LAFAYETTE BEATS BUCKNELL.

Varsity Wins Two Games out of Three. Northrop and Sprout Pitch. Swarthmore Game Is Cancelled.

Last Week's Games.
Lafayette 4, Bucknell 3.
Bucknell 6, Villa Nova 3.
Bucknell 4, Univ. of Pittsburg 1.

Two victories, one defeat, and a cancelled game was Bucknell's record on the diamond last week. Starting on Decoration Day with a defeat by Lafayette at Easton, the Lewisburg team took a brace, winning from Villa Nova on the latter's grounds on Tuesday and repeating the trick with the University of Pittsburg team here on Thursday. The game scheduled here with Swarthmore for Saturday was cancelled on account of rain.

The Game at Easton.

Bucknell delayed its batting rally too long in the game with Lafayette at Easton on Monday and lost to the Maroon and White team by one run. The Bucknell players did not open up on Schneider until the last inning and then tallied two runs, just one less than was needed and the game went to the Eastonians by a score of 4 to 3.

Captain Northrop was in the box for Bucknell. He was touched up for seven hits but should have won his game had the locals been able to connect with the Lafayette pitcher's delivery earlier in the game. Lafayette scored three runs before Bucknell got a man across the plate. In the seventh Clark got to first on Williams' error of his infield drive, stole second, and tallied when the catcher dropped the third strike on Northrop and threw to first to retire the batter.

A single by Daggett gave a good start to the eighth but the hit went to waste as the next three men were easy outs. In the ninth Loveland reached his base on Conover's error. Manning singled, advancing the local shortstop to third, Clark was out on a fly to the catcher, but filed to center and both runners crossed the plate before the ball was infielded. Henderson died at first and ended the rally.

Victory at Villa Nova.

For the second time in five years Villa Nova was defeated on its own grounds last week by a college team. Bucknell was the team which successfully turned the trick against the fast Main Line nine and thus made its two straight against the team which has defeated State three times this year.

Fast fielding and heavy hitting gave the victory to the Orange and Blue players. They opened up on Barry, the clever twirler of the Villa Nova team, and put the game high and dry in the second inning when they piled up five runs. Sprout did the twirling for Bucknell. He pulled out of a tight hole in the opening inning when Villa Nova was blanked after having three men on the bases and none out. Loveland cut off the first man at the plate and with the corners still filled, Sprout gathered in a grounder and O'Leary and Soper doubled up the runners at home and at first.

Henderson and Manning did clever work with the stick for Bucknell.

ALUMNI DAY

EXERCISES ON TUESDAY OF COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

During the past six or seven years an effort has been made by a few of the younger Alumni to arouse more enthusiasm over Bucknell's Commencements. This year everybody has taken hold and through an organized effort on the part of the Committee large numbers have pledged themselves to come back and bring an abundance of enthusiasm.

The whole of Tuesday, June 22, shall be devoted to the entertainment of the Alumni. The Bucknellians will have a meeting in the morning. In the afternoon at two o'clock will be the Alumni Parade which will form down town and march to the Campus for the baseball game between the Alumni and Varsity.

Mathewson, of New York Nationals, is trying to arrange to pitch the game, and Blair, of New York Americans, to catch. Harry McCormick, of New York Nationals, will play left field, Cockill, of Montreal Eastern League, and Weidensaul, of Toronto Eastern League, are also expected to play in this game. Harvey Smith, formerly of Washington Nationals, will play third base. Other men from smaller leagues will make up the balance of the team. With such an array of baseball stars against the strong Varsity team, this promises to be a great game.

BUCKNELL LECTURER RETURNS.

Colonel George Nox McCain, a journalist and lecturer of Phila., and well known to many Bucknell people, returned home last week from Europe. He had been arrested, but not imprisoned, in the recent revolution in Turkey. The trouble centered about his cameras, for the camera under the laws of the Mohammedans dare not be used. The arrest, however, was caused by the old fanatical element and not by the younger Turks who are more liberal. Colonel McCain is a friend of Bucknell, and has already given lectures here. His son-in-law, Frederick B. Jaekel of Phila., is a member of the class of '03.

STUDENT CONFERENCE AT NORTHFIELD

HELD FROM JULY 2 TO JULY 11.

Excellent Opportunities For Pleasure as Well as Equipment for Association Work are Offered.

With the approach of summer there come calls from many points—attractive vacation invitations, spelling both pleasure and profit—and one of these calls comes from East Northfield, Mass., a quiet town situated on the Connecticut River near the Vermont and New Hampshire boundaries. There the twenty-fourth Student Conference will be held from July 2 to July 11.

Northfield is out in the open country among the low hills of the Connecticut valley; there are tennis courts, a baseball diamond, opportunities for golf and for swimming; so that wholesome sport either in long walks over the country or in vigorous games is offered to suit the taste of every man. A series of baseball games for the college championship afford mild excitement. A track meet is held during the Conference, in which, in addition to the usual athletic events, a number of special "stunts" are attractive features.

The receptions, the serenades, and the great celebration in the evening after the athletic meet, all help to prove that the Christian life is not a somber thing, but a life of joy.

The men who speak or teach at Northfield are men who have lived lives of power. There is no parochialism about the place, either; the outlook is over the whole world. Men may here see a type of religion that is free from cant and unhealthy emotion, a force impelling to real service for each man and for every man on the face of the earth. It is a faith, too, that touches all sides of a man's life.

The main purpose of the Conference is to equip men for efficient Christian service in their own institutions. Men gather there from over a hundred colleges, and places the size of Bucknell send as high as fifteen to twenty men. Last year six men went from Bucknell and that number ought to be doubled this year if the Y. M. C. A. is to have thoroughly trained leaders to carry out the work next year.

The last circulars for the Conference have been recently received, and detailed information may be secured by seeing members of the Northfield committee.

THE MOSLEM WORLD.

On Memorial Day evening Professor Owens gave an illustrated missionary lecture in Bucknell Hall on The Moslem World. The lecture was written by Dr. Watson of the United Presbyterian Board, and the pictures were collected by the Young People's Missionary Movement. The slides were excellent and the audience greatly enjoyed seeing and hearing of the spread, power, weakness, and the future of the Mohammedan World. The lecture was supplementary to the Monday morning lectures given to Juniors this term.

DR. PERRINE ENTERTAINS.

On Tuesday evening, Dr. Enoch Perrine and wife entertained friends at a 9 o'clock dinner given in the handsomely decorated dining hall of the New Cameron. Covers were laid for fourteen and the following is a list of those who partook of the festivities: Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Martin; Prof. and Mrs. T. E. Edwards; Dr. and Mrs. Bartol; Dr. and Mrs. Steans; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Miller; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wolfe and Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Perrine.

TRACK MEET.

The Sophomore track team went to Williamsport on Memorial Day and there defeated Dickinson Seminary in a field and track meet. The boys from Dickinson won only one first place and the Sophomores had an easy victory. The final score was, Sophomores 68, Dickinson Seminary 31.

DEUTSCHER VEREIN.

The Deutscher Verein, on Thursday evening, held a Farewell meeting for the Senior members, Mr. Stolz and Miss Radack '11, each sang a solo, while Miss Lutz gave two in the course of the evening. The society also enjoyed a violin solo by Miss Cathers, '10. Farewell speeches were made on the part of the Seniors by Miss Turner and Mr. Elson. Miss Geis, '10, responded for the rest of the members of the Verein after which Prof. Riemer revived the past work of the association and spoke of the efforts that must be put forth next year if the Verein is to come up to the standard set by the outgoing members.

CLASS BASEBALL.

The Y. M. C. A. has arranged to have several inter-class games of base ball, the first of which will be on Saturday, June 12, between the Juniors and Freshmen, and the second will be on Wednesday, June 16, between the seniors and Sophomores. An admission price will be charged to see these games. The proceeds are to be for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. which is not only badly in need of money for present expenses but also has a debt which it desires to pay this term. For this reason it asks every student to help in its support by attending the games

BUCKNELL DAY AT WINFIELD.

It was Bucknell day at Winfield on the 31st. Through the efforts of Charles Roush, '09, the Bucknell band furnished the music for the memorial exercises and Prof. Bromley Smith gave the address before the veterans, sons of veterans and citizens. The speaker left the track of memorial speeches by holding that the civil war was not fought to preserve the Union, but to free the country from the yoke of an economic tyranny.

SHAKESPEARE PLAY

BEN GREET PLAYERS TO GIVE "THE TEMPEST," THURS. EVE.

The Ben Greet Players will be at Bucknell on Thursday and give Shakespeare's "The Tempest" on the College Campus. This company of Elizabethan players hardly needs an introduction to Bucknell and Lewisburg people, for those who saw them give "As You Like It" several years ago, and then again "The Merchant of Venice" last Winter at Sunbury, are still loud in their praises.

The company is at present giving Shakespearean plays at many of the colleges. Last week they appeared in four plays at the University of Pennsylvania, and the forepart of this week they are giving several at Franklin and Marshall College.

In giving 'The Tempest' on Thursday evening there will be no more scenery than the trees and lawns of the campus. There will be beautiful lime light effects, and music, especially composed by Sir Arthur Sullivan for Elizabethan drama, will accompany these woodland players.

The play will begin at 8 o'clock. The price of admission will be $1.00. Tickets are on sale at Heiser's drug store. In case of rain the play will be given in Commencement Hall.

ATHLETIC ELECTION.

Bower, '11; Student members of the Executive Board, Saylor, '10, and Morgan, '11; Faculty member, Prof. Heim; Alumni members, Prof. Drum and A. A. Leiser, Jr., Esq., '98.

FRESHMAN ELECTION.

At the Freshman election held on Wednesday afternoon the following were chosen for next year's officers:—Pres. Baldwin; Vice-pres., Brewer; Sec., Miss Rittenhouse; Treas., Miller; Poetess, Miss Clum; Historian, Miss Long.

MEMORIAL DAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED

STRENUOUS DAY FOR BAND.

All college work was suspended at Bucknell on Monday, in observance of Decoration day. While many students spent the day at their homes, the majority remained in Lewisburg and witnessed the celebration in which some of them participated. It was a strenuous day for the Bucknell Band, for they furnished music at Winfield in the morning and at Lewisburg in the afternoon and evening.

At two o'clock in the afternoon the parade lined up on Market street. The Bucknell Band was in the lead and was followed by the National Guards, members of the G. A. R., and secret organization of town. After parading through the main streets of town, the procession proceeded to the cemetery, where the old soldiers decorated the graves of their fallen comrades, and the Guards fired the customary salute. Dr. Perrine was then introduced as the orator for the day, an honor which he had enjoyed on a similar occasion, at the same place, twenty-two years ago. His oration, which was addressed particularly to the few remaining veterans of the Civil War, was eloquent and inspiring.

In the evening the college campus was the scene of a celebration less serious. The National Guards, headed by the Bucknell Band, marched in upon the campus and were put through various field drills. Then followed a sham battle. The battle line proceeded down the field, firing volley after volley, and finally took the "bleachers" and the "gym" by storm without the loss of a man.

TRACK AND TENNIS.

The track and tennis teams have about done their work for this season. Of the four meets scheduled in tennis, the Bucknell team easily won each time. The meets were only with two colleges, Gettysburg and Dickinson, but both are our close rivals in other forms of athletics; therefore to beat them in tennis is worthy of consideration and gratification.

It is, however, the success of our track team, both in the contests with the above mentioned colleges and in the interclass meets, that may make every student feel proud. Last year there was only one intercollegiate meet, and that was lost by a large score. This year the unexpected happened. After faithful and consistent training,—and that too without a training table,—the team simply surprised the student body by whuling the two intercollegiate meets and breaking three college records in the interclass meet. Not satisfied with this success the Sophomores got together a team of their own ,went to Williamsport, and won by a large score from Dickinson Seminary. All this, to be sure, is not much above the ordinary yet it is significant if one compare this year's results with those of last year. Furthermore it shows that we have the material ,and that training will do the rest. With the same efforts expended in track events next year, we should have a track team that can hold its own with teams of bigger colleges than ours.

PAN-HELLENIC DANCE.

The last Pan-Hellenic dance of the season will be held on Friday evening, June 11. There will be dancing from 8 until 12. Invitations have been extended to the different chapters.

STATE ON SATURDAY.

On Saturday the Varsity will go to State College and for the second time try its fortunes with the White and Blue team. The defeat of several weeks ago—which it took twelve hotly contested innings to give—need be the cause of no pessimism on our part as to the outcome of the coming game. Our team is everywhere winning recognition as a fast aggregation of ball players, and especially since we won our two games from Villa Nova, the same team that got three victories from State this season. The Varsity will play a practice game with the Milton Athletic Club at Milton Baseball Park tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

ALUMNI AT CROZER.

Among the twenty-nine graduates of Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, are four Bucknell men all of the class of '06. They are Genus E. Bartlett, John G. Dehuinger, Linn C. Drake, and Edwin W. Ramsey. Three of these had orations at the commencement which was held on June 2. Genus E. Bartlett, of Webster, N. Y. spoke on "Impediments to National Peace," " Linn C. Drake, of Tunkhannock, on "The Preacher and the Scientific Spirit," and Edwin W. Ramsey, of Lewisburg, had as his subject: "Has China a Grievance Against America?"

VILLA NOVA AND PITTSBURG DEFEATED

University of Pittsburg Defeated.

The Varsity took the field again on Thursday after the return from the the trip to New York, Easton and Villa Nova and easily defeated the University of Pittsburg. The game was never in doubt after the second inning when the locals tallied three runs which with one more scored in the seventh gave them a victory by a score of 4-1.

Henderson distinguished himself by picking out a window in the skylight of the gymnasium by a high foul fly which with O'Leary's home run drive, furnished the only sensational hitting of the game. The local backstop did brilliant work and retired the side in the first by a clever throw to second with a runner on third.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

On Sunday, Prof. Phillips continued the study of the tolerance of Paul, as shown in his attitude toward the Gentiles who were not Christians, and toward those who were in the Christian church. Although the first class practiced idolatry, he estimated them according to an ethical standard and not according to a national or sectarian standard, thus rising above all conceptions of humanity held by other men of his day. His view, like that of the modern missionary, was that they too, had a knowledge of God derived from nature and conscience, and that ultimate judgement upon them would be based on the law written in their hearts.

Of the second class were such men as Apollos, of Corinth, who had stirred up opposition against Paul, by declaring that he knew nothing of real philosophy. In this case Paul placed himself on the same plane with Apollos, although he was the recognized leader of the church. His attitude was not that of one in authority, but that of a co-worker, who may sometimes err in his teaching, but who relies on his own religious convictions for judgment.

VILLA NOVA AND PITTSBURG DEFEATED

LAFAYETTE BEATS BUCKNELL.

Varsity Wins Two Games out of Three. Northrop and Sprout Pitch. Swarthmore Game Is Cancelled.

Last Week's Games.
Lafayette 4, Bucknell 3.
Bucknell 6, Villa Nova 3.
Bucknell 4, Univ. of Pittsburg 1.

Two victories, one defeat, and a cancelled game was Bucknell's record on the diamond last week. Starting on Decoration Day with a defeat by Lafayette at Easton, the Lewisburg team took a brace, winning from Villa Nova on the latter's grounds on Tuesday and repeating the trick with the University of Pittsburg team here on Thursday. The game scheduled here with Swarthmore for Saturday was cancelled on account of rain.

The Game at Easton.

Bucknell delayed its batting rally too long in the game with Lafayette at Easton on Monday and lost to the Maroon and White team by one run. The Bucknell players did not open up on Schneider until the last inning and then tallied two runs, just one less than was needed and the game went to the Eastonians by a score of 4 to 3.

Captain Northrop was in the box for Bucknell. He was touched up for seven hits but should have won his game had the locals been able to connect with the Lafayette pitcher's delivery earlier in the game, Lafayette scored three runs before Bucknell got a man across the plate. In the seventh Clark got to first on Williams' error of his infield drive, stole second, and tallied when the catcher dropped the third strike on Northrop and threw to first to retire the batter.

A single by Daggett gave a good start to the eighth but the hit went to waste as the next three men were easy outs. In the ninth Loveland reached his base on Conover's error. Manning singled, advancing the local shortstop to third, Clark was out on a fly to the catcher, but filed to center and both runners crossed the plate before the ball was infielded. Henderson died at first and ended the rally.

Victory at Villa Nova.

For the second time in five years Villa Nova was defeated on its own grounds last week by a college team. Bucknell was the team which successfully turned the trick against the fast Main Line nine and thus made its two straight against the team which has defeated State three times this year.

Fast fielding and heavy hitting gave the victory to the Orange and Blue players. They opened up on Barry, the clever twirler of the Villa Nova team and put the game high and dry in the second inning when they piled up five runs. Sprout did the twirling for Bucknell. He pulled out of a tight hole in the opening inning when Villa Nova was blanked after having three men on the bases and none out. Loveland cut off the first man at the plate and with the corners still filled, Sprout gathered in a grounder and O'Leary and Soper doubled up the runners at home and at first.

Henderson and Manning did clever work with the stick for Bucknell.

ALUMNI DAY

EXERCISES ON TUESDAY OF COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

During the past six or seven years an effort has been made by a few of the younger Alumni to arouse more enthusiasm over Bucknell's Commencements. This year everybody has taken hold and through an organized effort on the part of the Committee large numbers have pledged themselves to come back and bring an abundance of enthusiasm.

The whole of Tuesday, June 22, shall be devoted to the entertainment of the Alumni. The Bucknellians will have a meeting in the morning. In the afternoon at two o'clock will be the Alumni Parade which will form down town and march to the Campus for the baseball game between the Alumni and Varsity.

Mathewson, of New York Nationals, is trying to arrange to pitch the game, and Blair, of New York Americans, to catch. Harry McCormick, of New York Nationals, will play left field, Cockill, of Montreal Eastern League, and Weldensaul, of Toronto Eastern League, are also expected to play in this game. Harvey Smith, formerly of Washington Nationals, will play third base. Other men from smaller leagues will make up the balance of the team. With such an array of baseball stars against the strong Varsity team, this promises to be a great game.

BUCKNELL LECTURER RETURNS.

Colonel George Nox McCain, a journalist and lecturer of Phila., and well known to many Bucknell people, returned home last week from Europe. He had been arrested, but not imprisoned, in the recent revolution in Turkey. The trouble centered about his cameras, for the camera under the laws of the Mohammedans dare not be used. The arrest, however, was caused by the old fanatical element and not by the younger Turks who are more liberal. Colonel McCain is a friend of Bucknell, and has already given lectures here. His son-in-law, Frederick B. Jaekel of Phila., is a member of the class of '03.

STUDENT CONFERENCE AT NORTHFIELD

HELD FROM JULY 2 TO JULY 11.

Excellent Opportunities For Pleasure as Well as Equipment for Association Work are Offered.

With the approach of summer there come calls from many points—attractive vacation invitations, spelling both pleasure and profit—and one of these calls comes from East Northfield, Mass., a quiet town situated on the Connecticut River near the Vermont and New Hampshire boundaries. There the twenty-fourth Student Conference will be held from July 2 to July 11.

Northfield is out in the open country among the low hills of the Connecticut valley; there are tennis courts, a baseball diamond, opportunities for golf and for swimming; so that wholesome sport either in long walks over the country or in vigorous games is offered to suit the taste of every man. A series of baseball games for the college championship afford mild excitement. A track meet is held during the Conference, in which, in addition to the usual athletic events, a number of special "stunts" are attractive features.

The receptions, the serenades, and the great celebration in the evening after the athletic meet, all help to prove that the Christian life is not a somber thing, but a life of joy.

The men who speak or teach at Northfield are men who have lived lives of power. There is no parochialism about the place, either; the outlook is over the whole world. Men may here see a type of religion that is free from cant and unhealthy emotion, a force impelling to real service for each man and for every man on the face of the earth. It is a faith, too, that touches all sides of a man's life.

The main purpose of the Conference is to equip men for efficient Christian service in their own institutions. Men gather there from over a hundred colleges, and places the size of Bucknell send as high as fifteen to twenty men. Last year six men went from Bucknell and that number ought to be doubled this year if the Y. M. C. A. is to have thoroughly trained leaders to carry out the work next year.

The last circulars for the Conference have been recently received, and detailed information may be secured by seeing members of the Northfield committee.

THE MOSLEM WORLD.

On Memorial Day evening Professor Owens gave an illustrated missionary lecture in Bucknell Hall on The Moslem World. The lecture was written by Dr. Watson of the United Presbyterian Board, and the pictures were collected by the Young People's Missionary Movement. The slides were excellent and the audience greatly enjoyed seeing and hearing of the spread, power, weakness, and the future of the Mohammedan World. The lecture was supplementary to the Monday morning lectures given to Juniors this term.

DR. PERRINE ENTERTAINS.

On Tuesday evening, Dr. Enoch Perrine and wife entertained friends at a 9 o'clock dinner given in the handsomely decorated dining hall of the New Cameron. Covers were laid for fourteen and the following is a list of those who partook of the festivities: Dr and Mrs .W. E Martin; Prof and Mrs. T. E. Edwards; Dr. and Mrs. Bartol; Dr. and Mrs. Steans; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Miller; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wolfe and Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Perrine.

BUCKNELL DAY AT WINFIELD.

It was Bucknell day at Winfield on the 21st. Through the efforts of Charles Roush, '09, the Bucknell band furnished the music for the memorial exercises and Prof. Bromley Smith gave the address before the veterans, sons of veterans and citizens. The speaker left the track of memorial speeches by holding that the civil war was not fought to preserve the Union, but to free the country from the yoke of an economic tyranny.

SHAKESPEARE PLAY

BEN GREET PLAYERS TO GIVE "THE TEMPEST," THURS. EVE.

The Ben Greet Players will be at Bucknell on Thursday and give Shakespeare's "The Tempest" on the College Campus. This company of Elizabethan players hardly needs an introduction to Bucknell and Lewisburg people, for those who saw them give "As You Like It" several years ago, and then again "The Merchant of Venice" last Winter at Sunbury, are still loud in their praises.

The company is at present giving Shakespearean plays at many of the colleges. Last week they appeared in four plays at the University of Pennsylvania, and the forepart of this week they are giving several at Franklin and Marshall College.

In giving "The Tempest' on Thursday evening there will be no more scenery than the trees and lawns of the campus. There will be beautiful lime light effects, and music, especially composed by Sir Arthur Sullivan for Elizabethan drama, will accompany these woodland players.

The play will begin at 8 o'clock. The price of admission will be $1.00. Tickets are on sale at Heiser's drug store. In case of rain the play will be given in Commencement Hall.

MEMORIAL DAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED

All college work was suspended at Bucknell on Monday, in observance of Decoration day . While many students spent the day at their homes, the majority remained in Lewisburg and witnessed the celebration in which some of them participated. It was a strenuous day for the Bucknell Band, for they furnished music at Winfield in the morning and at Lewisburg in the afternoon and evening.

At two o'clock in the afternoon the parade lined up on Market street. The Bucknell Band was in the lead and was followed by the National Guards, members of the G. A. R., and secret organization of town. After parading through the main streets of town, the procession proceeded to the cemetery, where the old soldiers decorated the graves of their fallen comrades, and the Guards fired the customary salute. Dr. Perrine was then introduced as the orator for the day, an honor which he had enjoyed on a similar occasion, at the same place, twenty-two years ago. His oration, which was addressed particularly to the few remaining veterans of the civil War, was eloquent and inspiring.

In the evening the college campus was the scene of a celebration less serious. The National Guards, headed by the Bucknell Band, marched in upon the campus and were put through various field drills. Then followed a sham battle. The battle line proceeded down the field, firing volley after volley and finally took the "bleachers" and the "gym" by storm without the loss of a man.

TRACK AND TENNIS.

The track and tennis teams have about done their work for this season. Of the four meets scheduled in tennis, the Bucknell team easily won each time. The meets were only with two colleges, Gettysburg and Dickinson, but both are our close rivals in other forms of athletics; therefore to beat them in tennis is worthy of consideration and gratification.

It is, however, the success of our track team, both in the contests with the above mentioned colleges and in the interclass meets, that may make every student feel proud. Last year there was only one intercollegiate meet, and that was lost by a large score. This year the unexpected happened. After faithful and consistent training,—and that too without a training table,—the team simply surprised the student body by winning the two intercollegiate meets and breaking three college records in the interclass meet. Not satisfied with this success the Sophomores got together a team of their own ,went to Williamsport, and won by a large score from Dickinson Seminary. All this, to be sure, is not much above the ordinary yet it is significant if one compare this year's results with those of last year. Furthermore it shows that we have the material ,and that training will do the rest. With the same efforts expended in track events next year, we should have a track team that can hold its own with teams of bigger colleges than ours.

STATE ON SATURDAY.

On Saturday the Varsity will go to State College and for the second time try its fortunes with the White and Blue team. The defeat of several weeks ago—which it took twelve hotly contested innings to give—need be the cause of no pessimism on our part as to the outcome of the coming game. Our team is everywhere winning recognition as a fast aggregation of ball players, and especially since we won our two games from Villa Nova, the same team that got three victories from State this season. The Varsity will play a practice game with the Milton Athletic Club at Milton Baseball Park tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

ALUMNI AT CROZER.

Among the twenty-nine graduates of Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, are four Bucknell men all of the class of '06. They are Genus E. Bartlett, John G. Dehuinger, Linn C. Drake, and Edwin W. Rumsey. Three of these had orations at the commencement which was held on June 2. Genus E. Bartlett, of Webster, N. Y. spoke on "Impediments to National Peace.," Linn C. Drake, of Tunkhannock, on "The Preacher and the Scientific Spirit," and Edwin W. Rumsey, of Lewisburg, had as his subject: "Has China a Grievance Against America?"

VILLA NOVA AND PITTSBURG DEFEATED

University of Pittsburg Defeated.

The Varsity took the field again on Thursday after the return from the trip to New York, Easton and Villa Nova and easily defeated the University of Pittsburg. The game was never in doubt after the second inning when the locals tallied three runs which with one more scored in the seventh gave them a victory by a score of 4-1.

Henderson distinguished himself by picking out a whidow in the skylight of the gymnasium by a high foul fly which with O'Leary's home run drive, furnished the only sensational hitting of the game. The local back-stop did brilliant work and retired the side in the first by a clever throw to second with a runner on third.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

On Sunday, Prof. Phillips continued the study of the tolerance of Paul, as shown in his attitude toward the Gentiles who were not Christians, and toward those who were in the Christian church. Although the first class practiced idolatry, he estimated them according to an ethical standard and not according to a national or sectarian standard, thus rising above all conceptions of humanity held by other men of his day. His view, like that of the modern missionary, was that they too, had a knowledge of God derived from nature and conscience, and that ultimate judgement upon them would be based on the law written in their hearts.

Of the second class were such men as Apollos, of Corinth, who had stired up opposition against Paul, by declaring that he knew nothing of real philosophy. In this case Paul placed himself on the same plane with Apollos, although he was the recognized leader of the church. His attitude was not that of one in authority, but that of a co-worker, who may sometimes err in his teaching, but who relies on his own religious convictions for judgment.

BUCKNELL TRIUMPHS OVER OLD RIVALS

STATE RECEIVES SHUT - OUT.

Bent upon Retaliation Captain Northrop and his Team Take Opponents into Camp by Tune of 4 to 0.

With the best teams of both colleges pitted against each other, Bucknell and State met in the second and last game of their series at State College on Saturday, when Bucknell retaliated for its defeat in the twelve-inning game here with State on May 15th and humbled its old rival in the dust of its own diamond. The score tells the story—Bucknell 4 ,State 0.

It was an important victory for Bucknell in that it demonstrated the team's superiority over State, which might have been in question after last month's game. At that time both teams kept players out of the game on account of eligibility rules. By an agreement fixed up by telephone Friday night the eligibility ruling was called off for Saturday's game and the managers were allowed to play the best men they had. As a result Catcher O'Leary was played by Bucknell and Third baseman Eberlein, by State. By comparison it might be interesting to note that Eberlein had only one assist to his credit during the entire game, struck out twice, and only got to base once—on a base on balls—while the Bucknell catcher scored thirteen put-outs, two of which stopped runs at the plate ,had one error,was on base twice and helped to swell his team's score with a hit and a run.

The laurels of the game go to Captain Northrop. Encouraged by the presence of his regular catcher behind the bat, the Bucknell leader let himself out to the limit. He held his opponents to three hits, all of which were scattered, scored ten strike-outs, and brought in the first two runs of the game by a timely single. Skemp, the left-handed phenom, who held Bucknell without a hit after he took the box in the thir inning of last month's game, was again on the firing line for State. The Bucknell batters were puzzled by his delivery early in the game but they started after the Southpaw in the third and in the fifth turned loose the heavy artillery and drove him to the woods. Clepper relieved him in the sixth and held the visitors without further hits or runs.

The game was devoid of any sensational plays, Bucknell simply going in and winning by superior all-round playing. It was the batting in the fifth that made the victory a certainty, however, for after that the game was never in doubt. O'Leary started the jubilee with a single after Soper had fanned. He went to third on Munk's base hit, the latter stealing second, and both runners scored on Northrop's timely drive to right. Loveland sacrificed, Manning walked and stole second, and Clark singled, bringing in two more runs. Henderson was hit by a pitched ball and Daggett struck out, retiring the side.

BUCKNELL ALUMNI TO HAVE P-RADE AND GREAT GAME

Old Grads Will Make Things Lively on Tuesday of Commencement Week.

LEAGUE PLAYERS TO LINE UP AGAINST VARSITY

Fantastic Costumes to Figure in Parade Which Will Be a New Event for Commencement. After the Parade the Alumni Game Will Be Pulled Off.

Alumni Day at Old Bucknell, Tuesday, June, 22, promises to be one of the most attractive features ever pulled off during Commencement week. Enthusiasm has been worked to such a pitch that hundreds of the old Grads have given their word that they will be on hand for at least that one day, if not for the whole week.

Two events that are looked forward to, in addition to the regular class reunions, are the "P-Rade" and the Alumni game with the 'Varsity. The following communication has been received from the P-Rade Committee, showing the scope of that event:

The Alumni P-Rade.

The Alumni P-Rade back at OLD BUCKNELL this COMMENCEMENT promises to be about the liveliest most re-juvenating session of HIGH JINKS ever pulled off in LEWISBURG.

This is the first year that the TRUSTEES have set apart ONE SOLID Day for the GRADS to enjoy themselves as they see fit.

We want to establish a few CUSTOMS. Among others, we want to establish an ANNUAL ALUMNI P-Rade. With this in view we court the enthusiasm of EVERY BUCKNELL ALUMNUS from NOAH DOWN-and as a champeen, welter-weight, antidiluvian P-rader. NOBODY never hed nuthin on NOAH.

On account of the lack of time for the classes to get together and decide upon the respective costume of each, or any other method of dividing the honors which may be brought out at the aproaching ALUMNI MEETING, this first year's P-RADE will necessarily be shaped along lines a little more FREE AND EASY.

Let EVERY ALUMNUS pull and tug at the tie that binds to business to get back to Lewisburg for COMMENCEMENT—if not for the whole Commencement, at least for this FIRST ALUMNI DAY.

Let every ALUMNUS who comes back to THE HILL have tucked away somewhere in his grip some sort of a fantastic costume. He will have plenty of time between now and then to prepare it and it oughtn't to cost more than a CARNEGIE LIBRARY—the simpler, the more effective. Of course, it wouldn't do to have it so conspicuously ADAM and EVE-ish that its simplicity would permit its being bundled into a shaving-soap box. Agents of the LEWISBURG LAW AND ORDER SOCIETY and of the SOCIETY TO PREVENT THE CORRUPTION OF UNDERCLASSMEN will meet all trains and any ALUMNUS catering the port unencumbered with bag of baggage will be LOOKED ASKANCE AT.

WHEN YOU GET TO TOWN look up your class marshall THE FIRST THING and tell him to save you a place in the P-RADE. They'll be going FAST!

The 22nd's the Date. TUESDAY'S the Day.

P-RADE COMMITTEE.

The Alumni Game.

Bucknell's all-star alumni team will line up against the 'Varsity in the afternoon. Bucknell has turned out more famous baseball players than any other college in the country, and the following team has been picked from graduates now playing, or who have within the last fifteen years played, in fast company:

"Christy" Mathewson, p. N. Y. Nationals.
Walter Blair, c. N. Y. Americans.
George W. Cockill, 1b. Montreal Eastern League.
Yencer Weldensaul, 2b. Toronto Eastern League.
"Mike" Doolin, ss. Capt. Phila. Nationals.
Harvey F. Smith, 3b. Washington Nationals.
Harry E. McCormick, lf. N. Y. Nationals.
"Jimmy" Sebring, rf. Pittsburg, Cincinnati and Brooklyn Nationals.
Substitutes:—
William P. Rhines, p. Cincinnati Nationals.
"Bucky" Vail, p. Pittsburg Nationals.
William W. Nattress, ss. Buffalo Eastern League.

Center field has not yet been filled, but "Micky" Sheehan, captain of last year's nine, is now playing in the field for McKeesport in the P. and O. league and can play that position. Also "Gus" August is in line for that place.

From the above mentioned players assurance has already been given by Mathewson, Cockill, Doolin, Smith and Rhines that every effort will be made on their part to reach Lewisburg on June 22 to help humble the 'Varsity and show them a few tricks in "classy" baseball, known only to the professional ranks.

The Bucknell team has had a successful season and will have the advantage over the Alumni of three months team work. From a baseball point of view, therefore, this should prove to be the greatest game ever played on a college field.

Cameron A. Butt, Bucknell's star long distance runner, who this term reduced the College mile record from 4.48 2-5 to 4.44, and also the college two-mile record first from 10.52 2-5 to 10.42, and a second time last Saturday to 10.06.

BUCKNELL BAND.

The Bucknell Band filled several engagements again over Sunday. Early Saturday evening it played for the Knights of the Golden Eagle who marched in a body, headed by the band, to the cemetery and decorated. Later in the evening and up until after midnight the band helped in the celebration of the victory over State. Again on Sunday afternoon it furnished the music for the Odd Fellows who in their turn also decorated. These engagements have probably been the last for the University Band for this year. But plans for next fall are already being proposed, and efforts will be made to put the organization on a firmer footing.

SHAKESPEARE'S ROMANCE "THE TEMPEST"

GIVEN BY BEN GREET COMPANY.

Owing to Rain the Play Had to Be Given in Commencement Hall Instead of on the Campus.

The Ben Greet Players gave Shakespeare's "The Tempest" at Bucknell, on Thursday evening. Owing to their great success in presenting "As You Like It" on the campus several years ago, and "The Merchant of Venice" in Sunbury last winter, every one was anxious to see them last Thursday, As is their custom, these wood-land players had intended to present the play in the open air amid the scenery furnished by the trees and green slopes of the campus. But, to the disappointment of all, the inclement weather permitted no such presentation, and the players were forced to resort to Commencement Hall. They, however, were not entirely at a loss in being obliged to retire from the natural scenery. Green boughs and grass were soon gathered in abundance and so arranged on the large stage that the scenic effect was as nearly equal to the natural as was possible under the circumstances.

Beyond this simple scenery and some pleasing lime-light effects, there was no stage-craft with complex scenes to assist in the play. The play was given without any change of scenery throughout and without any interruption. Whatever change of scenery is indicated in "The Tempest" had to be supplied by the listener's imagination. On the other hand, the artful playing of the characters needed no assistance of striking scenery to capture and hold the closest attention of all. The music, too, written by Sir Arthur Sullivan especially for Shakespearean plays, assisted in giving the play its peculiar attractiveness. Everything combined to transfer one to the civilization of the Elizabethan age. The Ben Greet Players were indeed a rare treat and their work was appreciated by all those interested in the presentation and interpretation of Shakespeare.

MUSIC CLUB ENTERTAINS.

The Phi Alpha Music Club entertained a few of their friends Tuesday afternoon in Bucknell Hall. An interesting program was rendered as follows:

Violin Solo,—"Air Melodieux" . Bohm

Ruth Bergstresser.
Reading . "Later Life and Character of Mendelssohn"

BASEBALL.

The Varsity has no game scheduled for this week, but on Saturday the Freshmen and Sophomores will have their game, and from the number of good players that each class can put forth the game promises to be interesting. ALUMNI.

Today's issue of the Orange and Blue, being the last number for this school year, has devoted a large part of its space to what the Alumni anticipate doing on Alumni Day of Commencement Week. And we are glad to publish an article that has to do with the interest manifested in Bucknell by former Bucknellites. Indeed, as suggested in the above mentioned article, there is not enough attention paid by many Alumni in their Alma Mater. The success of an institution not only depends upon the efficiency of its instructing body and the faithfulness of its students but also in a large measure derives its strength from the effectiveness of those whom it sends out into active life. And of this active life of its sons Bucknell wants to know from time to time. The University wants to keep in touch with all who have gone from its classic halls, for thereby it may always draw about itself a circle of true friends.

We hope, then, that Alumni Day will be all that its promoters hope for; and in addition we would like to urge the Alumni from time to time to send to this paper more news concerning what they are doing. There are a large number of Alumni subscribers to the Orange and Blue, and a larger column of news about former Bucknell students would be of considerable interest to both Alumni and present students. We especially ask the present graduating class to help make the Alumni Notes next year occupy an entire column of their paper.

SOPHOMORE ELECTION.

The staff for this year's Commencement News consists of the following:—Editor-in-chief, H. D. Kresge; Assistant Editors, H. B. Hedge, J. E. Edwards, and Miss Bertha L. Geis; Advertising Manager, E. B. Woods.

"Jake" McKeever, ex-'08, of Irwin, was married to Miss Laura Nazer, of Wilmerding, recently.

E. B. Hulley, '07, until lately solicitor for the University, is manager of the Hulley Advertising Agency at Pittsburg.

Harry C. Fithian, Esq., '98, formerly of Williamsport, now Land Law Clerk in the General Land Office at Washington, D. C., was married on June 2 to miss Mabel C. Carpenter of Williamsport.

JUNIORS VS. FRESHMEN.

On Saturday afternoon the first interclass game of baseball played under the management of the Y. M. C. A. was pulled off on the campus. The Juniors were lined up against the Freshmen and although the hot sun pouring down upon the players seemed to put a listlessness into the game, the spectators, conspicuous for the smallness of their number, were kept guessing until the last inning as to the final score. Both teams were bent upon victory. For the first part of the game the Juniors had the lead, but the Freshmen gradually pulled up and had the lead until the ninth when the Juniors scored three more runs making the final score read 8 to 6 in favor of the Juniors. The batteries were:—Reber and Woolson for the Juniors, and Lang and Frampton for the Freshmen. The second interclass game will be played on Wednesday at 3 o'clock between the Seniors and Sophomores.

CUPID AFTER ALUMNUS.

Word was received here last Friday from Shamokin announcing the engagement of Prof. John F. Hummer, who graduated from Bucknell last year, to Miss Clara McFarlane. Miss McFarlane is instructor in history and civics, and Prof. Hummer, instructor of science in the Shamokin High school, and with the close of the school year came the announcement of this romance. The marriage will take place in Springville, N. Y., at the home of the bride some time in August. The happy pair met for the first time when the school year opened last fall and it was a case of love at first sight.

HERTZOG FINDS NEW INSECT.

In the Entomological News for Jun two pages are given to the description of a new insect discovered recently in this vicinity by Hertzog, '10. This is not the first new species found by Mr. Hertzog for not so long ago the same periodical published a description of a new moth discovered by him, and at the present time he has other insects which he believes he can determine as new species.

This new type belongs to the genus Euceros, and Mr. Hertzog has dedicated it to Mr. H. L. Viereck of the Bureau of Entomology at Washington, D. C., who has given Mr. Hertzog much encouragement in the study of Hymenopterous insects. The catalogue name of the species, then, is: Euceros viereckl Hertzog. The type will be deposited in the collection of the American Entomological Society Philadelphia.

Mr. Hertzog caught this insect while it was flying about some weeds in company with inchneumon flies. This seems to indicate that the species no doubt is a beneficial parasitic insect.

MEDICALS VS. MINISTERIALS.

The Ministerial Association accepted the challenge of the Medical Society to a game of baseball on Saturday morning, winning by a score of 11 to 10. Heavy hitting and sensational base running were interesting features of the game. "Doc" Youngken's squad of men were as unable to solve the ecclesiastical curves of the ministerial pitchers, as the ministerials were to stop the demoralizing stealing of their opponents. Rosenberg, '11, was the umpire. It is reported that the Law students have challenged the Ministerials to a game next week.

COLLEGE BIBLE CLASS.

The fifth class Paul dealt with were those in the church who agreed with him in essentials, but differed from him somewhat in thought and character. Of this class was Apollos to whom Paul assumed this attitude; he trusted that "the day" would test the nature of their work. Upon those who cared nothing about the effects of their conduct on other he enjoined the principle of liberty in love, and the weak who were offended he bade not to pass condemnatory judgement on those giving offense. He refused to lord it over churches or individuals, but would have all stand on their own religious convictions. His principle was peace in love; his test of genuineness ,the nateure of his work.

Paul's tolerance, then, may be comprehensively stated thus. He appreciated the value of the Jews and so interpreted their history as to justify his own position; he compromised with the Judaizers when the freedom of the Gospel was not at stake; he recognized the law in the heart of the Gentiles and in nature as the law of Christ; he was considerate of the weak, but urged that they pass not condemnatory judgement on those giving offense; he would not enforce his view of truth and conduct by his position and his authority.

Bucknell Defeated Milton.

Tuesday the Bucknell baseball team played an exhibition game with the Milton team at the latter place, and took the up-river bunch into camp to the tune of 2 to 0. Quite a good sized crowd accompanied the team to the latter place, and enjoyed the game. Neither side scored until the seventh inning when the University lads circled the bases for two, and landed the game. Northrop and Daggett made up the battery for Bucknell.

Y. M. C. A.

The leader of the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Thursday evening was Payne, '09. He gave a very interesting talk on "Character in College." It was a Senior meeting and some members of the class were out in caps and gowns.
